Bomb Rocks Mill Valley Bank Of America Branch

Two Young Men Seen Just Before Explosion

A bomb rocked central Mill Valley today, shattering a plate glass window in the Bank of America branch at 60 Throckmorton Avenue and scattering glass, wood and concrete chips over the sidewalk and adjoining street.

The device was apparently placed on the bank's front window ledge and exploded at 8:04 a.m. A witness having breakfast in a cafe across the street reported he had heard a sputtering sound, followed by a blast, indicating a timed device was used.

Mill Valley Police Chief Dan Terzich said he did not know what type of bomb had caused the damage, but FBI agents were on the scene almost immediately to assist in the investigation.

Police said the same witness who heard the sputtering reported seeing two young men run from the scene minutes before the bomb blew.

At 8:14 a.m. Mill Valley police received a strange phone call from a man who asked if a bomb had gone off in the bank.

When he was informed there had been a blast, the man replied with a series of garbled phrases: "Pigs . . . Weathermen . . . no more slop money in the world," then hung up.

The explosion, which also damaged the concrete ledge and wooden window frame, sent chunks and splinters of glass flying the length of the bank's interior. But bank and city employees began cleanup work immediately and bank manager Guido Todaro said the bank would be open as usual today.

Todaro, who could not estimate the amount of damage, said there had been no threat to the bank or its employees before the bombing.

Workmen swept glass and bits of concrete into plastic bags under a large sign inside the building which proclaimed: "It's a (Bank of America) good time."

Officials for the Bank of America in San Francisco said today that more than 10 of their branches have been the targets of bombers in the last two years. The most recent explosion prior to today, occurred Tuesday at the bank's South Berkeley branch and caused approximately $4,000 damage.

Exactly one month ago — on March 23 — the Sausalito branch of the bank was bombed by a pipe device placed in a door handle which shattered two glass doors in the building.

CIVIC CENTER CLEARED BY FAKE 'BOMB'

A suspicious-looking object in a women's restroom yesterday prompted the first evacuation of the Marin County Civic Center since a "no routine evacuation" policy was formulated last month.

After the evacuation at 4:50 p.m. and the arrival of an Army bomb squad and FBI agents, the object turned out to be nothing more explosive than part of a sanitary napkin dispenser that had been rifled.

The sheriff's office said that a man carrying two briefcases was reported seen entering a women's restroom on the first floor of the Hall of Justice. Deputies found a gray metal box in one of the toilets and sounded the alarm.

The "man" apparently turned out to be a woman, and the sheriff's office is weighing whether to file petty theft charges against her.

Long Moon Visit Due July 30

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Apollo 15 astronauts David R. Scott and James B. Irwin are due to begin man's longest stay on the moon at 6:15 p.m. EDT, July 30.

The space agency announced the latest lunar landing schedule Thursday for the Apollo 15 expedition, the most ambitious so far.

Manson Returned To Los Angeles

Charles Manson, convicted murderer of actress Sharon Tate and six others, was returned to Los Angeles this morning, less than 24-hours after his arrival at San Quentin.

Heavily chained, Manson took several steps from the prison building to a Los Angeles Sheriff's Department bus which returned him for trial in the deaths of two others, one a member of his "family."

Manson arrived at the prison at 11:30 a.m. yesterday and was taken back to Los Angeles at 8:30 a.m. today. His in-and-out stay at San Quentin was the result of state law which requires that a convicted felon be turned over to prison authorities within 10 days of sentencing.

During his brief stay he was lodged in Death Row Cell 29, just three cells down from one occupied by Sirhan Sirhan, assassin of Robert Kennedy.

"No wonder he got the girls to do the killings," said one of the four guards who accompanied him here, "he doesn't look big enough to have done them himself." The guard said he thought Manson was "very short — less than five feet."

Guards reported that Manson said very little during the seven hour ride to the prison.

Manson arrived at Death Row shortly after prisoners had begun their exercise period. He spotted several men he knew from his days at the Los Angeles County Jail and waved at them.

Although one unidentified Death Row inmate had hinted that hippies are unliked there and there might be violence, Manson's arrival did not create any unusual response from the 93 other men on the row.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said Manson will be treated the same as any other Death Row prisoner following his return from Los Angeles and expected lengthy stay at the prison.

Manson's commitment papers were checked at the back gate yesterday upon his arrival. His Los Angeles County Jail clothing was taken and he was issued a pair of San Quentin coveralls following a search.

He was then fingerprinted and photographed. Manson received an orientation from the Death Row Sergeant.

Three women convicted with Manson of the murders remained in Los Angeles County Jail.

Soviets Put Three-Man Probe Into Orbit For Space Duties

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today fired a three-man space ship into earth orbit for rendezvous with an unmanned sputnik called Salute, apparently opening phase No. 2 of its drive to build the first orbiting space station.

Moscow space sources said as many as three more manned ships could join them within the next few days. That would put more ships and more men together in space than has ever been attempted before.

The official Tass news agency said the manned ship, Soyuz 10, blasted off from Baikonur space center in Central Asia shortly before dawn and headed toward rendezvous with Salute for "joint experiments in near earth orbit." Salute was launched Monday.

Souyz 10 was manned by the most experienced space crew ever assembled—this was the third trip for two of its men—and the sources described it as part of a complex project to link the ships into the first manned orbiting station. The United States plans no such venture before 1973.

The sources said as many as three more manned ships could be involved within the next few days in an attempt to link up into a cartwheel-shaped orbiting laboratory. In the future, such stations will also serve as in-space launching pads, the Soviets have said.

Soyuz 10 was shaped like a long tube with a ball at the nose and Moscow sources predicted similar manned ships would link up into the first manned orbiting space platform—perhaps forming a cartwheel shape with Salute as the hub.

Cosmonaut Alexei Yeliseyev, the flight engineer aboard Soyuz 10, confirmed in a televised interview aired today that "we have now started a new stage in space exploration, connected with the preparation of orbital stations."

(In Jodrell Bank, England, British space scientist Sir Bernard Lovell cautioned that such space platforms could be used for both good and evil. He did not elaborate.)

In Bochum, West Germany, Director Heinz Kaminski of the Bochum Space Research Institute said he expected one or two more ships to be orbited shortly.

Scientists at the Bochum Institute closely predicted the eventual launching time of Soyuz 10 Thursday. Earlier today, the Bochum Institute said it was receiving signals

Found Innocent Of Arson Blaze

MARTINEZ (UPI) — Wayne Staats, 36, an East Bay Regional Park employe, was found innocent today of setting a disastrous $3 million Oakland Hills fire last year, but guilty of setting seven other blazes near park lands.

A Contra Costa County Superior Court jury deliberated two days in the case after a lengthy trial.

Staats was accused of touching off the fires during the extremely dry period last autumn in order to get overtime pay for fighting them.

He had been charged on 16 counts, including the fire which destroyed 37 homes on Sept. 22.

EARTH WEEK EVENTS

High School's Salute To Ecology

By FRANK FARRARA

They raised the green and white striped ecology flag over San Marin High School yesterday and today students below worked to spread its message.

Environment was the lesson of the day, conveyed in talks, displays, ceremonies and work. Regular classes were canceled at the start of a two-day observance of Earth Week.

Across the campus during the lunch period, the words of the pledge of allegiance to the ecology flag drifted from a loudspeaker, closing with "one earth, under God, unpolluted with clean air and water for all."

Students gathered at displays, purchased ecology posters and buttons, cheered at a can-smashing contest, ate a minimum meal, planted shrubs around the flagpole and attended the funeral of a bird.

A Western Grebe, victim of the San Francisco Bay oil spill, was buried in memory of all the birds that died.

Kathy Pereira, who gave the eulogy, said: "He was a nice bird like all the birds that were prisoners of man's carelessness . . . feathers to feathers and oil to oil . . . bury the bird."

Several students described the activities as "cool, a great idea," but one was lukewarm, commenting, "It's better than if they didn't have it," while another was critical, saying, "In some ways it's a little played up."

Some students sprawled on nearby grassy knolls, perhaps observing earth days by getting close to the earth, and some left campus at noon, perhaps heading home for lunch.

In the front center of the display area, there was a list of ten commandments which read:

"Thou shalt not adore convenience and profit if it results in pollution.

Thou shalt not litter.

Thous shalt recycle all recyclables.

Honor thy land, air and water.

Thou shalt limit the use of internal combustion engine vehicles whenever possible.

Thou shalt not produce more than two offspring.

Thou shalt use nonpolluting soap.

Thou shalt limit the use of plastic and disposable items.

Thou shalt not use aerosols.

Thou shalt become involved."

In keeping with the fifth commandment, many students left their cars home and walked or rode bicycles to school, turning the usually crowded parking lot into mainly open area.

At the gymnasium, small bands played under a huge banner reading "Support Your Local Earth" and students sat in the bleachers, some eating regular lunches from brown paper bags and others the special ecology lunch.

On small trays, they had one-third of a pint of milk, a small portion of steamed brown rice and an even smaller portion of dried kelp.

"It's pretty good, but it doesn't have much flavor," commented Michelle Bacho, a College of Marin student, who was working at the campus.

A sign outside the lunch counter said: "If all the food in the world was divided among all the people in the world, your share would be 800 calories a day. So come and get your share of the food for one meal."

Graphic exhibits caught the eye, such as a skeleton with a sign reading, "Cause of Death — Air Pollution" and a distort-

Stiff Warning To Banks On Interest Rate Hikes

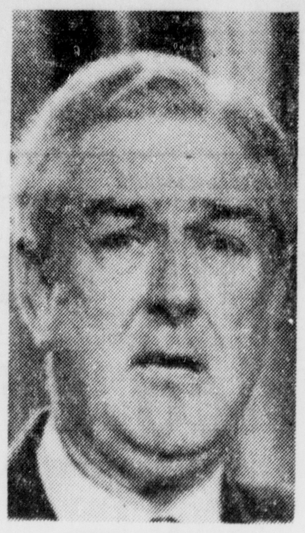
WASHINGTON (UPI)--The Nixon administration is serving notice on the nation's big banks that it will not watch silently if there is a new round of interest rate increases.

In some of the toughest language the administration has aimed at business, Treasury Secretary John B. Connally Thursday denounced the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York for increasing its prime interest rate.

"I was very disappointed at this increase in the prime rate of Chase Manhattan Bank," Connally said in a formal statement. "I was totally unaware that loan demand had reached such proportions as to justify such an increase."

The second sentence dripped with sarcasm. Loan demand at most banks has been relatively low in recent weeks.

Chase, the nation's third largest bank, Thursday announced the increase from 5 1-4 to 5 1-2 per cent in the prime rate, the interest it charges on loans to its biggest and best corporate customers.



JOHN B. CONNALLY
Criticizes bank rates
(UPI Telephoto)

Within minutes, Connally issued his rejoinder. He did not ask for a rollback in the rate nor did he threaten action against Chase or other banks that follow its lead.

But the change in attitude at the Treasury was vivid.

Former Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy steadfastly refused to comment as the prime rate soared early in the Nixon administration. The rate went from 7 per cent on Nixon's inauguration day to 8.5 per cent on June 9, 1969, less than five months later. There it remained until March 25, 1970 when it began a decline.

Newsmen frequently pressed Kennedy for comment on prime rate increases. He refused to say anything for publication.

Connally, the only Democrat in President Nixon's cabinet, has said that he considers himself to be "more of an activist" than Kennedy, a former banker.

Papa Doc's Son Sworn In; Funeral For Leader Tomorrow

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UPI)—Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier, who made himself a legend during his 14 years as dictator of this island republic in the Caribbean, will be buried tomorrow in a state funeral.

His son and designated successor, Jean-Claude, who will be 20 July 3, was sworn in Thursday as president. After the ceremony it was announced Papa Doc had died the night before. At 64, he long had been ill with diabetes and heart trouble.

The news of Duvalier's death made headlines around the world, long fascinated by the mystique of voodoo superstition and terror he used to rule Haiti's five million citizens, most of whom are illiterate.

But the people themselves took the news calmly, even indifferently. It was "business as usual" in run-down Port au Prince throughout the day following Jean-Claude's swearing-in.

Only a few extra police were in evidence in the streets. Fifty members of the palace guard lounged on the steps of the national palace. Press dispatches sent abroad were censored, but there was no censorship of overseas telephone calls.

Shortly after his swearing-in, Jean-Claude gave his first radio address to his people. "I will continue the programs of my father," he pledged.

Jean-Claude strolled on the sun-drenched palace grounds. The atmosphere was calm. How long this would last was problematical.

One veteran observer in Port au Prince predicted the younger Duvalier's regime would be short-lived because he "did not have the mystique of Papa Doc or the loyalty of many divergent forces."

The new president took the oath of office flanked by Luckner Cambronne, his new minister of interior, defense and police, and Claude Raymond, commander of the 5,500-man army.

Observers say Cambronne, 40, is the strongest man in the new cabinet. Only three members of the cabinet served the previous administration, though some of the previous cabinet ministers have been given posts close to the presidency.

(In Washington, which had turned a cool shoulder to the Duvalier regime since the Kennedy Administration, a State Department spokesman said the United States would continue "normal" diplomatic relations with the new Haitian government.)

The new president's older sister, Marie Denise, married to Col. Max Dominique, the Haitian ambassador to France, long had been considered the person nearest her father.

But in elaborate ceremonies in January, Duvalier officially had his son named his succesor. Marie Denise and her husband were not mentioned Thursday in her brother's list of government appointments.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Rift Widening

VIENTIANNE (UPI) — The rift between the Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas and the North Vietnamese troops operating in southern Laos is widening and may never close, Pathet Lao defectors have told the government.

Lt. Col. Soutchai, former commander of the Pathet Lao 11th Battalion, surrendered Monday, the highest-ranking officer in the insurgent movement to defect in five years, government sources said today. They said he told them most of the troops in his former unit would join him if they could.

"Conflict between the Pathet Lao and the North Vietnamese in southern Laos is beyond compromise," Southchai, 41, told his interrogators.

New Look Started

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—A new government appeared today to be in the works for Cambodia, in which cabinet ministers will make most of their own decisions and govern as a collective leadership, a prominent Cambodian politician said.

This would alleviate the pressures of constant decision-making that contributed to Prime Minister Lon Nol's stroke in February, according to Ung Mung, vice president of the national assembly.

Ung Mung told UPI in an interview today that Lon Nol has "accepted in principle" the task of forming a new government, although the general has not given his formal assent.

Rabies Victim, 6, Dies

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Little Honofre Angel lost his battle with acute rabies early today.

Death came to the 6-year-old at 2:30 a.m., 26 days after he went into a coma.

The youngster was bitten by a dog while in Mexico with his parents.

Had he survived, he would have joined Matthew Winkler, also 6, Lima, Ohio, as the only known survivors of acute rabies.

Matthew earlier this week sent Honofre a get well card, a dollar bill and newspaper clippings about his treatment and recovery.

Draft Extension

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate committee has voted to extend the draft two years and give enlisted men and junior officers pay raises ranging from 9 to 50 per cent.

The action by the Senate Armed Services committee Thursday virtually assured that Congress will extend the draft for some period after June 30, when the current conscription law expires.

It also appeared to assure President Nixon of victory for his $2.7 billion plan to make the Army attractive enough to induce young men to join without the threat of the draft. Nixon wants to abolish the draft by 1973.

Colombo Indicted

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joseph Colombo Sr. was indicted Thursday and charged with being kingpin of a gambling ring operating in Brooklyn, Manhattan and on Long Island.

Thirty other persons—including several women — were named as co-conspirators with Colombo, who is appealing a perjury sentence and has been named by the Justice Department and a Senate committee as a leader of organized crime.

The defendants were charged with conspiracy and operating of a policy and sports betting ring that allegedly netted $5 million to $10 million a year.

Colombo and 39 others were arrested earlier this month by FBI agents on the charges. He was freed on bail.

Suez Canal Talks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel has braced itself for a long, hard session of bargaining with the United States on its three-point proposal for reopening of the Suez Canal under a partial peace with Egypt.

The next 10 days, the newspaper Yedioth Ahronoth said today, will be crucial in determining whether talks on the waterway succeed or if "the threat of war will come to the fore."

Israeli military officials reported a battle with Arab guerrillas on the Lebanese border they described as one of the costliest clashes since the truce began.

The paper said the U.S. intermediaries in Washington were delaying presentation of the Israeli paper to Cairo, where the semiofficial Al Ahram newspaper already has ruled it unacceptable. It said Washington was trying to get both sides to soften their positions before U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers makes his Middle East swing in the first week of May.

Spy Sentenced

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (UPI)—The Swiss Supreme Court today sentenced Alfred Frauenknecht to 4 1-2 years in prison at hard labor for selling blueprints of the French Mirage jet-fighter engine to Isreal for $200,000. The court has called him the highest paid spy in Swiss history.

His cousin, Josef Frauenknecht, was acquitted of charges he helped the 45-year-old engineer deliver 200,000 blueprints to Israel after France shut off arms shipments to Israel on charges Israel committed "aggression" in the 1967 Six Day War.

The sentence was milder than the seven years imprisonment the prosecution had demanded, and far below the maximum 20-year sentence the court could have imposed.

The show, "Burlesque Ain't Dead, Bump! Bump! Bump!" was written and directed by Evans Burke. It has a cast of more than 40 people. The same show was presented last fall by the Novato Community Players in Novato.

Napalm Drops Precede Drive

SAIGON (UPI)—Big American Chinook helicopters dropped sling-loads of homemade napalm on North Vietnamese buildup areas just outside the A Shau Valley today in preparation for an Allied drive into the Latoain border area,

American and South Vietnamese spokesmen said the Communists were concentrating men and equipment in the A Shau and "we think soon we will have some contact."

As the helicopters hit the Communist concentrations, the U.S. Command also announced that 1,375 U.S. Marines began a standown in preparation for return to California to begin the 100,000-man phase 7 of President Nixon's troop withdrawal eight days ahead of schedule.

Military spokesmen also reported that American fighter-bombers hit Communist antiaircraft missile installations nearly 200 miles inside North Vietnam Thursday night. It was one of the deepest penetrations north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) since the halt of U.S. bombing in 1968.

UPI Correspondent Alan Dawson reported from the La Vang headquarters of Operation Lam Son 720, the A Shau Valley campaign, that more than one battalion of South Vietnamese troops is operating in the valley.

No contact has been reported yet in the drive.

Man Arrested On Yolo Warrant

A 32-year-old Mill Valley man was arrested at 1:07 a.m. yesterday on a Winters, Yolo County, warrant charging burglary, San Rafael police reported.

Walter Vincent Burke of 120 Morning Sun Avenue, was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bail, for Yolo County authorities.

Burke and two companions were in a parked car in a closed service station at Woodland Avenue and Irwin Streets when officers arrested him. His companions were not held, police reported.

Hike In Homicides

Stiff Warning To Banks On Interest Rate Hikes

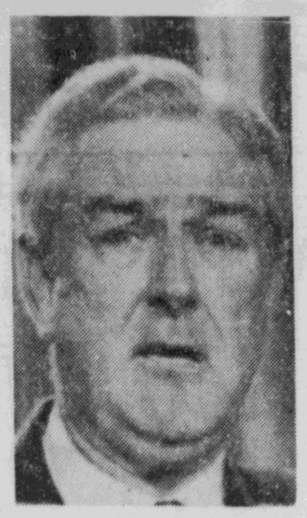
WASHINGTON (UPI)--The Nixon administration is serving notice on the nation's big banks that it will not watch silently if there is a new round of interest rate increases.

In some of the toughest language the administration has aimed at business, Treasury Secretary John B. Connally Thursday denounced the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York for increasing its prime interest rate.

"I was very disappointed at this increase in the prime rate of Chase Manhattan Bank," Connally said in a formal statement. "I was totally unaware that loan demand had reached such proportions as to justify such an increase."

The second sentence dripped with sarcasm. Loan demand at most banks has been relatively low in recent weeks.

Chase, the nation's third largest bank, Thursday announced the increase from 5 1-4 to 5 1-2 per cent in the prime rate, the interest it charges on loans to its biggest and best corporate customers.



JOHN B. CONNALLY
Criticizes bank rates
(UPI Telephoto)

Within minutes, Connally issued his rejoinder. He did not ask for a rollback in the rate nor did he threaten action against Chase or other banks that follow its lead.

But the change in attitude at the Treasury was vivid.

Former Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy steadfastly refused to comment as the prime rate soared early in the Nixon administration. The rate went from 7 per cent on Nixon's inauguration day to 8.5 per cent on June 9, 1969, less than five months later. There it remained until March 25, 1970 when it began a decline.

Newsmen frequently pressed Kennedy for comment on prime rate increases. He refused to say anything for publication.

Connally, the only Democrat in President Nixon's cabinet, has said that he considers himself to be "more of an activist" than Kennedy, a former banker.

Papa Doc's Son Sworn In; Funeral For Leader Tomorrow

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UPI)—Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier, who made himself a legend during his 14 years as dictator of this island republic in the Caribbean, will be buried tomorrow in a state funeral.

His son and designated successor, Jean-Claude, who will be 20 July 3, was sworn in Thursday as president. After the ceremony it was announced Papa Doc had died the night before. At 64, he long had been ill with diabetes and heart trouble.

The news of Duvalier's death made headlines around the world, long fascinated by the mystique of voodoo superstition and terror he used to rule Haiti's five million citizens, most of whom are illiterate.

But the people themselves took the news calmly, even indifferently. It was "business as usual" in run-down Port au Prince throughout the day following Jean-Claude's swearing-in.

Only a few extra police were in evidence in the streets. Fifty members of the palace guard lounged on the steps of the national palace. Press dispatches sent abroad were censored, but there was no censorship of overseas telephone calls.

Shortly after his swearing-in, Jean-Claude gave his first radio address to his people. "I will continue the programs of my father," he pledged.

Jean-Claude strolled on the sun-drenched palace grounds. The atmosphere was calm. How long this would last was problematical.

One veteran observer in Port au Prince predicted the younger Duvalier's regime would be short-lived because he "did not have the mystique of Papa Doc or the loyalty of many divergent forces."

The new president took the oath of office flanked by Luckner Cambronne, his new minister of interior, defense and police, and Claude Raymond, commander of the 5,500-man army.

Observers say Cambronne, 40, is the strongest man in the new cabinet. Only three members of the cabinet served the previous administration, though some of the previous cabinet ministers have been given posts close to the presidency.

(In Washington, which had turned a cool shoulder to the Duvalier regime since the Kennedy Administration, a State Department spokesman said the United States would continue "normal" diplomatic relations with the new Haitian government.)

The new president's older sister, Marie Denise, married to Col. Max Dominique, the Haitian ambassador to France, long had been considered the person nearest her father.

But in elaborate ceremonies in January, Duvalier officially had his son named his succesor. Marie Denise and her husband were not mentioned Thursday in her brother's list of government appointments.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Rift Widening

VIENTIANNE (UPI) — The rift between the Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas and the North Vietnamese troops operating in southern Laos is widening and may never close, Pathet Lao defectors have told the government.

Lt. Col. Soutchai, former commander of the Pathet Lao 11th Battalion, surrendered Monday, the highest-ranking officer in the insurgent movement to defect in five years, government sources said today. They said he told them most of the troops in his former unit would join him if they could.

"Conflict between the Pathet Lao and the North Vietnamese in southern Laos is beyond compromise," Southchai, 41, told his interrogators.

Three Budget Choices To Ross Valley Flood Panel

The Ross Valley Flood Control Zone Advisory board yesterday was handed three budget choices which range from imposing no tax rate next year to one imposing 27 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Charles Murphy, county flood control engineer, said action on which of the three to select rests primarily with an Army Corps of Engineers's decision whether to pick up the $350,000 tab for drainage improvements in Ross.

Controversy over drainage improvements at the Ross Common and on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard has been simmering for weeks.

Two members of the advisory board representing Larkspur and Corte Madera have said they oppose authorizing local funds for the projects which tie into the flood control work on Corte Madera Creek.

At last week's meeting, the board decided to meet with the Army to see if it will assume part or all of the cost.

According to Murphy, that meeting has not been set but probably will be held in the next two weeks.

Until the board receives word from the Army, he said, its budget remains in the air.

The proposal calling for no tax rate would use reserves to finance next year's operational costs totaling $24,100. That would leave a reserve of about $54,000, Murphy said.

A second choice calls for a tax rate of 25 cents for fiscal 1971-72 and would raise $270,000 which $215,000 would be designated for Ross drainage work. The remaining $135,000 would be budgeted the following year.

The third choice would levy a 27-cent tax rate and raise the total amount needed for drainage improvements and would include use of reserves. The latter choices, Murphy said, were formulated in the event the Army refuses to pay for the Ross projects.

Bomb Rips Office Attic At Stanford

STANFORD (UPI) —A bomb exploded early this morning in an attic in the president's office building at Stanford University. There was no injury and the campus fire chief estimated damage at $5,000.

President Richard W. Lyman's office is on the first floor and the building was empty except for a guard on the second floor who suffered only ringing ears.

George Curry, the guard, was no more than 30 feet from the bomb site and remarked, "I haven't heard anything like this since Korea." He suffered ringing ears for hours later.

The blast put a hole two-feet in diameter in the roof and scattered red tiles to the ground.

Fire Chief Frank Jurian made the damage estimate as FBI agents arrived for an investigation.

The office building was set afire by an arsonist in 1968 and that time damage was estimated at more than $100,000.

Since the building is under constant guard when not in use, officials wondered how the bomb was placed.

The bombing shortly before 4 a.m. was one of a series of incidents that started Thursday when Palo Alto police received an anonymous telephone call that the nearby campus would be blasted within 30 minutes. There was no explosion that time.

Shortly before the explosion the Stanford Daily and campus radio station KZSU reported seeing two persons plastering revolutionary posters on the president's office building and elsewhere.

The posters complained of the war in Vietnam, racial discrimination, injustice and the firing for economy reasons of some campus employees.

Students have been protesting the firing of a Negro janitor at the university's medical center.

Also a bomb exploded on the roof of the state parole offices in Fresno early today. It was the second blast in Rresno in three days and the seventh in the past year.

Police said the blast at the parole building blew a one-foot hole in the roof and caused some damage to the interior ceiling.

Officers said the device was apparently tossed onto the roof. There were no suspects and officers were trying to determine what type of explosive was used.

And in Los Gatos firebombs were touched off during the night in two Post Office vehicles, police reported.

The firebombs were heard exploding at 1:21 a. m. and fires in the two vehicles were quickly extinguished.

Boy Hurt In Playful Incident

A 12-year-old San Rafael boy was treated for bruised ribs and possible kidney damage yesterday after four of his schoolmates forced him into a Goodwill receptacle, then overturned the box.

San Rafael police said today Bennett M. Dawson of 32 Windsor Avenue was carried to the Goodwill box at the corner of California Avenue and Humboldt Street about 8 a.m. and shoved inside by the four boys.

When Dawson tried to get out of the box, the youths pushed the box over, police reported.

Dawson was examined by his family doctor. Police said no complaint was filed against the other boy.

Car Keys And Auto Linked Up

The thief who stole 50 car keys last week from Corte Madera Chrysler-Plymouth appears to have begun matching them with the autos, police said today.

Officers said the auto agency reported yesterday that a blue Volkswagen sedan was missing from its used car lot at 195 Casa Buena Drive. The dealership said it last checked the auto on Tuesday.

The stolen 1969 auto has license ZJL-162, officers said.

Last Friday the agency reported a 1968 Chevrolet and a key ring containing about 50 car keys missing.

Warrant Issued In Fraud Case

A bench warrant has been issued in Marin Municipal Court for Barbara Dianne Dittman, 25, of Oakland, who is charged with two misdemeanor counts of credit card fraud.

Judge Peter Allen Smith set bail on the warrant at $2,500 when she failed to appear for arraignment on the charges.

She was arrested last Friday on suspicion of felony forgery when she attempted to purchase a tire at a Corte Madera service station with a credit card belonging to a San Rafael man.

Novato Players To Seat Officers

John A. Bernardi will be installed as president of the Novato Community Players at the Group's annual dinner at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Nero's restaurant, Ignacio.

Evens Burker will be installed as vice president, Doris Cormier, historian; Albert L. Richter, treasurer-business manager, and Paul R. Terry Jr., secretary.

There will be a social hour starting at 6:30 p.m.

Trio Burned To Death In Robbery Fire

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—Three persons, including a teen-age boy, were burned to death today by a robber who apparently beat them, stacked clothes over them before igniting the pile with cleaning fluid.

Capt. Paul Gulas, chief of city detectives, said the killer beat the victims, probably until they were unconscious, and then set the bodies on fire in a back room of Cantrell Cleaners on East Charleston Blvd.

The victims were burned beyond recognition, but the place was owned by Alfred and Ida Lizzio who had a 14-year-old son, Johnny. The family often worked at the shop, which was not open when the robbery-fire occurred, according to Gulas.

He said the floor safe in the store was opened and the keys were still in the lock. He estimated between $400 and $3,000 was missing.

Firemen said temperatures reached 1,000 degrees in the store during the height of the blaze.

Jake Wright, 46, a maintenance man, survived. He was reported in critical condition at Southern Nevada Memorial Hospital with second and third degree burns over 75 per cent of his body.

"The miracle of the whole thing is Mr. Wright," said Gulas. "He managed to get out with his clothes and shoes on fire. He literally ran out of his shoes as he ran or walked or crawled about 500 feet to a shopping center where there was a telephone booth. He managed to pull a dime out of his pocket and call police."

Wright told police a man armed with a revolver entered the store, beat the three victims and himself and knocked them to the floor. He said the man piled clothes on them, poured cleaning solvent on the stack and set it afire.

Costly Trial Bill Advances

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill intended to improve protection for small counties threatened with being wiped out financially by costly murder trials such as that of Charles Manson has been approved by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

Sent to the floor Wedesday was a bill by Assemblywoman Pauline Davis, D-Portola, which would make it easier for counties to be reimbursed by the state for murder trials that threaten to disrupt local fiscal stability.

Current law provides for state reimbursement of the cost of a murder trial when the costs exceed 10 cents on each $100 of assessed property valuation countywide. The Davis bill would reduce the figure to five cents.

Arraignment On Pot Possession

George Ian King, 50, of 95 George Street, Cotati, was arraigned yesterday in Central Sonoma Municipal Court on a charge of possession of marijuana for sale.

Judge Frank J. Passalacqua set bail at $2,500 and said he would consider releasing King on his own recognizance in proceedings Monday at 1:30 p.m. King, a cook, was arrested Wednesday at his home by Cotati police acting on a court warrant.

Hearing Set For Man In Marijuana Case

General Anthony Tucker, 25, of no known address, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on charges of possessing and selling marijuana. He is to be arraigned in Superior Court May 10.

Tucker was arrested at a Fairfax residence June 30 after a police officer saw suspected pot plants growing on the roof.

State Cans Automatic Toll Devices

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The state announced today it is junking the new automatic toll collecting machines on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge because motorists fouled them up.

Starting April 30, conventional uniformed toll takers will be back on duty in all lanes, state Public Works Director James A. Moe reported.

The automatic toll collecting machines were installed three months ago at three toll booths on the bridge in a move aimed at improving speed and efficiency.

But the machines failed to deal with what Moe described as "inexperienced drivers."

He said they would get into the automatic collection lane, find they didn't have the correct change and abruptly swerve out and endanger other drivers.

Automation also required "wrong way" drivers to go nine miles out of their way to turn around at Yerba Buena Island because there were no human toll collectors to momentarily hold traffic so the driver could cut across an access lane to eastbound traffic.

And, some motorists would pour 50 pennies or coins wrapped in cellophane into the automated process just to watch the machine digest them.

All in all, Moe said, officials concluded that "automatic collection is, at present, not safe and efficient" but the state plans to consider automatics again when the machines have been improved.

The machines had been estimated to save the state $2,400 a year.

Graham Crusade Sessions Set

Informational briefing sessions will be held at two Marin churches tomorrow for women interested in hosting prayer groups in their homes this summer in connection with the Northern California Billy Graham Crusade.

One will be at the First Baptist Church in Novato at 1 p.m. and the other at Peace Lutheran Church in Mill Valley at 3:30 p.m.

The Billy Graham crusade is scheduled for July 23 through Aug. 1 at the Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum.

Stolen Property Arrest In Fairfax

Rudolf W. Huizen, 36, of 300 Olema Road, Fairfax, was arrested Wednesday on suspicion of possessing stolen property, by Fairfax police.

Officers said Huizen was booked into county jail after several days of investigation, and then released on $2,500 bail. He was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Police said they found in Huizen's possession a movie projector listed among items stolen April 4 from the home of Peter Abrams, 458 Bolinas Road, Fairfax.

Correct Age

A typographical error in Saturday's issue of the Independent-Journal's Marin Magazine added 10 years to the age of Sausalito School board candidate Lillie Mae Hill. Mrs. Hill is 33, not 43.

EARTH

ed figure of a "man of the future."

His eyes were covered with glassy film to protect them from pesticides, his skin discolored and his hair patchy because of pesticides and he had an enlarged nose "to act as a better filter to keep out pesticides and oxides and harmful particles."

As time elapses man will become physically changed to cope with his environment, the accompanying sign explained.

There were signs reading:: "Did you know it takes 10 trees to replace oxygen for each car? If you don't stop pollution, who will?"

There was a noise pollution scale showing the range of sounds from a soft whisper, 30 decibels, to a large orchestra, 130, a jet engine, 170 and topped by a Saturn rocket, 180.

There were posters reading: "The population bomb is everyone's baby" and "Love is beautiful and overpopulation isn't."

Standing alone was a scarecrow figure of a man, roped off in one square yard of territory, with a warning that at the present rate of population growth this is all the space there will be for each person in the year 2,000.

Throughout the day there were talks by visiting speakers and films at various classrooms on overpopulation, air pollution, power, water pollution, land use and local problems.

Principal Henry Moroski said that practically all the classrooms were in use.

San Marin High, nestled beneath green hills in a comparatively new sector of Novato, stands close to unspoiled environment.

Students apparently are not hopeful that it will be retained, for when Albert I. Solnit, chief of advance planning for Marin County, asked if a group felt "things are getting worse," most raised a hand.

Fairfax Nod To Annexation Plan

Fairfax City Council last night voted unanimously to proceed with plans to annex Oak Manor to the city and accepted a report on the cost and effects of the annexation, according to City Clerk Eileen L. Foster.

The Council will meet May 6 with the Oak Manor Homeowners' Association to present the study, prepared by former mayor Frank J. Egger, and to discuss the proposal with the group.

The Council voted 3-2 to delay the second reading on the proposed sign ordinance until June 14 to allow City Administrator Robert E. Crowe additional time to poll merchants, Mrs. Foster reported. She said Councilmen Lee Nelder and Robert R. Souza opposed the introduction of the ordinance because of the hardship it would represent to some merchants.

Approval Given To Three Use Permits

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Three use permits for the rural Petaluma area were approved yesterday by the Sonoma County Board of Zoning Adjustments.

Permit requests approved included Barlas Brothers for a mobile home for agricultural employees at 485 Ely Road; Joseph E. Willer to Fabricate Animal Cages at 7010 Petersen Road, and Davlin Paint Co. for a liquid dryer operation at 520 Cleveland Lane.

OBITUARIES

William J. Irving Dies At 66

William Joseph (Bill) Irving, a member of one of West Marin's oldest families, died yesterday at his home following a short illness. He was 66.

Irving, heir to the 100-acre Halleck Creek Ranch in Nicasio, was found dead in bed, apparently from natural causes, the Marin County Coroner's Office said today.

The Halleck Creek Ranch was purchased by his grandfather, Peter Irving, a Scottish immigrant, in the mid-1850s and has remained in the family since.

His father, Thomas, who operated the ranch for years, was a founder of the Nicasio School in 1871.

Irving was born at Point Reyes Station and operated the Nicasio cattle ranch for about 50 years. He served as chief of the Nicasio Volunteer Fire Department for about 10 years.

He is survived by his wife, Estelle G.; three sons, Kenneth L., Duane T., and William Scott Irving, and a daughter, Sylvia J. Irving. All are Nicasio residents except William who lives in Petaluma. He also is survived by two sisters, Bernice Turner of Petaluma dn Grace Rassmusson of San Francisco and 10 grandchildren.

Funeral will be tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be at Olema Cemetery, Olema.

Antiwar Groups Plan Motorcade

Three Marin anti-war groups yesterday announced a motorcade of peace demonstrators through Sausalito tomorrow en route to the peace march in San Francisco.

Barbara Boxer of Greenbrae, a member of the Marin Telephone War Tax Protest Committee, said members of her group, the Marin Alternative and the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, will begin the procession at about 9 a.m. from Sabella's Restaurant in Mill Valley.

She said it will travel through Sausalito "to pick up those people down there" and continue on to Rossi Playground in San Francisco.

Those interested in participating in the motorcade should gather outside Sabella's at about 8:30 a.m., she said.

Charges Filed Against Pair On Pot Count

Misdemeanor charges have been filed in Harin Municipal Court against two Mill Valley youths arrested Wednesday on suspicion of possessing marijuana.

Timothy John Lojko and Kevin Scott Anci, both 19, were charged with possession of narcotics paraphernalia, being in a place where narcotics are used and transporting alcohol in a car.

Anci was also charged with having an open beer in a car.

The pair was arrested at 2:55 a.m. by Mill Valley police after a routine traffic stop. Police said they found a water pipe and suspected marijuana and hashish in the car.

They are to be arraigned next Wednesday.

Bomb Threat Halts Business At Market

Shopping was disrupted for 20 minutes yesterday when a bomb threat was telephoned to the Lucky Market, 1000 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma.

Police said the threat was received at 2:45 p.m. and the store cleared while the search was made.

GEORGE MCKEGNEY

Memorial service for George J. McKegney of Tiburon will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Belvedere. Private burial will follow.

McKegney, a former member of the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission and organizer of outings for Tiburon Peninsula youngers, died Wednesday at Marin General Hospital. He was 60.

ESTHER OFFEN

Private funeral for Esther Offen, 72, of Tonopah, Nev., mother of Gloria Lightner of San Rafael, was held today in San Rafael.

Mrs. Offen died at her daughter's home at 33 Coast Oak Way Wednesday, apparently of natural causes, according to Deputy Coroner Bill Thomas.

She is also survived by her husband, Elmer B. Offen.

Mrs. Offen was a native of Pennsylvania.

CARL BURMESTER

Carl Burmester, a resident of the Aldersly Danish Home in San Rafael since 1958, died today in a local hospital after a brief illness. He was 88.

A native of Denmark, Burmester came to California 45 years ago. He operated a rice business in Colfax, Placer County, until his retirement.

Burmester is survived only by a niece in Denmark.

The funeral will be at 1:30 p.m. Monday in Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, followed by burial in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Three Budget Choices To Ross Valley Flood Panel

The Ross Valley Flood Control Zone Advisory board yesterday was handed three budget choices which range from imposing no tax rate next year to one imposing 27 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Charles Murphy, county flood control engineer, said action on which of the three to select rests primarily with an Army Corps of Engineers's decision whether to pick up the $350,000 tab for drainage improvements in Ross.

Controversy over drainage improvements at the Ross Common and on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard has been simmering for weeks.

Two members of the advisory board representing Larkspur and Corte Madera have said they oppose authorizing local funds for the projects which tie into the flood control work on Corte Madera Creek.

At last week's meeting, the board decided to meet with the Army to see if it will assume part or all of the cost.

According to Murphy, that meeting has not been set but probably will be held in the next two weeks.

Until the board receives word from the Army, he said, its budget remains in the air.

The proposal calling for no tax rate would use reserves to finance next year's operational costs totaling $24,100. That would leave a reserve of about $54,000, Murphy said.

A second choice calls for a tax rate of 25 cents for fiscal 1971-72 and would raise $270,000 which $215,000 would be designated for Ross drainage work. The remaining $135,000 would be budgeted the following year.

The third choice would levy a 27-cent tax rate and raise the total amount needed for drainage improvements and would include use of reserves. The latter choices,Murphy said, were formulated in the event the Army refuses to pay for the Ross projects.

Bomb Rips Office Attic At Stanford

STANFORD (UPI) —A bomb exploded early this morning in an attic in the president's office building at Stanford University. There was no injury and the campus fire chief estimated damage at $5,000.

President Richard W. Lyman's office is on the first floor and the building was empty except for a guard on the second floor who suffered only ringing ears.

George Curry, the guard, was no more than 30 feet from the bomb site and remarked, "I haven't heard anything like this since Korea." He suffered ringing ears for hours later.

The blast put a hole two-feet in diameter in the roof and scattered red tiles to the ground.

Fire Chief Frank Jurian made the damage estimate as FBI agents arrived for an investigation.

The office building was set afire by an arsonist in 1968 and that time damage was estimated at more than $100,000.

Since the building is under constant guard when not in use, officials wondered how the bomb was placed.

The bombing shortly before 4 a.m. was one of a series of incidents that started Thursday when Palo Alto police received an anonymous telephone call that the nearby campus would be blasted within 30 minutes. There was no explosion that time.

Shortly before the explosion the Stanford Daily and campus radio station KZSU reported seeing two persons plastering revolutionary posters on the president's office building and elsewhere.

The posters complained of the war in Vietnam, racial discrimination, injustice and the firing for economy reasons of some campus employees.

Students have been protesting the firing of a Negro janitor at the university's medical center.

Also a bomb exploded on the roof of the state parole offices in Fresno early today. It was the second blast in Rresno in three days and the seventh in the past year.

Police said the blast at the parole building blew a one-foot hole in the roof and caused some damage to the interior ceiling.

Officers said the device was apparently tossed onto the roof. There were no suspects and officers were trying to determine what type of explosive was used.

And in Los Gatos firebombs were touched off during the night in two Post Office vehicles, police reported.

The firebombs were heard exploding at 1:21 a. m. and fires in the two vehicles were quickly extinguished.

Boy Hurt In Playful Incident

A 12-year-old San Rafael boy was treated for bruised ribs and possible kidney damage yesterday after four of his schoolmates forced him into a Goodwill receptacle, then overturned the box.

San Rafael police said today Bennett M. Dawson of 32 Windsor Avenue was carried to the Goodwill box at the corner of California Avenue and Humboldt Street about 8 a.m. and shoved inside by the four boys.

When Dawson tried to get out of the box, the youths pushed the box over, police reported.

Dawson was examined by his family doctor. Police said no complaint was filed against the other boy.

Car Keys And Auto Linked Up

The thief who stole 50 car keys last week from Corte Madera Chrysler-Plymouth appears to have begun matching them with the autos, police said today.

Officers said the auto agency reported yesterday that a blue Volkswagen sedan was missing from its used car lot at 195 Casa Buena Drive. The dealership said it last checked the auto on Tuesday.

The stolen 1969 auto has license ZJL-162, officers said.

Last Friday the agency reported a 1968 Chevrolet and a key ring containing about 50 car keys missing.

Warrant Issued In Fraud Case

A bench warrant has been issued in Marin Municipal Court for Barbara Dianne Dittman, 25, of Oakland, who is charged with two misdemeanor counts of credit card fraud.

Judge Peter Allen Smith set bail on the warrant at $2,500 when she failed to appear for arraignment on the charges.

She was arrested last Friday on suspicion of felony forgery when she attempted to purchase a tire at a Corte Madera service station with a credit card belonging to a San Rafael man.

Novato Players To Seat Officers

John A. Bernardi will be installed as president of the Novato Community Players at the Group's annual dinner at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Nero's restaurant, Ignacio.

Evens Burker will be installed as vice president, Doris Cormier, historian; Albert L. Richter, treasurer-business manager, and Paul R. Terry Jr., secretary.

There will be a social hour starting at 6:30 p.m.

Trio Burned To Death In Robbery Fire

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—Three persons, including a teen-age boy, were burned to death today by a robber who apparently beat them, stacked clothes over them before igniting the pile with cleaning fluid.

Capt. Paul Gulas, chief of city detectives, said the killer beat the victims, probably until they were unconscious, and then set the bodies on fire in a back room of Cantrell Cleaners on East Charleston Blvd.

The victims were burned beyond recognition, but the place was owned by Alfred and Ida Lizzio who had a 14-year-old son, Johnny. The family often worked at the shop, which was not open when the robbery-fire occurred, according to Gulas.

He said the floor safe in the store was opened and the keys were still in the lock. He estimated between $400 and $3,000 was missing.

Firemen said temperatures reached 1,000 degrees in the store during the height of the blaze.

Jake Wright, 46, a maintenance man, survived. He was reported in critical condition at Southern Nevada Memorial Hospital with second and third degree burns over 75 per cent of his body.

"The miracle of the whole thing is Mr. Wright," said Gulas. "He managed to get out with his clothes and shoes on fire. He literally ran out of his shoes as he ran or walked or crawled about 500 feet to a shopping center where there was a telephone booth. He managed to pull a dime out of his pocket and call police."

Wright told police a man armed with a revolver entered the store, beat the three victims and himself and knocked them to the floor. He said the man piled clothes on them, poured cleaning solvent on the stack and set it afire.

Costly Trial Bill Advances

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill intended to improve protection for small counties threatened with being wiped out financially by costly murder trials such as that of Charles Manson has been approved by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

Sent to the floor Wedesday was a bill by Assemblywoman Pauline Davis, D-Portola, which would make it easier for counties to be reimbursed by the state for murder trials that threaten to disrupt local fiscal stability.

Current law provides for state reimbursement of the cost of a murder trial when the costs exceed 10 cents on each $100 of assessed property valuation countywide. The Davis bill would reduce the figure to five cents.

Arraignment On Pot Possession

George Ian King, 50, of 95 George Street, Cotati, was arraigned yesterday in Central Sonoma Municipal Court on a charge of possession of marijuana for sale.

Judge Frank J. Passalacqua set bail at $2,500 and said he would consider releasing King on his own recognizance in proceedings Monday at 1:30 p.m. King, a cook, was arrested Wednesday at his home by Cotati police acting on a court warrant.

Hearing Set For Man In Marijuana Case

General Anthony Tucker, 25, of no known address, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on charges of possessing and selling marijuana. He is to be arraigned in Superior Court May 10.

Tucker was arrested at a Fairfax residence June 30 after a police officer saw suspected pot plants growing on the roof.

State Cans Automatic Toll Devices

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The state announced today it is junking the new automatic toll collecting machines on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge because motorists fouled them up.

Starting April 30, conventional uniformed toll takers will be back on duty in all lanes, state Public Works Director James A. Moe reported.

The automatic toll collecting machines were installed three months ago at three toll booths on the bridge in a move aimed at improving speed and efficiency.

But the machines failed to deal with what Moe described as "inexperienced drivers."

He said they would get into the automatic collection lane, find they didn't have the correct change and abruptly swerve out and endanger other drivers.

Automation also required "wrong way" drivers to go nine miles out of their way to turn around at Yerba Buena Island because there were no human toll collectors to momentarily hold traffic so the driver could cut across an access lane to eastbound traffic.

And, some motorists would pour 50 pennies or coins wrapped in cellophane into the automated process just to watch the machine digest them.

All in all, Moe said, officials concluded that "automatic collection is, at present, not safe and efficient" but the state plans to consider automatics again when the machines have been improved.

The machines had been estimated to save the state $2,400 a year.

Graham Crusade Sessions Set

Informational briefing sessions will be held at two Marin churches tomorrow for women interested in hosting prayer groups in their homes this summer in connection with the Northern California Billy Graham Crusade.

One will be at the First Baptist Church in Novato at 1 p.m. and the other at Peace Lutheran Church in Mill Valley at 3:30 p.m.

The Billy Graham crusade is scheduled for July 23 through Aug. 1 at the Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum.

Stolen Property Arrest In Fairfax

Rudolf W. Huizen, 36, of 300 Olema Road, Fairfax, was arrested Wednesday on suspicion of possessing stolen property, by Fairfax police.

Officers said Huizen was booked into county jail after several days of investigation, and then released on $2,500 bail. He was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Police said they found in Huizen's possession a movie projector listed among items stolen April 4 from the home of Peter Abrams, 458 Bolinas Road, Fairfax.

Correct Age

A typographical error in Saturday's issue of the Independent-Journal's Marin Magazine added 10 years to the age of Sausalito School board candidate Lillie Mae Hill. Mrs. Hill is 33, not 43.

EARTH

ed figure of a "man of the future."

His eyes were covered with glassy film to protect them from pesticides, his skin discolored and his hair patchy because of pesticides and he had an enlarged nose "to act as a better filter to keep out pesticides and oxides and harmful particles."

As time elapses man will become physically changed to cope with his environment, the accompanying sign explained.

There were signs reading:: "Did you know it takes 10 trees to replace oxygen for each car? If you don't stop pollution, who will?"

There was a noise pollution scale showing the range of sounds from a soft whisper, 30 decibels, to a large orchestra, 130, a jet engine, 170 and topped by a Saturn rocket, 180.

There were posters reading: "The population bomb is everyone's baby" and "Love is beautiful and overpopulation isn't."

Standing alone was a scarecrow figure of a man, roped off in one square yard of territory, with a warning that at the present rate of population growth this is all the space there will be for each person in the year 2,000.

Throughout the day there were talks by visiting speakers and films at various classrooms on overpopulation, air pollution, power, water pollution, land use and local problems.

Principal Henry Moroski said that practically all the classrooms were in use.

San Marin High, nestled beneath green hills in a comparatively new sector of Novato, stands close to unspoiled environment.

Students apparently are not hopeful that it will be retained, for when Albert I. Solnit, chief of advance planning for Marin County, asked if a group felt "things are getting worse," most raised a hand.

Fairfax Nod To Annexation Plan

Fairfax City Council last night voted unanimously to proceed with plans to annex Oak Manor to the city and accepted a report on the cost and effects of the annexation, according to City Clerk Eileen L. Foster.

The Council will meet May 6 with the Oak Manor Homeowners' Association to present the study, prepared by former mayor Frank J. Egger, and to discuss the proposal with the group.

The Council voted 3-2 to delay the second reading on the proposed sign ordinance until June 14 to allow City Administrator Robert E. Crowe additional time to poll merchants, Mrs. Foster reported. She said Councilmen Lee Nelder and Robert R. Souza opposed the introduction of the ordinance because of the hardship it would represent to some merchants.

OBITUARIES

William J. Irving Dies At 66

William Joseph (Bill) Irving, a member of one of West Marin's oldest families, died yesterday at his home following a short illness. He was 66.

Irving, heir to the 100-acre Halleck Creek Ranch in Nicasio, was found dead in bed, apparently from natural causes, the Marin County Coroner's Office said today.

The Halleck Creek Ranch was purchased by his grandfather, Peter Irving, a Scottish immigrant, in the mid-1850s and has remained in the family since.

His father, Thomas, who operated the ranch for years, was a founder of the Nicasio School in 1871.

Irving was born at Point Reyes Station and operated the Nicasio cattle ranch for about 50 years. He served as chief of the Nicasio Volunteer Fire Department for about 10 years.

He is survived by his wife, Estelle G.; three sons, Kenneth L., Duane T., and William Scott Irving, and a daughter, Sylvia J. Irving. All are Nicasio residents except William who lives in Petaluma. He also is survived by two sisters, Bernice Turner of Petaluma dn Grace Rassmusson of San Francisco and 10 grandchildren.

Funeral will be tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be at Olema Cemetery, Olema.

Antiwar Groups Plan Motorcade

Three Marin anti-war groups yesterday announced a motorcade of peace demonstrators through Sausalito tomorrow en route to the peace march in San Francisco.

Barbara Boxer of Greenbrae, a member of the Marin Telephone War Tax Protest Committee, said members of her group, the Marin Alternative and the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, will begin the procession at about 9 a.m. from Sabella's Restaurant in Mill Valley.

She said it will travel through Sausalito "to pick up those people down there" and continue on to Rossi Playground in San Francisco.

Those interested in participating in the motorcade should gather outside Sabella's at about 8:30 a.m., she said.

Charges Filed Against Pair On Pot Count

Misdemeanor charges have been filed in Harin Municipal Court against two Mill Valley youths arrested Wednesday on suspicion of possessing marijuana.

Timothy John Lojko and Kevin Scott Anci, both 19, were charged with possession of narcotics paraphernalia, being in a place where narcotics are used and transporting alcohol in a car.

Anci was also charged with having an open beer in a car.

The pair was arrested at 2:55 a.m. by Mill Valley police after a routine traffic stop. Police said they found a water pipe and suspected marijuana and hashish in the car.

They are to be arraigned next Wednesday.

Bomb Threat Halts Business At Market

Mrs. Offen was a native of Pennsylvania.

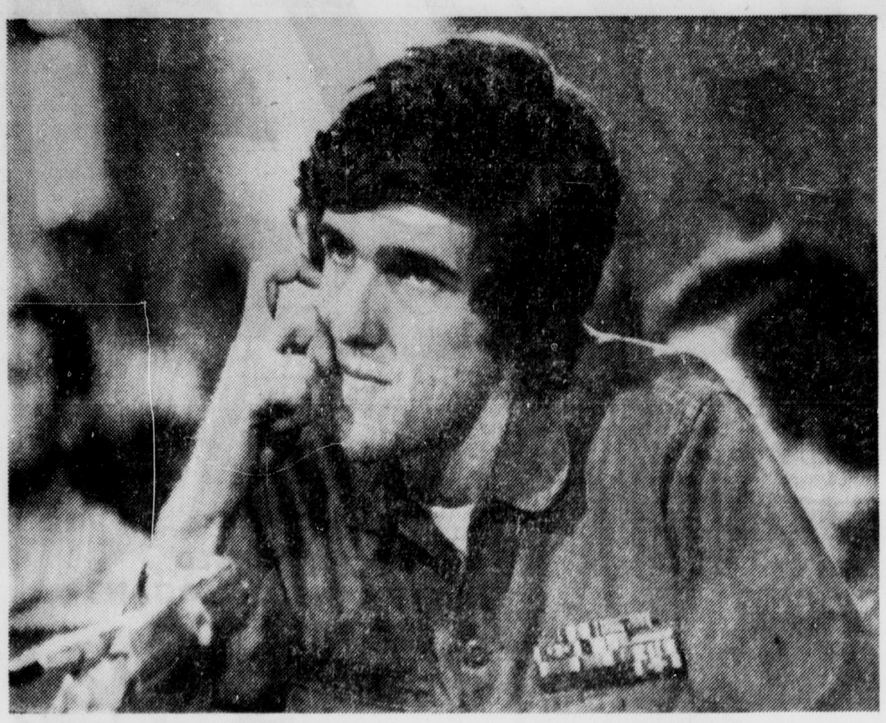
Antiwar Vets Win Bid For Mall



SOLDIER ASKS WAR'S END — John Kerry, 27, former combat officer in Vietnam who led a rag-tag army of 1,000 veterans to Washington this week to protest the war, told a Senate hearing yesterday his group was on "a last mission — to search out and destroy the last vestiges of this barbaric war." (UPI Telephoto)

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Nine hundred Vietnam veterans, marching silently past the White House in a demonstration for withdrawal of U.S. forces from Indochina, may be reaching President Nixon as no other antiwar groups have been able to do.

The battle-dressed veterans, wearing the medals and ribbons they won in Vietnam, walked or rolled in wheelchairs in a candlelight parade Thursday night so silent it couldn't be heard half a block away. They carried the flag upside down — depicting what one spokesman said was the military's acknowledged signal of distress.

Demonstration leaders called the march another victory for the veterans who earlier had camped out on the Capitol Mall despite a Supreme Court order forbidding it.

White House insiders said President Nixon passed the word "without fanfare" for the veterans to stay on the grassy parkland that runs west from the Capitol past the Washington Monument to the Lincoln Memorial.

The veterans began breaking up their campsite on Washington's Mall today to end five days of demonstrations, climaxed by symbolically throwing their combat medals into a "body bag" at the Capitol.

Leaders of the organization Vietnam Veterans Against The War appointed a cleanup crew with orders to clear the campsite area at the foot of Capitol Hill by midday. They maintained the campsite in chilly, sometimes rainy weather despite a Supreme Court order banning a campout.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said in a statement, "These veterans, whose opinion carries the badge of battle, have made an impression on the Congress. Their opinions have been heard."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., ate hamburgers and talked with the veterans on the mall before dawn Thursday. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said, "your reaction to the war has changed our policy." Muskie visited the camp before the march.

The foreign relations task force of the White House Conference on Youth, meeting at Estes Park, Colo., sent a telegram that said, "Our thoughts and prayers will be in Washington as GIs in uniform remember those Americans, Vietnamese, Cambodians and Laotians who have died in this tragic war."

The candlelight march capped Thursday's activities that included more lobbying on Captiol Hill, the arrest of 110 demonstrators at the Supreme Court and a favorable ruling by the U.S. District Court.

The court reversed an order forbidding the veterans from camping on the mall. The injunction against camping had been upheld by the Supreme Court only 24 hours earlier.

The Justice Department, which sought the injunction, also asked for the reversal. Assistant Attorney General L. Patrick Gray said the new ruling was sought because "these men are men who have served their country honorably."

Lawyers for the veterans had used similar words in arguing against the injunction.

Before the injunction was dissolved, 108 men and two women were arrested on the marble steps of the Supreme Court after a 90-minute rally against the Indochina War. Two Vietnam veterans —both double amputees in wheelchairs — demanded to be arrested, but were ignored by police.

During the rally, the demonstrators sat on the steps leading to the columned main portico facing the Capitol, clapping and singing the National Anthem, "America the Beautiful" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Veterans were testifying at Senate ad hoc hearings today on alleged war crimes and atrocities against civilians in Vietnam.

The activity is scheduled to continue through the weekend with a religious service at the National Cathedral and a mass march at the Capitol, which organizers predicted would draw "hundreds of thousands."

The Justice Department gave permission Thursday to another antiwar group, headed by Chicago Seven defendant Rennie Davis, to locate a camp south of the Lincoln Memorial for the next two weeks.

'How Do You Ask A Man To Be The Last To Die?'

By JOHN HALL

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The clean-shaven former combat officer faced the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He said he and the ragged men in the room behind him were angry —about the war, about the indifference of America, and about the prospect of a last American who will yet die before the troops leave Vietnam.

"Could you move your microphone?" asked Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo.

"Which way?"

"Like this?"

"Yes, I wanted to see what was on your chest. That's a Silver Star."

"Yes, sir."

"And that is a purple heart?"

"Yes."

"With three clusters on it. You have been wounded three times."

"Yes."

"I have no further questions."

The room erupted in applause.

For nearly two hours, former Lt. J.G. John Kerry, 27, Waltham, Mass., told the committee, the Congress and the American people why he has led a rag-tag army of nearly 1,000 veterans to Washington to protest the war in Indochina.

"We're angry because we feel we've been used in the worst fashion by this country," he said. "Our brothers go down the street without a limb, an arm, a face, and small boys ask why."

"Where are our leaders?"

Kerry is a Yale graduate who served in a Navy river patrol unit in Vietnam and now he said he and the other members of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War were on "a last mission —to search out and destroy the last vestiges of this barbaric war."

He contended the United States had "created a monster" in Vietnam —refusing to leave a war which nearly everyone now considers a tragic mistake. And if it is a mistake, he said, why are more men being told to die or be maimed there while the withdrawal continues?

"How do you ask a man to be the last to die in Vietnam?" he asked the senators. "How do you ask a man to be the last to die for a mistake?"

He told of a friend who died recently in a veterans hospital in New York while his wardmates desperately tried to obtain help. "They rang the bell. There was no one there."

And those who return physically in one piece often come back, he said, with psychological troubles and expensive drug habits. "A $12 habit in Vietnam costs $90 to support in the United States. It's very widespread."

Members of the committee sat in rapt silence and afterwards said it was among the most eloquent pleas for disengagement from Vietnam they had heard.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., gently urged Kerry not to lose faith in the political system and to recognize that Vietnam was not designed by "evil men" but was a serious "mistake in judgment" that now must be corrected.

Study Set On Subdivisions

Should unincorporated areas pay a bigger share of the cost of the county building inspection department, county counsel and engineering for subdivisions?

That question will be considered by Marin's City-County Services Committee at 8 p.m. Monday in Room 332 of the Civic Center.

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen contends that fees for building inspection and subdivision engineering should be raised, and special districts should be charged for services of the county counsel. Cities have their own city attorneys and do not call on the county counsel for legal advice, hence object to underwriting such service for other communities or districts.

Kerry is a Yale graduate who served in a Navy river patrol unit in Vietnam and now he said he and the other members of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War were on "a last mission —to search out and destroy the last vestiges of this barbaric war."

He contended the United States had "created a monster" in Vietnam —refusing to leave a war which nearly everyone now considers a tragic mistake. And if it is a mistake, he said, why are more men being told to die or be maimed there while the withdrawal continues?

"How do you ask a man to be the last to die in Vietnam?" he asked the senators. "How do you ask a man to be the last to die for a mistake?"

He told of a friend who died recently in a veterans hospital in New York while his wardmates desperately tried to obtain help. "They rang the bell. There was no one there."

And those who return physically in one piece often come back, he said, with psychological troubles and expensive drug habits. "A $12 habit in Vietnam costs $90 to support in the United States. It's very widespread."

Members of the committee sat in rapt silence and afterwards said it was among the most eloquent pleas for disengagement from Vietnam they had heard.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., gently urged Kerry not to lose faith in the political system and to recognize that Vietnam was not designed by "evil men" but was a serious "mistake in judgment" that now must be corrected.

Study Set On Subdivisions

Should unincorporated areas pay a bigger share of the cost of the county building inspection department, county counsel and engineering for subdivisions?

That question will be considered by Marin's City-County Services Committee at 8 p.m. Monday in Room 332 of the Civic Center.

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen contends that fees for building inspection and subdivision engineering should be raised, and special districts should be charged for services of the county counsel. Cities have their own city attorneys and do not call on the county counsel for legal advice, hence object to underwriting such service for other communities or districts.

Smog Fighting Goals Win Quick Adoption

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Bay Area smog officials yesterday adopted a set of long-range goals that could get them into the business of regulating land use to control growth of the region.

The goals, certain to be controversial if ever carried out, would lead to a regional land use plan to decide "the location and size of subdivisions, industrial and commercial expansion, transportation systems, high-rise developments, new power plants as well as other relevant planning decisions."

The goals were adopted unanimously with almost no discussion. The board had discussed them at previous meetings with little controversy.

The goals also promised tougher emission controls on all sources of air contamination and consideration "as to the necessity for limitation of the number and use of automobiles in the Bay Area." They also included "curtailment of the expansion of freeways and other automobile-oriented transportation arteries."

New federal air pollution laws strengthened the district's power to control land uses, its staff has reported.

Napa Mayor Ralph Trower said that the resolution adopted by the board only outlined a procedure to carry out goals.

New Chief Named

RICHMOND (UPI)—Captain Lourn G. Phelps, 43, a 20-year Police Department veteran, was named chief Thursday. He replaces Robert Murphy who has been named chief in San Jose.

Pollution Panel Will Appeal Exclusion Ruling

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors yesterday vowed to appeal a decision by the state Air Resources Board to exclude portions of Sonoma and Solano counties from the district.

Santa Clara County Supervisor Victor Calvo, chairman of the Bay Area district, said he was "very much upset" by the decision Wednesday by the state board.

Criticizing the exclusion as fragmenting the district, he told the Independent-Journal it was "a blow against our war on air pollution."

He said that staff and members of the state board had led the district to expect rejection of the two counties' plea for exclusion.

The 1970 Legislature annexed the two plus Napa County to the district, effective this coming July 1.

Calvo said the regional board still hoped for a reversal or at least a reconsideration by the state board, which is to take final action next month on the exclusion.

A spokesman for the Bay Area district said it was not clear whether the law provides for such an appeal to reverse the state board's decision.

13 Arrested For Blocking Draft Door

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Police arrested 13 Stanford University students, most of them law scholars, Thursday when they blocked the door to a draft board office.

The 11 men and 2 women were charged with unlawful interference with Selective Service activities and released on their own recognizance.

Plans Told For Tiburon Cleanup

Up to three cubic yards of refuse, placed in disposable containers or bundles at curbside, will be collected from each Tiburon resident during Tiburon Cleanup Week May 3-7.

Assistant City Mgr. Robert L. Kleinert said the collection, free to all regular customers of Mill Valley Refuse Service in Tiburon, will be on the regular garbage collection day.

Refuse should be placed at curbside no later than 5 a.m. to be picked up by a special truck and crew. Prunings too large for containers must be tied with strong cord and may not be more than five feet long, he said.

Kleinert said no rocks, cement, appliances or dirt will be collected.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Reagan Wins On S. Bay Crossing

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan emerged the easy victor today from the first 1971 showdown with Democrats over his veto of a conservationist-supported bill.

The legislation would have prohibited construction of a southern crossing over San Francisco Bay without legislative approval. The governor said Bay Area voters should decide whether it should be built.

Democrats mounted a veto override attempt in the Assembly Thursday, but even with a sprinkling of Republican help, fell far short of the minimum 54 votes needed to reverse the governor.

The vote was 44-28.

No Democrats voted to uphold the veto while four Republicans—three of them from the Bay Area—joined Democrats in the override attempt. Democrats outnumber Republicans 43-37. The bill passed the Assembly 54-7 originally.

Not since 1946 when Earl Warren was governor have both houses of the legislature voted to override a veto. The Senate did so last session but the Assembly refused to concur.

Reagan said the proposed $300 to $600 million span was so controversial that Bay Area voters should decide at a special election if it should be constructed.

He ordered further development of plans for the bridge frozen for six months, saying this would give the legislature time to approve a special election.

Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, author of the vetoed measure, said he now will reactivate a pending backup bill to hold a plebiscite of Bay Area voters in conjunction with the June 1972 primary election.

Even though they originally voted for the bill, legislators traditionally are reluctant to go against the governor of their party in an override showdown. They fear it would embarrass him and bring recriminations on themselves.

HIRING ISSUE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Reagan administration and the assemblyman who represents Watts disagreed today over whether the state is moving fast enough to hire more Negroes and other minority employes.

Democratic Assemblyman Bill Greene, a Negro, charged the state "is not even making a token effort" to hire minority persons. He made the accusation Thursday after paying a surprise visit to several state office buildings to check out the extent of minority employment.

But a spokesman for Gov. Ronald Reagan questioned "the purpose" of Greene's tour.

"If it was intended for publicity purposes, it's not the best way to solve this problem," said Assistant Press Secretary Ed Gray. "We (the Reagan administration) think we're making progress to solve the problem."

Greene counted four blacks, three Mexican-Americans and three orientals among 166 employes in the Personnel Board building. In his check of the Finance Department's budget unit, he found two blacks and two orientals among 47 employes.

OIL BILL LOSES

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Thursday defeated a bill eliminating a $26 million-a-year tax break for the oil industry.

The measure by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, to drastically limit the oil depletion allowance, was rejected 41-31, with 54 votes needed for passage.

Burton kept the legislation technically alive, however, by serving notice he will seek to have the action reconsidered later.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, told the Assembly that any legislator who voted against the bill was "clearly voting for the oil industry and against the people."

All the opposition votes were cast by Republicans. The Democrats had taken a united position in favor of the bill.

ELECTION BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Senate has overwhelmingly defeated a bill allowing candidates for public office to submit a 150-word statement of qualifications along with sample ballots.

Sponsored by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, the measure was rejected Thursday, 5-29. Critics said it could enable one candidate to attack another without provision for rebuttal.

Dedication Of Novato Library Set Tomorrow

Virginia Keating, former Marin County librarian, will relate the history of the library in Novato at the dedication of the new Novato branch of the Marin County Library, 1720 Novato Boulevard, at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

State Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, and former supervisor William A. Gnoss will speak and Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste will be master of ceremonies.

Lloyd Andrews Hamilton Post 540, American Legion, will present the flag, which will be raised by the Air Force Junior ROTC from Novato High School.

The choral group of the Novato chapter, American Association of University Women, will sing and Rev. Robert Fickenscher of Grace Lutheran Church will give the invocation. The Friends of the Novato Library will be hostesses.

Librarian Martha Van Etten reported that the story hour for pre-school children will be resumed at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday with a puppet show by Kathy Sternberg.

Woman Killed By Predawn Tornado

FLORENCE, Ala. (UPI)—One person was killed and at least three injured today when a tornado touched down in the predawn hours near this northwest Alabama city.

Authorities said Mrs. Nancy Loveless, in her 20s, died when the tornado blew a tree across her mobile home five miles north of Florence at the Central Heights community. Her husband was injured.

Official Ailing

John B. Averett, 50, San Rafael finance officer, suddenly became ill last night at his home, 86 Galleon Way, and was taken to Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital where he was reported in good condition today. Details of his illness were not available.

Budget Of $19,600 Is Approved

Sleepy Hollow Homes Association members last night discussed Tuesday's election results and approved a $19,600 budget for fiscal 1971-72.

Association president Charles C. Swensen said there was only informal discussion of the voter's rejection of a community services district that would have taken over fire protection and possibly added police services to the neighborhood.

The members at the quarterly meeting agreed that the homeowner group should continue the role it has had for the last 15 years in arranging for services, Swensen reported.

One of the main foreseeable needs, he said, was additional policing to control juvenile problems "just like there are in the rest of the county."

$14 Million Aid For Aerospacers

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—California will receive $14 million in federal funds to assist unemployed aerospace engineers, a state official said Thursday.

Louis J. Johnson, deputy director of the Human Resources Department, said the money will provide allowances for the workers to seek work in distant communities, for on-the-job training and to relocate in new areas where a job has been obtained.

The money is part of $42 million provided nationally to help out-of-work aerospace engineers.

Las Gallinas Powwow On Issues

Community problems and concerns ranging from hospitals through proposed roads and the possible annexation of Terra Linda to San Rafael were discussed last night at a council representing 15 organizations in Las Gallinas Valley.

Richard L. Less, president of the Las Gallinas Valley Council, said that the council heard representatives of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce describe a road the chamber has proposed as a connection to Sleepy Hollow.

Less said that the chamber wants the county to study the possibility of connecting Terra Linda, San Rafael, San Anselmo and Sleepy Hollow and possibly Lucas Valley Road with a through route.

The plan has been opposed in the past by Terra Linda area residents, Less said, but no action was taken last night.

The council also heard a report from Dr. Filmore Rodich concerning a proposed $14 million addition to Marin General Hospital, a plan questioned by Terra Linda area physicians and others in the northern part of the county.

Less said that Dr. Rodich's committee has questioned the advisability of spending that much money for a 100-bed addition to the hospital in Greenbrae as well as remodeling the existing building.

Less said that Dr. Rodich's committee had doubts about "putting all the eggs in one basket" by concentrating all hospital facilities and that the committee also objected to tearing down the hill behind Marin General, which apparently would be necessary.

Less said that for $14 million, a new modern separate hospital could be built, possibly in the northern part of the county, where he said more growth is taking place.

The council decided not to commission a report of its own on where hospital facilities should be located, but rather to take the questions and doubts of Las Gallinas Valley residents to the hospital board.

In another discussion concerning equalizing tax rates between cities and unincorporated areas of the county, Less said that Donald Duer, chairman of the Marinwood Community Services District, was appointed to form a committee to make proposals.

He said that the council wanted to be able to propose a tax distribution to the Marin County Council of Mayors and Councilmen which would be fair to both city and other residents.

As to the proposed annexation of Terra Linda and possibly Marinwood to San Rafael, Less said that the discussion last night was mainly aimed at reassuring other Las Gallinas Valley groups that nothing precipitous would be done.

He said that Santa Venetia and other residents have expressed fears that their "political future would be uncertain" if Marinwood and Terra Linda went into the city.

The council last night, however, did not discuss the merits of the annexation proposal.

A discussion of enforcing zoning ordinances was postponed to a meeting scheduled for May 20 at 8 p.m. at a place to be decided upon later.

Judge Switched In Hilliard Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The trial of Black Panther chief of staff David Hilliard on a charge of threatening the life of President Nixon was transferred Thusday to a different federal judge.

U.S. Dist. Judge Samuel Conti turned the case over to Judge William P. Gray of Los Angeles who will be sitting in San Francisco during the month of May.

"This case is going to trial May 3," he said. "If it appears there will be some foul-up which would cause continuances, then I will take the case back because it is my responsibility."

Cyclist Hurt

Gretchen Apostoli, 28, of 19 Glen Court, San Rafael, was treated at 6:50 p.m. yesterday at Marin General Hospital for multiple scrapes suffered in a motorcycle accident, according to hospital authorities. No additional information was available.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Reagan Wins On S. Bay Crossing

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan emerged the easy victor today from the first 1971 showdown with Democrats over his veto of a conservationist-supported bill.

The legislation would have prohibited construction of a southern crossing over San Francisco Bay without legislative approval. The governor said Bay Area voters should decide whether it should be built.

Democrats mounted a veto override attempt in the Assembly Thursday, but even with a sprinkling of Republican help, fell far short of the minimum 54 votes needed to reverse the governor.

The vote was 44-28.

No Democrats voted to uphold the veto while four Republicans—three of them from the Bay Area—joined Democrats in the override attempt. Democrats outnumber Republicans 43-37. The bill passed the Assembly 54-7 originally.

Not since 1946 when Earl Warren was governor have both houses of the legislature voted to override a veto. The Senate did so last session but the Assembly refused to concur.

Reagan said the proposed $300 to $600 million span was so controversial that Bay Area voters should decide at a special election if it should be constructed.

He ordered further development of plans for the bridge frozen for six months, saying this would give the legislature time to approve a special election.

Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, author of the vetoed measure, said he now will reactivate a pending backup bill to hold a plebiscite of Bay Area voters in conjunction with the June 1972 primary election.

Even though they originally voted for the bill, legislators traditionally are reluctant to go against the governor of their party in an override showdown. They fear it would embarrass him and bring recriminations on themselves.

HIRING ISSUE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Reagan administration and the assemblyman who represents Watts disagreed today over whether the state is moving fast enough to hire more Negroes and other minority employes.

Democratic Assemblyman Bill Greene, a Negro, charged the state "is not even making a token effort" to hire minority persons. He made the accusation Thursday after paying a surprise visit to several state office buildings to check out the extent of minority employment.

But a spokesman for Gov. Ronald Reagan questioned "the purpose" of Greene's tour.

"If it was intended for publicity purposes, it's not the best way to solve this problem," said Assistant Press Secretary Ed Gray. "We (the Reagan administration) think we're making progress to solve the problem."

Greene counted four blacks, three Mexican-Americans and three orientals among 166 employes in the Personnel Board building. In his check of the Finance Department's budget unit, he found two blacks and two orientals among 47 employes.

OIL BILL LOSES

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Thursday defeated a bill eliminating a $26 million-a-year tax break for the oil industry.

The measure by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, to drastically limit the oil depletion allowance, was rejected 41-31, with 54 votes needed for passage.

Burton kept the legislation technically alive, however, by serving notice he will seek to have the action reconsidered later.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, told the Assembly that any legislator who voted against the bill was "clearly voting for the oil industry and against the people."

All the opposition votes were cast by Republicans. The Democrats had taken a united position in favor of the bill.

ELECTION BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Senate has overwhelmingly defeated a bill allowing candidates for public office to submit a 150-word statement of qualifications along with sample ballots.

Sponsored by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, the measure was rejected Thursday, 5-29. Critics said it could enable one candidate to attack another without provision for rebuttal.

The choral group of the Novato chapter, American Association of University Women, will sing and Rev. Robert Fickenscher of Grace Lutheran Church will give the invocation. The Friends of the Novato Library will be hostesses.

Librarian Martha Van Etten reported that the story hour for pre-school children will be resumed at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday with a puppet show by Kathy Sternberg.

FLORENCE, Ala. (UPI)—One person was killed and at least three injured today when a tornado touched down in the predawn hours near this northwest Alabama city.

Authorities said Mrs. Nancy Loveless, in her 20s, died when the tornado blew a tree across her mobile home five miles north of Florence at the Central Heights community. Her husband was injured.

Sleepy Hollow Homes Association members last night discussed Tuesday's election results and approved a $19,600 budget for fiscal 1971-72.

Corte Madera Police Seek Help

The Corte Madera Police Department last night appealed for help from a group of about 40 homeowners — some of whom have criticized the department for poor police protection.

"We can't prevent crime without your help," Sgt. Charles H. Rester told the meeting of Mariner Cove Improvement Association members. "You can hire 500 more cops but it won't do you any good unless the department has neighborhood support."

In February, 111 East Corte Madera businessmen and homeowners — including some Mariner Cove homeowners — presented a petition to the town council charging the 14-man department with providing "insufficient police protection."

At last night's meeting, attended also by Police Chief David L. McIntosh, no charge was leveled against the department even though the businesswoman who circulated the petition was present.

Following a 45-minute slide show introduction to the duties of police officers — the first of a four-part series developed by Rester, — residents questioned the officers on what homeowners could do to help.

Report anything unusual, they were told. "You know what looks right in your neighborhood. . .If you see something unusual call us, that's what you are buying these fancy patrol cars for," Rester said. "Eighty-five per cent of the calls don't mean a thing, but we work for the small percentage."

In its business meeting, the improvement association elected six new members to its 11-member board of directors.

San Pedro Loop Bicycle Path Plans Told To Panel

Plans for posting signs along the San Pedro Road Loop marking it a bicycle route were described last night at the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission meeting.

Andrew J. Snyder Jr., director of parks and recreation for the city, told the commission that the city's traffic safety committee had approved signing of the part of San Pedro Road that is within city limits.

He said that the county is making plans for marking the portion outside the city.

He added that the Marin Cyclists Club has volunteered to dig post holes and put up signs and that he hopes the signs will be up by this summer.

In other business last night, the commission worked out a proposal to be made to the Dixie School District for joint financing and construction of recreation facilities, including two tennis courts, on Dixie property.

Snyder said that the proposed facilties will be on the grounds of Don Timoteo and Vallecito schools adjacent to the new Freitas Park. He said that he will meet with the Dixie School Board next Wednesday to discuss the project.

The commission also learned that a snack bar at Albert Field has been completed and will open tomorrow for the Little League opening.

Snyder said that the San Rafael Police Officers Association and Little League organization contributed to the snack bar.

The commission last night also worked with 10 members of the Goldenaires to revise the bylaws of the senior citizens group.

The commission postponed discussion of 1971-72 budgets until a meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday in city hall.

Labor Union Resistance Urged

Members of the Sonoma-Marin Dairymen's Association were urged yesterday to resist the incursion of labor unions into their industry.

The advice came from Ross F. Thoresen, manager of Industrial Relations Council, a Salt Lake City labor relations counseling firm. Thoresen was speaker at the dairymen's annual meeting at Point Reyes Station.

Wage increases without increased productivity are self defeating, he said. He predicted that consumers will soon realize wage increases lead to disproportionately high consumer price increases. Collective bargaining is a failure, he declared.

Thoreson spoke before approximately 150 association members and guests at the dairymen's annual barbecue steak luncheon at the West Marin Community Center.

Surprise Awaits One Commuter

A commuter found a surprise waiting for him when he returned from work in San Francisco yesterday: his truck was sitting on four cement blocks instead of tires.

San Rafael police said today Arthur G. Adler of 420 Montecillo Road, Terra Linda, had parked his 1963 International Scout truck in front of the Golden Venus Spa on Redwood Highway about 7 a.m.

When he returned at 6 p.m., the five heavy truck tires and rims — including the spare — were gone, police reported. Tires were valued at $360.

Open Space Plea Beats Duplex Plan

The Cotati Planning Commission last night rejected a planned duplex after residents urged the preservation of open space.

Kenneth D. and Maureen Garner had requested a use permit for the duplex in a rural residential zone on West School Street at Maple Avenue.

Neighbors told the commission that the remaining open space should be maintained and forecast parking and traffic problems if the duplex were approved. Garner argued unsuccessfully that the lot is more than adequate in size for the duplex and that he would provide two covered parking spaces and four uncovered spaces.

In other action, the commission approved the request of Laura Washburn to install bathroom facilities in her studio workshop at 733 West School Street. Also passed was the request of S. H. Cervantes Sr. to change single family zoning to two-family on five lots at Sierra and Valparaiso Avenues for the future Casa Bonita subdivision.

Classes Canceled At Sonoma For Faulty Parley

Classes have been canceled for Monday at Sonoma State College so that faculty members may participate in a two-day conference on the college's future.

Faculty and administrators will meet Sunday and Monday at the Archbishop McGucken Youth Center at Occidental to reexamine the college's purposes and to find more effective ways of meeting its goals.

Warren B. Martin of the center for the Study of Higher Education at the University of California at Berkeley will give the opening address. Sonoma State president Thomas H. McGrath will also speak.

After meetings of 17 discussion groups, a general assembly will be held. Conference chairman is Dr. Glenn Price, history department.

Early Exposure To Careers And Better Education Urged

By JEFF GREER

Students need earlier exposure to types of careers available and what education is needed to get the jobs, participants in the Marin County Industry-Education Council conference agreed yesterday.

Volunteers among the 165 participants formed a nucleus group to plan for the goals. Chairman John L. Levinsohn of San Rafael called a follow-up meeting for 8:30 a.m. May 8 in the guidance center at Redwood High School.

Levinsohn told the conference at the College of Marin that "if industry works with suppliers of raw materials on specifications for what you buy, why not work with educators on the type and education of the employee you're buying?"

The conference split into seven groups for discussion of matching education and industry needs in the fields of health services, construction trades, government, retailing, public services, finance and ecology.

After 90-minute discussions by industry representatives, teachers and students, the group leaders summarized their groups' opinions.

Van Logan, development firm executive, reported the finance group urged that professionals in the field spend considerable time in the classroom to acquaint students with opportunities, and to learn youths' attitudes.

Logan and other group leaders agreed that many Marin County firms are too small to allow management enough time to offer extensive work experience programs for students.

Health section leader Ray K. Bolinger, administrator of Marin General Hospital, stressed the need to inform ninth and tenth grade students or even younger, of the career possibilities, rather than wait until the senior year. Pacific Gas and Electric Co. official Elmo Petterle said his public services group wanted industry to tell students earlier about "testing requirements that industry will want of the students." He called for countywide coordination of the schools' work-experience programs, and efforts to let each student explore "three, four or five vocations."

Ecology group leader John Green, a Chevron Research Co. physicist, reported "no one really knows what an ecologist is," but said the panel agreed that industrial engineers, scientists and writers must henceforth have ecological training to guide their firms' actions.

Merchant Steve Leonisio said the retail group urged that students get to "feel and touch and see" actual careers, then return to the classroom to say "I've got to learn to add and how to make change."

The construction group found and criticized a five-year age gap between high school graduation and average entry into trade apprenticeship. The government group suggested the industry-education council use political influence to get public agencies to create work-experience programs for youth.

Common Use Of Facilities Agreed Upon

The continued common use of school and city facilities was agreed upon last night at a joint meeting of the Petaluma Board of Education and Rohnert Park City Council.

Schools Supt. Lesly H. Meyer said a plan will be worked out so that James Pekkain, Rohnert Park recreation director, can take charge of school grounds for summer recreation programs. Meyer said the men also agreed to continue the mutual use of the city swimming pools, recreation center, school meeting rooms and gymnasiums.

Meyer said the board and council heard that the improvements of Snyder Lane in front of Rancho Cotate High School may be delayed further since some property owners are having financial difficulties and cannot join an assessment district to finance the project.

39 Flee Fire In Haight-Ashbury

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A blazing three-alarm fire in the attic of a Haight-Ashbury artists' quarters sent 39 residents in two buildings to the street early yesterday and caused an estimated $30,000 damage before it was brought under control.

The fire broke out in the attic apartment of artist Jack Leftwich, 37, who reported the fire at 4:30 a.m. Fire Chief Keith Calden said the blaze was probably caused by an electric heater set in a fireplace.

Leftwich awoke the 30 occupants of his building, but the flames burst through the roof and spread to neighboring turn-of-the-century frame building next door, and its eight occupants also fled.

Pot Suspect Is Arrested

A 28-year-old Sausalito man was booked into Marin County Jail Wednesday on suspicion of possessing marijuana and drug paraphernalia after police went to his home to investigate a burglary in progress.

James Washburn Davis, of 96 Santa Rosa Avenue was arrested on a search warrant which officers had obtained after they entered the residence through an open front door to search for a burglar. Police found no thief, but said they found remains of suspected marijuana cigarettes and a brass waterpipe in the home. They obtained the warrant and arrested Davis when he returned to the residence.

He was freed on $625 bail, to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

The oldest reason in the world for buying a new one.

Meet Jim Freim, age 25.
And his automobile, age 23.
Now there's nothing unusual about a nice human being being 25.
But you have to admit it's a bit unusual when a car, even a Volkswagen, is still running around at the ripe old age of 23.

But, you see, in this age of "New, Now, Wow" automobiles, we spend very little time making our little car look better. (Obviously.)
But we do spend a great deal of time making it work better.
Each and every one of the 5,115 parts in the VW has been improved and improved again since Jim Freim's car hit the highway back in '49.
We, of course, mentioned this to him and suggested that maybe after 23 years, it was time he traded his old one in for a new one.
"Don't call me, I'll call you," he said.

Corte Madera Police Seek Help

The Corte Madera Police Department last night appealed for help from a group of about 40 homeowners — some of whom have criticized the department for poor police protection.

"We can't prevent crime without your help," Sgt. Charles H. Rester told the meeting of Mariner Cove Improvement Association members. "You can hire 500 more cops but it won't do you any good unless the department has neighborhood support."

In February, 111 East Corte Madera businessmen and homeowners — including some Mariner Cove homeowners — presented a petition to the town council charging the 14-man department with providing "insufficient police protection."

At last night's meeting, attended also by Police Chief David L. McIntosh, no charge was leveled against the department even though the businesswoman who circulated the petition was present.

Following a 45-minute slide show introduction to the duties of police officers — the first of a four-part series developed by Rester, — residents questioned the officers on what homeowners could do to help.

Report anything unusual, they were told. "You know what looks right in your neighborhood. . .If you see something unusual call us, that's what you are buying these fancy patrol cars for," Rester said. "Eighty-five per cent of the calls don't mean a thing, but we work for the small percentage."

In its business meeting, the improvement association elected six new members to its 11-member board of directors.

Open Space Plea Beats Duplex Plan

The Cotati Planning Commission last night rejected a planned duplex after residents urged the preservation of open space.

Kenneth D. and Maureen Garner had requested a use permit for the duplex in a rural residential zone on West School Street at Maple Avenue.

Neighbors told the commission that the remaining open space should be maintained and forecast parking and traffic problems if the duplex were approved. Garner argued unsuccessfully that the lot is more than adequate in size for the duplex and that he would provide two covered parking spaces and four uncovered spaces.

In other action, the commission approved the request of Laura Washburn to install bathroom facilities in her studio workshop at 733 West School Street. Also passed was the request of S. H. Cervantes Sr. to change single family zoning to two-family on five lots at Sierra and Valparaiso Avenues for the future Casa Bonita subdivision.

San Pedro Loop Bicycle Path Plans Told To Panel

Plans for posting signs along the San Pedro Road Loop marking it a bicycle route were described last night at the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission meeting.

Andrew J. Snyder Jr., director of parks and recreation for the city, told the commission that the city's traffic safety committee had approved signing of the part of San Pedro Road that is within city limits.

He said that the county is making plans for marking the portion outside the city.

He added that the Marin Cyclists Club has volunteered to dig post holes and put up signs and that he hopes the signs will be up by this summer.

In other business last night, the commission worked out a proposal to be made to the Dixie School District for joint financing and construction of recreation facilities, including two tennis courts, on Dixie property.

Snyder said that the proposed facilties will be on the grounds of Don Timoteo and Vallecito schools adjacent to the new Freitas Park. He said that he will meet with the Dixie School Board next Wednesday to discuss the project.

The commission also learned that a snack bar at Albert Field has been completed and will open tomorrow for the Little League opening.

Snyder said that the San Rafael Police Officers Association and Little League organization contributed to the snack bar.

The commission last night also worked with 10 members of the Goldenaires to revise the bylaws of the senior citizens group.

The commission postponed discussion of 1971-72 budgets until a meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday in city hall.

Labor Union Resistance Urged

Members of the Sonoma-Marin Dairymen's Association were urged yesterday to resist the incursion of labor unions into their industry.

The advice came from Ross F. Thoresen, manager of Industrial Relations Council, a Salt Lake City labor relations counseling firm. Thoresen was speaker at the dairymen's annual meeting at Point Reyes Station.

Wage increases without increased productivity are self defeating, he said. He predicted that consumers will soon realize wage increases lead to disproportionately high consumer price increases. Collective bargaining is a failure, he declared.

Thoreson spoke before approximately 150 association members and guests at the dairymen's annual barbecue steak luncheon at the West Marin Community Center.

Surprise Awaits One Commuter

A commuter found a surprise waiting for him when he returned from work in San Francisco yesterday: his truck was sitting on four cement blocks instead of tires.

San Rafael police said today Arthur G. Adler of 420 Montecillo Road, Terra Linda, had parked his 1963 International Scout truck in front of the Golden Venus Spa on Redwood Highway about 7 a.m.

When he returned at 6 p.m., the five heavy truck tires and rims — including the spare — were gone, police reported. Tires were valued at $360.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Too Many Chefs Spoil The Zupa? Not So At The Deer Park Villa

For good hearty, flavorsome food it's hard to beat the old maestros from the sunny Mediterranean and their sons and grandsons who carry on the treasured art of their cooking down through the generations.

And the art is slow to die out, because in the way of Italian families they get together with other Italian families and multiply.

So it has been with the Ghiringhellis of Deer Park Villa in Fairfax. Papa Joe Ghiringhelli, a master of his family's profession, married Antoinette Pagani, also from a family of good chefs and cooks. And in due course they had Dolores and Bob and Harry and Jon, who dutifully learned the various aspects of the family restaurant profession and who have carried it on since then. At least Dolores, Bob and Harry have. Jon Strayed into the real estate business, but put a chef's hat on him and I understand everything comes back.

The whole family of them, including some of the grandchildren, are in it up to their polenta. So you can figure chances of getting some excellent scallopini are pretty good when you go to Deer Park.

Personally I like veal scallopini and when it's done right I can't seem to get enough of it. But don't let me influence you. Look at the rest of the Deer Park menu — maybe you prefer something else besides veal. If you can't make up your mind, close your eyes and point your finger at something. Whatever it indicates is sure to turn out okay.

This summer you can look for some fine outdoor service under the trees on the new deck at Deer Park.

And I might as well mention that I am having doubts again about this business of who is the dean of chefs of Marin County — Joe Ghiringhelli or Sal Galli. Each one swears he was here first. Will someone in his 70s, who knew them both when, kindly step in and break the deadlock!

Joe's first place was the old Union Hotel in downtown San Rafael. Sal's was the Two Mile Inn, north of San Rafael. All I know now for sure is that half a century has gone by since they started. Exact dates are still in dispute.

THIRSTY YACHTSMEN turning out Sunday on the water for the opening of the yachting season should focus their glasses to locate the power boat of Bernard's Executive Lounge, which will be cruising somewhere between Tiburon and the San Rafael Marina.

You should be able to identify it easily at a distance from its sign, "The Harvey Wallbanger Hospitality Center." If you do, pull alongside. Don Bernard says libations will be served accordingly.

After 4 p.m., if you missed the boat, you can congregate at Bernard's in San Rafael for a free handout of beans and hamhocks. But you'll have to pay for your own Harvey Wallbanger.

ONCE THE YACHTING SEASON OPENS, you can bank on the Tiburon Champagne Dinner Cruise starting not long after. This year, first cruise will be next Thursday. There will be music, dancing and a champagne party aboard.

Two tours leave every Thursday night from Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco — one at 6:30 p.m. and the second at 7:45 p.m. They return from Tiburon to San Francisco at 9:45 and 11 p.m. respectively — after you have had a chance to dine at one of five Tiburon restaurants — Tiburon Lodge, Sam's Anchor Cafe, El Borro, Windjammer, the Dock or Tiburon Tommie's. If you can't make up your mind which one to choose, visit them all before making your selection.

Price for cruise and dinner (sans tax and tip) is $8.75 per person. Make reservations with Tiburon Dinner Cruise, 1714 Stockton Street, San Francisco.

Saturday and Sunday lunch cruises will begin June 2.

THE THREE TOP beer drinking nations are the United States, Germany and Great Britain. California has 10 operating breweries, making it the fifth largest producer in this country.

THE LIONS SHARE on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile is featuring the Van Morrison Show (two shows each night) tonight, tomorrow and Sunday. Tickets, on sale at the door, are $3.

ANOTHER FRED CHERRY California night is back in the news. This one, for members of Les Bon Vinants members as usual, will be held April 28 at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley. Time is 7:30 p.m.

Wines of Paul Masson will be featured and George Loizos, owner of Cafe Ambrosia in San Anselmo, will be the chef. He will offer a classic dinner of Mediterranean dishes, including something new which probably will soon appear on his own menu — Spinakopeta, a traditional cheese delicacy of Greece, "made of spinach and feta cheese, wrapped in portbrushed, paper-thin leaves of pastry and baked until brown."

You can make arrangements by calling Cafe Ambrosia.

LIKE OLD WINES? Heublein's Premiere National Auction of Rare Wines will be held for the first time in California May 26 at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco. It is reported to be featuring one of the rarest collections of European and California wines ever assembled.

One is the personal cellar of the late John Daniel Jr., nephew of Gustave Niebaum, founder of Inglenook Vineyards in the Napa Valley. It will include wines laid down in the late 1800s and other old Inglenook vintages ranging from the early 1900s through early 1940s.

A preview is scheduled at the Colonial Room in the St. Francis on May 25, when bid forms will be available.

A WINE TASTING RECEPTION, sponsored by the Northgate One Merchants Association and Terra Linda Athletic Association, will be held tomorrow at Lin Fa Gardens in Northgate One from 2 to 5 p.m. Wines will be furnished by Tiburon Vintners from their Windsor Vineyards. The late Russ Hodges was to have been here.

Donations are $1 per ticket. Proceeds will benefit the Terra Linda Athletic Association's Little League. Tickets are available from league members and at Northgate One stores.

VICTOR J. (TRADER VIC) BERGERON opens his 18th Trader Vic's Restaurant this month in Munich, Germany. Located in the prestigious Hotel Bayerischer Hof, it will seat 300 persons and have a staff of 150. Besides its usual selection of exotic foods and rum drinks it will feature something new called the Munich Sour, made from fine German brandy.

Bergeron opened his first place 37 years ago in Oakland. He called it Hinky Dinks and sold good whiskey for 15 cents a shot.

Guilty Plea To Check Charge

Deborah Louise Talbot, 18, of Corte Madera, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a felony bad check charge. A second count of the same charge was dismissed.

Miss Talbot, who earlier had pleaded innocent to both counts is to be sentenced in superior court May 3.

She was arrested by Novato police April 13.

Tiburon Lodge Plan On Agenda

The Tiburon City Council, meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday at city hall, will consider a precise plan for a 34-room addition to the Tiburon Lodge, 1651 Tiburon Boulevard.

Also on the agenda is election of a mayor and mayor pro tem to replace Denis T. Rice and Albert H. Sennett respectively.

Hickel Weighs Some Conditions On Entering N.H. Primary

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)— Former Secretary of Interior Walter J. Hickel said Thursday under certain conditions he would challenge the national Republican administration by entering the New Hampshire primary.

Hickel said an escalation of the war in Southeast Asia or a total turnabout on the current GOP ecological program could lead him into the nation's first presidential primary next year.

The former governor of Alaska added that he has not "raised a finger to challenge President Nixon" and indicated if Nixon wants the Republican nomination as things stand now he'll get it.

But he said the Republican Party needs to do more to attract the 25 million new 18 to 21-year-old voters that will participate in the 1972 presidential elections.

"The young people will evaluate each candidate more than adult voters have in the past," he added. "They vote in the direction they feel will be best for the nation rather than in a block party vote."

Turning to the environmental issue, Hickel encouraged collective action on the interstate and national level to solve America's ecological problems.

The former secretary is slated to speak on the ecological crisis April 23 at 10 a.m. in Salt Lake City, in connection with the University of Utah Earth Week activities.

"It is simply a matter of having enough courage to face the environmental problems. It is not too late now. We have the technology and the manpower to do it."

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Too Many Chefs Spoil The Zupa? Not So At The Deer Park Villa

For good hearty, flavorsome food it's hard to beat the old maestros from the sunny Mediterranean and their sons and grandsons who carry on the treasured art of their cooking down through the generations.

And the art is slow to die out, because in the way of Italian families they get together with other Italian families and multiply.

So it has been with the Ghiringhellis of Deer Park Villa in Fairfax. Papa Joe Ghiringhelli, a master of his family's profession, married Antoinette Pagani, also from a f a m i l y of good chefs and cooks. And in due course they had Dolores and Bob and Harry and Jon, who dutifully learned the various aspects of the family restaurant profession and who have carried it on since then. At least Dolores, Bob and Harry have. Jon Strayed into the real estate business, but put a chef's hat on him and I understand everything comes back.

The whole family of them, including some of the grandchildren, are in it up to their p o l e n t a. So you can figure chances of getting some excellent scallopini are pretty good when you go to Deer Park.

Personally I like veal scallopini and when it's done right I can't seem to get enough of it. But don't let me influence you. Look at the rest of the Deer Park menu — maybe you prefer something else besides veal. If you c a n ' t make up your mind, close your eyes and point your finger at something. Whatever it indicates is sure to turn out okay.

This summer you can look for some fine outdoor service under the trees on the new deck at Deer Park.

And I might as well mention that I am having doubts again about this business of who is the dean of c h e f s of Marin County — Joe Ghiringhelli or Sal Galli. Each one swears he was here first. Will someone in his 70s, who knew them both when, kindly step in and break the deadlock!

Joe's first place was the old Union Hotel in downtown San Rafael. Sal's was the Two Mile Inn, north of San Rafael. All I know now for sure is that half a century has gone by since they started. Exact dates are still in dispute.

THIRSTY YACHTSMEN turning out Sunday on the water for the opening of the yachting season should focus their glasses to locate the power boat of Bernard's Executive Lounge, which will be cruising somewhere between Tiburon and the San Rafael Marina.

You should be able to identify it easily at a distance from its sign, "The Harvey Wallbanger Hospitality Center." If you do, pull alongside. Don Bernard says libations will be served accordingly.

After 4 p.m., if you missed the boat, you can congregate at Bernard's in San Rafael for a free handout of beans and hamhocks. But you'll have to pay for your own Harvey Wallbanger.

ONCE THE YACHTING SEASON OPENS, you can bank on the Tiburon Champagne Dinner Cruise starting not long after. This year, first cruise will be next Thursday. There will be music, dancing and a champagne party aboard.

Two tours leave every Thursday night from Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco — one at 6:30 p.m. and the second at 7:45 p.m. They return from Tiburon to San Francisco at 9:45 and 11 p.m. respectively — after you have had a chance to dine at one of five Tiburon restaurants — Tiburon Lodge, Sam's Anchor Cafe, El Borro, Windjammer, the Dock or Tiburon Tommie's. If you can't make up your mind which one to choose, visit them all before making your selection.

Price for cruise and dinner (sans tax and tip) is $8.75 per person. Make reservations with Tiburon Dinner Cruise, 1714 Stockton Street, San Francisco.

Saturday and Sunday lunch cruises will begin June 2.

THE THREE TOP beer drinking nations are the United States, Germany and Great Britain. California has 10 operating breweries, making it the fifth largest producer in this country.

THE LIONS SHARE on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile is featuring the Van Morrison Show (two shows each night) tonight, tomorrow and Sunday. Tickets, on sale at the door, are $3.

ANOTHER FRED CHERRY California night is back in the news. This one, for members of Les Bon Vinants members as usual, will be held April 28 at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley. Time is 7:30 p.m.

Wines of Paul Masson will be featured and George Loizos, owner of Cafe Ambrosia in San Anselmo, will be the chef. He will offer a classic dinner of Mediterranean dishes, including something new which probably will soon appear on his own menu — Spinakopeta, a traditional cheese delicacy of Greece, "made of spinach and feta cheese, wrapped in portbrushed, paper-thin leaves of pastry and baked until brown."

You can make arrangements by calling Cafe Ambrosia.

LIKE OLD WINES? Heublein's Premiere National Auction of Rare Wines will be held for the first time in California May 26 at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco. It is reported to be featuring one of the rarest collections of European and California wines ever assembled.

One is the personal cellar of the late John Daniel Jr., nephew of Gustave Niebaum, founder of Inglenook Vineyards in the Napa Valley. It will include wines laid down in the late 1800s and other old Inglenook vintages ranging from the early 1900s through early 1940s.

A preview is scheduled at the Colonial Room in the St. Francis on May 25, when bid forms will be available.

A WINE TASTING RECEPTION, sponsored by the Northgate One Merchants Association and Terra Linda Athletic Association, will be held tomorrow at Lin Fa Gardens in Northgate One from 2 to 5 p.m. Wines will be furnished by Tiburon Vintners from their Windsor Vineyards. The late Russ Hodges was to have been here.

Donations are $1 per ticket. Proceeds will benefit the Terra Linda Athletic Association's Little L e a g u e. Tickets are available from league members and at Northgate One stores.

VICTOR J. (TRADER VIC) BERGERON opens his 18th Trader Vic's Restaurant this month in Munich, Germany. Located in the prestigious Hotel Bayerischer Hof, it will seat 300 persons and have a staff of 150. Besides its usual selection of exotic foods and rum drinks it will feature something new called the Munich Sour, made from fine German brandy.

Bergeron opened his first place 37 years ago in Oakland. He called it Hinky Dinks and sold good whiskey for 15 cents a shot.

Guilty Plea To Check Charge

Deborah Louise Talbot, 18, of Corte Madera, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a felony bad check charge. A second count of the same charge was dismissed.

Miss Talbot, who earlier had pleaded innocent to both counts is to be sentenced in superior court May 3.

She was arrested by Novato police April 13.

Tiburon Lodge Plan On Agenda

The Tiburon City Council, meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday at city hall, will consider a precise plan for a 34-room addition to the Tiburon Lodge, 1651 Tiburon Boulevard.

Also on the agenda is election of a mayor and mayor pro tem to replace Denis T. Rice and Albert H. Sennett respectively.

Hickel Weighs Some Conditions On Entering N.H. Primary

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)— Former Secretary of Interior Walter J. Hickel said Thursday under certain conditions he would challenge the national Republican administration by entering the New Hampshire primary.

Hickel said an escalation of the war in Southeast Asia or a total turnabout on the current GOP ecological program could lead him into the nation's first presidential primary next year.

The former governor of Alaska added that he has not "raised a finger to challenge President Nixon" and indicated if Nixon wants the Republican nomination as things stand now he'll get it.

But he said the Republican Party needs to do more to attract the 25 million new 18 to 21-year-old voters that will participate in the 1972 presidential elections.

"The young people will evaluate each candidate more than adult voters have in the past," he added. "They vote in the direction they feel will be best for the nation rather than in a block party vote."

Turning to the environmental issue, Hickel encouraged collective action on the interstate and national level to solve America's ecological problems.

The former secretary is slated to speak on the ecological crisis April 23 at 10 a.m. in Salt Lake City, in connection with the University of Utah Earth Week activities.

"It is simply a matter of having enough courage to face the environmental problems. It is not too late now. We have the technology and the manpower to do it."

No Chance For Zyski With San Rafael Voters

When Bella H. Aaron announced her candidacy for the San Rafael Board of Education in 1961, a seasoned election observer at the city hall predicted: "She's a winner. With a double-A on the front of her name, she can't lose."

This cynical observer was basing his prediction on the record in preceding elections, and on the way names are placed on the ballot. The incumbents' names are listed first, alphabetically, followed by the challengers' names, also alphabetically. No incumbent was running the year Mrs. Aaron entered the race; therefore, her name headed the list.

The prediction proved true. Mrs. Aaron was elected with 2,127 votes, along with John M. Bagshaw, who got 2,337. Bagshaw's name was third on the list. Joseph Albanese, a former board member whose name was second, ran third with 1,971 — but, of course, the name Bagshaw was politically potent, with Albert M. Bagshaw having served as both district attorney and city attorney, and T. Fred Bagshaw being a former county supervisor.

SAN RAFAEL VOTERS tend to re-elect incumbents to the board of education. And where there is a vacancy, the name at the top of the list generally wins. That was the basis for the observer's prediction regarding Mrs. Aaron.

In 1955, incumbent Angelo Turrini (listed third) lost out to C. Paul Bettini, listed fourth — the first name after the incumbents. In 1957, there was no contest. In 1959, the three incumbents, whose names topped the list, ran one-two-three to win re-election.

In 1963, incumbent Bettini was high vote getter with 4,640, followed by the two challengers listed immediately below him: Carl J. Brown with 3,081 and J. Walter Doll with 3,410. The others finished in the exact order of their appearance on the ballot: Frank M. Parker, 2,760; Edythe B. Tait, 2,548; D. Gwynn Thomson, 2,523; Paul J. Wata, 1,372; L. E. Weisenburg Jr., 1,238.

In 1965, with no incumbent running, the first two listed, Walter R. Castro Jr. and Lawrence I. Kramer Jr., won election. Kenneth M. Procter and L. B. Thomas were losers. In 1967, John C. Pfeiffer, the lone challenger, beat out incumbent Anita Strom, whose name was immediately above his. Two years ago, Paul L. Jones and Kramer had no opposition.

ON TUESDAY of this week, incumbent Childress (whose name was at the top) led the field with 5,021 votes. Also elected were the two whose names appeared next: Marilyn Bolinger, with 3,906, and Francis X. Kelly, with 3,401. Charles B. Peek, whose name appeared sixth, finished fourth with 3,361; Richard E. West Jr., whose name was last of nine, was fifth with 3,037.

These figures tend to bear out what that city hall observer held 10 years ago: That enough San Rafael voters just take the three top names for board of education to give those candidates a distinct advantage.

WE ARE NOT suggesting that Childress got 5,021 votes just because his name headed the list. Such a total constitutes impressive endorsement of his performance on the board. Nor are we suggesting that Mrs. Bolinger and Kelly owe their election to the fortunes of the alphabet.

But it is hard to keep from wondering whether, if Charles B. Peek were Charles B. Beek, he would have received the 41 additional votes necessary for election; and whether if Richard E. West were Richard E. Best, he might have come mighty close to the winners' circle.

Electing "by alphabet" has worked out pretty well. It did again this time. Both Mrs. Bolinger and Kelly have evidenced perceptive concern about school problems.

But perhaps we should consider rotating names on the ballot, or basing the listing order on chance by drawing the names from a hat, or listing in order of time of filing to give whatever advantage accompanies the top of the list to those who enter the contest earliest. Young and Zylski should not be under any automatic alphabetical handicap when running against Adams and Baker.

CAPITOL REPORT

Powerful PUC Finds Itself In Midst Of Hot Controversy

By ARTHUR YOUNGBERG
California News Alliance

The five most powerful men in California may be the public utilities commissioners. Their orders involve billions of dollars. The only appeal to their decisions is the state Supreme Court.

The PUC sets rates for electricity, gas, water and telephone users. Railroad, bus, airline and steamship fares, truck freight rates are under their control. Right now the PUC is considering rate increase requests from privately owned utilities totaling more than $400 million a year if granted in full.

The PUC also has the responsibility of assuring Californians good, safe service from utilities. To maintain this service utility shareholders are to receive a reasonable return on their investment. Publicly owned gas, electric, water, sewer and other municipal utilities are not controlled by the PUC.

All five of California's public utilities commissioners are appointees of Gov. Ronald Reagan. They serve six-year terms. The last Democrat, A. V. Gatov of Kentfield, left the commission in February and was succeeded by Madera stockbroker D. W. Holmes.

In July, Oakland attorney J. P. Vukasin, appointed by the governor in 1969, was elected chairman of the commission by the four other members.

These are the elements, then, in the current controversy —a new chairman, a Republican commission composed of two attorneys, two businessmen and a retired rancher.

Add to this mix two sudden and unexpected changes in how the PUC functions, proposed by chairman Vukasin without prior public explanation. It all triggered a heavy barrage of criticism centering around charges that the commission had turned against the consumer.

The controversial proposals were:

—Rotating the entire 750-person PUC staff to different jobs within six months.

—Limiting the right of the public to cross-examine witnesses and allowing only attorneys to represent parties before the commission.

The rotation plan was needed, according to chairman Vukasin, to develop a needed broader base of technical knowledge within the PUC staff. In fact, rotation had been practiced on smaller scale for many years in the PUC. But rotating all 750 employees in six months drew strong protest from the staff and the public.

Restricting representation to attorneys and limiting public cross-examination would eliminate tedious duplication in testimony and speed up hearings, Vukasin argued.

PUC foes called it an attempt to muffle consumer groups, stifle public testimony and give the utilities an edge in hearing procedures.

Embarrassingly for Vukasin it turned out this plan had originated with attorneys who represent large utilities.

Following state Senate and Assembly committee hearings on Vukasin's proposals, the rotation plan was largely abandoned. The other proposal is still hanging fire.

Ironically the controversy erupted when the commission has before it some of the biggest rate increases ever. Pacific Telephone is asking $195 million; Southern California Edison, $128 million.

Recall Of Wright Seen As Ominous

The loss of Gordon Wright on the Reed School Board should be considered with sober reflection. It is hard to envision "fine, constructive growth" from the destructive act which removed him from office.

Before the right school policies can be established, those qualities which will be reflected had better be clear. Is financial irresponsibility better than responsible spending? Is mediocrity better than excellence? Is cruelty better than compassion?

Was it an example of compassion or cruelty to turn Mr. Wright out of office in the middle of his term? To place him at the mercy of ribaldry, rancor, lies, and discourtesy, while the unruly clothe themselves with immunity from their coercive actions?

Was this an example of intelligence and goodwill, or an ominous sign of the future?

Different View Of Military Mind

In regard to Mr. (Roscoe) Drummond's "Military Mind" article of April 19, he made the statement that the Geneva Conference divided Vietnam into two halves. This indicates that Mr. Drummond is a poor historian. The Geneva Agreements of July 1954 stated that the 17th Parallel "cease-fire line" was "provisional and should not in any way be interpreted as constituting a political or territorial boundary." During the Eisenhower administration, in 1954, we agreed to "seek to achieve unity through free elections supervised by the United Nations." When Mr. Eisenhower left office in 1961 nothing had yet been done.

Perhaps Mr. Drummond will write a future article on how dropping 7½-ton bombs on innocent villages is not really the use of American military forces in Asia but rather a form of "arms aid." I seriously question his concept of a "military mind."

Tax Collector's Delay Protested

On March 23 I wrote the tax collector of Marin County to advise if taxes had been paid on lots 46 and 47 Machins Subdivision to Black Point, but to this date I have received no reply.

Are they understaffed or just inefficient? Would it be too much trouble for you to contact the department and see if they are having any trouble there. It just can't be that I am the only one having a problem with them. After being a taxpayer for 20 years I should receive better service.

In the past we've had good newspaper deliverers, but the present one, Terry Lombardo, is the best. Hope he continues.

Something in your paper puzzled us in regard to the hunting clubs. Now that the public will be able to walk over water district land, will the San Francisco Water Department allow the public to walk on theirs?

In Case You Wondered

In case readers wondered why Phil Newsom's column on this page yesterday speculated on the death of President Francois Duvalier of Haiti while a story on page one of the same issue reported he had died:

The editorial page was made up and sent to press before the news of "Papa Doc's" death was received.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

April 23, 1961

A right-wing military putsch sought to take over Algeria in defiance of Franch President Charles de Gaulle's self-determination plan for the colony. The French government closed all France's airports in fear of invasion by the mutinous forces in Algeria.

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, in a radio-television speech announcing defeat of invasion forces, compared President John F. Kennedy to Adolf Hitler for the U.S. role in the affair.

20 YEARS AGO

April 23, 1951

Directors of San Rafael Military Academy, which had been threatened with closing because of low attendance and lack of funds, announced it definitely would be in operation for another year.

Two Who Should Know Advocate One Six-Year Presidential Term

WASHINGTON — There is movement in Washington to fix a single six-year term for the President so he does not have to devote so much time and energy to trying to get re-elected.

The sponsors hold that the responsibilities of the President have become so exacting and his decisions so difficult that nothing — least of all election politics — should be allowed to draw away from his performance.

Two of the leading advocates of the single six-year term are men who have viewed the presidency close-up from different vantage points.

One is Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., who has introduced a constitutional amendment to provide for a six-year term and plans to bring it up for action this year. He views the problems of the presidency from a long political perspective.

The other is Jack Valenti, who was one of L.B.J.'s most intimate and trusted aides for three years in the White House and who is now president of the Motion Picture Association. He views the problems of the presidency from an intimate, personal perspective.

THERE IS LITTLE which these two, together, do not know about the operation of the presidency and its crushing burden on the man who occupies it.

Each believes that a change in the term of office is needed.

"As one who has worked in the very inner eye of the oval office and the mansion," says Mr. Valenti, "I am convinced that if the presidency is not merely to survive, but to cope and heal, to lead and to challenge — and to succeed — it must undergo serious restructure."

Why a single six-year term? Here is Mr. Valenti's reasoning:

"The case is that within the last few years the face of the presidency has changed and with that change the kind of presidency that we once knew has forever been altered.

"The President's most precious assets become his time and his concentration. The long-range interests of the nation resent the intrusion of politics and the process of re-election. The difference between success and failure, or between disaster and survival, is so fragilly bent, so thinly constructed, even an error of one millimeter becomes crucial.

"Thus, it becomes rational and reasonable to strip the presidency of all fat, to take from it that which is not essential to make more purposeful that which is. The re-election process becomes blubber, the national bloat weighing down on the efficiency of the presidency."

WOULD A SIX-YEAR term decrease the length of presidential service? No. It might well increase the tenure. From George Washington to Lyndon Johnson, the average length of time a President held office was five years.

From the end of World War I only two Presidents were re-elected — Roosevelt and Eisenhower; six of the eight post-World War I Presidents were elected to only one term and some served less.

Some argue that the prospect of re-election alone keeps the President from being a lame-duck in his first term. Valenti's answer is:

"Lameness is not necessarily inherent in a last term. It is applicable to the strength of the president, and if our President is weak, 10 more terms won't sustain him, and if he is strong, one six-year term, leaned, boned and sturdy, is all he needs to leave his impress on the future."

It is well that Senator Mansfield is bringing forward his amendment. The six-year term deserves to be thoroughly debated.

Night's Mood In Capital As War Is Winding Down

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — When some historian of the future — say 1984 — sets out to capture the mood of this capital in the spring the war was winding down, he can focus on no more fitting slice of time than the night the veterans camped on the Mall.

You remember: It happened at the foot of Capitol Hill, while in Saigon Vice President Ky was denouncing President Thieu for corruption; in Williamsburg, Va. Vice President Agnew was denouncing President Nixon's exploratory moves toward China, and at the other end of the Mall, Mr. Nixon himself was addressing the 80th constitutional convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

THE PRESIDENT began the day by helicoptering off the south lawn of the White House above the Vietnam Veterans Against the War, who were falling back in good order from the gates of Arlington National Cemetery.

While he flew to Williamsburg to speak to the Republican governors, they made a flanking march back across the river, past the White House to the Capitol. By nightfall, he had returned and put in an afternoon of office routine while they were conducting small-scale propaganda patrols through the House and Senate office buildings.

It was time to bivouac, and in approximately battalion strength the veterans gathered on the Mall east of Third Street, dispensing with normal security measures since they had the permission of the U.S. Court of Appeals — as long as they didn't dig holes, pitch tents or build fires.

Most of them wore the green jackets of their old jungle fatigues. Many had pinned on their battle ribbons, and a scattered few wore complete medals — Purple Hearts, Bronze Stars. There was a quiet professionalism about the way they handled their packs and bedrolls. They broke up into state groups, the larger clusters of platoon size, some from the far plains states making up their own little fire teams.

Except that there were so few blacks among them, they had the look in the darkness of a unit just back in a base camp after a long, mean operation. The hair was much longer than regulations allowed, of course, and there were beards and mustaches. But that is not unusual when you're just back from the boonies.

In their clusters they passed smokes around, and one group started thumping bongo drums. Beneath the elms, the platoons held critiques of the day past and the week ahead. Their leaders over and over repeated one thing: "Now look, too many people have worked too long to get us here for us to blow it now. Just keep cooling it."

FOURTEEN BLOCKS west, the President entered Constitutional Hall with his Secret Service escort. The ladies rose to applaud him in their pastel gowns, corsages, DAR sashes, and many of them with medals, too. The flags and seals of the 50 states brightened the great hall. There were even fewer blacks there — Washington's Mayor Walter Washington and Mr. Nixon's military aide.

The ladies applauded the President again and again, especially when he said the war in Vietnam was "part of our national tradition of standing shoulder-to-shoulder with free nations menaced by outside aggression. And I say tonight that we can be proud of the more than two million brave and honorable American men who have fought in Vietnam — and who by their humane conduct and personal integrity have done credit to this nation's highest principles."

Maybe he didn't know that when that hairy, unrepresentative contingent of those two million passed Constitutional Hall earlier in the day, it had embarrassed the ladies by chanting, "One, two, three, four, we don't want your (blank blank) war." At least he didn't mention it.

HE TALKED ABOUT his own "New American Revolution," and the ladies broke in 18 times in 20 minutes to show their approval. They especially liked his anecdote about the lady from Virginia who brought him a knitted 3-by-5 foot American flag which she had made herself. She acknowledged that it had been a lot of work, that as a matter of fact, it took 78,000 separate stitches.

"I am deeply thankful that such a spirit of love for this country is still alive in America today," the President said. "It was in that lady's heart, it is in all of yours, and it is in millions of hearts across this land."

It was about that time that the troops down the Mall were hearing a rock band instead of taps as they sprawled beneath their own upside-down American flags. And in the A Shau Valley, southwest of Hue, U.S. fighter-bombers softened up enemy positions ahead of a sweep by 12,000 allied ground troops.

No Chance For Zyski With San Rafael Voters

When Bella H. Aaron announced her candidacy for the San Rafael Board of Education in 1961, a seasoned election observer at the city hall predicted: "She's a winner. With a double-A on the front of her name, she can't lose."

This cynical observer was basing his prediction on the record in preceding elections, and on the way names are placed on the ballot. The incumbents' names are listed first, alphabetically, followed by the challengers' names, also alphabetically. No incumbent was running the year Mrs. Aaron entered the race; therefore, her name headed the list.

The prediction proved true. Mrs. Aaron was elected with 2,127 votes, along with John M. Bagshaw, who got 2,337. Bagshaw's name was third on the list. Joseph Albanese, a former board member whose name was second, ran third with 1,971 — but, of course, the name Bagshaw was politically potent, with Albert M. Bagshaw having served as both district attorney and city attorney, and T. Fred Bagshaw being a former county supervisor.

SAN RAFAEL VOTERS tend to re-elect incumbents to the board of education. And where there is a vacancy, the name at the top of the list generally wins. That was the basis for the observer's prediction regarding Mrs. Aaron.

In 1955, incumbent Angelo Turrini (listed third) lost out to C. Paul Bettini, listed fourth — the first name after the incumbents. In 1957, there was no contest. In 1959, the three incumbents, whose names topped the list, ran one-two-three to win re-election.

In 1963, incumbent Bettini was high vote getter with 4,640, followed by the two challengers listed immediately below him: Carl J. Brown with 3,081 and J. Walter Doll with 3,410. The others finished in the exact order of their appearance on the ballot: Frank M. Parker, 2,760; Edythe B. Tait, 2,548; D. Gwynn Thomson, 2,523; Paul J. Wata, 1,372; L. E. Weisenburg Jr., 1,238.

In 1965, with no incumbent running, the first two listed, Walter R. Castro Jr. and Lawrence I. Kramer Jr., won election. Kenneth M. Procter and L. B. Thomas were losers. In 1967, John C. Pfeiffer, the lone challenger, beat out incumbent Anita Strom, whose name was immediately above his. Two years ago, Paul L. Jones and Kramer had no opposition.

ON TUESDAY of this week, incumbent Childress (whose name was at the top) led the field with 5,021 votes. Also elected were the two whose names appeared next: Marilyn Bolinger, with 3,906, and Francis X. Kelly, with 3,401. Charles B. Peek, whose name appeared sixth, finished fourth with 3,361; Richard E. West Jr., whose name was last of nine, was fifth with 3,037.

These figures tend to bear out what that city hall observer held 10 years ago: That enough San Rafael voters just take the three top names for board of education to give those candidates a distinct advantage.

WE ARE NOT suggesting that Childress got 5,021 votes just because his name headed the list. Such a total constitutes impressive endorsement of his performance on the board. Nor are we suggesting that Mrs. Bolinger and Kelly owe their election to the fortunes of the alphabet.

But it is hard to keep from wondering whether, if Charles B. Peek were Charles B. Beek, he would have received the 41 additional votes necessary for election; and whether if Richard E. West were Richard E. Best, he might have come mighty close to the winners' circle.

Electing "by alphabet" has worked out pretty well. It did again this time. Both Mrs. Bolinger and Kelly have evidenced perceptive concern about school problems.

But perhaps we should consider rotating names on the ballot, or basing the listing order on chance by drawing the names from a hat, or listing in order of time of filing to give whatever advantage accompanies the top of the list to those who enter the contest earliest. Young and Zylski should not be under any automatic alphabetical handicap when running against Adams and Baker.

Powerful PUC Finds Itself In Midst Of Hot Controversy

By ARTHUR YOUNGBERG
California News Alliance

The five most powerful men in California may be the public utilities commissioners. Their orders involve billions of dollars. The only appeal to their decisions is the state Supreme Court.

The PUC sets rates for electricity, gas, water and telephone users. Railroad, bus, airline and steamship fares, truck freight rates are under their control. Right now the PUC is considering rate increase requests from privately owned utilities totaling more than $400 million a year if granted in full.

The PUC also has the responsibility of assuring Californians good, safe service from utilities. To maintain this service utility shareholders are to receive a reasonable return on their investment. Publicly owned gas, electric, water, sewer and other municipal utilities are not controlled by the PUC.

All five of California's public utilities commissioners are appointees of Gov. Ronald Reagan. They serve six-year terms. The last Democrat, A. V. Gatov of Kentfield, left the commission in February and was succeeded by Madera stockbroker D. W. Holmes.

In July, Oakland attorney J. P. Vukasin, appointed by the governor in 1969, was elected chairman of the commission by the four other members.

These are the elements, then, in the current controversy —a new chairman, a Republican commission composed of two attorneys, two businessmen and a retired rancher.

Add to this mix two sudden and unexpected changes in how the PUC functions, proposed by chairman Vukasin without prior public explanation. It all triggered a heavy barrage of criticism centering around charges that the commission had turned against the consumer.

The controversial proposals were:

—Rotating the entire 750-person PUC staff to different jobs within six months.

—Limiting the right of the public to cross-examine witnesses and allowing only attorneys to represent parties before the commission.

The rotation plan was needed, according to chairman Vukasin, to develop a needed broader base of technical knowledge within the PUC staff. In fact, rotation had been practiced on smaller scale for many years in the PUC. But rotating all 750 employees in six months drew strong protest from the staff and the public.

Restricting representation to attorneys and limiting public cross-examination would eliminate tedious duplication in testimony and speed up hearings, Vukasin argued.

PUC foes called it an attempt to muffle consumer groups, stifle public testimony and give the utilities an edge in hearing procedures.

Embarrassingly for Vukasin it turned out this plan had originated with attorneys who represent large utilities.

Following state Senate and Assembly committee hearings on Vukasin's proposals, the rotation plan was largely abandoned. The other proposal is still hanging fire.

Ironically the controversy erupted when the commission has before it some of the biggest rate increases ever. Pacific Telephone is asking $195 million; Southern California Edison, $128 million.

Recall Of Wright Seen As Ominous

The loss of Gordon Wright on the Reed School Board should be considered with sober reflection. It is hard to envision "fine, constructive growth" from the destructive act which removed him from office.

Before the right school policies can be established, those qualities which will be reflected had better be clear. Is financial irresponsibility better than responsible spending? Is mediocrity better than excellence? Is cruelty better than compassion?

Was it an example of compassion or cruelty to turn Mr. Wright out of office in the middle of his term? To place him at the mercy of ribaldry, rancor, lies, and discourtesy, while the unruly clothe themselves with immunity from their coercive actions?

Was this an example of intelligence and goodwill, or an ominous sign of the future?

Different View Of Military Mind

In regard to Mr. (Roscoe) Drummond's "Military Mind" article of April 19, he made the statement that the Geneva Conference divided Vietnam into two halves. This indicates that Mr. Drummond is a poor historian. The Geneva Agreements of July 1954 stated that the 17th Parallel "cease-fire line" was "provisional and should not in any way be interpreted as constituting a political or territorial boundary." During the Eisenhower administration, in 1954, we agreed to "seek to achieve unity through free elections supervised by the United Nations." When Mr. Eisenhower left office in 1961 nothing had yet been done.

Perhaps Mr. Drummond will write a future article on how dropping 7½-ton bombs on innocent villages is not really the use of American military forces in Asia but rather a form of "arms aid." I seriously question his concept of a "military mind."

Tax Collector's Delay Protested

On March 23 I wrote the tax collector of Marin County to advise if taxes had been paid on lots 46 and 47 Machins Subdivision to Black Point, but to this date I have received no reply.

Are they understaffed or just inefficient? Would it be too much trouble for you to contact the department and see if they are having any trouble there. It just can't be that I am the only one having a problem with them. After being a taxpayer for 20 years I should receive better service.

Two Who Should Know Advocate One Six-Year Presidential Term

WASHINGTON — There is movement in Washington to fix a single six-year term for the President so he does not have to devote so much time and energy to trying to get re-elected.

The sponsors hold that the responsibilities of the President have become so exacting and his decisions so difficult that nothing — least of all election politics — should be allowed to draw away from his performance.

Two of the leading advocates of the single six-year term are men who have viewed the presidency close-up from different vantage points.

One is Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., who has introduced a constitutional amendment to provide for a six-year term and plans to bring it up for action this year. He views the problems of the presidency from a long political perspective.

The other is Jack Valenti, who was one of L.B.J.'s most intimate and trusted aides for three years in the White House and who is now president of the Motion Picture Association. He views the problems of the presidency from an intimate, personal perspective.

THERE IS LITTLE which these two, together, do not know about the operation of the presidency and its crushing burden on the man who occupies it.

Each believes that a change in the term of office is needed.

"As one who has worked in the very inner eye of the oval office and the mansion," says Mr. Valenti, "I am convinced that if the presidency is not merely to survive, but to cope and heal, to lead and to challenge — and to succeed — it must undergo serious restructure."

Why a single six-year term? Here is Mr. Valenti's reasoning:

"The case is that within the last few years the face of the presidency has changed and with that change the kind of presidency that we once knew has forever been altered.

"The President's most precious assets become his time and his concentration. The long-range interests of the nation resent the intrusion of politics and the process of re-election. The difference between success and failure, or between disaster and survival, is so fragilly bent, so thinly constructed, even an error of one millimeter becomes crucial.

"Thus, it becomes rational and reasonable to strip the presidency of all fat, to take from it that which is not essential to make more purposeful that which is. The re-election process becomes blubber, the national bloat weighing down on the efficiency of the presidency."

WOULD A SIX-YEAR term decrease the length of presidential service? No. It might well increase the tenure. From George Washington to Lyndon Johnson, the average length of time a President held office was five years.

From the end of World War I only two Presidents were re-elected — Roosevelt and Eisenhower; six of the eight post-World War I Presidents were elected to only one term and some served less.

Some argue that the prospect of re-election alone keeps the President from being a lame-duck in his first term. Valenti's answer is:

"Lameness is not necessarily inherent in a last term. It is applicable to the strength of the president, and if our President is weak, 10 more terms won't sustain him, and if he is strong, one six-year term, leaned, boned and sturdy, is all he needs to leave his impress on the future."

It is well that Senator Mansfield is bringing forward his amendment. The six-year term deserves to be thoroughly debated.

Charges Against James Toliver Questionable and Unnecessary

It is sad that the Sausalito School District board and administration are determined to get rid of special assistant James Toliver in a manner which could damage his future in education.

In recommending that Toliver be fired, Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg accused the black educator of incompetence and disruptive behavior. The charges were presented to Toliver after he had already been told he would not be rehired next year because of budget cuts, an indication the administration wants to be very sure he is dismissed.

Toliver administers the discipline program at Martin Luther King School and, consequently, anyone would think incompetence on his part would manifest itself in severe discipline problems.

Yet, at a recent school board meeting, trustee Robert R. Lyon said he had been informed (by many parents) of glaring problems at Central School, then commented: "Strangely enough, I haven't heard any similar complaints about King School."

THE CHARGE of disruptive behavior also seems nebulous, although one communique from the superintendent accused Toliver of such activities during Principal Sidney Walton's chaotic administration. If every person who engaged in disruptive behavior during Walton's tenure were fired from his job, most district employees, several trustees, many parents and some administrators in the county schools office could well join the ranks of the unemployed. Why single out Jim Toliver for punishment — and at this late date?

During the most explosive meeting the school board held last year, the May 4 meeting which threatened to erupt into violence when Walton was fired, it was Toliver who calmed the irate crowd and cautioned angry parents and district residents to "be cool."

This year Toliver has remained very silent at board meetings and has appeared to stay aloof from any kind of political activity, disruptive or not.

Instead, he has spent his time arranging a three-week trip to Africa for two Marin City teenagers, and quietly taught French and otherwise assisted in a week-end school which Marin City parents have started to help their children make up academic deficiencies. He is planning to take 20 Bay Area students to Ghana this summer for a one-month African studies program.

LIKE EVERYONE else, Toliver has his problems. In the past he has made mistakes and errors of judgment (perhaps serious mistakes). But who in the Sausalito district has not done the same thing?

On the plus side, the special assistant is an extremely bright, articulate man, able to relate to all kinds of people, deeply committed to education and to children, black and white. In several talks before Mill Valley parent groups, he has shown an impressive grasp of the problems and dilemmas facing integrated education — and education in general.

He has personal knowledge about the special problems black children and parents face in a white school system.

IN A FEW weeks, Toliver will have a hearing on the charges before an independent hearing officer, who will listen and make an impartial recommentation to the board on whether he feels Toliver would should be dismissed.

I would like to think the board will listen to the officer's report with open minds and use the facts it contains to make its decision.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Promise Made To World War II Servicemen Should Be Kept

I imagine that just about everyone who opened his I-J Saturday read Jack Craemer's "Editor's Notebook." It was attention grabbing, both because of content and the typographical makeup. I think editorials in general would be more often read through with that sort of make-up. There is often an eye rebellion when one is confronted with a wide measure solid block of type. I don't think that occurred Saturday. If one started reading it at any spot he most likely read the piece in its entirety.

I would like to comment on the matter of changing the name of the "auditorium." You see, my old side-kick on the board, Jim Kehoe, and I were the ones who introduced the idea of building up a veterans' memorial fund and worked to make it a reality.

Jim had lost a son over in Europe and the deep sorrow stayed with him until the end.

I WISH TO SPEAK to the proposition of appreciation, and of the importance of a public body keeping its word — its promise.

To the majority of those who are now interested in the use to which the building will be put, World War II is just about as remote as the Civil War between the North and the South was to the generation of those born in the 1880s — my generation. Therefore it is difficult for them to realize the terror which engulfed this nation in the '40s.

We were under attack. Those boys in the service then were defending their homeland — yours and mine. They had responded to the attacks on our shipping by carrying the war to the European area, 'way across the Atlantic. In the Pacific our defending fleet was almost completely destroyed at Pearl Harbor.

It was important that we here in Marin show our boys who had become men, that we did know what they had accomplished and that we did care. But how? It seemed that to create a fund and build it up year by year for a veterans' memorial, which they could have a part in determining what form it would take was the best.

NOW AS TO the promise: Each year that we set an amount in the budget for a veterans' memorial, we assured the citizen taxpayers that was exactly what it was going to be used for. They trusted the board of supervisors. I don't recall anyone objecting.

Both commitments should be kept.

Mr. manager Leon Kalimos, when you talk about changing the name, consider just how the matching money to the state's fairground funds would be provided. With the tremendous cost of the Civic Center layout, I don't think any board would have had the nerve to fund it with a current tax. There would be no performing arts building to be called a theater and no job of manager without the veterans' memorial fund.

VOICE OF YOUTH

Terra Linda Students Need Place To Eat

By ANNE DUGGAN
Junior, Terra Linda High School

In an isolated community like Terra Linda, those who are unable to leave are often prey to merchants in the area. This exploitation of consumers, only slightly alleviated by the Marin Transit Service, is perhaps best personified by the restaurants in this area. For instance, Lyon's sells hamburgers for 95 cents and $1.25 (with salad).

For students, this price severely restricts the number of times they can eat there. (And many times their hamburger is about the same quality as a place like McDonald's.) Therefore, snacks are purchased at grocery stores, and eating becomes a game where one can (1) eat while moving, (2) stay around the shopping center and have a picnic on the grass. (This "picnic" turns into a quick chomp and cat and mouse game, with the security guard as cat.) (3) walk to one of the corner parks on Freitas Parkway and get exhaust blown in your face, (4) sit right down on a curb and watch feet going by.

A cheap place like Jack-in-the-Box or McDonald's could make a fortune in Terra Linda. Regardless of their quality or dubious health conditions, these "restaurants" have enjoyed booming business from a patronage of mostly high school students. (Younger digestive systems can handle it.)

Granted, Jack-in-the-Box or McDonald's are not the best-looking or most perfect solution but at least it will match the rest of the community.

The Marin County Youth Commission is in severe need of editorials, poetry and cartoons for this youth opinion forum. Send material to: Marin Youth Commission, Marin Civic Center, Room 163, San Rafael 94903.)

Charges Against James Toliver Questionable and Unnecessary

It is sad that the Sausalito School District board and administration are determined to get rid of special assistant James Toliver in a manner which could damage his future in education.

In recommending that Toliver be fired, Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg accused the black educator of incompetence and disruptive behavior. The charges were presented to Toliver after he had already been told he would not be rehired next year because of budget cuts, an indication the administration wants to be very sure he is dismissed.

Toliver administers the discipline program at Martin Luther King School and, consequently, anyone would think incompetence on his part would manifest itself in severe discipline problems.

Yet, at a recent school board meeting, trustee Robert R. Lyon said he had been informed (by many parents) of glaring problems at Central School, then commented: "Strangely enough, I haven't heard any similar complaints about King School."

THE CHARGE of disruptive behavior also seems nebulous, although one communique from the superintendent accused Toliver of such activities during Principal Sidney Walton's chaotic administration. If every person who engaged in disruptive behavior during Walton's tenure were fired from his job, most district employees, several trustees, many parents and some administrators in the county schools office could well join the ranks of the unemployed. Why single out Jim Toliver for punishment — and at this late date?

During the most explosive meeting the school board held last year, the May 4 meeting which threatened to erupt into violence when Walton was fired, it was Toliver who calmed the irate crowd and cautioned angry parents and district residents to "be cool."

This year Toliver has remained very silent at board meetings and has appeared to stay aloof from any kind of political activity, disruptive or not.

Instead, he has spent his time arranging a three-week trip to Africa for two Marin City teenagers, and quietly taught French and otherwise assisted in a week-end school which Marin City parents have started to help their children make up academic deficiencies. He is planning to take 20 Bay Area students to Ghana this summer for a one-month African studies program.

LIKE EVERYONE else, Toliver has his problems. In the past he has made mistakes and errors of judgment (perhaps serious mistakes). But who in the Sausalito district has not done the same thing?

On the plus side, the special assistant is an extremely bright, articulate man, able to relate to all kinds of people, deeply committed to education and to children, black and white. In several talks before Mill Valley parent groups, he has shown an impressive grasp of the problems and dilemmas facing integrated education — and education in general.

He has personal knowledge about the special problems black children and parents face in a white school system.

IN A FEW weeks, Toliver will have a hearing on the charges before an independent hearing officer, who will listen and make an impartial recommentation to the board on whether he feels Toliver would should be dismissed.

I would like to think the board will listen to the officer's report with open minds and use the facts it contains to make its decision.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Promise Made To World War II Servicemen Should Be Kept

I imagine that just about everyone who opened his I-J Saturday read Jack Craemer's "Editor's Notebook." It was attention grabbing, both because of content and the typographical makeup. I think editorials in general would be more often read through with that sort of make-up. There is often an eye rebellion when one is confronted with a wide measure solid block of type. I don't think that occurred Saturday. If one started reading it at any spot he most likely read the piece in its entirety.

I would like to comment on the matter of changing the name of the "auditorium." You see, my old side-kick on the board, Jim Kehoe, and I were the ones who introduced the idea of building up a veterans' memorial fund and worked to make it a reality.

Jim had lost a son over in Europe and the deep sorrow stayed with him until the end.

I WISH TO SPEAK to the proposition of appreciation, and of the importance of a public body keeping its word — its promise.

To the majority of those who are now interested in the use to which the building will be put, World War II is just about as remote as the Civil War between the North and the South was to the generation of those born in the 1880s — my generation. Therefore it is difficult for them to realize the terror which engulfed this nation in the '40s.

We were under attack. Those boys in the service then were defending their homeland — yours and mine. They had responded to the attacks on our shipping by carrying the war to the European area, 'way across the Atlantic. In the Pacific our defending fleet was almost completely destroyed at Pearl Harbor.

It was important that we here in Marin show our boys who had become men, that we did know what they had accomplished and that we did care. But how? It seemed that to create a fund and build it up year by year for a veterans' memorial, which they could have a part in determining what form it would take was the best.

NOW AS TO the promise: Each year that we set an amount in the budget for a veterans' memorial, we assured the citizen taxpayers that was exactly what it was going to be used for. They trusted the board of supervisors. I don't recall anyone objecting.

Both commitments should be kept.

Mr. manager Leon Kalimos, when you talk about changing the name, consider just how the matching money to the state's fairground funds would be provided. With the tremendous cost of the Civic Center layout, I don't think any board would have had the nerve to fund it with a current tax. There would be no performing arts building to be called a theater and no job of manager without the veterans' memorial fund.

VOICE OF YOUTH

Terra Linda Students Need Place To Eat

By ANNE DUGGAN
Junior, Terra Linda High School

In an isolated community like Terra Linda, those who are unable to leave are often prey to merchants in the area. This exploitation of consumers, only slightly alleviated by the Marin Transit Service, is perhaps best personified by the restaurants in this area. For instance, Lyon's sells hamburgers for 95 cents and $1.25 (with salad).

For students, this price severely restricts the number of times they can eat there. (And many times their hamburger is about the same quality as a place like McDonald's.) Therefore, snacks are purchased at grocery stores, and eating becomes a game where one can (1) eat while moving, (2) stay around the shopping center and have a picnic on the grass. (This "picnic" turns into a quick chomp and cat and mouse game, with the security guard as cat.) (3) walk to one of the corner parks on Freitas Parkway and get exhaust blown in your face, (4) sit right down on a curb and watch feet going by.

A cheap place like Jack-in-the-Box or McDonald's could make a fortune in Terra Linda. Regardless of their quality or dubious health conditions, these "restaurants" have enjoyed booming business from a patronage of mostly high school students. (Younger digestive systems can handle it.)

Granted, Jack-in-the-Box or McDonald's are not the best-looking or most perfect solution but at least it will match the rest of the community.

Larkspur To Ponder Population

What should be the ultimate population of Larkspur and where should it be distributed?

That question, along with others dealing with transportation, park development, open space preservation and zoning and density in the county's fifth largest city, will be pondered May 1 at the Larkspur Town Meeting.

Slated for 9 a.m. at the Henry C. Hall School, the meeting will devote its morning session to four workshops which will delve into problems faced by the city.

The afternoon session will vote on specific proposals drafted in the workshops, according to Joan L. Sestak, meeting chairman.

Panel members for the workshops include:

Population Growth and Density — Margaret Azevedo, County Planning Commissioner; Robert H. Lee, city planning commissioner, and Paul Zucker, former county planning director.

Open Space — Emme Gilman of Larkspur; Harold Gregg, executive director of the Marin Conservation League, and Nonette Hanko of the palo Alto Civic League.

Transportation — Michael Wornum, county supervisor, Theodore Barron, president of the Marin Transit System and Roy Hoffman, city engineer.

Park Development — W. J. Newton, landscape architect; Terry Campbell, city park and recreation commissioner; Lawrence C. White, director of nature and science for the department of community services, Palo Alto, and Phillip Lemmi, chief of environmental planning from the Army Corps of Engineers.

Brothers To Be Held In Tot's Death

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A juvenile court judge has ordered a 7-year-old boy and his 10-year-old brother held for further hearings in the crucifixion slaying of a toddler stolen from a city park.

The boys were excluded from Thursday's session "for their own safety" after their attorney said authorities had received numerous calls referring to them as "monsters."

Judge Francis Mayer ruled the brothers, among the youngest homicide suspects in California history, should remain at Youth Guidance Center pending a May 12 court hearing into the death of Noah Alba, 20 months.

The body of the infant was found bludgeoned, battered and lashed to a wodden cross in a dingy basement Monday after the younger of the suspects led police to the scene. Noah disappeared from Alta Vista Plaza Park the previous Wednesday.

Mayer could have sent the boys to a foster home or returned them to their father's care while officials try to decide how to proceed. The boys have been at Juvenile Hall since Tuesday.

Assistant public defender Estella Dooley asked the judge to keep the boys in seclusion rather than allowing them to attend the hearing.

"These children are not safe any place in San Francisco," she said. "They cannot be exposed to the public in any way, not even here."

Both of the boys' divorced parents attended the hearing. Their mother visited them afterward.

The facts of the case will be explored at the May 12 hearing.

Work On Carriage House Heads List

Improvements to the Robson-Harrington carriage house should be San Anselmo's first priority for park expenditures, the city's park and recreation commission has recommended.

According to Charles R. Leitzell, city parks director, the carriage house recommendation was one of several drafted by the commission Wednesday during a two-hour hearing on Robson-Harrington Park development.

It, along with other priorities, will be considered by the city council Tuesday when it considers requesting federal matching funds for several park projects.

Other priorities, Leitzeel said, include refurbishing of the Robson-Harrington mansion, picnic facilities at Sorich Ranch Park, and badminton courts and landscaping at memorial park.

Wednesday's meeting, called to hear suggestions from the public on how the park should be developed, drew about 25 persons, Leitzell said.

Also attending were two students from San Francisco State College who have agreed to create a master plan for the park.

Leitzell said discussion ranged from how the park should be used to who should use it.

The meeting concluded with a general consensus among residents, he said, that the park should provide a quiet atmosphere — a place for bird watching, plant study, bicycling and picnicking.

Cutback In Lunches Is Averted

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Wilson C. Riles, state superintendent of public instruction, today announced that a threatened cutback in the school lunch program that would have affected 250,000 needy children has been averted.

He credited the development to "a shower of telegrams, letters and phone calls" from the state Department of Education to federal officials including President Nixon and close cooperation with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The cut was scheduled for May 1, Riles said, but the lunch program will now continue at full funding for the rest of the school year.

He explained the department had already prepared bulletins warning school districts of the impending cuts but at the last minute $5 million in unused federal school lunch funds was found in other states.

The money will be used until the expected new appropriations for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Riles said the funding gap arose "when California took seriously White House and congressional mandates to expand the federal school lunch program to every needy child."

The program grew from 180,000 students a day to 500,000 in a year's time, "but the mandates were greater in enthusiasm than money, the need outstripped funds, and the moment of truth for California was to be May 1."

Under the program, federal funds pay for 30 cents of a 45-cent lunch served free to needy pupils, with the remaining 15 cents coming from state and local sources. With the new funds, federal monies in California's program this fiscal year will exceed $20 million.

Dope Agent Suit Wins Settlement

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A $15 million damage suit filed by 49 undercover state narcotics agents against the weekly Los Angeles Free Press was settled Thursday for $43,000.

The agents initiated the suit after the underground newspaper published their names, addresses and telephone numbers in a story headlined "know your neighbor narc."

The agreement was made by publisher Arthur Kunkin, who promised to pay $5,000 immediately and the rest at $2,000 a month.

Kunkin also promised to apologize to the families of the agents, many of whom had to move because of threats after their addresses were published.

Jerry Resnick, 24, a clerk in the state attorney general's office, earlier had pleaded guilty to theft of the list. He later testified against Kunkin and reporter Jerry Applebaum, who were convicted of receiving stolen property. Those convictions are under appeal.

$3,000 Spent To Correct A $1 Error

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. William Scherle, R-Iowa, said today the Department of Housing and Urban Development spent more than $3,000 to save $1.

Scherle said the Williamsport, Pa., redevelopment agency was seeking federal funds for a project that would cost $1,127,222. HUD auditors discovered the cost exceeded the limits by $1.

The project manager, Scherle said, offered to put up the buck himself. But the auditors insisted on drawing up a whole new contract.

This, they did, Scherle said, taking more than three months at a cost of $3,000 to $4,000 to write the contract over the $1 error.

HUD officials reportedly said this would never happen again, Scherle said.

Amendment On Restoring College Fund

An amendment restoring state funds for two College of Marin projects has been attached to the governor's budget proposal by the state Department of Finance, the Marin Junior College District board has learned.

The amendment, to provide an additional $14 million to the state's community college budget, includes matching funds for the college's $3 million library project and $175,759 remodeling of Olney Hall and the chemistry and business buildings, the board was told Wednesday night.

The state matching support of the two projects would be about 40 per cent of the total cost. Both projects have been approved by the state chancellor of community colleges.

The funds were blue penciled by Gov. Ronald Reagan earlier this year in a move to balance the state budget.

The college this year received matching funds totaling about $79,000 for architect's drawing of the library.

FAMILY

"My Fair Lady" — Based on Shaw's comedy about a witty speech authority who transforms a flower girl with a cockney accent into an aristocratic lady. Extraordinary entertainment for all.

"New Leaf" — A delightful comedy about a penniless middleaged playboy who is forced to acquire a rich wife quickly.

"On a Clear Day You Can See Forever"— A lavish musical about a college student who has amazing mystical powers to reveal her past lives under hypnosis.

"Tora, Tora, Tora"— Impressive dramatization of the attack on Pearl Harbor, seen from both the American and Japanese point of view. Excellent cast, amazing photography, well worth seeing.

"Wild Child" — Excellent film that both fascinates and entertains. A semi-documentary film based on case history written in early 1800's by a doctor relating the problems of teaching an 11-year-old boy to live with people after living as an animal in the forest in France.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Butch Cassidy and the SunDance Kid"— A deft sophisticated comedy about two bandits whose exploits made headlines in the 1900's. Imaginative camera work and wonderful score, witty performances. Very violent ending.

"Lawrence of Arabia" — Reissue of magnificent production telling the story of T.E. Lawrence, an English soldier who led the revolt of Bedouins against the Turks during World War I.

"Little Big Man" — Excellent tragicomic history of Indian-white relations as recalled by a 121-year-old ex-gunfighter. It spoofs several frontier myths. Amazing performance by Dustin Hoffman.

"Love Story" — Film is pure romantic escapism and an old fashioned simple love story. Acting is exceptional and some tasteless language mars an otherwise beautiful portrayal.

"Paint Your Wagon" — A lusty irreverent script is a framework for an elaborately mounted broad comedy about the vices and vulgarities of frontier living in early western towns.

"Patton" — Excellent characterization by George C. Scott who portrays an indomitable spirit that could achieve its destiny only in wartime. Strong film, but violent.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"WUSA" — A contrived melodrama about an unprincipled alcoholic who works for a rightwing radio station. Blatantly exploits serious problems in America, much violence, cursing and sex.

ADULTS ONLY

"Diary of a Mad Housewife" — Acidly funny look at the disintegration of a modern marriage in New York. Good comedy with sex and dialogue that is very frank.

"I Love My Wife"— Stylish comedy about a doctor who satisfies his desires indiscriminately. Frank sex scenes and cursing.

"M.A.S.H." — Nothing escapes the mockery of this ribald, blood soaked comedy of wartime Korea. Several scenes are as gruesome as they are funny. Sex, nudity and cursing make this a very adult satire.

"Midnight Cowboy" — Well acted story about a vain Texan who comes to New York to be a male prostitute and his relationship with a crippled bum. Many sordid depressing scenes but thought provoking.

"Women In Love" — D.H. Lawrence's novel about total physical and spiritual love between the same and the opposite sex are explored extensively by very explicit, sensual sex scenes. Direction, acting and photography very good.

The body of the infant was found bludgeoned, battered and lashed to a wodden cross in a dingy basement Monday after the younger of the suspects led police to the scene. Noah disappeared from Alta Vista Plaza Park the previous Wednesday.

Mayer could have sent the boys to a foster home or returned them to their father's care while officials try to decide how to proceed. The boys have been at Juvenile Hall since Tuesday.

Assistant public defender Estella Dooley asked the judge to keep the boys in seclusion rather than allowing them to attend the hearing.

"These children are not safe any place in San Francisco," she said. "They cannot be exposed to the public in any way, not even here."

Both of the boys' divorced parents attended the hearing. Their mother visited them afterward.

The facts of the case will be explored at the May 12 hearing.

Work On Carriage House Heads List

Improvements to the Robson-Harrington carriage house should be San Anselmo's first priority for park expenditures, the city's park and recreation commission has recommended.

According to Charles R. Leitzell, city parks director, the carriage house recommendation was one of several drafted by the commission Wednesday during a two-hour hearing on Robson-Harrington Park development.

It, along with other priorities, will be considered by the city council Tuesday when it considers requesting federal matching funds for several park projects.

Other priorities, Leitzeel said, include refurbishing of the Robson-Harrington mansion, picnic facilities at Sorich Ranch Park, and badminton courts and landscaping at memorial park.

Wednesday's meeting, called to hear suggestions from the public on how the park should be developed, drew about 25 persons, Leitzell said.

Also attending were two students from San Francisco State College who have agreed to create a master plan for the park.

Leitzeli said discussion ranged from how the park should be used to who should use it.

The meeting concluded with a general consensus among residents, he said, that the park should provide a quiet atmosphere — a place for bird watching, plant study, bicycling and picnicking.

Cutback In Lunches Is Averted

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Wilson C. Riles, state superintendent of public instruction, today announced that a threatened cutback in the school lunch program that would have affected 250,000 needy children has been averted.

He credited the development to "a shower of telegrams, letters and phone calls" from the state Department of Education to federal officials including President Nixon and close cooperation with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The cut was scheduled for May 1, Riles said, but the lunch program will now continue at full funding for the rest of the school year.

He explained the department had already prepared bulletins warning school districts of the impending cuts but at the last minute $5 million in unused federal school lunch funds was found in other states.

The money will be used until the expected new appropriations for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Riles said the funding gap arose "when California took seriously White House and congressional mandates to expand the federal school lunch program to every needy child."

The program grew from 180,000 students a day to 500,000 in a year's time, "but the mandates were greater in enthusiasm than money, the need outstripped funds, and the moment of truth for California was to be May 1."

Under the program, federal funds pay for 30 cents of a 45-cent lunch served free to needy pupils, with the remaining 15 cents coming from state and local sources. With the new funds, federal monies in California's program this fiscal year will exceed $20 million.

Dope Agent Suit Wins Settlement

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A $15 million damage suit filed by 49 undercover state narcotics agents against the weekly Los Angeles Free Press was settled Thursday for $43,000.

The agents initiated the suit after the underground newspaper published their names, addresses and telephone numbers in a story headlined "know your neighbor narc."

The agreement was made by publisher Arthur Kunkin, who promised to pay $5,000 immediately and the rest at $2,000 a month.

Kunkin also promised to apologize to the families of the agents, many of whom had to move because of threats after their addresses were published.

Jerry Resnick, 24, a clerk in the state attorney general's office, earlier had pleaded guilty to theft of the list. He later testified against Kunkin and reporter Jerry Applebaum, who were convicted of receiving stolen property. Those convictions are under appeal.

Amendment On Restoring College Fund

An amendment restoring state funds for two College of Marin projects has been attached to the governor's budget proposal by the state Department of Finance, the Marin Junior College District board has learned.

The amendment, to provide an additional $14 million to the state's community college budget, includes matching funds for the college's $3 million library project and $175,759 remodeling of Olney Hall and the chemistry and business buildings, the board was told Wednesday night.

The state matching support of the two projects would be about 40 per cent of the total cost. Both projects have been approved by the state chancellor of community colleges.

The funds were blue penciled by Gov. Ronald Reagan earlier this year in a move to balance the state budget.

The college this year received matching funds totaling about $79,000 for architect's drawing of the library.

$3,000 Spent To Correct A $1 Error

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. William Scherle, R-Iowa, said today the Department of Housing and Urban Development spent more than $3,000 to save $1.

Scherle said the Williamsport, Pa., redevelopment agency was seeking federal funds for a project that would cost $1,127,222. HUD auditors discovered the cost exceeded the limits by $1.

The project manager, Scherle said, offered to put up the buck himself. But the auditors insisted on drawing up a whole new contract.

This, they did, Scherle said, taking more than three months at a cost of $3,000 to $4,000 to write the contract over the $1 error.

HUD officials reportedly said this would never happen again, Scherle said.

FAMILY

"My Fair Lady" — Based on Shaw's comedy about a witty speech authority who transforms a flower girl with a cockney accent into an aristocratic lady. Extraordinary entertainment for all.

"New Leaf" — A delightful comedy about a penniless middleaged playboy who is forced to acquire a rich wife quickly.

"On a Clear Day You Can See Forever"— A lavish musical about a college student who has amazing mystical powers to reveal her past lives under hypnosis.

"Tora, Tora, Tora"— Impressive dramatization of the attack on Pearl Harbor, seen from both the American and Japanese point of view. Excellent cast, amazing photography, well worth seeing.

"Wild Child" — Excellent film that both fascinates and entertains. A semi-documentary film based on case history written in early 1800's by a doctor relating the problems of teaching an 11-year-old boy to live with people after living as an animal in the forest in France.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Butch Cassidy and the SunDance Kid"— A deft sophisticated comedy about two bandits whose exploits made headlines in the 1900's. Imaginative camera work and wonderful score, witty performances. Very violent ending.

"Lawrence of Arabia" — Reissue of magnificent production telling the story of T.E. Lawrence, an English soldier who led the revolt of Bedouins against the Turks during World War I.

"Little Big Man" — Excellent tragicomic history of Indian-white relations as recalled by a 121-year-old ex-gunfighter. It spoofs several frontier myths. Amazing performance by Dustin Hoffman.

"Love Story" — Film is pure romantic escapism and an old fashioned simple love story. Acting is exceptional and some tasteless language mars an otherwise beautiful portrayal.

"Paint Your Wagon" — A lusty irreverent script is a framework for an elaborately mounted broad comedy about the vices and vulgarities of frontier living in early western towns.

"Patton" — Excellent characterization by George C. Scott who portrays an indomitable spirit that could achieve its destiny only in wartime. Strong film, but violent.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"WUSA" — A contrived melodrama about an unprincipled alcoholic who works for a rightwing radio station. Blatantly exploits serious problems in America, much violence, cursing and sex.

ADULTS ONLY

"Diary of a Mad Housewife" — Acidly funny look at the disintegration of a modern marriage in New York. Good comedy with sex and dialogue that is very frank.

"I Love My Wife"— Stylish comedy about a doctor who satisfies his desires indiscriminately. Frank sex scenes and cursing.

"M.A.S.H." — Nothing escapes the mockery of this ribald, blood soaked comedy of wartime Korea. Several scenes are as gruesome as they are funny. Sex, nudity and cursing make this a very adult satire.

"Midnight Cowboy" — Well acted story about a vain Texan who comes to New York to be a male prostitute and his relationship with a crippled bum. Many sordid depressing scenes but thought provoking.

"Women In Love" — D.H. Lawrence's novel about total physical and spiritual love between the same and the opposite sex are explored extensively by very explicit, sensual sex scenes. Direction, acting and photography very good.

Construction Ban Due Longer Study

I-J Special Report

CONCORD — The threat of a ban on all new construction, hanging over much of Southern Marin for the past two months, was continued yesterday until late June.

The San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board voted to appoint three of its eight members as a hearing panel to consider the ban, but the panel will not report its recommendations until the board's regular meeting on June 24.

Hearing panels usually report their recommendations one month after their appointment, but the board's staff recommended a one-month delay because of other meetings scheduled in May.

The staff suggested the ban on Feb. 25, thus throwing a heavy pall on new developments by pulling the rug out from under their financing. Lending institutions are leery of financing construction which may not be occupied for lack of a sewer connection permit.

The board's ban would be aimed at the permits to prevent any increase in pollution.

The two dischargers under the gun are the Richardson Bay Sanitary District and the City of Mill Valley, which also serves Tamalpais Valley.

Mill Valley City Engineer Stanley M. Bala told the Independent-Journal that he welcomed the month's delay because it will give the city time needed for interim improvements in its sewage treatment. Such improvements would be designed to avoid the ban.

The hearing panel's membership and meeting date will be announced. Board chairman Homer H. Hyde of Campbell said cease and desist orders against the two dischargers would be heard separately, one during an afternoon and the other that same evening.

The board's staff urged that the hearing be held "as close as possible" to the board's June 24 meeting to prevent the dischargers from claiming "recent" improvements at the board meeting.

City of Mill Valley residents will vote June 29 on a $450,000 bond issue to replace defective sewer lines and upgrade sewage treatment.

Fred H. Dierker, the regional board's executive officer, said last month that the bond issue could mean no ban would be imposed on Mill Valley. He made no similar comment on any plans by the Richardson Bay Sanitary District.

Iraq Recalls Envoy From Jordan Capital

BEIRUT (UPI)—Iraq has recalled its ambassador from Amman to protest the harassement of its diplomats by Jordanian authorities, the official Iraq news agency said tonight.

The ambassador, Ahmed Amin, will leave for Baghdad Saturday, the agency said.

Extra Year Transit Study Asked

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to force the Golden Gate Bridge District to detail its long-range transportation plans has been introduced by senate President pro tempore James R. Mills, D-San Diego.

The senator has been critical of the plan submitted this month to the Legislature by the district, objecting it failed to look far enough into the future and to consider rail rapid transit fairly.

The district's plan, covering only the next 10 years, called for a $331 million transportation system using conventional buses and ferries at first, followed by a start on a bus rapid transit via tunnels in downtown San Francisco and a second deck on the bridge.

The plan was ordered by the 1969 Legislature, which also restricted district use of its net revenues pending completion of a long-range transportation plan. District consultants studied transit needs through the year 2015, but the plan sent to the Legislature avoided decisions beyond the next decade.

Mills, in amendments to a bill he previously introduced, proposed that the district work another year on the plan — and then come up with details on the ultimate system planned, its routes, and how it will be financed. His legislation thus would extend for one year the restrictions of the 1969 law, which said that the district would be free to do whatit wanted 120 days after the plan was filed this year — unless the Legislature acted.

The 1969 law prohibited a second deck and limited net revenues as follows: 50 per cent for buses, 30 per cent for ferries, and 20 per cent for long-range transit.

Mills' office said that his amendments would not interfere with the district's interim bus and ferry system. Buses are to begin operation by Dec. 1, and ferries in 1973.

The senator's bill would require resubmission of a detailed plan by the 90th calendar day of the 1972 legislative session.

Bridge officials, rushing to meet this month's deadline to file the plan ordered in 1969, complained that they had had too little time to work out details of a long-range system. Working out details with San Francisco officials would take a lot more time, they said.

The 1969 law was authored by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, now chairman of a special subcommittee reviewing the plan. He told the Independent-Journal yesterday that he also expected to seek some sort of controls on the district until its longe-range plans have been detailed.

But Foran said the Legislature did not appear to oppose the district's immediate start on the interim bus and ferry system.

Evidence Of Chlorine Threat To Marine Life Documented

I-J Special Report

CONCORD — The traditional way of disinfecting sewage can pose serious threats to marine life, a research biologist warned yesterday.

Chlorine, a highly toxic chemical, has been used for some 35 years to kill sewage bacteria. But rapid growth in sewage loads has encouraged massive use of the chemical — causing most marine life to die off near sewage outfall pipes.

Marine biologist long have suspected the lethel effects of chlorinated sewage, but research to back their suspicions had been lacking.

Evidence, however, was presented yesterday to the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board by Dr. Isabella A. Abbott, biology professor and research biologist at Stanford University's Hopkins Marine Station in Pacific Grove, Monterey County.

Displaying data gathered over the past three years, she concluded that chlorine causes marine life "to turn up its toes."

She declined to accept suggestions that her findings meant that chlorination should be replaced with some other system. Chlorination may work, she said, if regulated in small enough doses.

She illustrated her data with photographs of the rocks adjacent to the sewage outfall in Pacific Grove. They were barren of all life. But 100 feet away, the rocks were covered with heavy algae growths and teeming with marine organisms.

Further research will be needed, Dr. Abbott said, to determine if the effects of the chlorine go beyond the immediate outfall area. The chemical may be affecting the food chain of other marine animals, she said.

She reported that the sewage treatment plant at Pacific Grove had refused to disclose how much chlorine it used. Beaches in the county were closed last year by public health officials, she noted, so the plant used massive doses of chlorine in a successful effort to reopen the beaches by killing the bacteria.

"They just poured it in by the ton," Dr. Abbott said.

Emanuel Pearl, Santa Clara County public health officer, told newsmen that chlorine "is the only kind of disinfectant we have. The alternative is to sacrifice all of your water contact use on the coastline," he said.

Donald Lollock, a marine biologist for the state Fish and Game Department, objected that "it's way too early to talk about sacrificing the coastline." He conceded that "some limited trade-off" may be the best solution available, with some harm to marine life permitted in order to protect public health.

Dr. Abbott described similar problems in Carmel, and said that county officials had turned their backs on dangerous pollution at Monastery Beach, a popular beach for skindivers and SCUBA divers just south of Carmel.

Ex-Novatan Sentenced; Won't Talk

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—U.S. District Judge James A. Walsh sentenced a 23-year-old Venice, Calif., woman to up to 18 months in jail here Wednesday after she refused to testify before a Federal Grand Jury.

Terri Ann Volpin, formerly of Novato, was ordered to jail for 18 months or until she decides to testify before the Grand Jury which is investigating alleged explosive buying here by members of the radical Weatherman organization chapter in Southern California.

Miss Volpin had refused on Tuesday to testify despite the fact that she was granted immunity from prosecution on anything she testified to.

Miss Volpin is the second woman from Venice to be jailed this month for refusing to testify in the Weatherman investigation.

Mrs. Lee Weinberg, 38, was sentenced to a similar 18-month jail term April 7 by Judge Walsh.

The two women along with three other persons from Venice spent four months in jail late last year and earlier this year on the same charges. However, they were released last month when the Grand Jury which began the Weatherman investigation last November was disbanded.

All five were re-subpoenaed but so far only Miss Volpin and Mrs. Weinberg have been called to testify before the new Grand Jury.

BART To Fight Any Panel Link

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The directors of the Bay Area Rapid Transit System (BART) have voted 7-3 to fight against being controlled by the state's metropolitan transportation commission.

The commission was created by the Legislature to oversee longrange regional transportation planning.

BART directors from Alameda and Contra Costa counties voted Thursday to support a proposed bill which would keep the district out from under the commission's dictates. Directors from San Francisco County dissented on grounds that the San Francisco International Airport transit line wouldn't be guaranteed in the legislation, SB 162, introduced in the Senate by Sen. John A. Nejedley, R-Walnut Creek.

'Mills For President' Wins More Backers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Reps. Robert N. C. Nix, D-Pa., and Walter S. Baring, D-Nev., have thrown their support behind Ways and Means Committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination.

Two other House members previously endorsed the Arkansan, who has said he is not a candidate but has done little to discourage others from promoting him.

Construction Ban Due Longer Study

I-J Special Report

CONCORD — The threat of a ban on all new construction, hanging over much of Southern Marin for the past two months, was continued yesterday until late June.

The San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board voted to appoint three of its eight members as a hearing panel to consider the ban, but the panel will not report its recommendations until the board's regular meeting on June 24.

Hearing panels usually report their recommendations one month after their appointment, but the board's staff recommended a one-month delay because of other meetings scheduled in May.

The staff suggested the ban on Feb. 25, thus throwing a heavy pall on new developments by pulling the rug out from under their financing. Lending institutions are leery of financing construction which may not be occupied for lack of a sewer connection permit.

The board's ban would be aimed at the permits to prevent any increase in pollution.

The two dischargers under the gun are the Richardson Bay Sanitary District and the City of Mill Valley, which also serves Tamalpais Valley.

Mill Valley City Engineer Stanley M. Bala told the Independent-Journal that he welcomed the month's delay because it will give the city time needed for interim improvements in its sewage treatment. Such improvements would be designed to avoid the ban.

The hearing panel's membership and meeting date will be announced. Board chairman Homer H. Hyde of Campbell said cease and desist orders against the two dischargers would be heard separately, one during an afternoon and the other that same evening.

The board's staff urged that the hearing be held "as close as possible" to the board's June 24 meeting to prevent the dischargers from claiming "recent" improvements at the board meeting.

City of Mill Valley residents will vote June 29 on a $450,000 bond issue to replace defective sewer lines and upgrade sewage treatment.

Fred H. Dierker, the regional board's executive officer, said last month that the bond issue could mean no ban would be imposed on Mill Valley. He made no similar comment on any plans by the Richardson Bay Sanitary District.

BEIRUT (UPI)—Iraq has recalled its ambassador from Amman to protest the harassement of its diplomats by Jordanian authorities, the official Iraq news agency said tonight.

The ambassador, Ahmed Amin, will leave for Baghdad Saturday, the agency said.

Extra Year Transit Study Asked

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to force the Golden Gate Bridge District to detail its long-range transportation plans has been introduced by senate President pro tempore James R. Mills, D-San Diego.

The senator has been critical of the plan submitted this month to the Legislature by the district, objecting it failed to look far enough into the future and to consider rail rapid transit fairly.

The district's plan, covering only the next 10 years, called for a $331 million transportation system using conventional buses and ferries at first, followed by a start on a bus rapid transit via tunnels in downtown San Francisco and a second deck on the bridge.

The plan was ordered by the 1969 Legislature, which also restricted district use of its net revenues pending completion of a long-range transportation plan. District consultants studied transit needs through the year 2015, but the plan sent to the Legislature avoided decisions beyond the next decade.

Mills, in amendments to a bill he previously introduced, proposed that the district work another year on the plan — and then come up with details on the ultimate system planned, its routes, and how it will be financed. His legislation thus would extend for one year the restrictions of the 1969 law, which said that the district would be free to do what it wanted 120 days after the plan was filed this year — unless the Legislature acted.

The 1969 law prohibited a second deck and limited net revenues as follows: 50 per cent for buses, 30 per cent for ferries, and 20 per cent for long-range transit.

Mills' office said that his amendments would not interfere with the district's interim bus and ferry system. Buses are to begin operation by Dec. 1, and ferries in 1973.

The senator's bill would require resubmission of a detailed plan by the 90th calendar day of the 1972 legislative session.

Bridge officials, rushing to meet this month's deadline to file the plan ordered in 1969, complained that they had had too little time to work out details of a long-range system. Working out details with San Francisco officials would take a lot more time, they said.

The 1969 law was authored by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, now chairman of a special subcommittee reviewing the plan. He told the Independent-Journal yesterday that he also expected to seek some sort of controls on the district until its longe-range plans have been detailed.

But Foran said the Legislature did not appear to oppose the district's immediate start on the interim bus and ferry system.

Evidence Of Chlorine Threat To Marine Life Documented

I-J Special Report

CONCORD — The traditional way of disinfecting sewage can pose serious threats to marine life, a research biologist warned yesterday.

Chlorine, a highly toxic chemical, has been used for some 35 years to kill sewage bacteria. But rapid growth in sewage loads has encouraged massive use of the chemical — causing most marine life to die off near sewage outfall pipes.

Marine biologist long have suspected the lethel effects of chlorinated sewage, but research to back their suspicions had been lacking.

Evidence, however, was presented yesterday to the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board by Dr. Isabella A. Abbott, biology professor and research biologist at Stanford University's Hopkins Marine Station in Pacific Grove, Monterey County.

Displaying data gathered over the past three years, she concluded that chlorine causes marine life "to turn up its toes."

She declined to accept suggestions that her findings meant that chlorination should be replaced with some other system. Chlorination may work, she said, if regulated in small enough doses.

She illustrated her data with photographs of the rocks adjacent to the sewage outfall in Pacific Grove. They were barren of all life. But 100 feet away, the rocks were covered with heavy algae growths and teeming with marine organisms.

Further research will be needed, Dr. Abbott said, to determine if the effects of the chlorine go beyond the immediate outfall area. The chemical may be affecting the food chain of other marine animals, she said.

She reported that the sewage treatment plant at Pacific Grove had refused to disclose how much chlorine it used. Beaches in the county were closed last year by public health officials, she noted, so the plant used massive doses of chlorine in a successful effort to reopen the beaches by killing the bacteria.

"They just poured it in by the ton," Dr. Abbott said.

Emanuel Pearl, Santa Clara County public health officer, told newsmen that chlorine "is the only kind of disinfectant we have. The alternative is to sacrifice all of your water contact use on the coastline," he said.

Donald Lollock, a marine biologist for the state Fish and Game Department, objected that "it's way too early to talk about sacrificing the coastline." He conceded that "some limited trade-off" may be the best solution available, with some harm to marine life permitted in order to protect public health.

Dr. Abbott described similar problems in Carmel, and said that county officials had turned their backs on dangerous pollution at Monastery Beach, a popular beach for skindivers and SCUBA divers just south of Carmel.

Ex-Novatan Sentenced; Won't Talk

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—U.S. District Judge James A. Walsh sentenced a 23-year-old Venice, Calif., woman to up to 18 months in jail here Wednesday after she refused to testify before a Federal Grand Jury.

Terri Ann Volpin, formerly of Novato, was ordered to jail for 18 months or until she decides to testify before the Grand Jury which is investigating alleged explosive buying here by members of the radical Weatherman organization chapter in Southern California.

Miss Volpin had refused on Tuesday to testify despite the fact that she was granted immunity from prosecution on anything she testified to.

Miss Volpin is the second woman from Venice to be jailed this month for refusing to testify in the Weatherman investigation.

Mrs. Lee Weinberg, 38, was sentenced to a similar 18-month jail term April 7 by Judge Walsh.

The two women along with three other persons from Venice spent four months in jail late last year and earlier this year on the same charges. However, they were released last month when the Grand Jury which began the Weatherman investigation last November was disbanded.

All five were re-subpoenaed but so far only Miss Volpin and Mrs. Weinberg have been called to testify before the new Grand Jury.

BART To Fight Any Panel Link

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The directors of the Bay Area Rapid Transit System (BART) have voted 7-3 to fight against being controlled by the state's metropolitan transportation commission.

The commission was created by the Legislature to oversee longrange regional transportation planning.

BART directors from Alameda and Contra Costa counties voted Thursday to support a proposed bill which would keep the district out from under the commission's dictates. Directors from San Francisco County dissented on grounds that the San Francisco International Airport transit line wouldn't be guaranteed in the legislation, SB 162, introduced in the Senate by Sen. John A. Nejedley, R-Walnut Creek.

'Mills For President' Wins More Backers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Reps. Robert N. C. Nix, D-Pa., and Walter S. Baring, D-Nev., have thrown their support behind Ways and Means Committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination.

Two other House members previously endorsed the Arkansan, who has said he is not a candidate but has done little to discourage others from promoting him.

Volunteers Needed At Center

More volunteers and funds are needed before the Marin Suicide Prevention Center can launch its round the clock telephone service, the board of directors announced Wednesday at the monthly meeting at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in San Rafael.

Keith C. Craig, president of the board of directors, said he will write to about eight different foundations throughout the country to seek funds. "We have already applied for $25,000 from the state public health funds," said Craig.

He said at least 120 and up to 200 trained volunteers are needed to man the telephone service 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Twenty-five have already completed the training course and 50 are currently undergoing training at the College of Marin.

Lack of funds is holding up the opening of the telephone service in the county health building at 920 Grand avenue, San Rafael.

The next meeting of the suicide prevention center board of directors will be held at 4 p.m., May 19, at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 1123 Court Street, San Rafael.

Soviet Trade Mission Center Hit By Bomb

NEW YORK (UPI)—A makeshift bomb exploded in the downtown Manhattan offices of the Soviet import-export corporation Amtorg after working hours Thursday, blasting a steel door off its hinges and further straining Soviet-American relations.

There were no injuries. Police and firemen had been tipped by anonymous telephone calls and evacuated persons from the area around the 19th floor.

A second bomb was found one floor above in a hasty search and defused two seconds before it was set to explode.

Amtorg is the official Soviet trade mission in the United States and the sole importer and exporter of goods between the two nations.

MARIN DODGE

ROWING FOR physical fitness offers a change of pace to yachtswomen experienced in bay racing and ocean cruising. Adrienne Going in the dory's stern, left, and Dotty Noyes in bow pull oars off Waterspout point, Tiburon where Dr and Mrs Chester Noyes' home juts out over Raccoon Straits.

SKIPPER JEAN Jacobs of Tiburon stands in the hatch of the 22-foot Santana at San Francisco Yacht Club which she raced last season in Yacht Racing Association regattas, checking time of maximum flood in her tide book to calculate tidal advantages on the race course Winding her stop watch Jean says, "The worst thing that could happen would be for the stop watch to stop during the countdown for the start."

Tiller In Hand, They Take To Bay

By PAT BALMES

Four outstanding Marin yachtswomen each specialize in a different aspect of sailing on San Francisco Bay. These sailors are the Yacht Racing Association skipper of a male crew, the first mate for her 1970 season-champion husband, the teacher of sailing for women who has sailed on waters around the world and the veteran yachtswoman who rows for physical fitness.

Skipper Jean Jacobs of Tiburon races in hotly-competitive Yacht Racing Association regattas. Her husband, Bruce, and another man crew for her.

"Bruce encouraged me to race and generously offered to be my crew. He prefers cruising, because he competes all week in business. It's I who need that competition for recreation," says Jean.

A competent skipper must know the rules, have confidence in her ability and be in complete control of the boat and crew, according to Jean.

"Your crew must know that you feel responsibility for them. If you send a man to the foredeck when it's really blowing to reef a mainsail, he has to have confidence that you won't knock him off by tacking or suddenly altering course," she says.

A skipper should insist that her crew wear flotation coats, life vests or jackets when it "pipes up." In extremely heavy weather they should be hooked to a safety line, Jean says.

Having just sold "her baby," a 22-foot Santana which she raced last season, Jean doesn't plan to race their new 38-foot Javelin this season because of revisions they are making.

JEAN HAS tremendous respect for the bay. If you go out without that, she warns, "you're crazy!" She learned to swim when she began to sail with the "Sea Gals" nine years ago, a group of women who crewed on many different yachts to learn technique from their owners. Jean flunked their survival test by not being able to stay afloat, fully clothed, for 10 minutes.

She relates that before she took swimming lessons, in her early sailing days, she and a friend were sailing a 14-foot sailboat when they were caught in a sudden gust which caused their boat to "turn turtle." The women clung to their craft for 10 minutes in the icy water "with my feet pulled up, thinking of sharks," says Jean, before the Coast Guard helicopter hovered overhead and a power boat which arrived at the same moment hauled them aboard.

"When my friend was taken aboard she was so exhausted she couldn't speak," says Jean.

Jean loves the excitement of racing: sailboats tacking behind the starting line and appraising the competition. Rounding the marks, there is often a pile-up. The skipper's job is to know the rules, recognizing advantages and infringements.

She would ask her husband to yell at an erring skipper for right-of-way: "starboard" or "room at the mark!" The worst thing a woman can do on a race course, she remarks, is to yell or swear.

Viewing racing as "therapy for mother," Jean also has studied marine biology and currently is taking courses at College of Marin in oceanography, field ecology and geology.

ANOTHER COMPETITOR in YRA is Miriam Doody of Strawberry, who has crewed for her husband, James for several seasons and helped him win the 1970 season championship in the Cal 24 division. Miriam says a chronic problem in YRA racing is that it's a terrible strain on a skipper's nerves.

"I know a lot of women who would not go aboard their husband's boat during a race. You can hear the skippers screaming at their crews on the bay.

"Jim is gruff and obnoxious, too, during a race. If you are going to take it to heart, you're dead," the expert crew says.

Instead, Miriam uses diplomacy to keep her crewmates happy. The Cal 24 needs five or six for weight to race, she explains.

"I try to get a new guy aside first and tell him not to let what the skipper says worry him. When the race is over, Jim is very nice to us and takes us all out to dinner. And I am competitive, too. If Jim looks away, I say, ''Watch what you're doing!" says his wife.

When their favorite sport, skiing became "too crowded" eight years ago, the Doodys bought a 14-foot sailboat and some books on sailing. With their older girl, Micca, they took turns being skipper.

"If the skipper gave the wrong order, we would all three tip over!'' When they first bought their Cal 24, the three Doodys raced it.

"We changed sails and flew the spinnaker from the foredeck on a boat that really needs five or six to race," she recalls.

Miriam feels sailing is a fine way to keep a family together and a teen-ager mentally and physically occupied. Micca crewed on a Flying Junior and would come home so tired and so salty she could hardly get a shower, says her mother.

Miriam relates that while she was pregnant with Robin she went sailing in her Flying Junior and was caught in "a big wind" and upended. Fishermen came to right the boat, but Miriam wanted to stay in the water so they couldn't know she was expecting.

"Even the day Robin was born, I was out sailing," she says, adding that she finds quiet to read or sleep in little bays where they drop anchor.

Her love for the waterfront has lead Miriam into a seven-month effort to organize the citizens of Strawberry against the building of apartments on the marshlands of Strawberry Cove because she was "worried about destroying what we have, just to make room for new people."

"Developers may say," says Miriam who works with a six-man committee, "that we need more people to help pay taxes, but this is unreal because more money will be required for services for newcomers."

THE THIRD OUTSTANDING yachtswoman is a sympathetic teacher for women who want to sail but lack the confidence, Peg Foster. She has sailed in Europe, the South Pacific and the East Coast. Her husband Walt, a graduate of King's Point Maritime Academy in New York, teaches friends navigation at their Corte Madera home.

"I chose Tuesday mornings at Paradise Harbor Yacht Club in Tiburon for the women's sailing program because there won't be any men or kids around who can sail better than we can." says Peg. Most of her pupils are beginners, but some are very good sailors, like Mrs. Roderic Phibbs of Mill Valley, whose husband and four sons are ardent sailors. They come because they want somebody to sail with or because they feel ineffectual on their own big boats.

"When the weather gets heavy on the big boats, their husbands throw them the tiller and they become frightened," explains Peg.

One of Peg's previously-timid pupils astonished her husband, after taking last year's women's program when in the midst of a heavy blow, she suggested and helped execute the difficult controlled jibe.

"Her husband was ecstatic!" rejoiced Peg.

Peg puts her pupils in "little bathtubs" (El Toros) and lets them feel what the wind is doing to them. Actually, these dingys are tougher to sail than big boats which are "very forgiving," according to Peg. Without keels, the El Toros just flop over and float if the pupil makes a bad mistake.

"YOU CAN get a person over her fear by making her feel independent," says the teacher Seated behind a beginner, Peg takes the tiller while gently instructing her crew on "handling the main" as they tack a zig-zag course along a row of moored boats in the protected harbor Next they switch places; Peg shows her pupil how to handle the tiller. Even hitting the pier doesn't upset the teacher who calmly allows,

"That's what the rubber padding is put on the bow for."

Back and forth they ply along the row of moored boats until her pupil gains enough confidence to ask to go out on the bay.

Feeling that wives should not be left ashore or just used as ballast on a boat, Peg says that Paradise Harbor Yacht Club emphasises low-key family sailing, where wives and children can crew in the club's staggered-start races.

"We don't have long races and if the weather is bad, we call the race off. During the race we even call out to each other what the rules are," says the teacher.

English-born Peg crewed for her three brothers on Lake Geneva when her family lived in Switzerland. But she really learned sailing at Martha's Vineyard in Massachusetts.

While doing plantation nursing in the Phillipines, she also sailed. Later she lived in Hawaii for 10 years, working as executive secretary of Pan Pacific Surgical Association, and learning to race.

But she observes that more women sail on San Francisco Bay than anyplace else she has sailed in the world; here, where sailing is so sloppy: with heavy weather and fog.

Peg is also a volunteer nurse at Hunter's Point school, San Francisco.

ANOTHER LIFE-LONG yachtswoman trades her sail for an oar in the interest of physical fitness.

"I enjoy rowing and you get somewhere," says Dotty Noyes of Tiburon. "There are a lot of dories beached along the waterfront on Mar East, but few women who row."

With her surgeon-husband, Chet, the mother of four grown children often rows a four-oar dory from their Waterspout Point home in Tiburon across Raccoon Strait to Angel Island, around and home again, a five-and-a-half mile round trip which takes about two-and-a-half-hours, depending on tides. Other favorite rowing destinations are Strawberry Cove, Paradise Cove and Belvedere Island.

They sometimes row at 6 a.m., according to Dotty, before her husband goes to the hospital to operate. Sometimes Dr. Noyes returns home in the afternoon in time for a row to Ayala Cove.

"We've always had boats, but Chet doesn't like motors, so we row," says Dotty, adding that her husband was on the University of California crew.

The couple have built a home over Raccoon Straits with a nautical atmosphere created by their close-up view of Angel Island, the swish of the waves beneath the piers of the house, porthole windows, a ship's ladder staircase and a large buoy-marker as a free-standing fireplace. On their deck is a ship's bell to greet friends who sail past.

Dotty Ford Noyes comes from a sailing family, and crewed on big boats while in high school and college. She says,

"When racing a big boat, as a woman you'd just stay out of the way. It wasn't until after I was married and owned smaller boats that I really learned to sail."

In 1954, when Chet was planning to crew for the Honolulu Trans-Pac Race on a friend's boat, he encouraged Dotty to skipper their 28-foot boat without him for the first time, saying,

"There is no point in leaving our boat in the harbor."

MIRIAM DOODY drops the jib as her husband Jim steers their Cal 24 into its berth at Clipper Yacht Harbor in Sausalito. After several seasons in fiercely-competitive Yacht Racing Association regatas, the couple won the season's championship for their class in 1970 "Sailing keeps the family together" says Miriam, whose children Micca and six-year-old Robin are also enthusiastic sailors

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Don't Be Silent As Friend's Wild Child Wrecks Your House

DEAR HELEN:

Tim and Dorothy and my husband and I went to school together, so we remained friends after marriage. It was an okay relationship until their little boy turned into a house wrecker.

Evidently Dorothy can't stand him alone, so she's started coming to my house to spend the day — constantly. This three-year-old is ten times the trouble my two kids are.

After one of their visits, I'm done for. He carries my pots and pans all over the house, even spitting in them. He gets into my spices, sprinkling them all over everything — there's nothing he can't climb to. He pulls things out of drawers, draws on the wall, bangs on the piano and messes up the color and tuning on television.

My children can't nap for the noise and, besides, he beats up on them. Now she's started bringing their spoiled dog along, and he "has to stay inside or he'll run away." The two seem possessed by the same devil, the only difference being the boy doesn't tear up pillows with his teeth or lap water out of the john. Neither is totally housebroken.

I can't pretend I'm not home, because my car is parked out in front and, though we've stopped visiting Tim and Dorothy, they don't get the hint. I am not the type to say anything, so what can I do when I see my house and nerves falling apart? . . . While Dorothy sits calmly ignoring her brats though she must shout to be heard? — LIVING IN DREAD

DEAR DREAD:

Change your type and say something. What have you got to lose except a friendship you may have outgrown? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I work in an office full of men. They discuss the craziest things.

The other day they were naming what appealed to them first about females. One said, "I'm a waist man." Of course, there were several who said the usual things. Another added, "I'm a leg man myself," and one brought a laugh by proclaiming he was "an ankel man."

But Helen, not one of those guys said anything about being attracted to a woman because he liked her face.

Here we spend hundreds of dollars on creams and makeup, and hours applying them — and men check out everything else first.

Doesn't a pretty face have any drawing power? — NO BODY SPECIAL

DEAR NO:

Let's put it this way: A pretty face has much more drawing power if it heads up a great body. Which is one of the reasons diet and exercise books are best sellers. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am divorced, have three children and am living with my mother, who thinks I'm still her little girl.

She can't stand the man I'm going to marry, so she won't allow him to see me except one evening and one afternoon a week. She won't let me see my girl friends, or look for a house to rent. She checks the speedometer on her car when I'm allowed to borrow it, which isn't often. Usually she has the garage door padlocked (not trusting me) and she won't even give me a house key because she wants to know when I come in on the few nights I go out. If I try to talk it out, she yells. Help — D.G.C.

DEAR D.:

Even if your fiance can't marry you right away, he can at least help you find a job, an apartment, and a way out of "jail." And soon —or you may be Mama's little girl all your life. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

MARY QUANT'S NEWEST

The Dimensions of Philip Thomas From Jail To Church To Theater

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"Forty lashes or 40 years of hard labor couldn't have had a more profound effect on me than the expression on my mother's face when she came to the jail to get me. I knew I could never do that to her again. Even if nobody else cared, I knew she did," said Philip Thomas, a handsome young man who became increasingly so the longer you talked to him and allowed his ideas to displace the initial impression that some of us oldsters would readily associate with his long wavy hair, his swashbuckling sideburns and the golden earring he wore in the lobe of his left ear.

I didn't ask the significance of the earring — having learned that to the young such a question is about as tasteless as asking another person's salary. And, indeed, it neither subtracted from nor added to the dimensions of Philip Thomas.

YOUNG PHILIP is currently playing the role of Gabe in the San Francisco production of the play "No Place to Be Somebody."

How does a young terrorist, a thug — who admittedly ran with a youth mob (the Black Mafia), who sold "protection" to white kids and used theft as a daily exercise — find himself where Philip is today?

The change in direction was initiated while Philip was in jail. For the first time, he realized what it meant to be physically free. His mother's reaction to the situation "blew his mind" and he felt the need for mental solace. He turned to religion.

day's tight world of the theatre, professional theatrical training would be a must, but Philip "received his most functional theatrical training in the church."

WHILE A youth minister, he preached regularly and sang and played the piano at church functions.

Upon graduation from high school, he won a scholarship to study the ministry at Oakwood College in Huntsville, Ala. During this time there was some conflict in his desire to develop his talents as a performer and continue serving the Christian church.

Seeing the Los Angeles production of "Hair" was another "mind blower." Out of 1,800 applicants who auditioned for the San Francisco opening of the play, he was one of the 28 hopefuls who received a part.

And how, indeed, could he reconcile the seemingly obvious conflict between religion and "Hair"?

Says Philip, "For me, 'Hair' was a religious experience. Religion is a way of life — it is the total organism of man. 'Hair' attempted to exemplify the oneness of man."

JANICE M. Brandi was wed to Richard L. Gleason at St. Rita's Church in Fairfax. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Monterosso of Fairfax and he is the son of Mrs. Jane Kopp. The couple will live in San Francisco. (Faulkner photo)

On the tour will be the homes of Messrs. and Mmes. John H. Taylor, 12 Oakmont Court, Russell Reese, 7 Oakmont Court, Col. and Mrs. H. Reed Volin, 39 Edgewood Way, and Bruce L. Burdick, 29 Edgewood Way, all in San Rafael.

The sunken living room overlooks the pool which is protected by a glass windbreak which also allows for a panoramic view.

The Edgewood Way Volin home is influenced by Mrs. Volin's art work. She designed her studio to provide privacy and take advantage of the sweeping view. The path from the house includes several patios tucked into the terraced hillside. A blend of antique and contemporary furnishings give a warm personal feeling to the Burdick home. The loft master bedroom and exposed staircase contribute to an open, airy feeling and the wrap around deck continued onto the water's edge of a pool cantilevered from the hillside.

Mrs. J. G. Miles of San Rafael is reservations chairman for the tour, which will benefit the educational programs at the museum.

THE 40TH anniversary of the founding of Beta Sigma Phi will be celebrated by the six Marin chapters Tuesday at a dinner to be held at the Marin Country Club in Novato at 7:30 p.m. following a 6:30 p.m. ceremony.

Education department staff, including chairman Dr. Henry J. Aigner, will discuss the new ideas in teaching preparation that Dominican College is considering for future adoption, which include an undergraduate program that will result in a preliminary teaching credential along with the B.A. degree; the establishment of learning centers in public schools where student teachers, school staff and college consultants can meet and plan curriculum and teaching strategies; the possibility of placing student teachers and interns in school classrooms in teams of two or three; and the formulation of clearly stated goals for credential programs with some alternatives for meeting requirements.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Don't Be Silent As Friend's Wild Child Wrecks Your House

DEAR HELEN:

Tim and Dorothy and my husband and I went to school together, so we remained friends after marriage. It was an okay relationship until their little boy turned into a house wrecker.

Evidently Dorothy can't stand him alone, so she's started coming to my house to spend the day — constantly. This three-year-old is ten times the trouble my two kids are.

After one of their visits, I'm done for. He carries my pots and pans all over the house, even spitting in them. He gets into my spices, sprinkling them all over everything — there's nothing he can't climb to. He pulls things out of drawers, draws on the wall, bangs on the piano and messes up the color and tuning on television.

My children can't nap for the noise and, besides, he beats up on them. Now she's started bringing their spoiled dog along, and he "has to stay inside or he'll run away." The two seem possessed by the same devil, the only difference being the boy doesn't tear up pillows with his teeth or lap water out of the john. Neither is totally housebroken.

I can't pretend I'm not home, because my car is parked out in front and, though we've stopped visiting Tim and Dorothy, they don't get the hint. I am not the type to say anything, so what can I do when I see my house and nerves falling apart? . . . While Dorothy sits calmly ignoring her brats though she must shout to be heard? — LIVING IN DREAD

DEAR DREAD:

Change your type and say something. What have you got to lose except a friendship you may have outgrown? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I work in an office full of men. They discuss the craziest things.

The other day they were naming what appealed to them first about females. One said, "I'm a waist man." Of course, there were several who said the usual things. Another added, "I'm a leg man myself," and one brought a laugh by proclaiming he was "an ankel man."

But Helen, not one of those guys said anything about being attracted to a woman because he liked her face.

Here we spend hundreds of dollars on creams and makeup, and hours applying them — and men check out everything else first.

Doesn't a pretty face have any drawing power? — NO BODY SPECIAL

DEAR NO:

Let's put it this way: A pretty face has much more drawing power if it heads up a great body. Which is one of the reasons diet and exercise books are best sellers. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am divorced, have three children and am living with my mother, who thinks I'm still her little girl.

She can't stand the man I'm going to marry, so she won't allow him to see me except one evening and one afternoon a week. She won't let me see my girl friends, or look for a house to rent. She checks the speedometer on her car when I'm allowed to borrow it, which isn't often. Usually she has the garage door padlocked (not trusting me) and she won't even give me a house key because she wants to know when I come in on the few nights I go out. If I try to talk it out, she yells. Help — D.G.C.

DEAR D.:

Even if your fiance can't marry you right away, he can at least help you find a job, an apartment, and a way out of "jail." And soon —or you may be Mama's little girl all your life. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Special Hopes For Her Swimmers

By JOAN LISETOR

Coach Marie McSweeney has been working her swimmers since February, preparing them for tomorrow's Marin County Special Olympics being held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at San Rafael High School.

The Olympics are special becuase they are only for mentally retarded or mentally handicapped persons over the age of 8.

They are very special to the coach, a 20-year-old-sophomore at Dominican College, because she believes she has some strong contenders for the state, national and international competitions, most notably her 13-year-old sister, Beth-Anne.

THE DAUGHTERS of Mrs. Patricia J. McSweeney of San Rafael are from a family of six children who are now or have been actively involved in swimming for about 15 years.

Marie started winning awards for the San Rafael Swim Club when she was 10 years old and then swam on the girls' swimming team when she was a student at Marin Catholic High School.

For Beth-Anne, a cerebral palsy victim, swimming is a pleasure and also therapy. Mrs. McSweeney was told by a neurologist when Beth-Anne was a baby that it was possible she would never walk. She walks — and with no noticeable motor impairment — and her family attributes it to swimming.

"Before she began swimming she had pneumonia every January, and even though it means taking her to San Francisco everyday because Marin has no public indoor pool, we do it during the winter, says Mrs. McSweeney.

"SHE IS UP to grade level in most of her school subjects, and she has not had pneumonia since she began swimming regularly."

The Special Olympics swimming events are 25 and 50 yard free style, and Beth-Anne took firsts in local and state competition last year and two second places in the international meet in Chicago.

Marie says she has other contenders in the swimming events, despite the fact that she has had to take her 15 or so swimmers to whatever pool has been available. They have used the Airman's pool at Hamilton Air Force Base, the pools at St. Peter Chanel Seminary, Sir Francisco Drake High School and the home of the D. H. Gabrielsons' in Ross.

Working with the retarded is not new to Marie who served several summers as a volunteer for the Kindergarten Mentally Retarded. After college she plans to continue helping others, by joining the Peace Corps.

A psychology major, Marie says she gets personal satisfaction from doing things for others, and her busy schedule doesn't phase her.

"YOU CAN always find the time if you find something you want to do," she says.

Tomorrow's event is sponsored by Marin Aid to Retarded Children, Cedars Development Foundation and the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults. The Special Olympics was created by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation with an ultimate goal to provide an incentive for sports training and athletic competition for all retarded persons.

Other events will include a 50 yard dash, 300 yard run, broad jump and a softball throw.

(I-J photos by Jim Kean)

BETH-ANNE MC SWEENEY, left, talks to her coach, who also happens to be her sister Marie on the steps of a pool at Hamilton Air Force Base. A second place winner in the international Special Olympics competition last year, Beth-Anne will swim both the 25 and 50 yard events tomorrow at San Rafael High School.

SAILING

Since then she skippered their 44-foot cutter across the Sea of Cortez from Guyemas to La Paz, after her husband returned to work at the hospital.

They have cruised their "Anacapa" to the Hawaiian Islands with their three sons and a daughter. Presently they are on a three-month cruise of the Gulf of California.

SOMETIMES ROWING with Dotty is Adrienne Going of Sausalito, wife of John Going, the chief mate on the S.S. President Wilson of American President Lines.

Also an ocean sailor, Mrs. Going says,

"You are asked along on ocean cruises to cook, but I also want to sail. I insist on standing my own watch."

Adrienne was the only woman on the crew which delivered the "Orient" from Hawaii to San Francisco. She helped deliver the "Little Revenge" from New York to Panama. Without her husband along, she also crewed on the "Celeste," which was delivered from Hawaii to San Diego.

The Goings also cruise their own 34-foot yawl.

"I am on our boat every day at Sausalito Yacht Harbor; sanding, varnishing and doing maintenance that a wooden boat demands," says Mrs. Going.

Marin women such as these four are taking increasingly important roles in Bay Area sailing and boating activities, officially opening Sunday for 1971.

Special Hopes For Her Swimmers

By JOAN LISETOR

Coach Marie McSweeney has been working her swimmers since February, preparing them for tomorrow's Marin County Special Olympics being held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at San Rafael High School.

The Olympics are special becuase they are only for mentally retarded or mentally handicapped persons over the age of 8.

They are very special to the coach, a 20-year-old-sophomore at Dominican College, because she believes she has some strong contenders for the state, national and international competitions, most notably her 13-year-old sister, Beth-Anne.

THE DAUGHTERS of Mrs. Patricia J. McSweeney of San Rafael are from a family of six children who are now or have been actively involved in swimming for about 15 years.

Marie started winning awards for the San Rafael Swim Club when she was 10 years old and then swam on the girls' swimming team when she was a student at Marin Catholic High School.

For Beth-Anne, a cerebral palsy victim, swimming is a pleasure and also therapy. Mrs. McSweeney was told by a neurologist when Beth-Anne was a baby that it was possible she would never walk. She walks — and with no noticeable motor impairment — and her family attributes it to swimming.

"Before she began swimming she had pneumonia every January, and even though it means taking her to San Francisco everyday because Marin has no public indoor pool, we do it during the winter, says Mrs. McSweeney.

"SHE IS UP to grade level in most of her school subjects, and she has not had pneumonia since she began swimming regularly."

The Special Olympics swimming events are 25 and 50 yard free style, and Beth-Anne took firsts in local and state competition last year and two second places in the international meet in Chicago.

Marie says she has other contenders in the swimming events, despite the fact that she has had to take her 15 or so swimmers to whatever pool has been available. They have used the Airman's pool at Hamilton Air Force Base, the pools at St. Peter Chanel Seminary, Sir Francisco Drake High School and the home of the D. H. Gabrielsons' in Ross.

Working with the retarded is not new to Marie who served several summers as a volunteer for the Kindergarten Mentally Retarded. After college she plans to continue helping others, by joining the Peace Corps.

A psychology major, Marie says she gets personal satisfaction from doing things for others, and her busy schedule doesn't phase her.

"YOU CAN always find the time if you find something you want to do," she says.

Tomorrow's event is sponsored by Marin Aid to Retarded Children, Cedars Development Foundation and the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults. The Special Olympics was created by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation with an ultimate goal to provide an incentive for sports training and athletic competition for all retarded persons.

Other events will include a 50 yard dash, 300 yard run, broad jump and a softball throw.

A second place winner in the international Special Olympics competition last year, Beth-Anne will swim both the 25 and 50 yard events tomorrow at San Rafael High School.

Since then she skippered their 44-foot cutter across the Sea of Cortez from Guyemas to La Paz, after her husband returned to work at the hospital.

They have cruised their "Anacapa" to the Hawaiian Islands with their three sons and a daughter. Presently they are on a three-month cruise of the Gulf of California.

SOMETIMES ROWING with Dotty is Adrienne Going of Sausalito, wife of John Going, the chief mate on the S.S. President Wilson of American President Lines.

Also an ocean sailor, Mrs. Going says,

"You are asked along on ocean cruises to cook, but I also want to sail. I insist on standing my own watch."

Adrienne was the only woman on the crew which delivered the "Orient" from Hawaii to San Francisco. She helped deliver the "Little Revenge" from New York to Panama. Without her husband along, she also crewed on the "Celeste," which was delivered from Hawaii to San Diego.

The Goings also cruise their own 34-foot yawl.

"I am on our boat every day at Sausalito Yacht Harbor; sanding, varnishing and doing maintenance that a wooden boat demands," says Mrs. Going.

Marin women such as these four are taking increasingly important roles in Bay Area sailing and boating activities, officially opening Sunday for 1971.

Are you open to new ideas? To opinions which may be too far out or too "straight" for you? Can you stand to have your generation constructively criticized — and can you also take applause? This I-J two-part program is an attempt to bring out in the open what's wrong and what's right about the relationship today between youth and older people. In a series of 24 interviews the I-J will present people of diverse backgrounds and opinions expressing their views, their feelings, on the so-called generation gap . . . and what youth and the over-thirties might do to see one another in a more understanding light.

To further focus on this the Independent-Journal presents a contest with substantial prizes for the best letters on how "you" think a better rapport between youth and older people can best be reached. If you have ideas on this, here is your chance to candidly express them. . . with the possibility that your letter may be published whether or not it wins an award. PRISONKEEPER'S SIDE — James W. L. Park, associate warden of San Quentin Prison tells San Rafael High School students that the prison's staff does feel "alienated from the community" while on the job, because "the community wants the criminals (and the prison) out of" the community.

Harris: If Many Choose Prison, System Will Fall

By BONNIE BARD

David Harris brought his message of peaceful resistance to the Vietnam War to a crowd of more than 2,000 persons yesterday at Sonoma State College.

Speaking on the commons as the crowd lounged on the damp grass, Harris told of his struggle to avoid the draft and recounted his experiences as a federal prisoner for 20 months.

The crowd listened intently as Harris said he chose to go to prison rather than to permit the government to control his life. "It's obvious we must show that we intend to reject government control over our lives," he said.

He said peace action groups must expand and join together for a massive movement, but said he rejected the buying of arms as a means of fighting the government. "The struggle is worth it, the stakes are big and as long as we have a chance, let's shoot big," Harris said.

"It's all the way down the line as far as I'm concerned," he said. "I bought a through ticket. I'll go alone, but it's better with friends."

Harris, husband of folk singer-pacifist Joan Baez, was released from prison March 15. Pale and thin, he chain-smoked throughout his 90-minute appearance.

A lone heckler in the crowd accused Harris of being "a phony martyr on a publicity kick." The heckler said, "You're a phony through and through going to jail rather than throwing a bomb through the draft board building."

Harris said he totally rejected bombing, saying it has no political value. A draft board doesn't succeed on account of buildings, he said, but because people surrender to it. Harris said the government reports it must call two men to get one Army inductee, but said he believed the figures may be more than four or five men to get one man to serve.

Some students asked about government repression and what he would do when violent tactics are used against demonstrators. "Duck," he answered simply. "It just doesn't make sense to shoot back."

He said that other than going to jail, young men can resist the draft by seeking conscientious objector status or by going to Canada. "I did what was real to me and never had second thoughts," he said.

"The government is not in a good position," Harris said. "They've got too many (draft) violators — the courts are clogged — and there's no place to put everybody anyway," he said, referring to crowded prison facilities.

"The feds are not in a good position to bust a lot of people," he said. "We've got to keep them in a bind." Harris said he believed that antiwar feeling is growing in all segments of American society. "People are tired of seeing their sons come home in plastic bags."

Of his prison experiences, Harris said, "I saw guards do a lot of bad things to a lot of bad people." He spoke disrespectfully of most prison personnel, but said he had managed to talk four guards into quitting.

Harris said that during hunger strikes, a sympathetic guard smuggled food to them at night.

"I don't want to see a prison left standing," he said, classing 98 per cent of the inmates as political prisoners. "Most of the dudes in prisons aren't in for anything the government doesn't do 150 times a day," he said, listing murder and theft as government crimes.

He said the other two per cent could be considered psychotic and too dangerous to be set free and should be housed for safe keeping in Bel Aire mansions.

"Dudes in the joints are victims just like we are of organized social vengeance," he said.

Daughter Is A 'Captive' Says Father

OAKLAND (UPI)—An irate father Thursday sued Mills College, the exclusive women's school, accusing the college of keeping his 19-year-old daughter, Alice a captive.

Leopold J. Gunston, a retired realtor, said he wants his daughter to move out of her dormitory and return to his Alameda home from which she could commute to classes.

But he said the daughter has refused because she is a captive in the sense she is "under the influence of the college."

Gunston objected to the daughter's living on campus because he said the college does not keep close enough track of her whereabouts.

As a result, he said she is in danger of living "an idle, dissolute and immoral life." All of this, he said, interferes with his father-daughter relationship.

In a superior court suit filed by attorney Fred Duda, Gunston asked for return of $900 he has paid for board and room, $25,000 because of mental distress and $25,000 in punitive damages.

The court set April 28 for a hearing. The college made no comment.

PARK ON PENOLOGY

Students Get The Prison Side

By JEFF GREER

San Rafael High School students who earlier had heard San Quentin Prison bitterly criticized, yesterday heard the prisonkeeper's side of the picture from Associate Warden James W. L. Park.

Park spoke for two hours to students from Ada Fitzsimmons's classes in government.

His young audience, which had heard a parolee lash out at brutality in the prison, and a woman attorney decry the whole penal system, asked hardly a question about the alleged brutality. Instead, many of the questions bored in on Park's conscience — how he could carry out a death sentence, or imprison men.

"Personally, I'm against the death sentence," Park said. Officially, he said he would carry out the law "because it's the will of the community. Ten million people pull that lever . . .

"If you're dealing with human beings in a professional way, you can't let your personal feelings interfere," he added. "There's some point, sure, that I could no longer work in the (prison) program — for instance if we started running a Nazi-type torture chamber."

"Don't you care enough about the people and the system to go out and start a crusade?" a student asked.

"That's why I'm here," Park replied. "But professionally I have to be neutral . . . I came in (to the penal system) as a psychologist because I'd rather work with people than sell cameras. I feel it's helpful to the community."

Park stressed that in man's million-year history, crime has always been action that "threatened the community" and that until about 200 years ago, the punishment for crime was death or expulsion from society. Only recently has the idea of "rehabilitation . . . now it's called reintegration into the community" sprung up, Park said.

Laws and how violators are punished are "the will of the community," Park declared. Noting students' concern about the death sentence, heavier prison terms for narcotics offenses than for murder, and other facets of penology, Park said, "You're an elite minority. There's a vast, blue collar majority of Middle America that thinks everything's just fine" with the justice and penal system the way it is.

"The community decides what is a crime. More recently, we decided income tax evasion was a threat to our community. Offenses interfere with others' rights in some way."

Park told the students, "prisonkeepers don't have any say who is sent to them. Crime starts in the community and the solution is there, not in the prison."

Less than 10 per cent of felons sentenced in California last year actually went to prison, the official said. The balance were placed on probation, sent to mental hospitals or put in other rehabilitation programs, he said. " But if you had the perfect cure" to keep an offender from repeating a crime "it wouldn't affect the overall crime rate" until the community eliminates the cause of crime, Park argued.

With more felons on probation, the "quality of the prisoner is going down," Park noted, because only the most troublesom is imprisoned.

He questioned laws that send male exhibitionists and narcotics offenders to prison. Exhibitionists are physically no danger to anyone and narcotics users harm themselves rather than infringe the rights of others, he said. "But the community is very uptight with these people . . . says 'get them out of here'," Park explained.

As for reform of treatment for the criminal, "you've got to talk about the whole thing from the first foster home for a 5-year-old, through probation, psychiatric services, the courts and so on . . . Convicts have a set of attitudes resistant to change. I can't say to you, 'your life style's got to change'," Park explained.

Prisons "inherit, do not create the young, white redneck southerner and the young, angry black militant," Park said. The racial mixture in prisons is not really out of proportion to urban ghetto population percentages, he suggested, and "90 per cent" of San Quentin's inmates "have been down the road" to trouble before getting to the big prison.

He described guard screening, then said he felt the prison benefitted from having "all kinds of guards — do-gooders, ex-military . . . we need them. You never know what's going to change a convict's mind. We get a little break if a guy relates to just one guard. There's a lot more rapping in the prison than you might believe."

Park's talk concluded a series of appearances that included attorney Salle S. Soladay, self-styled anarchist Warren K. Billings and parolee Tommy Lee Walker.

Bruce Lauded For 'Competence, Courage' By Marin Civic Panel

Marin Council for Civic Affairs paid tribute last night to County Administrator Alan Bruce, who quit under fire this week with a blast at the county supervisors.

Bruce, a county administrator for 10 years, will leave on July 1.

Bruce was a guest at the Council's annual election and dinner at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael, where Margaret B. Azevedo praised the veteran county administrator for serving "with rare competence and magnificent courage."

Supervisor Michael Wornum, one of three supervisors who attended the dinner last night, expressed regret that "political necessity" had forced the supervisors to press for Bruce's resignation. "I wish you the best that we can," said Wornum. "The job you did for the county can never be fully repaid. I feel like an executioner apologizing to the victim." Supervisors Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Arnold M. Baptiste also attended.

Bruce stood up briefly to thank both Mrs. Azevedo and Wornum. "This was thoroughly unexpected," said Bruce. "I wouldn't have come if I had expected this. I thank you all for celebrating my liberation."

Walter E. Zurcher, master of ceremonies, introduced the main speaker for the evening, State Sen. Peter H. Behr. The Senator described himself as a "90-day wonder" in Sacramento and gave a brief summary of some of the more than 4,000 bills that have been introduced already this year.

During the business meeting, a slate of new officers, headed by Chairman Muriel S. Appenzeller, was elected by unanimous acclaim. Mrs. Appenzeller succeeds past Chairman George Ellman.

Other new officers elected last night were Michael Peevey of San Rafael, vice chairman; Milen C. Dempster, treasurer; and Ezilda Bunny Lucheta, secretary.

The new executive committee will be comprised of the above officers and George Ellman, Margaret B. Azevedo, Paul C. Zucker, and Betty Forry.

Ensemble To End Season On Sunday

The Marin Chamber Ensemble directed by Dr. S. Drummond Wolff will present its final concert of this season Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley.

The ensemble, with Dr. Wolff playing the organ or harpsichord, has been performing six years at various churches in the county.

Singers will be Carolyn Bond, Janna Schumacher, Arlene Adams, Claudia Siefer, Craig Bond, Patrick Bacchus, Clay Roni and Gary Walker. The other musicians are Jack Tyler and Jim Chesnut, trumpets; David Murray and William Duggin, trombones; George Omi, French horn; and Terry Bozzio, percussion.

Included in the program will be works by Handel, J.S. Bach, Mendelssohn, Purcell, Gabrielli, Vittoria and Stanford.

Noting students' concern about the death sentence, heavier prison terms for narcotics offenses than for murder, and other facets of penology, Park said, "You're an elite minority. There's a vast, blue collar majority of Middle America that thinks everything's just fine" with the justice and penal system the way it is.

"The community decides what is a crime. More recently, we decided income tax evasion was a threat to our community. Offenses interfere with others' rights in some way."

Park told the students, "prisonkeepers don't have any say who is sent to them. Crime starts in the community and the solution is there, not in the prison."

Less than 10 per cent of felons sentenced in California last year actually went to prison, the official said. The balance were placed on probation, sent to mental hospitals or put in other rehabilitation programs, he said. " But if you had the perfect cure" to keep an offender from repeating a crime "it wouldn't affect the overall crime rate" until the community eliminates the cause of crime, Park argued.

With more felons on probation, the "quality of the prisoner is going down," Park noted, because only the most troublesom is imprisoned.

He questioned laws that send male exhibitionists and narcotics offenders to prison. Exhibitionists are physically no danger to anyone and narcotics users harm themselves rather than infringe the rights of others, he said. "But the community is very uptight with these people . . . says 'get them out of here'," Park explained.

As for retorm of treatment for the criminal, "you've got to talk about the whole thing from the first foster home for a 5-year-old, through probation, psychiatric services, the courts and so on . . . Convicts have a set of attitudes resistant to change. I can't say to you, 'your life style's got to change'," Park explained.

Prisons "inherit, do not create the young, white redneck southerner and the young, angry black militant," Park said. The racial mixture in prisons is not really out of proportion to urban ghetto population percentages, he suggested, and "90 per cent" of San Quentin's inmates "have been down the road" to trouble before getting to the big prison.

He described guard screening, then said he felt the prison benefitted from having "all kinds of guards — do-gooders, ex-military . . . we need them. You never know what's going to change a convict's mind. We get a little break if a guy relates to just one guard. There's a lot more rapping in the prison than you might believe."

Park's talk concluded a series of appearances that included attorney Salle S. Soladay, self-styled anarchist Warren K. Billings and parolee Tommy Lee Walker.

Harris: If Many Choose Prison, System Will Fall

By BONNIE BARD

David Harris brought his message of peaceful resistance to the Vietnam War to a crowd of more than 2,000 persons yesterday at Sonoma State College.

Speaking on the commons as the crowd lounged on the damp grass, Harris told of his struggle to avoid the draft and recounted his experiences as a federal prisoner for 20 months.

The crowd listened intently as Harris said he chose to go to prison rather than to permit the government to control his life. "It's obvious we must show that we intend to reject government control over our lives," he said.

He said peace action groups must expand and join together for a massive movement, but said he rejected the buying of arms as a means of fighting the government. "The struggle is worth it, the stakes are big and as long as we have a chance, let's shoot big," Harris said.

"It's all the way down the line as far as I'm concerned," he said. "I bought a through ticket. I'll go alone, but it's better with friends."

Harris, husband of folk singer-pacifist Joan Baez, was released from prison March 15. Pale and thin, he chain-smoked throughout his 90-minute appearance.

A lone heckler in the crowd accused Harris of being "a phony martyr on a publicity kick." The heckler said, "You're a phony through and through going to jail rather than throwing a bomb through the draft board building."

Harris said he totally rejected bombing, saying it has no political value. A draft board doesn't succeed on account of buildings, he said, but because people surrender to it. Harris said the government reports it must call two men to get one Army inductee, but said he believed the figures may be more than four or five men to get one man to serve.

Some students asked about government repression and what he would do when violent tactics are used against demonstrators. "Duck," he answered simply. "It just doesn't make sense to shoot back."

He said that other than going to jail, young men can resist the draft by seeking conscientious objector status or by going to Canada. "I did what was real to me and never had second thoughts," he said.

"The government is not in a good position," Harris said. "They've got too many (draft) violators — the courts are clogged — and there's no place to put everybody anyway," he said, referring to crowded prison facilities.

"The feds are not in a good position to bust a lot of people," he said. "We've got to keep them in a bind." Harris said be believed that antiwar feeling is growing in all segments of American society. "People are tired of seeing their sons come home in plastic bags."

Of his prison experiences, Harris said, "I saw guards do a lot of bad things to a lot of bad people." He spoke disrespectfully of most prison personnel, but said he had managed to talk four guards into quitting.

Harris said that during hunger strikes, a sympathetic guard smuggled food to them at night.

"I don't want to see a prison left standing," he said, classing 98 per cent of the inmates as political prisoners. "Most of the dudes in prisons aren't in for anything the government doesn't do 150 times a day," he said, listing murder and theft as government crimes.

He said the other two per cent could be considered psychotic and too dangerous to be set free and should be housed for safe keeping in Bel Aire mansions.

"Dudes in the joints are victims just like we are of organized social vengeance," he said.

Daughter Is A 'Captive' Says Father

OAKLAND (UPI)—An irate father Thursday sued Mills College, the exclusive women's school, accusing the college of keeping his 19-year-old daughter, Alice a captive.

Leopold J. Gunston, a retired realtor, said he wants his daughter to move out of her dormitory and return to his Alameda home from which she could commute to classes.

But he said the daughter has refused because she is a captive in the sense she is "under the influence of the college."

Gunston objected to the daughter's living on campus because he said the college does not keep close enough track of her whereabouts.

As a result, he said she is in danger of living "an idle, dissolute and immoral life." All of this, he said, interferes with his father-daughter relationship.

In a superior court suit filed by attorney Fred Duda, Gunston asked for return of $900 he has paid for board and room, $25,000 because of mental distress and $25,000 in punitive damages.

The court set April 28 for a hearing. The college made no comment.

Bruce Lauded For 'Competence, Courage' By Marin Civic Panel

Marin Council for Civic Affairs paid tribute last night to County Administrator Alan Bruce, who quit under fire this week with a blast at the county supervisors.

Bruce, a county administrator for 10 years, will leave on July 1.

Bruce was a guest at the Council's annual election and dinner at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael, where Margaret B. Azevedo praised the veteran county administrator for serving "with rare competence and magnificent courage."

Supervisor Michael Wornum, one of three supervisors who attended the dinner last night, expressed regret that "political necessity" had forced the supervisors to press for Bruce's resignation. "I wish you the best that we can," said Wornum. "The job you did for the county can never be fully repaid. I feel like an executioner apologizing to the victim." Supervisors Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Arnold M. Baptiste also attended.

Bruce stood up briefly to thank both Mrs. Azevedo and Wornum. "This was thoroughly unexpected," said Bruce. "I wouldn't have come if I had expected this. I thank you all for celebrating my liberation."

Walter E. Zurcher, master of ceremonies, introduced the main speaker for the evening, State Sen. Peter H. Behr. The Senator described himself as a "90-day wonder" in Sacramento and gave a brief summary of some of the more than 4,000 bills that have been introduced already this year.

During the business meeting, a slate of new officers, headed by Chairman Muriel S. Appenzeller, was elected by unanimous acclaim. Mrs. Appenzeller succeeds past Chairman George Ellman.

Other new officers elected last night were Michael Peevey of San Rafael, vice chairman; Milen C. Dempster, treasurer; and Ezilda Bunny Lucheta, secretary.

The new executive committee will be comprised of the above officers and George Ellman, Margaret B. Azevedo, Paul C. Zucker, and Betty Forry.

Today is Friday, April 23, the 113th day of 1971. The moon is between its last quarter and new phase.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn. Those born on this day are under the sign of Taurus.

William Shakespeare was born April 23, 1564.

On this day in history:

In 1898 the U.S. government asked for 125,000 volunteers to fight against Spain in Cuba.

In 1917 almost every performer stepped forward in a mass meeting when asked to volunteer to entertain the troops overseas in World War I.

In 1941 thousands attending an American First rally in New York City heard Charles Lindbergh say "It is obvious that England is losing the war." The noted aviator opposed American entry into World War II.

In 1965 more than 200 U.S. planes struck North Vietnam in one of the biggest raids of the war.

A thought for today: Greek poet Horace said, "The brief span of life forbids us to cherish a long hope."

St. Anselm's Class Sets Reunion

After 30 years, the 1941 graduating class of St. Anselm's parochial school is planning its first reunion, according to Paul Slattery, who was the class president.

Slattery said he is trying to locate the 13 survivors of the 14-student class, to hold a gathering at the Marin Town and Country Club June 12 and 13. Slattery may be reached at his home, 144 Bradford Drive, Sunnyvale 94086.

Is South Deliberately Trying To Destroy Reality?

"Your bridge column is not true to life," a reader complains. "Why should South get all the good hands? In real life, all four players have their chance to hold good cards. Is this propaganda for the South, or are you deliberately trying to distort reality?"

SOFT ANSWER

I get this type of complaint about once or twice per year, and today's hand may be the soft answer that turns away wrath. South does have the best hand at the table, but he is not exactly the hero of the hand.

When this hand was played, West opened the queen of spades, and the defenders quickly rattled off the first three tricks in spades. They got out safely with a diamond, and South needed the rest of the tricks.

Declarer won the diamond switch with dummy's ace and led the three of hearts from dummy for the finesse that he needed to make his contract. The stage was thus set, and the hero made his entrance.

DRAMATIC PLAY

East made the dramatic play of the king of hearts rather than the normal play of the ten of hearts. Mind you, this play isn't recommended as a regular thing. "Second hand low" is still a good rule for a defender to follow on most occasions.

On this occasion, however, East's unusual play bore fruit. South won with the ace of hearts and worried about losing a trump trick if West had started with 10-7-4-2 of hearts. The only way to avoid losing to the ten if West really had started with four trumps was to lead a heart from the South hand at once to take a finesse with dummy's nine.

FINESSE TRY

After much suspicious staring at an impassive pair of defenders, South did try a finesse with the nine of hearts. East thereupon produced the ten of hearts to take the setting trick.

This hand is not propaganda for the East. Most bridge players are used to seeing the declarer in the South position, and all bridge columnists make South the declarer even though this gives him more than his fair share of the high cards.

FINANCES IN A MESS?

Don't feel like the Lone Ranger, most people need some help. This ad is unusual, we don't loan money and are not selling business opportunities. It is just that we feel there are times when sitting down with a successful person who is not emotionally involved in your problems, but can study them objectively, can be the answer or at least the start to solving your situation. I have a formula for climbing out of debt and starting to build financial security that might be the answer you have been looking for. If you and I think we can help you there's a small fee based on how much I have to do. No obligation on either person's part. You may not think I can help you or I may not think you're willing to be helped. One interview will tell us and it will take 15 to 30 minutes. Call my executive secretary, Mrs. Marty Conley, for an appointment. 454-8232.

FINANCES IN A MESS?
Don't feel like the Lone Ranger, most people need some help. This ad is unusual, we don't loan money and are not selling business opportunities. It is just that we feel there are times when sitting down with a successful person who is not emotionally involved in your problems, but can study them objectively, can be the answer or at least the start to solving your situation. I have a formula for climbing out of debt and starting to build financial security that might be the answer you have been looking for. If you and I think we can help you there's a small fee based on how much I have to do. No obligation on either person's part. You may not think I can help you or I may not think you're willing to be helped. One interview will tell us and it will take 15 to 30 minutes. Call my executive secretary, Mrs. Marty Conley, for an appointment. 454-8232.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Pesticides Way Down The List Of Occupational Health Hazards

Nature creates more hazards than does man. In 1967, the California State Department of Public Health received 31,084 reports of occupational injuries and illnesses. Poison oak dermatitis headed the list (3,724 reports). Most of the victims were employed in agriculture, construction, surveying, engineering, and in street, highway, and park maintenance. Less than one-quarter of the cases resulted in lost time from work. Acids were responsible for only half of all chemical burns and for a fifth of the eye conditions. The majority of chemical burns came from manufacturing industries. Solvents were the third most common cause of occupational injuries. As with acids, they produce considerable dermatitis, eye conditions and burns.

CAUSTICS ALSO induced illnesses, but to a lesser degree. Skin disorders were reported from workers in industries using plastics, such as epoxy resins, polystyrenes, and other plastics or resin systems. Almost 40 per cent of the casesinvolved women.

Fiber glass caused health problems in almost 50 industries. The majority of the 530 reports came from the rubber and miscellaneous plastic products industries. Interestingly, the first hazard on the list was poison oak, one of nature's chemicals. But the next four occupational problems centered about man-made products.

THIS BRINGS us to the sixth most common hazard — primary infections, also a natural cause. Most infections were reported in teachers or laboratory workers. Brucellosis was an occupational hazard among packinghouse employes; certain soil fungal infections were seen in construction workers and government personnel.

Heat as a hazard usually involved outdoor workers and chlorine-caused illnesses were reported in 442 swimming pool servicemen, truck drivers, and warehousemen.

WE HEAR so much about the dangers of herbicides, fertilizers and organic phosphate pesticides, yet these poisons were 15th, 18th, and 22nd on the list, respectively. Actually, physical exertion (157 reports), and shrubs, plants, and trees (144) were less of an occupational health hazard than fertilizers (162), and a little more than pesticides (138).

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

GROWLING STOMACH

J. M. writes: What would cause a person's stomach to growl a lot?

REPLY

Growling sounds occur when the stomach is churning or food is being propelled within the intestine. There is no harm in this, altho some people are better growlers than others. The stomach may rumble more when empty than full.

EYE TWITCHES

Miss E..T. writes: If I get nervous or tired, I develop a twitch alongside my right eye. Can anything be done for this?

REPLY

Since you know the cause, you know what to do: Get more rest and use fewer stimulants, such as coffee, tea, or tobacco. A twitch is a small price to pay for getting upset or tired on occasion.

'MISSED' PERIOD

N.C. writes: Is a missed period always a sign of pregnancy?

REPLY

No, but it is the most common cause in married women between the ages of 18 and 45. Thereafter, amenorrhea may be a sign of the menopause or of a pelvic disorder.

Train Waste Bill Is Killed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —A bill prohibiting trains from dumping human waste along the railroad tracks was killed Wednesday by a legislative committee.

The Ways and Means Committee spiked the measure on a split voice vote after a lobbyist for the railroads said dumping human waste along the tracks creates no health problem.

Sponsoring Assemblyman Alan Sieroty said the dumping constitutes a "serious health hazard" and charged the railroads with polluting the state for the past 100 years.

"All I'm trying to do is get the railroads to put in sealed toilets or other devices to prevent wastes going directly on the ground," he said.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Pesticides Way Down The List Of Occupational Health Hazards

Nature creates more hazards than does man. In 1967, the California State Department of Public Health received 31,084 reports of occupational injuries and illnesses. Poioak dermatitis headed the list (3,724 reports). Most of the victims were employed in agriculture, construction, surveying, engineering, and in street, highway, and park maintenance. Less than one-quarter of the cases resulted in lost time from work. Acids were responsible for only half of all chemical burns and for a fifth of the eye conditions. The majority of chemical burns came from manufacturing industries. Solvents were the third most common cause of occupational injuries. As with acids, they produce considerable dermatitis, eye conditions and burns.

CAUSTICS ALSO induced illnesses, but to a lesser degree. Skin disorders were reported from workers in industries using plastics, such as epoxy resins, polystyrenes, and other plastics or resin systems. Almost 40 per cent of the casesinvolved women.

Fiber glass caused health problems in almost 50 industries. The majority of the 530 reports came from the rubber and miscellaneous plastic products industries. Interestingly, the first hazard on the list was poison oak, one of nature's chemicals. But the next four occupational problems centered about man-made products.

THIS BRINGS us to the sixth most common hazard — primary infections, also a natural cause. Most infections were reported in teachers or laboratory workers. Brucellosis was an occupational hazard among packinghouse employes; certain soil fungal infections were seen in construction workers and government personnel.

Heat as a hazard usually involved outdoor workers and chlorine-caused illnesses were reported in 442 swimming pool servicemen, truck drivers, and warehousemen.

WE HEAR so much about the dangers of herbicides, fertilizers and organic phosphate pesticides, yet these poisons were 15th, 18th, and 22nd on the list, respectively. Actually, physical exertion (157 reports), and shrubs, plants, and trees (144) were less of an occupational health hazard than fertilizers (162), and a little more than pesticides (138).

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

GROWLING STOMACH

J. M. writes: What would cause a person's stomach to growl a lot?

REPLY

Growling sounds occur when the stomach is churning or food is being propelled within the intestine. There is no harm in this, altho some people are better growlers than others. The stomach may rumble more when empty than full.

EYE TWITCHES

Miss E..T. writes: If I get nervous or tired, I develop a twitch alongside my right eye. Can anything be done for this?

REPLY

Since you know the cause, you know what to do: Get more rest and use fewer stimulants, such as coffee, tea, or tobacco. A twitch is a small price to pay for getting upset or tired on occasion.

'MISSED' PERIOD

N.C. writes: Is a missed period always a sign of pregnancy?

REPLY

No, but it is the most common cause in married women between the ages of 18 and 45. Thereafter, amenorrhea may be a sign of the menopause or of a pelvic disorder.

Train Waste Bill Is Killed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —A bill prohibiting trains from dumping human waste along the railroad tracks was killed Wednesday by a legislative committee.

The Ways and Means Committee spiked the measure on a split voice vote after a lobbyist for the railroads said dumping human waste along the tracks creates no health problem.

Sponsoring Assemblyman Alan Sieroty said the dumping constitutes a "serious health hazard" and charged the railroads with polluting the state for the past 100 years.

"All I'm trying to do is get the railroads to put in sealed toilets or other devices to prevent wastes going directly on the ground," he said.

Rowan Keeps His Humor In Sea Saga

HONOLULU (UPI) — Comedian Dan Rowan and two companions arrived at the island of Maui Wednesday night after a three-week voyage from Los Angeles in a battered 27-foot sloop.

Rowan, weary from battling heavy seas, said, "It got pretty hairy out there. The waves were 30-feet high some of the time and we encountered too many squalls to count and a major gale."

Rowan, along with crewmen Phil Strangeland and George Millar, sighted land shortly after 5 p.m. Wednesday. The straight man of the comedy team of Rowan and Martin did most of the navigating.

"It wasn't easy the last three days," he explained. "The sky was overcast and we couldn't use the stars for navigation or shoot the sun with a sextant."

The performer said the voyage was endangered by a broken mainmast during a storm and further hampered when batteries which operated running lights malfunctioned.

"We were sailing in pitch black at night," he said. "We saved what batteries we could to light the compass at night.

"We'd have been dead otherwise."

The small vessel left Los Angeles Marina del Rey April 1 without a radio transmitter, power generator or auxiliary engines.

Dick Martin, Rowan's partner in "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" television show, bought an expensive life insurance policy on his adventurous friend.

"I'm tired," Rowan said. "I wouldn't want to make the same trip again in a boat that size. But I'm happy Dick didn't have to collect on that insurance policy."

Brewery Joins In The Spirit Of 'Earth Week'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—As part of its observance of Earth Day, a West Coast brewery announced conversion of its fleet of gasoline powered cars and trucks to low-smog propane.

Lucky Breweries, Inc., Wednesday demonstrated the new propane systems on 30 vehicles and president Peter Widdrington said all its other gasoline vehicles would be converted as soon as possible.

Widdrington said that the conversion cost of about $425 per vehicle can be recovered in three years through reduced operating costs.

FEDERAL WATCHDOG

Have An Airliner Gripe? Then Write

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A woman in Utah wrote to ask that the airlines put seat belts in restrooms on their planes.

A man complained that Trans World Airlines had hot dogs on the menu but had never served any on his flights. "Could you make sure there are hot dogs on my next flight?" he asked.

Another passenger said he paid for four soft drinks aboard an airliner but never got them and wanted his $1.50 back.

The man fielding these complaints—and 2,500 others since January—is Jack Yohe, head of the Civil Aeronautics Board's (CAB) new Office of Consumer Affairs.

A direct result of growing pressure on the CAB from consumers, Yohe's job was set up to meet complaints from passengers who feel they are getting short changed by the airlines.

Yohe's office is the second consumer-oriented step taken by CAB Chairman Secor D. Browne. Last year a Consumer Advisory Committee to the board was set up, Browne named Reuben B. Robertson, an associate of Ralph Nader, to head the group.

But while the consumer advocates are more visible in the agency—whose job it is to regulate the airline industry—they do not necessarily have much more clout. The members of the Consumer Advisory Committee are not paid, and Yohe runs his office of 10 persons on a budget of $123,000, which includes salaries.

Yohe says his main weapon is the telephone.

For the airline passenger with a legitimate complaint, Yohe says he "tries to telephone the top man at the airline." He estimates he has helped settle $200,000 worth of claims by airline passengers since January.

The biggest complaint from airline passengers? As ever, lost baggage.

Robertson estimates that more than 200,000 airline passengers had their baggage lost, stolen or damaged last year. Yet, he says, the CAB still does not require a systematic reporting by the airlines of baggage complaints.

The airlines concede that lost baggage is the major complaint of passengers, unless it is overbooking of flights.

Yohe says his direct-action method is the best way to handle consumer complaints.

"A phone call from me got Eastern to send a $1.50 check to the man with the complaint about the soft drinks, and another phone call settled a $20,000 claim by a shipper against an airline," he says.

He did not say what the airlines were doing if anything, about the lady's suggestion for seat belts in the toilets.

The Norms Of 1971 Student

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Tests given 100 students at San Jose State College indicate 1971 freshmen do not meet the norms of a similar group of 1958.

The authors of the paper presented at the Western Psychological Association convention said their results involved too few students to be conclusive.

But authors Robert L. Wall and Walter T. Plant added that other experiments are being conducted in the country and are producing similar results.

About 75 per cent of the women tested in 1971 were below average on test standards for self control, intellectual efficiency and a sense of responsibility. In 1958, 50 per cent were below the norms.

However, for 1971 men, the researchers found that about 75 per cent bettered the 1958 average for "achievement via independence."

Students, chosen at random, were tested by the Standard California Psychological Inventory.

Pot Luck Planned By Alto-Sutton Manor District

The Alto-Sutton Manor District Association board has set plans for a neighborhood pot luck picnic in Mill Valley's Boyle Park at 2 p.m. June 5.

Publicity Chairman Sara S. Ruffner said no formal program is planned, although neighborhood musicians will be invited.

The board also named Director Virginia Gearhart on Wednesday to a committee studying preservation of open space in Mill Valley, Larkspur and CORTE Madera. Mrs. Ruffner said the association will ask that the Alto Bowl's 147 acres be included in a proposed greenbelt.

The association set its next meeting for May 19 at 8 p.m. at 25 Lomita Drive.

Rowan Keeps His Humor In Sea Saga

HONOLULU (UPI) — Comedian Dan Rowan and two companions arrived at the island of Maui Wednesday night after a three-week voyage from Los Angeles in a battered 27-foot sloop.

Rowan, weary from battling heavy seas, said, "It got pretty hairy out there. The waves were 30-feet high some of the time and we encountered too many squalls to count and a major gale."

Rowan, along with crewmen Phil Strangeland and George Millar, sighted land shortly after 5 p.m. Wednesday. The straight man of the comedy team of Rowan and Martin did most of the navigating.

"It wasn't easy the last three days," he explained. "The sky was overcast and we couldn't use the stars for navigation or shoot the sun with a sextant."

The performer said the voyage was endangered by a broken mainmast during a storm and further hampered when batteries which operated running lights malfunctioned.

"We were sailing in pitch black at night," he said. "We saved what batteries we could to light the compass at night. "We'd have been dead otherwise."

The small vessel left Los Angeles Marina del Rey April 1 without a radio transmitter, power generator or auxiliary engines.

Dick Martin, Rowan's partner in "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" television show, bought an expensive life insurance policy on his adventurous friend.

"I'm tired," Rowan said. "I wouldn't want to make the same trip again in a boat that size. But I'm happy Dick didn't have to collect on that insurance policy."

Brewery Joins In The Spirit Of 'Earth Week'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—As part of its observance of Earth Day, a West Coast brewery announced conversion of its fleet of gasoline powered cars and trucks to low-smog propane.

Lucky Breweries, Inc., Wednesday demonstrated the new propane systems on 30 vehicles and president Peter Widdrington said all its other gasoline vehicles would be converted as soon as possible.

Widdrington said that the conversion cost of about $425 per vehicle can be recovered in three years through reduced operating costs.

FEDERAL WATCHDOG

Have An Airliner Gripe? Then Write

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A woman in Utah wrote to ask that the airlines put seat belts in restrooms on their planes.

A man complained that Trans World Airlines had hot dogs on the menu but had never served any on his flights. "Could you make sure there are hot dogs on my next flight?" he asked.

Another passenger said he paid for four soft drinks aboard an airliner but never got them and wanted his $1.50 back.

The man fielding these complaints—and 2,500 others since January—is Jack Yohe, head of the Civil Aeronautics Board's (CAB) new Office of Consumer Affairs.

A direct result of growing pressure on the CAB from consumers, Yohe's job was set up to meet complaints from passengers who feel they are getting short changed by the airlines.

Yohe's office is the second consumer-oriented step taken by CAB Chairman Secor D. Browne. Last year a Consumer Advisory Committee to the board was set up, Browne named Reuben B. Robertson, an associate of Ralph Nader, to head the group.

But while the consumer advocates are more visible in the agency—whose job it is to regulate the airline industry—they do not necessarily have much more clout. The members of the Consumer Advisory Committee are not paid, and Yohe runs his office of 10 persons on a budget of $123,000, which includes salaries.

Yohe says his main weapon is the telephone.

For the airline passenger with a legitimate complaint, Yohe says he "tries to telephone the top man at the airline." He estimates he has helped settle $200,000 worth of claims by airline passengers since January.

The biggest complaint from airline passengers? As ever, lost baggage.

Robertson estimates that more than 200,000 airline passengers had their baggage lost, stolen or damaged last year. Yet, he says, the CAB still does not require a systematic reporting by the airlines of baggage complaints.

The airlines concede that lost baggage is the major complaint of passengers, unless it is overbooking of flights.

Yohe says his direct-action method is the best way to handle consumer complaints.

"A phone call from me got Eastern to send a $1.50 check to the man with the complaint about the soft drinks, and another phone call settled a $20,000 claim by a shipper against an airline," he says.

He did not say what the airlines were doing if anything, about the lady's suggestion for seat belts in the toilets.

The Norms Of 1971 Student

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Tests given 100 students at San Jose State College indicate 1971 freshmen do not meet the norms of a similar group of 1958.

The authors of the paper presented at the Western Psychological Association convention said their results involved too few students to be conclusive.

But authors Robert L. Wall and Walter T. Plant added that other experiments are being conducted in the country and are producing similar results.

About 75 per cent of the women tested in 1971 were below average on test standards for self control, intellectual efficiency and a sense of responsibility. In 1958, 50 per cent were below the norms.

However, for 1971 men, the researchers found that about 75 per cent bettered the 1958 average for "achievement via independence."

Students, chosen at random, were tested by the Standard California Psychological Inventory.

Pot Luck Planned By Alto-Sutton Manor District

The Alto-Sutton Manor District Association board has set plans for a neighborhood pot luck picnic in Mill Valley's Boyle Park at 2 p.m. June 5.

Publicity Chairman Sara S. Ruffner said no formal program is planned, although neighborhood musicians will be invited.

The board also named Director Virginia Gearhart on Wednesday to a committee studying preservation of open space in Mill Valley, Larkspur and CORTE Madera. Mrs. Ruffner said the association will ask that the Alto Bowl's 147 acres be included in a proposed greenbelt.

The association set its next meeting for May 19 at 8 p.m. at 25 Lomita Drive.

Boating's Big Day On The S.F. Bay

"Bless 'em all, bless 'em all, bless the long and the short and the tall . . . "

That's what they'll be doing in Raccoon Strait Sunday for the spectacular opening of the 1971 yachting season on San Francisco Bay.

The Corinthian Yacht Club of Tiburon again will sponsor the traditional "Blessing of the Pleasure Craft" ceremony, an event unique in boating circles.

The Navy vessel U.S.S. Badger will serve as ship for members of the Catholic, Jewish and Protestant faiths to bestow blessings on the pleasure craft that will pass through Raccoon Strait en route to the opening day parade that will start at the Golden Gate Bridge. The blessing ceremonies will start at 9:30 a.m. and, for one of the most spectacular sights of the year, I recommend you take your family for a ride to the many vantage points around the bay.

Skippers whose boats are blessed are reminded to send their names, addresses and boat names to the Corinthian Y.C. to receive a commemorative scroll.

MARIN COUNTY Special Olympics for mentally retarded persons aged 8 and over will be held tomorrow, starting at 9 a.m., at San Rafael High School's athletic field. Events in track and field and swimming will continue throughout the day and you should drop in to remind yourselves that "There for the grace of God go I."

The event is co-sponsored by the Marin Aid to Retarded Children, Cedar's Development Foundation of Ross and the Easter Seal Society Recreation for the Handicapped. Colorful opening ceremonies at 9 a.m. will include the lighting of the Special Olympic Torch, performances by the Hamilton Air Force Base Color Guard, Prince Charles Junior Pipe Band, Redwood High School band, San Rafael Military Academy drill team and remarks by Larkspur Mayor Benton A. Sifford and former Olympic gold medalist Achie Williams of Drake High School.

It's an Olympic meet with a heart.

FOUR MARIN runners joined 21 other Northern California harriers on a trek to Boston to compete in this week's Boston Marathon that was won by Elvaro Mejia of the West Valley Track Club.

The Marin contingent included Byron Lowry and Don Pickett of Tiburon, Ray Menzie of Mill Valley and Frank Vucoi of Corte Madera. Lowry was the fastest localite, finishing the 26-mile, 385-yard run in 2 hours, 23 minutes, 20 seconds for a fifth place.

MOTORSPORTS BUFFS will be happy to know that the Drake Scholarship Foundation's sixth annual Northern California Car Show will draw more than 100 antiques, sports cars, hot rods and motorcycles on Sunday, May 9, at Drake High School.

Show director Mike Convis says vehicles from 50 different cities will be displayed and they will include "The best display of motorcycles we've ever had."

THAT's WHAT I like — Confidence with a capital C.

George Burton, president of the San Rafael Little League, says "1971 will find a Little League team from San Rafael in the World Series at Williamsport, Pa."

Burton made his bold prediction while discussing tomorrow's opening ceremonies of the league that will include a pancake breakfast (8-10 a.m.) at the First Presbyterian Church, followed by a parade through town of some 400 young glovers, followed by "Play Ball," 12 noon at Albert Park.

At the breakfast I hope they use Aunt Jemima because, as I keep reminding you, she's the best batter.

Also, Jim Allen reports that the Tiburon Peninsula Little League will get under way tomorrow with a triple-header starting at 10:30 a.m. Opening day ceremonies will begin at 9:15 a.m.

Mayors of Tiburon and Belvedere will pitch in opening ceremonies. Boy Scouts will provide the colorful color guard.

Nicklaus, Barber Share Champs Lead

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (UPI)—The weather was just about perfect for golf—bright sunshine with a temperature in the mid-60s and hardly a breath of wind.

So in the first round of the MONY Tournament of Champions Thursday only eight of the elite field of 35 pros broke par 36-36—72 at La Costa Country Club.

Two of the strongest players on the pro tour, Jack Nicklaus and Miller Barber, shared the first round lead at three-under 69 and they too had their troubles with the high grass in the rough.

Nicklaus said the rough was 8 to 12 inches high at some points. He was wild from the tee and in the rough on almost every hole but managed to recover well and was five under par after 14 holes. Then he took bogeys on the 15th and 16th holes, birdied No. 17 and took another bogey on Nb. 18.

Twenty-two players in the first round bogeyed No. 18, a par four, 428-yard monster with a narrow fairway. U.S. Open champion Tony Jacklin had a double bogey on the hole. He shot 39-38—77.

On 16, a par-four-442 yarder, there were 14 bogeys and one double bogey. Gene Littler, who shot 35-37—72, had the double.

Gary Player, the 1969 T of C champion, was the only pro to birdie No. 16. He was on in two and sank a 14-foot putt for his three.

Player had 34-36—70, with defending champion Frank Beard, 36-34, and George Knudson, 35-35.

Arnold Palmer, another strong man able to whip a ball out of the rough, shot 34-37—71 with Dave Stockton, 35-36, and Bobby Nichols, 37-34.

Harvey Retires For The Season

OAKLAND (UPI) —Harvey the Mechanical Rabbit who pops out of the ground and feeds new baseballs to umpires at home games of the Oakland A's has retired for the season.

He broke down just prior to opening day and A's officials said Thursday he won't be replaced this year.

Ali-Wilt Fight Is Off

HOUSTON (UPI) — Wilt Chamberlain's chances of becoming a pro fighter depend on his ability to negotiate a half-million dollar contract with officials of the Astrodome.

The officials were ready Thursday to announce a 12-round fight between the 7-2, 275-pound basketball star and the 6-2, 215-pound Muhammad Ali, the former heavyweight champion, in the Astrodome July 26. The fighters agreed to terms in February.

Ali, 29, also known as Cassius Clay, was to receive $1 million or 45 per cent of the revenue, whichever was larger, and Chamberlain, almost 35, was to receive $500,000 or 25 per cent of the receipts.

A few minutes before the 3 p.m. news conference and signing ceremony was to start in the plush Astrodome Club, Chamberlain's accountant arrived by helicopter on the Astrodome parking lot and advised Chamberlain not to sign unless the $500,000 was tax free.

The surprised promoters, the same ones who lost the Ali-Joe Frazier fight to a last minute $5 million bid backed by Jack Kent Cooke of Los Angeles, wouldn't agree to new demands. Ali was guaranteed only $400,000 tax free because the government will take 60 per cent of his purse in income tax.

After keeping reporters, some from as far away as New York, waiting 75 minutes, Jack O'Connell of the Astrodome announced the postponement of the signing. O'Connell, president of Astrodome Championship Enterprises, Inc., the fight promoters for the Astrodome, said there was a 50-50 chance the fight would still be held.

Top Prep Athletes Honored

Sixteen of Marin County's outstanding high school senior athletes were honored last night at the annual Radio KTIM Sportsmen's Club awards banquet at Sabella's Restaurant, Mill Valley.

Selected by the athletic departments of the eight Marin County Athletic League schools, the honorees were treated to amusing talks by two executives of the San Francisco Giants — Walter Mails of the Speakers' bureau and Jeff Carter, the public address announcer at Candlestick Park. KTIM sports director Bob Dinsmore served as master of ceremonies.

Approximately 90 persons, including many school superintendents, principals, athletic directors and coaches, turned out to honor the following athletes:

Redwood High School — Scott Trobbe and Brian Hennessey; Marin Catholic — Mark Lewis and William Donnellan; San Rafael — Larry Hanson and Douglas Puskar; Terra Linda — Larry Kerr and Bill LaHaye; Drake — Damian Casalnuovo and Steven Hale; Tamalpais — Bill Rudolph and Billy Washington; Novato — John Kidder and David Judnick; San Marin — James Thompson and Jack Burnam.

Marin Falls To Canada Nine, 8-2

In a game that should be neither noted nor long remembered, the College of Marin Tars got bombed by Canada J.C. of Redwood City yesterday, 8-2 at Kentfield.

The loss was the second straight for the Tars, the Camino Norte Conference's third place team. The game was close for three innings, but then Canada erupted to run rampant through three Marin pitchers. All told, the visitors collected 17 hits, scoring three runs each in the fourth and seventh innings.

Ken Roberson supplied the day's longest hit, a home run that accounted for all the runs in the seventh. He also banged a triple.

First Time Ever

College of Marin's track and field team closed out its 1971 dual meet season on a shining note yesterday, defeating Santa Rosa J.C. for the first time ever.

With eight men giving their lifetime best performances, the Tars prevailed over the Bear Cubs, 75-61, in Kentfield.

Ace middle distance man Ted Cain figured in four first place finishes, including a school record in the 440 intermediate hurdles, as Marin evened its season record at 4-4. Cain's record time was 54.7. He also won the 440 in 50.8, and anchored winning efforts in the 440 and mile relays.

The key races in the meet were the mile and two-mile runs, and the Tars swept both. At the shorter distance, Seamus O'Reilly broke the tape at 4:27.0, and Steve Silvey came home breathing down his neck at 4:27.5.

The two-mile was even closer, as Phil Russell won, just a 10th of a second ahead of O'Reilly. The winning time was 9:44.4.

Other first place winners for Marin included Todd Norris in the 880 at 1:59.2; Dick Tierney, 220, 22.1; Gary Wall, high jump, 5-10, and Tom McGrath, pole vault, 13 feet. Tierney, Gary Agee and John Lobdell joined Cain to win the 440 relay, and Tom Estudillo teamed with Agree, Norris and Cain in the mile relay.

A's At Home, Giants In Pittsburgh

Athletics Sweep Angels Series; Now Host Tigers

ANAHEIM (UPI)—Before the season California Angels manager Lefty Phillips said Oakland was the team to beat in the American League's Western division and he sees no reason to change his opinion now that his club dropped three straight to the Athletics.

The A's got a powerful pitching performance from Vida Blue in scoring their 7-3 victory over the Angels Thursday night before heading home with a record of 10 wins in 11 road games.

Meanwhile, the Angels must face the Eastern division leaders, the Baltimore Orioles, starting tonight and California was given added incentive for that series before the final Oakland game.

With the Orioles arriving prior to Thursday's game, Baltimore coach Billy Hunter invaded the Angels dressing room, began cuffing the Angel hurlers and in turn was backhanded across the mouth by California pitcher Andy Messersmith, according to eyewitnesses.

Angels general manager Dick Walsh called Hunter "a disgrace" and said he could lodge a complaint with the league office or the Baltimore management but would not do so.

Whether the clubhouse incident unsettled Messersmith or not, he lasted only 4 2-3 innings and proved no match for Blue, who recorded his fourth win against one loss, the first American League hurler with four wins.

The A's took advantage of Messersmith's letdown in the fifth when they scored five runs and from then on all Blue had to do was coast home. For the first five innings Blue allowed but two hits and he gave up three more after that while striking out nine.

The Athletics open a three-game series at home tonight against Detroit. For the Angels, Clyde Wright, 2-2, opposes Dave McNally, 2-0.

Harvin Wins Bicycle Race

Joe Harvin edged out five other riders in a sprint finish yesterday to win the third event of the All-Marin high schools bicycle race series, a 10 and one-half mile race from Nicasio Reservoir to San Marin High School in Novato.

Harvin, a student of Tamalpais High, took the Amateur Bicycle League of America Class in 25 minutes, 42 seconds, the same time recorded for second place Mark Pizzaro of Marin Catholic. Harvin's win helped cement the Mill Valley school's grip on the team lead for the series. Tam has 63 points, followed by San Rafael with 35 points, and Redwood with 34.

Francoise Durr Is Upset Victim

SAN DIEGO (UPI) —Tory Fretz of Los Angeles upset third-seeded Francoise Durr of France 6-2, 1-6, 7-5 in the opening round of the San Diego Women's Open pro tennis tournament Thursday night.

Top-seeded Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., was a 6-1, 7-5 winner over Janet Newberry of La Jolla, Calif., and second-seeded Rosemary Casals of San Francisco beat Judy Tegart Dalton of Australia 6-2, 6-4.

S.F. Rookie Stone Faces Powerful Stargell Tonight

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Rookie righthander Steve Stone of the San Francisco Giants may need more than a fastball and a prayer tonight against Willie Stargell.

Manager Charlie Fox of the Giants tabbed Stone to open the nine-game road trip against the Pirates who are battling St.Louis for the lead in the National League East..

Stargell, right now baseball's hottest hitter, is gunning for the major league home run record for the first month of the season. He belted his 10th against Atlanta Thursday to tie him with Cincinnati's Tony Perez and Baltimore's Frank Robinson for most homers in April.

A lefthanded batter, Stargell will be facing the righthanded slants of Stone who has started three games for the Giants but has yet to notch his first big-league decision.

Lefty Luke Walker (1-1) will throw tonight against the Giants who lead the NL West with a 12-4 record. It is the first meeting of the season between the two NL powerhouses.

San Francisco won't be at full strength due to injuries to pitcher Frank Reberger and outfielder Bobby Bonds. First baseman Willie McCovey will open at first base despite a sore knee that still bothers him.

After Pittsburgh, the Giants tackle Atlanta and Cincinnati before returning home May 3.

Wiechers Leads Tallahassee Golf

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) —The skies were clear over the Killearn Country Club Thursday morning and the scores were low—but in the afternoon the rains came and the first round of the $60,000 Tallahassee Open Golf Tournament was called to a halt.

Jim Wiechers tied the course record with an eight under par 64 in the morning hours. Other early finishers tied in a four-way battle for second place with 66s were Bert Yancey, Bob Dickson, Gay Brewer, and Randy Wolff, the last two finishing up in the early afternoon before the rains came.

But the rains later delayed play twice on the rolling 7,124-yard course, and at 6:15 p.m. play was called with 24 golfers still on the links. They will resume their play today.

Ali-Wilt Fight Is Off

HOUSTON (UPI) — Wilt Chamberlain's chances of becoming a pro fighter depend on his ability to negotiate a half-million dollar contract with officials of the Astrodome.

The officials were ready Thursday to announce a 12-round fight between the 7-2, 275-pound basketball star and the 6-2, 215-pound Muhammad Ali, the former heavyweight champion, in the Astrodome July 26. The fighters agreed to terms in February.

Ali, 29, also known as Cassius Clay, was to receive $1 million or 45 per cent of the revenue, whichever was larger, and Chamberlain, almost 35, was to receive $500,000 or 25 per cent of the receipts.

A few minutes before the 3 p.m. news conference and signing ceremony was to start in the plush Astrodome Club, Chamberlain's accountant arrived by helicopter on the Astrodome parking lot and advised Chamberlain not to sign unless the $500,000 was tax free.

The surprised promoters, the same ones who lost the Ali-Joe Frazier fight to a last minute $5 million bid backed by Jack Kent Cooke of Los Angeles, wouldn't agree to new demands. Ali was guaranteed only $400,000 tax free because the government will take 60 per cent of his purse in income tax.

After keeping reporters, some from as far away as New York, waiting 75 minutes, Jack O'Connell of the Astrodome announced the postponement of the signing. O'Connell, president of Astrodome Championship Enterprises, Inc., the fight promoters for the Astrodome, said there was a 50-50 chance the fight would still be held.

ANAHEIM (UPI)—Before the season California Angels manager Lefty Phillips said Oakland was the team to beat in the American League's Western division and he sees no reason to change his opinion now that his club dropped three straight to the Athletics.

The A's got a powerful pitching performance from Vida Blue in scoring their 7-3 victory over the Angels Thursday night before heading home with a record of 10 wins in 11 road games.

Meanwhile, the Angels must face the Eastern division leaders, the Baltimore Orioles, starting tonight and California was given added incentive for that series before the final Oakland game.

With the Orioles arriving prior to Thursday's game, Baltimore coach Billy Hunter invaded the Angels dressing room, began cuffing the Angel hurlers and in turn was backhanded across the mouth by California pitcher Andy Messersmith, according to eyewitnesses.

Angels general manager Dick Walsh called Hunter "a disgrace" and said he could lodge a complaint with the league office or the Baltimore management but would not do so.

Whether the clubhouse incident unsettled Messersmith or not, he lasted only 4 2-3 innings and proved no match for Blue, who recorded his fourth win against one loss, the first American League hurler with four wins.

The A's took advantage of Messersmith's letdown in the fifth when they scored five runs and from then on all Blue had to do was coast home. For the first five innings Blue allowed but two hits and he gave up three more after that while striking out nine.

The Athletics open a three-game series at home tonight against Detroit. For the Angels, Clyde Wright, 2-2, opposes Dave McNally, 2-0.

Harvin Wins Bicycle Race

Joe Harvin edged out five other riders in a sprint finish yesterday to win the third event of the All-Marin high schools bicycle race series, a 10 and one-half mile race from Nicasio Reservoir to San Marin High School in Novato.

Harvin, a student of Tamalpais High, took the Amateur Bicycle League of America Class in 25 minutes, 42 seconds, the same time recorded for second place Mark Pizzaro of Marin Catholic. Harvin's win helped cement the Mill Valley school's grip on the team lead for the series. Tam has 63 points, followed by San Rafael with 35 points, and Redwood with 34.

Francoise Durr Is Upset Victim

SAN DIEGO (UPI) —Tory Fretz of Los Angeles upset third-seeded Francoise Durr of France 6-2, 1-6, 7-5 in the opening round of the San Diego Women's Open pro tennis tournament Thursday night.

Top-seeded Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., was a 6-1, 7-5 winner over Janet Newberry of La Jolla, Calif., and second-seeded Rosemary Casals of San Francisco beat Judy Tegart Dalton of Australia 6-2, 6-4.

S.F. Rookie Stone Faces Powerful Stargell Tonight

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Rookie righthander Steve Stone of the San Francisco Giants may need more than a fastball and a prayer tonight against Willie Stargell.

Manager Charlie Fox of the Giants tabbed Stone to open the nine-game road trip against the Pirates who are battling St.Louis for the lead in the National League East.

Stargell, right now baseball's hottest hitter, is gunning for the major league home run record for the first month of the season. He belted his 10th against Atlanta Thursday to tie him with Cincinnati's Tony Perez and Baltimore's Frank Robinson for most homers in April.

A lefthanded batter, Stargell will be facing the righthanded slants of Stone who has started three games for the Giants but has yet to notch his first big-league decision.

Lefty Luke Walker (1-1) will throw tonight against the Giants who lead the NL West with a 12-4 record. It is the first meeting of the season between the two NL powerhouses.

San Francisco won't be at full strength due to injuries to pitcher Frank Reberger and outfielder Bobby Bonds. First baseman Willie McCovey will open at first base despite a sore knee that still bothers him.

After Pittsburgh, the Giants tackle Atlanta and Cincinnati before returning home May 3.

Wiechers Leads Tallahassee Golf

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) —The skies were clear over the Killearn Country Club Thursday morning and the scores were low—but in the afternoon the rains came and the first round of the $60,000 Tallahassee Open Golf Tournament was called to a halt.

Jim Wiechers tied the course record with an eight under par 64 in the morning hours. Other early finishers tied in a four-way battle for second place with 66s were Bert Yancey, Bob Dickson, Gay Brewer, and Randy Wolff, the last two finishing up in the early afternoon before the rains came.

But the rains later delayed play twice on the rolling 7,124-yard course, and at 6:15 p.m. play was called with 24 golfers still on the links. They will resume their play today.

Nicklaus, Barber Share Champs Lead

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (UPI)—The weather was just about perfect for golf—bright sunshine with a temperature in the mid-60s and hardly a breath of wind.

So in the first round of the MONY Tournament of Champions Thursday only eight of the elite field of 35 pros broke par 36-36—72 at La Costa Country Club.

Two of the strongest players on the pro tour, Jack Nicklaus and Miller Barber, shared the first round lead at three-under 69 and they too had their troubles with the high grass in the rough.

Nicklaus said the rough was 8 to 12 inches high at some points. He was wild from the tee and in the rough on almost every hole but managed to recover well and was five under par after 14 holes. Then he took bogeys on the 15th and 16th holes, birdied No. 17 and took another bogey on No. 18.

Twenty-two players in the first round bogeyed No. 18, a par four, 428-yard monster with a narrow fairway. U.S. Open champion Tony Jacklin had a double bogey on the hole. He shot 39-38—77.

On 16, a par-four-442 yarder, there were 14 bogeys and one double bogey. Gene Littler, who shot 35-37—72, had the double.

Gary Player, the 1969 T of C champion, was the only pro to birdie No. 16. He was on in two and sank a 14-foot putt for his three.

Player had 34-36—70, with defending champion Frank Beard, 36-34, and George Knudson, 35-35.

Arnold Palmer, another strong man able to whip a ball out of the rough, shot 34-37—71 with Dave Stockton, 35-36, and Bobby Nichols, 37-34.

Harvey Retires For The Season

OAKLAND (UPI) —Harvey the Mechanical Rabbit who pops out of the ground and feeds new baseballs to umpires at home games of the Oakland A's has retired for the season.

He broke down just prior to opening day and A's officials said Thursday he won't be replaced this year.

Marin Falls To Canada Nine, 8-2

In a game that should be neither noted nor long remembered, the College of Marin Tars got bombed by Canada J.C. of Redwood City yesterday, 8-2 at Kentfield.

The loss was the second straight for the Tars, the Camino Norte Conference's third place team. The game was close for three innings, but then Canada erupted to run rampant through three Marin pitchers. All told, the visitors collected 17 hits, scoring three runs each in the fourth and seventh innings.

Ken Roberson supplied the day's longest hit, a home run that accounted for all the runs in the seventh. He also banged a triple.

Marin Reservoirs Get Some Trout

By AL GIDDINGS

Trout plants during this week were scheduled for Bon Tempe, Lagunitas, and Phoenix reservoirs, and also Rodeo Lagoon. These reservoirs are now open and have a five-fish trout limit per day on them.

On May 1, the streams of Marin County, except for Devil's Gulch Creek in Taylor park, plus the streams generally throughout the state will be opened. Most of the lakes and reservoirs throughout the state are now open as far as the law is concerned, but because of snow, high altitudes, muddy and unusable roads, the actual availability of reaching and fishing these lakes is just beginning to arrive.

The road into Davis Lake near Portola, for instance, is just opening for travel, but new snows could bring this to a sliding halt! Other lakes now being fished with good results are Eagle Lake, Frenchmen's Reservoir, Shasta Lake, Siskiyou Lake,Trinity Lake, and Almanor. I usually make it to Webber Lake about May 1. Before that, the roads are too sloshy for most vehicle traffic, and much of the lake is still solidly covered with ice.

I have been trying to put together a trip to Lake Tahoe; it is just about the time for the big mackinaws to start hitting. They say you have to fish 200 feet deep with monel line and troll minnows native to the lake. If it is done properly, limits are supposed to be a cinch. Most of the fishing in the above listed lakes is by the bait method.

The last time I fished Davis Lake, everyone used either spinning or casting gear from shore with salmon eggs, and took easy limits. Boats are legal and in most of these lakes. Trolling lures of all types or using flies can also pay off.

Fishing with bait in clear water requires the use of very light leaders, usually two-pound test or less. In French Lake a few years ago, the only fish taken were by those anglers using one-half pound test tippets! (A tippet is a 44-inch length of leader material usually specially ordered.) Small hooks (I like No. 10s, gold, with the turned in eye) well-covered by the bait can also be most important.

Even in the Marin lakes, it is surprising how much more efficiently light leaders and small hooks catch fish. I received a letter from Rudy Gabbani of Fairfax who wants to push for legislation to make it possible to buy salmon eggs with food stamps! He goes on to say that a jar of salmon eggs now costs almost more than a fifth of good bourbon, and when they do, he "might just give up fishing!"

Striped bass fishing should be picking up with the smaller bass starting to come down from the Delta. These fish should be in the flats and in the areas of the Brothers Islands and the Richmond Bridge, where trolling jigs and spoons can really pay off.

Salmon fishing will probably continue to be good except for the spring northwest winds so prevailing at this time of the year.

Abalone and clam tides starting April 25 (Sunday) at 6:24 a.m. tide-book time continue through the week with lows of -1.5 tides on Monday and Tuesday. Mussels are still edible too. There is now a 25-pound limit on mussels in the shell. And fishing or pokepoling for eels and rockfish is reaching the peak season.

Rockfishing from the rockfish party boats out of Sausalito can be a very rewarding experience. You will see fish caught and lots of them. It's worth going!

A report on the licensed fur trappers of California has been recently released. In the 1969-70 season, 664 trapping licenses were sold. Revenue received by trappers from the sale of furs in the 1969-70 season amounted to $75,835. Muskrats were first on the list both in number of pelts taken and revenue received. Some 51,525 muskrats represent 90 per cent of the total fur catch of the season's 57,252 animals. Average price for a muskrat pelt was 97 cents. Other furbearers taken include 38 badgers, 1,301 beavers, 588 bobcats, 799 coyotes, 363 foxes, 708 mink, 178 opossum, 1,174 raccoons, 467 striped skunks, and 111 spotted skunks. Bobcat pelts were worth $10.58 as the highest priced pelt with beaver pelts bringing $8.71 per pelt. There were no licensed trappers in Marin or Sonoma counties. San Diego county with 177, Modoc county with 72, and Lassen county with 52, reported the most bobcats taken. Riverside County with 154, and Shasta County with 114, reported the most coyotes. Please note: there were no wolves taken. There are no wolves in California!

Carlton Gives Up On Sliders

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Steve Carlton has figured out his pitching problem. It was simply a case of too many pitches in his repertoire.

The 26-year-old lefthander of the St. Louis Cardinals, who lost 19 games last season after winning 17 the year before, gave up six hits Thursday night for his fourth consecutive victory as he pitched the Cardinals to a 5-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

It was Carlton's third complete game performance, and he claims the reason for his good start is that he's stopped using the slider entirely and he's throwing mostly fastballs.

"I'm throwing a lot more fastballs this year. Last year I'd hang a curve or a slider and one inning would beat me. I threw too many breaking balls. When you keep losing, you lose confidence. I've discarded the slider. It's a different year. I forgot about last year."

In the only other National League games Thursday, Pittsburgh beat Atlanta,7-4, and Houston defeated Chicago, 6-1. The White Sox topped Milwaukee, 4-2, and Oakland whipped California, 7-3, in American League games.

Carlton, who did not win his fourth game until June 21 last year, walked two and struck out five in besting Jim Bunning. All the Phillies' hits were singles and three of those came in the ninth inning. Joe Torre singled home what proved to be the winning run for St. Louis in the fifth.

Willie Stargell continued his assault on Atlanta pitching by cracking his 10th homer as the Pirates defeated the Braves. Stargell's homer was his eighth in six games against the Braves, and it tied him with Cincinnati's Tony Perez and Baltimore's Frank Robinson for most home runs during the month of April. Earl Williams hit his fourth homer for the Braves.

Indiana Stays Alive In Playoffs

By United Press International

Indiana, teetering on the brink of elimination, found a little balance to keep its hopes alive in the American Basketball Association Playoffs.

Indiana defeated Utah 127-109 Thursday night to stave off elimination at least until the western title series moves to Salt Lake City on Saturday night. Utah leads the best-of-seven series 3-2.

The Pacers came back from two straight losses with a balanced attack that had four players scoring more than 20 points. Bob Netolicky led Indiana with 29 points, Mel Daniels had 27 and 26 rebounds, Roger Brown had 23 points and Billy Keller 22.

The game was close until the Pacers broke it open in the second period by outscoring Utah 39-19 for a 67-49 halftime lead. At the end of the third period, Indiana led 93-75, and Utah never got closer than 14 points.

In ABA action tonight the Kentucky Colonels meet the Squires at Virginia. The eastern title series between the two teams is tied 2-2.

Brewers Get Briggs From Philadelphia

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The Milwaukee Brewers acquired outfielder Johnny Briggs from the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday in exchange for rookie Pete Koegel and minor league pitcher Ray Peters.

Briggs batted .270 with nine homers and 47 runs batted in last season, but was hitting .182 this season. He has a .252 lifetime average.

Stanley Cup: North Stars Break Spell

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Now that the big, bad Boston Bruins are a surprise casualty of the Stanley Cup playoffs, the four remaining survivors are leading with their best shots in what has become a wide-open scramble for the ancient trophy.

The Minnesota North Stars, the longest shots of all among the semifinalists, accomplished what no other expansion team ever did before against the establishment, ripping the Montreal Canadiens, 6-3, Thursday night, and the New York Rangers, seeking their first championship in 31 years, turned back the Chicago Black Hawks, 4-1.

Minnesota's victory, evening that best-of-seven series at one game each, was the first ever by an expansion club in post-season play against one of the six older teams, snapping a string of 17 consecutive losses. St. Louis lost eight games in a row to Montreal in the 1968 and 1969 finals and four more to Boston in last year's final, Philadelphia was beaten in four straight by Chicago in this year's quarter-finals and the North Stars lost their first game to Montreal.

The Rangers, meanwhile, used Vic Hadfield's first-ever playoff hat trick to take a 2-1 edge over Chicago with the fourth game also scheduled for New York Sunday afternoon. That game will be televised nationally by CBS.

The North Stars-Canadiens series shifts to Minnesota for the next two games on Saturday and Sunday nights, giving the Stars a chance to take a commanding lead in that set and go on to what would be probably the most stunning upset in Stanley Cup history.

League's Four Top Teams Breeze In Track And Field

All four Marin County Athletic League track and field meets went as expected yesterday as the league's top teams breezed by lesser opponents. Undefeated Tamalpais walloped Marin Catholic, 90-45, San Rafael took San Marin, 96-40, Redwood downed Novato, 93-43 and Terra Linda smashed Drake, 81-39.

Once again, Tam was led by Gerald Robertson, who won his usual three events. Still plagued by a sore ankle, the MCAL record-holding high jumper captured that event at just 6 feet, while winning both hurdles events also.

San Rafael didn't need any double in the 96-40 rout of San Marin, but Mustang Chakra Chappell took wins in his middle distance specialties to pace the losers.

Sprinter Bob Breneman won the 100 and 220-yard dashes in the Redwood rout of Novato, while Tom Malvino took the high jump and long jump for another double for Redwood.

Terra Linda had two triple winners in the 81-39 romp over Drake. Ken Smith and Todd Young accounted for six of the Trojans' ten individual wins; Doug Davis took the 440 and 880 to nail down two more.

FISH AND GAME

Marin Reservoirs Get Some Trout

By AL GIDDINGS

Trout plants during this week were scheduled for Bon Tempe, Lagunitas, and Phoenix reservoirs, and also Rodeo Lagoon. These reservoirs are now open and have a five-fish trout limit per day on them.

On May 1, the streams of Marin County, except for Devil's Gulch Creek in Taylor park, plus the streams generally throughout the state will be opened. Most of the lakes and reservoirs throughout the state are now open as far as the law is concerned, but because of snow, high altitudes, muddy and unusable roads, the actual availability of reaching and fishing these lakes is just beginning to arrive.

The road into Davis Lake near Portola, for instance, is just opening for travel, but new snows could bring this to a sliding halt! Other lakes now being fished with good results are Eagle Lake, Frenchmen's Reservoir, Shasta Lake, Siskiyou Lake,Trinity Lake, and Almanor. I usually make it to Webber Lake about May 1. Before that, the roads are too sloshy for most vehicle traffic, and much of the lake is still solidly covered with ice.

I have been trying to put together a trip to Lake Tahoe; it is just about the time for the big mackinaws to start hitting. They say you have to fish 200 feet deep with monel line and troll minnows native to the lake. If it is done properly, limits are supposed to be a cinch. Most of the fishing in the above listed lakes is by the bait method.

The last time I fished Davis Lake, everyone used either spinning or casting gear from shore with salmon eggs, and took easy limits. Boats are legal and in most of these lakes. Trolling lures of all types or using flies can also pay off.

Fishing with bait in clear water requires the use of very light leaders, usually two-pound test or less. In French Lake a few years ago, the only fish taken were by those anglers using one-half pound test tippets! (A tippet is a 44-inch length of leader material usually specially ordered.) Small hooks (I like No. 10s, gold, with the turned in eye) well-covered by the bait can also be most important.

Even in the Marin lakes, it is surprising how much more efficiently light leaders and small hooks catch fish. I received a letter from Rudy Gabbani of Fairfax who wants to push for legislation to make it possible to buy salmon eggs with food stamps! He goes on to say that a jar of salmon eggs now costs almost more than a fifth of good bourbon, and when they do, he "might just give up fishing!"

Striped bass fishing should be picking up with the smaller bass starting to come down from the Delta. These fish should be in the flats and in the areas of the Brothers Islands and the Richmond Bridge, where trolling jigs and spoons can really pay off.

Salmon fishing will probably continue to be good except for the spring northwest winds so prevailing at this time of the year.

Abalone and clam tides starting April 25 (Sunday) at 6:24 a.m. tide-book time continue through the week with lows of -1.5 tides on Monday and Tuesday. Mussels are still edible too. There is now a 25-pound limit on mussels in the shell. And fishing or pokepoling for eels and rockfish is reaching the peak season.

Rockfishing from the rockfish party boats out of Sausalito can be a very rewarding experience. You will see fish caught and lots of them. It's worth going!

A report on the licensed fur trappers of California has been recently released. In the 1969-70 season, 664 trapping licenses were sold. Revenue received by trappers from the sale of furs in the 1969-70 season amounted to $75,835. Muskrats were first on the list both in number of pelts taken and revenue received. Some 51,525 muskrats represent 90 per cent of the total fur catch of the season's 57,252 animals. Average price for a muskrat pelt was 97 cents. Other furbearers taken include 38 badgers, 1,301 beavers, 588 bobcats, 799 coyotes, 363 foxes, 708 mink, 178 opossum, 1,174 raccoons, 467 striped skunks, and 111 spotted skunks. Bobcat pelts were worth $10.58 as the highest priced pelt with beaver pelts bringing $8.71 per pelt. There were no licensed trappers in Marin or Sonoma counties. San Diego county with 177, Modoc county with 72, and Lassen county with 52, reported the most bobcats taken. Riverside County with 154, and Shasta County with 114, reported the most coyotes. Please note: there were no wolves taken. There are no wolves in California!

Carlton Gives Up On Sliders

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Steve Carlton has figured out his pitching problem. It was simply a case of too many pitches in his repertoire.

The 26-year-old lefthander of the St. Louis Cardinals, who lost 19 games last season after winning 17 the year before, gave up six hits Thursday night for his fourth consecutive victory as he pitched the Cardinals to a 5-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

It was Carlton's third complete game performance, and he claims the reason for his good start is that he's stopped using the slider entirely and he's throwing mostly fastballs.

"I'm throwing a lot more fastballs this year. Last year I'd hang a curve or a slider and one inning would beat me. I threw too many breaking balls. When you keep losing, you lose confidence. I've discarded the slider. It's a different year. I forgot about last year."

In the only other National League games Thursday, Pittsburgh beat Atlanta,7-4, and Houston defeated Chicago, 6-1. The White Sox topped Milwaukee, 4-2, and Oakland whipped California, 7-3, in American League games.

Carlton, who did not win his fourth game until June 21 last year, walked two and struck out five in besting Jim Bunning. All the Phillies' hits were singles and three of those came in the ninth inning. Joe Torre singled home what proved to be the winning run for St. Louis in the fifth.

Willie Stargell continued his assault on Atlanta pitching by cracking his 10th homer as the Pirates defeated the Braves. Stargell's homer was his eighth in six games against the Braves, and it tied him with Cincinnati's Tony Perez and Baltimore's Frank Robinson for most home runs during the month of April. Earl Williams hit his fourth homer for the Braves.

Indiana Stays Alive In Playoffs

By United Press International

Indiana, teetering on the brink of elimination, found a little balance to keep its hopes alive in the American Basketball Association Playoffs.

Indiana defeated Utah 127-109 Thursday night to stave off elimination at least until the western title series moves to Salt Lake City on Saturday night. Utah leads the best-of-seven series 3-2.

The Pacers came back from two straight losses with a balanced attack that had four players scoring more than 20 points. Bob Netolicky led Indiana with 29 points, Mel Daniels had 27 and 26 rebounds, Roger Brown had 23 points and Billy Keller 22.

The game was close until the Pacers broke it open in the second period by outscoring Utah 39-19 for a 67-49 halftime lead. At the end of the third period, Indiana led 93-75, and Utah never got closer than 14 points.

In ABA action tonight the Kentucky Colonels meet the Squires at Virginia. The eastern title series between the two teams is tied 2-2.

Brewers Get Briggs From Philadelphia

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The Milwaukee Brewers acquired outfielder Johnny Briggs from the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday in exchange for rookie Pete Koegel and minor league pitcher Ray Peters.

Briggs batted .270 with nine homers and 47 runs batted in last season, but was hitting .182 this season. He has a .252 lifetime average.

Stanley Cup: North Stars Break Spell

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Now that the big, bad Boston Bruins are a surprise casualty of the Stanley Cup playoffs, the four remaining survivors are leading with their best shots in what has become a wide-open scramble for the ancient trophy.

The Minnesota North Stars, the longest shots of all among the semifinalists, accomplished what no other expansion team ever did before against the establishment, ripping the Montreal Canadiens, 6-3, Thursday night, and the New York Rangers, seeking their first championship in 31 years, turned back the Chicago Black Hawks, 4-1.

Minnesota's victory, evening that best-of-seven series at one game each, was the first ever by an expansion club in post-season play against one of the six older teams, snapping a string of 17 consecutive losses. St. Louis lost eight games in a row to Montreal in the 1968 and 1969 finals and four more to Boston in last year's final, Philadelphia was beaten in four straight by Chicago in this year's quarter-finals and the North Stars lost their first game to Montreal.

The Rangers, meanwhile, used Vic Hadfield's first-ever playoff hat trick to take a 2-1 edge over Chicago with the fourth game also scheduled for New York Sunday afternoon. That game will be televised nationally by CBS.

The North Stars-Canadiens series shifts to Minnesota for the next two games on Saturday and Sunday nights, giving the Stars a chance to take a commanding lead in that set and go on to what would be probably the most stunning upset in Stanley Cup history.

Passer Scott Hunter

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI)—University of Alabama quarterback Scott Hunter completed more passes for more yards in his first two years than any of his star-studded predecessors in their full varsity careers. The list includes such Alabama greats as Joe Namath, Bart Starr, Harry Gilmer and Steve Sloan.

League's Four Top Teams Breeze In Track And Field

All four Marin County Athletic League track and field meets went as expected yesterday as the league's top teams breezed by lesser opponents. Undefeated Tamalpais walloped Marin Catholic, 90-45, San Rafael took San Marin, 96-40, Redwood downed Novato, 93-43 and Terra Linda smashed Drake, 81-39.

Once again, Tam was led by Gerald Robertson, who won his usual three events. Still plagued by a sore ankle, the MCAL record-holding high jumper captured that event at just 6 feet, while winning both hurdles events also.

San Rafael didn't need any double in the 96-40 rout of San Marin, but Mustang Chakra Chappell took wins in his middle distance specialties to pace the losers.

Sprinter Bob Breneman won the 100 and 220-yard dashes in the Redwood rout of Novato, while Tom Malvino took the high jump and long jump for another double for Redwood.

Terra Linda had two triple winners in the 81-39 romp over Drake. Ken Smith and Todd Young accounted for six of the Trojans' ten individual wins; Doug Davis took the 440 and 880 to nail down two more.

JACK HANLEY

A Big Surprise For Chris Speier

When Chris Speier reported to training camp this spring he not only was surprised but momentarily embarrassed to discover that his roommate was Hal Lanier, the man whose job Speier was determined to get.

Lanier warmly welcomed the rookie as a roomie and assured him he would offer him every possible help. After all, Lanier had been through this ritual several times previously with rookies intent on taking the shortstop job he held for six seasons with the Giants.

THERE WAS one difference this time. Never previously had Lanier been assigned the same room with the rookie seeking his job. Charlie Fox knew what he was doing. The manager of the Giants knew that Lanier, a pro but above all a gentleman, would help the rookie in any way he could. Lanier never has forgotten the aid he received as a rookie from such gentlemanly pros as Jimmy Davenport and Harvey Kuenn.

Fox, conducting his first major league spring training since being appointed manager of the Giants last May 24, had another reason for making Lanier and Speier roomies. They might wind up as double play partners provided the rookie was successful in running Lanier off short and Lanier ran Tito Fuentes off second base. DP partners should have a close rapport.

"I DIDN'T KNOW quite what to expect when I reported for spring training," said Speier, now established as the team's shortstop. "Maybe I thought I would be shunned, treated like an outsider. Right from the start Lanier made me feel like I belonged. Everyone was helpful but I guess I was apprehensive about what Lanier's attitude would be.

"The very first day we took ground balls together, Lanier would compliment me when I did things right or point out things I did wrong. I never expected it would be that way. I'm not sure I could help a guy who was out for my job."

SPEIER SEWED up the shortstop job two weeks before spring training ended. He was elevated from non-roster status to full fledged team membership on March 21. It means a whopping salary increase for him.

As a minor leaguer at Amarillo he was paid on a monthly basis — $800 a month but only for those months the Texas League was in operation. Now, as a major leaguer he received a contract at the rookie minimum of $12,700 on a yearly basis which figures out to better than $2,000 a month for the six months of the major league season.

SPEIER DID not have to describe how he felt about his fast rise in the financial and baseball world after just one season in the minors.

The smile on his face told it all. He had arrived in the big time.

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current regular price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance Prorated on Miles Driven
40,000 miles	$10.00
40 month	10.00
39 month	8.00
36 month	6.00
33 month	5.00
30 month	4.00
24 month	3.00
18 month	2.00

Tread Wear Expectancy offer does not apply to tires used commercially.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Compromise Plan To Earn Income

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q My mother depends on Social Security and dividends from 1,080 shares of Combustion Engineering. Should this be sold for higher income?—B. B.

A Your mother's investment has a current market value of around $68,000 from which her annual return is $1,400. An equal amount invested in high grade utility bonds would yield over $5,000 per year and a savings account would more than double her income.

However, I would suggest a compromise plan, whereby your mother would retain at least half her shares, investing the other half in high yield bonds. While this plan would provide income of about $3,200 annually, it would also allow participation in any future growth for these shares.

Q I am 10 years old and have $20 to invest. How do I go about it?—L. K.

A You have the right idea but until you have a larger amount saved, the stock market would not be practical. A very sensible alternative investment would be an E-bond which will return 5½ per cent at maturity in five years and ten months.

Q We would appreciate your views on whether to keep or sell Hazeltine shares. We retire in a couple of years and want a good income or growth stock.—R. K.

A There are a number of unfavorable factors in this situation which do not augur well for near-term prospects. As a contractor in the design, development and manufacture of electronic equipment for the Government, Hazeltine has suffered from stretchouts and delays on contracts plus the problems of a sluggish economy. In 1970 gross income fell sharply to $59.4 million — a 22 per cent decline — while earnings per share dropped roughly 65 per cent to 52 cents.

Also having an adverse impact on Hazeltine's market appeal and share action is its litigation with Zenith. The latter firm has already received $35 million for damages allegedly suffered as a result of Hazeltine's patent arrangements, with more possibly on the way.

This issue clearly does not meet your investment goals — having no yield and questionable growth prospects at present. Sale is justified.

Failure Cited In Explaining Business

PURCHASE, N.Y. (UPI)— The U.S. educational system fails in giving youth any realistic picture of what really goes on in the world of business, says Victor A. Bonomo, president of Pepsi-Cola.

Bonomo cited a survey showing that only one in 10 teen-agers asked how much profit industry makes on sales had a correct answer —about 5 per cent per sales dollar.

Near Record For Building Industry

If reduced interest rates for home financing have helped the Marin County real estate market, they have also done amazing things for the local construction industry which has lagged behind for several years.

According to figures supplied by the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau, building permits during March valued out at $10,491,958 — a near record.

Chamber Manager Carroll Snyker said it was the highest monthly figure since Feb., 1966, when the new Marin County Hall of Justice was permitted at $9,223,000. Previous high, not influenced by a large single permit of this character was in June, 1964 when valuations totaled over $11 million.

While the construction increase was reflected in several areas, the big March record was set by Mill Valley, where incorporated and unincorporated permits totaled $5,454,503. Over $4.7 million of this was for townhouses on Shelter Ridge being developed by Security Capitols.

San Rafael incorporated and unincorporated areas accounted for $1,500,796, and this was aplit fairly equally three ways in residential, commercial and miscellaneous permits. Novato permits totaled $1,072,695, about 79 per cent of this residential. Close behind was the Belvedere-Tiburon peninsula with $1,004,270 - 92 per cent residential.

In other communities, Larkspur reported $450,900, mostly residential; San Anselmo $300,697, mostly for miscellaneous permits; Kentfield $187,795, mostly residential; Sausalito $126,381, about equally residential, commercial and miscellaneous; Corte Madera $104,784, two-thirds residential; Ross $57,300 - all for miscellaneous permits; and Fairfax $8,800 — all miscellaneous.

West Marin and other unincorporated areas accounted for permits totaling $223,037, all residential and miscellaneous.

Totals for the first quarter of 1971 were over $19 million, a gain of 123.5 per cent from the $8.7 million for the first three months of 1970.

Market Closes Strong After A Sloppy Start

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market closed strong Friday after a sloppy start. Turnover was heavy.

The early setback was attributed to profit taking and disappointment stemming from an increase in the prime bank interest rate. But analysts noted that optimism over the economy, which has carried the market higher since late last year, continued to be an overpowering influence.

First National City Bank of New York late Thursday reported that business profits recovered in the first quarter of 1971, and racked up their first year-to-year gain since the middle of 1969.

Citibank said after-tax profits from 685 leading corporations rose by 4 per cent in the initial 1971 period, compared with the similar period a year ago.

Of the 1,665 issues crossing the tape, 795 advanced, while 566 declined. A turnover of around 20,000,000 shares compared with 19,270,000 shares traded Thursday.

Electronics were among the day's brightest performers.

Closing prices included AT&T 49 1-8 off 1-2, Bethlehem Steel 23 1-2 unchanged, DuPont 145 up 1 3-4, General Electric 1231-4 up 2 7-8.

BANKING MILESTONE — Leroy Rudolph, vice president and manager of Bank of America's San Rafael main office, will observe his 45th anniversary with the bank next Monday. He began his banking career in his native Petaluma, became assistant manager of the Santa Rosa main office in 1952 and manager of the Montgomery Village branch in 1958. He has headed the San Rafael office since 1960 and has been a vice president since 1962.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

Sales Down At Boise Cascade

Although homebuilding activity has recently increased, Boise Cascade Corp., now heavily engaged in home construction, has announced a decline of 9 per cent in net sales during the first quarter.

The improvement in home building activity was said to have begun too late in the quarter to help the $372 million sales for the first three months. Net earnings for the first quarter were also down to four cents per share from the near record of 59 cents per share a year ago. There was some improvement, however, from the fourth quarter deficit of 16 cents per share in 1970, by trimming losses in the company's recreation communities business.

Boise, through its realty subsidiary has converted $200 million of short-term debt into a long-term loan with 10 major banks.

RIETZ MANUFACTURING CO., Santa Rosa has been acquired by the Berwind Corp. of Philadelphia. It will continue to operate at its present location as part of the Berwind process equipment group, which includes several other companies. Rietz produces size reduction, mixing, heat exchange, dewatering and drying equipment for the process industries. It also maintains sales and laboratory facilities in West Chester, Pa. and a manufacturing and sales branch in Anaheim.

AMERICAN BUILDING MAINTENANCE INDUSTRIES is making a new public offering of 400,000 shares of common stock through an investment banking group managed by Lehman Bros., Inc. and Sutro and Co., Inc. Present stockholders own 350,000 of the shares and the company will receive none of the proceeds. Proceeds from the remaining 50,000 shares owned by the company will be used to repay short term indebtedness and some will be added to the general fund.

FAIRCHILD CAMERA AND INSTRUMENT CO. has elected Walter Burke chairman of the board. He has been a director and financial advisor to Sherman M. Fairchild, who died last month, and whom he replaces.

DIORGIO CORP. common stock to the extent of 1.2 million shares is being offered through underwriters headed by Dean Witter and Co., Inc. Proceeds will be used to reduce short-term borrowings of over $38 million incurred in expansion. Upon completion of the new offering the company will have 5,465,216 common shares outstanding.

CONSOLIDATED FOODS CORP. net sales and earnings reached new highs for the first 39 weeks of the fiscal year. Sales amounted to $1,185 million up from $1,137 million a year earlier. After-tax income was up 2.5 per cent to $41.7 million. Shasta Beverages, a Bay Area company, was an especially strong performer.

SCHLAGE LOCK CO., San Francisco reported first quarter sales of $13.3 million compared to $11.3 million a year ago. Net income was $779,000 or $1.08 per share, up from last year's $340,000 or 47 cents per share when strikes in two of the company's plants held earnings down.

COMMERCE CLEARING HOUSE, INC. reported net earnings of $1.5 million of 28 cents per share for the first quarter - up from $1.3 million or 25 cents per share last year. Sales increased to $14.9 million from $13.6 million in the comparable 1970 quarter.

U.S. FINANCIAL - THE GENERAL SHELTER CORP. of San Diego may acquire Morlan Pacific Co. in an exchange of stock for U.S. Financial convertible debentures. Value of the transaction would be in excess of $34 million. U.S. Financial produces, markets and finances all types of housing.

COLDWELL, BANKER AND CO. reported net income of $338,777 or 17 cents per share from operations for its third quarter ended March 31. This compares with $165,944 or eight cents per share for last year's third quarter.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Compromise Plan To Earn Income

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q My mother depends on Social Security and dividends from 1,080 shares of Combustion Engineering. Should this be sold for higher income?—B. B.

A Your mother's investment has a current market value of around $68,000 from which her annual return is $1,400. An equal amount invested in high grade utility bonds would yield over $5,000 per year and a savings account would more than double her income.

However, I would suggest a compromise plan, whereby your mother would retain at least half her shares, investing the other half in high yield bonds. While this plan would provide income of about $3,200 annually, it would also allow participation in any future growth for these shares.

Q I am 10 years old and have $20 to invest. How do I go about it?—L. K.

A You have the right idea but until you have a larger amount saved, the stock market would not be practical. A very sensible alternative investment would be an E-bond which will return 5½ per cent at maturity in five years and ten months.

Q We would appreciate your views on whether to keep or sell Hazeltine shares. We retire in a couple of years and want a good income or growth stock.—R. K.

A There are a number of unfavorable factors in this situation which do not augur well for near-term prospects. As a contractor in the design, development and manufacture of electronic equipment for the Government, Hazeltine has suffered from stretchouts and delays on contracts plus the problems of a sluggish economy. In 1970 gross income fell sharply to $59.4 million — a 22 per cent decline — while earnings per share dropped roughly 65 per cent to 52 cents.

Also having an adverse impact on Hazeltine's market appeal and share action is its litigation with Zenith. The latter firm has already received $35 million for damages allegedly suffered as a result of Hazeltine's patent arrangements, with more possibly on the way.

This issue clearly does not meet your investment goals — having no yield and questionable growth prospects at present. Sale is justified.

Failure Cited In Explaining Business

PURCHASE, N.Y. (UPI)—The U.S. educational system fails in giving youth any realistic picture of what really goes on in the world of business, says Victor A. Bonomo, president of Pepsi-Cola.

Bonomo cited a survey showing that only one in 10 teen-agers asked how much profit industry makes on sales had a correct answer —about 5 per cent per sales dollar.

Near Record For Building Industry

If reduced interest rates for home financing have helped the Marin County real estate market, they have also done amazing things for the local construction industry which has lagged behind for several years.

According to figures supplied by the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau, building permits during March valued out at $10,491,958 — a near record.

Chamber Manager Carroll Snyker said it was the highest monthly figure since Feb., 1966, when the new Marin County Hall of Justice was permitted at $9,223,000. Previous high, not influenced by a large single permit of this character was in June, 1964 when valuations totaled over $11 million.

While the construction increase was reflected in several areas, the big March record was set by Mill Valley, where incorporated and unincorporated permits totaled $5,454,503. Over $4.7 million of this was for townhouses on Shelter Ridge being developed by Security Capitols.

San Rafael incorporated and unincorporated areas accounted for $1,500,796, and this was aplit fairly equally three ways in residential, commercial and miscellaneous permits. Novato permits totaled $1,072,695, about 79 per cent of this residential. Close behind was the Belvedere-Tiburon peninsula with $1,004,270 - 92 per cent residential.

In other communities, Larkspur reported $450,900, mostly residential; San Anselmo $300,697, mostly for miscellaneous permits; Kentfield $187,795, mostly residential; Sausalito $126,381, about equally residential, commercial and miscellaneous; Corte Madera $104,784, two-thirds residential; Ross $57,300 - all for miscellaneous permits; and Fairfax $8,800 — all miscellaneous.

West Marin and other unincorporated areas accounted for permits totaling $223,037, all residential and miscellaneous.

Totals for the first quarter of 1971 were over $19 million, a gain of 123.5 per cent from the $8.7 million for the first three months of 1970.

Market Closes Strong After A Sloppy Start

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market closed strong Friday after a sloppy start. Turnover was heavy.

The early setback was attributed to profit taking and disappointment stemming from an increase in the prime bank interest rate. But analysts noted that optimism over the economy, which has carried the market higher since late last year, continued to be an overpowering influence.

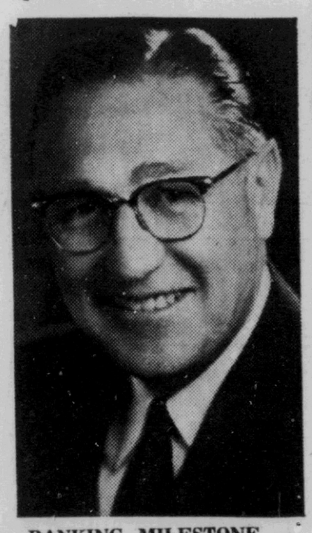
First National City Bank of New York late Thursday reported that business profits recovered in the first quarter of 1971, and racked up their first year-to-year gain since the middle of 1969.

Citibank said after-tax profits from 685 leading corporations rose by 4 per cent in the initial 1971 period, compared with the similar period a year ago.

Of the 1,665 issues crossing the tape, 795 advanced, while 566 declined. A turnover of around 20,000,000 shares compared with 19,270,000 shares traded Thursday.

Electronics were among the day's brightest performers.

Closing prices included AT&T 49 1-8 off 1-2, Bethlehem Steel 23 1-2 unchanged, DuPont 145 up 1 3-4, General Electric 1231-4 up 2 7-8.



BANKING MILESTONE — Leroy Rudolph, vice president and manager of Bank of America's San Rafael main office, will observe his 45th anniversary with the bank next Monday. He began his banking career in his native Petaluma, became assistant manager of the Santa Rosa main office in 1952 and manager of the Montgomery Village branch in 1958. He has headed the San Rafael office since 1960 and has been a vice president since 1962.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

Sales Down At Boise Cascade

Although homebuilding activity has recently increased, Boise Cascade Corp., now heavily engaged in home construction, has announced a decline of 9 per cent in net sales during the first quarter.

The improvement in home building activity was said to have begun too late in the quarter to help the $372 million sales for the first three months. Net earnings for the first quarter were also down to four cents per share from the near record of 59 cents per share a year ago. There was some improvement, however, from the fourth quarter deficit of 16 cents per share in 1970, by trimming losses in the company's recreation communities business.

Boise, through its realty subsidiary has converted $200 million of short-term debt into a long-term loan with 10 major banks.

RIETZ MANUFACTURING CO., Santa Rosa has been acquired by the Berwind Corp. of Philadelphia. It will continue to operate at its present location as part of the Berwind process equipment group, which includes several other companies. Rietz produces size reduction, mixing, heat exchange, dewatering and drying equipment for the process industries. It also maintains sales and laboratory facilities in West Chester, Pa. and a manufacturing and sales branch in Anaheim.

AMERICAN BUILDING MAINTENANCE INDUSTRIES is making a new public offering of 400,000 shares of common stock through an investment banking group managed by Lehman Bros., Inc. and Sutro and Co., Inc. Present stockholders own 350,000 of the shares and the company will receive none of the proceeds. Proceeds from the remaining 50,000 shares owned by the company will be used to repay short term indebtedness and some will be added to the general fund.

FAIRCHILD CAMERA AND INSTRUMENT CO. has elected Walter Burke chairman of the board. He has been a director and financial advisor to Sherman M. Fairchild, who died last month, and whom he replaces.

DIORGIO CORP. common stock to the extent of 1.2 million shares is being offered through underwriters headed by Dean Witter and Co., Inc. Proceeds will be used to reduce short-term borrowings of over $38 million incurred in expansion. Upon completion of the new offering the company will have 5,465,216 common shares outstanding.

CONSOLIDATED FOODS CORP. net sales and earnings reached new highs for the first 39 weeks of the fiscal year. Sales amounted to $1,185 million up from $1,137 million a year earlier. After-tax income was up 2.5 per cent to $41.7 million. Shasta Beverages, a Bay Area company, was an especially strong performer.

SCHLAGE LOCK CO., San Francisco reported first quarter sales of $13.3 million compared to $11.3 million a year ago. Net income was $779,000 or $1.08 per share, up from last year's $340,000 or 47 cents per share when strikes in two of the company's plants held earnings down.

COMMERCE CLEARING HOUSE, INC. reported net earnings of $1.5 million of 28 cents per share for the first quarter - up from $1.3 million or 25 cents per share last year. Sales increased to $14.9 million from $13.6 million in the comparable 1970 quarter.

U.S. FINANCIAL - THE GENERAL SHELTER CORP. of San Diego may acquire Morlan Pacific Co. in an exchange of stock for U.S. Financial convertible debentures. Value of the transaction would be in excess of $34 million. U.S. Financial produces, markets and finances all types of housing.

COLDWELL, BANKER AND CO. reported net income of $338,777 or 17 cents per share from operations for its third quarter ended March 31. This compares with $165,944 or eight cents per share for last year's third quarter.

Bomb Rocks Mill Valley Bank Of America Branch

Two Young Men Seen Just Before Explosion

A bomb rocked central Mill Valley today, shattering a plate glass window in the Bank of America branch at 60 Throckmorton Avenue and scattering glass, wood and concrete chips over the sidewalk and adjoining street.

The device was apparently placed on the bank's front window ledge and exploded at 8:04 a.m. A witness having breakfast in a cafe across the street reported he had heard a sputtering sound, followed by a blast, indicating a timed device was used.

Mill Valley Police Chief Dan Terzich said he did not know what type of bomb had caused the damage, but FBI agents were on the scene almost immediately to assist in the investigation.

Police said the same witness who heard the sputtering reported seeing two young men run from the scene minutes before the bomb blew.

At 8:14 a.m. Mill Valley police received a strange phone call from a man who asked if a bomb had gone off in the bank.

When he was informed there had been a blast, the man replied with a series of garbled phrases: "Pigs . . . Weathermen . . . no more slop money in the world," then hung up.

The explosion, which also damaged the concrete ledge and wooden window frame, sent chunks and splinters of glass flying the length of the bank's interior. But bank and city employees began cleanup work immediately and bank manager Guido Todaro said the bank would be open as usual today.

Todaro, who could not estimate the amount of damage, said there had been no threat to the bank or its employees before the bombing.

Workmen swept glass and bits of concrete into plastic bags under a large sign inside the building which proclaimed: "It's a (Bank of America) good time."

Officials for the Bank of America in San Francisco said today that more than 10 of their branches have been the targets of bombers in the last two years. The most recent explosion prior to today, occurred Tuesday at the bank's South Berkeley branch and caused approximately $4,000 damage.

Exactly one month ago — on March 23 — the Sausalito branch of the bank was bombed by a pipe device placed in a door handle which shattered two glass doors in the building.

CIVIC CENTER CLEARED BY FAKE 'BOMB'

A suspicious-looking object in a women's restroom yesterday prompted the first evacuation of the Marin County Civic Center since a "no routine evacuation" policy was formulated last month.

After the evacuation at 4:50 p.m. and the arrival of an Army bomb squad and FBI agents, the object turned out to be nothing more explosive than part of a sanitary napkin dispenser that had been rifled.

The sheriff's office said that a man carrying two briefcases was reported seen entering a women's restroom on the first floor of the Hall of Justice. Deputies found a gray metal box in one of the toilets and sounded the alarm.

The "man" apparently turned out to be a woman, and the sheriff's office is weighing whether to file petty theft charges against her.

Manson Returned To Los Angeles

Charles Manson, convicted murderer of actress Sharon Tate and six others, was returned to Los Angeles this morning, less than 24-hours after his arrival at San Quentin.

Heavily chained, Manson took several steps from the prison building to a Los Angeles Sheriff's Department bus which returned him for trial in the deaths of two others, one a member of his "family."

Manson arrived at the prison at 11:30 a.m. yesterday and was taken back to Los Angeles at 8:30 a.m. today. His in-and-out stay at San Quentin was the result of state law which requires that a convicted felon be turned over to prison authorities within 10 days of sentencing.

During his brief stay he was lodged in Death Row Cell 29, just three cells down from one occupied by Sirhan Sirhan, assassin of Robert Kennedy.

"No wonder he got the girls to do the killings," said one of the four guards who accompanied him here, "he doesn't look big enough to have done them himself." The guard said he thought Manson was "very short — less than five feet."

Guards reported that Manson said very little during the seven hour ride to the prison.

Manson arrived at Death Row shortly after prisoners had begun their exercise period. He spotted several men he knew from his days at the Los Angeles County Jail and waved at them.

Although one unidentified Death Row inmate had hinted that hippies are unliked there and there might be violence, Manson's arrival did not create any unusual response from the 93 other men on the row.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said Manson will be treated the same as any other Death Row prisoner following his return from Los Angeles and expected lengthy stay at the prison.

Manson's commitment papers were checked at the back gate yesterday upon his arrival. His Los Angeles County Jail clothing was taken and he was issued a pair of San Quentin coveralls following a search.

He was then fingerprinted and photographed. Manson received an orientation from the Death Row Sergeant.

Three women convicted with Manson of the murders remained in Los Angeles County Jail.

Long Moon Visit Due July 30

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Apollo 15 astronauts David R. Scott and James B. Irwin are due to begin man's longest stay on the moon at 6:15 p.m. EDT, July 30.

The space agency announced the latest lunar landing schedule Thursday for the Apollo 15 expedition, the most ambitious so far.

Soviets Put Three-Man Probe Into Orbit For Space Duties

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today fired a three-man space ship into earth orbit for rendezvous with an unmanned sputnik called Salute, apparently opening phase No. 2 of its drive to build the first orbiting space station.

Moscow space sources said as many as three more manned ships could join them within the next few days. That would put more ships and more men together in space than has ever been attempted before.

The official Tass news agency said the manned ship, Soyuz 10, blasted off from Baikonur space center in Central Asia shortly before dawn and headed toward rendezvous with Salute for "joint experiments in near earth orbit." Salute was launched Monday.

Souyz 10 was manned by the most experienced space crew ever assembled—this was the third trip for two of its men—and the sources described it as part of a complex project to link the ships into the first manned orbiting station. The United States plans no such venture before 1973.

The sources said as many as three more manned ships could be involved within the next few days in an attempt to link up into a cartwheel-shaped orbiting laboratory. In the future, such stations will also serve as in-space launching pads, the Soviets have said.

Soyuz 10 was shaped like a long tube with a ball at the nose and Moscow sources predicted similar manned ships would link up into the first manned orbiting space platform—perhaps forming a cartwheel shape with Salute as the hub.

Cosmonaut Alexei Yeliseyev, the flight engineer aboard Soyuz 10, confirmed in a televised interview aired today that "we have now started a new stage in space exploration, connected with the preparation of orbital stations."

(In Jodrell Bank, England, British space scientist Sir Bernard Lovell cautioned that such space platforms could be used for both good and evil. He did not elaborate.)

In Bochum, West Germany, Director Heinz Kaminski of the Bochum Space Research Institute said he expected one or two more ships to be orbited shortly.

Scientists at the Bochum Institute closely predicted the eventual launching time of Soyuz 10 Thursday. Earlier today, the Bochum Institute said it was receiving signals

Found Innocent Of Arson Blaze

MARTINEZ (UPI) — Wayne Staats, 36, an East Bay Regional Park employe, was found innocent today of setting a disastrous $3 million Oakland Hills fire last year, but guilty of setting seven other blazes near park lands.

A Contra Costa County Superior Court jury deliberated two days in the case after a lengthy trial.

Staats was accused of touching off the fires during the extremely dry period last autumn in order to get overtime pay for fighting them.

He had been charged on 16 counts, including the fire which destroyed 37 homes on Sept. 22.

EARTH WEEK EVENTS

High School's Salute To Ecology

By FRANK FARRARA

They raised the green and white striped ecology flag over San Marin High School yesterday and today students below worked to spread its message.

Environment was the lesson of the day, conveyed in talks, displays, ceremonies and work. Regular classes were canceled at the start of a two-day observance of Earth Week.

Across the campus during the lunch period, the words of the pledge of allegiance to the ecology flag drifted from a loudspeaker, closing with "one earth, under God, unpolluted with clean air and water for all."

Students gathered at displays, purchased ecology posters and buttons, cheered at a can smashing contest, ate a minimum meal, planted shrubs around the flagpole and attended the funeral of a bird.

A Western Grebe, victim of the San Francisco Bay oil spill, was buried in memory of all the birds that died.

Kathy Pereira, who gave the eulogy, said: "He was a nice bird like all the birds that were prisoners of man's carelessness . . . feathers to feathers and oil to oil . . . bury the bird."

Several students described the activities as "cool, a great idea," but one was lukewarm, commenting, "It's better than if they didn't have it," while another was critical, saying, "In some ways it's a little played up."

Some students sprawled on nearby grassy knolls, perhaps observing earth days by getting close to the earth, and some left campus at noon, perhaps heading home for lunch.

In the front center of the display area, there was a list of ten commandments which read:

"Thou shalt not adore convenience and profit if it results in pollution.

Thou shalt not litter.

Thous shalt recycle all recyclables.

Honor thy land, air and water.

Thou shalt limit the use of internal combustion engine vehicles whenever possible.

Thou shalt not produce more than two offspring.

Thou shalt use nonpolluting soap.

Thou shalt limit the use of plastic and disposable items.

Thou shalt not use aerosols.

Thou shalt become involved."

In keeping with the fifth commandment, many students left their cars home and walked or rode bicycles to school, turning the usually crowded parking lot into mainly open area.

At the gymnasium, small bands played under a huge banner reading "Support Your Local Earth" and students sat in the bleachers, some eating regular lunches from brown paper bags and others the special ecology lunch.

On small trays, they had one-third of a pint of milk, a small portion of steamed brown rice and an even smaller portion of dried kelp.

"It's pretty good, but it doesn't have much flavor," commented Michelle Bacho, a College of Marin student, who was working at the campus.

A sign outside the lunch counter said: "If all the food in the world was divided among all the people in the world, your share would be 800 calories a day. So come and get your share of the food for one meal."

Graphic exhibits caught the eye, such as a skeleton with a sign reading, "Cause of Death — Air Pollution" and a distort-

Stiff Warning To Banks On Interest Rate Hikes

WASHINGTON (UPI)--The Nixon administration is serving notice on the nation's big banks that it will not watch silently if there is a new round of interest rate increases.

In some of the toughest language the administration has aimed at business, Treasury Secretary John B. Connally Thursday denounced the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York for increasing its prime interest rate.

"I was very disappointed at this increase in the prime rate of Chase Manhattan Bank," Connally said in a formal statement. "I was totally unaware that loan demand had reached such proportions as to justify such an increase."

The second sentence dripped with sarcasm. Loan demand at most banks has been relatively low in recent weeks.

Chase, the nation's third largest bank, Thursday announced the increase from 5 1-4 to 5 1-2 per cent in the prime rate, the interest it charges on loans to its biggest and best corporate customers.

JOHN B. CONNALLY
Criticizes bank rates
(UPI Telephoto)

Within minutes, Connally issued his rejoinder. He did not ask for a rollback in the rate nor did he threaten action against Chase or other banks that follow its lead.

But the change in attitude at the Treasury was vivid.

Former Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy steadfastly refused to comment as the prime rate soared early in the Nixon administration. The rate went from 7 per cent on Nixon's inauguration day to 8.5 per cent on June 9, 1969, less than five months later. There it remained until March 25, 1970 when it began a decline.

Newsmen frequently pressed Kennedy for comment on prime rate increases. He refused to say anything for publication.

Connally, the only Democrat in President Nixon's cabinet, has said that he considers himself to be "more of an activist" than Kennedy, a former banker.

Papa Doc's Son Sworn In; Funeral For Leader Tomorrow

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UPI)—Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier, who made himself a legend during his 14 years as dictator of this island republic in the Caribbean, will be buried tomorrow in a state funeral.

His son and designated successor, Jean-Claude, who will be 20 July 3, was sworn in Thursday as president. After the ceremony it was announced Papa Doc had died the night before. At 64, he long had been ill with diabetes and heart trouble.

The news of Duvalier's death made headlines around the world, long fascinated by the mystique of voodoo superstition and terror he used to rule Haiti's five million citizens, most of whom are illiterate.

But the people themselves took the news calmly, even indifferently. It was "business as usual" in run-down Port au Prince throughout the day following Jean-Claude's swearing-in.

Only a few extra police were in evidence in the streets. Fifty members of the palace guard lounged on the steps of the national palace. Press dispatches sent abroad were censored, but there was no censorship of overseas telephone calls.

Shortly after his swearing-in, Jean-Claude gave his first radio address to his people. "I will continue the programs of my father," he pledged.

Jean-Claude strolled on the sun-drenched palace grounds. The atmosphere was calm. How long this would last was problematical.

One veteran observer in Port au Prince predicted the younger Duvalier's regime would be short-lived because he "did not have the mystique of Papa Doc or the loyalty of many divergent forces."

The new president took the oath of office flanked by Luckner Cambronne, his new minister of interior, defense and police, and Claude Raymond, commander of the 5,500-man army.

Observers say Cambronne, 40, is the strongest man in the new cabinet. Only three members of the cabinet served the previous administration, though some of the previous cabinet ministers have been given posts close to the presidency.

(In Washington, which had turned a cool shoulder to the Duvalier regime since the Kennedy Administration, a State Department spokesman said the United States would continue "normal" diplomatic relations with the new Haitian government.)

The new president's older sister, Marie Denise, married to Col. Max Dominique, the Haitian ambassador to France, long had been considered the person nearest her father.

But in elaborate ceremonies in January, Duvalier officially had his son named his succesor. Marie Denise and her husband were not mentioned Thursday in her brother's list of government appointments.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Rift Widening

VIENTIANNE (UPI) — The rift between the Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas and the North Vietnamese troops operating in southern Laos is widening and may never close, Pathet Lao defectors have told the government.

Lt. Col. Soutchai, former commander of the Pathet Lao 11th Battalion, surrendered Monday, the highest-ranking officer in the insurgent movement to defect in five years, government sources said today. They said he told them most of the troops in his former unit would join him if they could.

"Conflict between the Pathet Lao and the North Vietnamese in southern Laos is beyond compromise," Southchai, 41, told his interrogators.

New Look Started

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—A new government appeared today to be in the works for Cambodia, in which cabinet ministers will make most of their own decisions and govern as a collective leadership, a prominent Cambodian politician said.

This would alleviate the pressures of constant decision-making that contributed to Prime Minister Lon Nol's stroke in February, according to Ung Mung, vice president of the national assembly.

Ung Mung told UPI in an interview today that Lon Nol has "accepted in principle" the task of forming a new government, although the general has not given his formal assent.

Rabies Victim, 6, Dies

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Little Honofre Angel lost his battle with acute rabies early today.

Death came to the 6-year-old at 2:30 a.m., 26 days after he went into a coma.

The youngster was bitten by a dog while in Mexico with his parents.

Had he survived, he would have joined Matthew Winkler, also 6, Lima, Ohio, as the only known survivors of acute rabies.

Matthew earlier this week sent Honofre a get well card, a dollar bill and newspaper clippings about his treatment and recovery.

Draft Extension

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate committee has voted to extend the draft two years and give enlisted men and junior officers pay raises ranging from 9 to 50 per cent.

The action by the Senate Armed Services committee Thursday virtually assured that Congress will extend the draft for some period after June 30, when the current conscription law expires.

It also appeared to assure President Nixon of victory for his $2.7 billion plan to make the Army attractive enough to induce young men to join without the threat of the draft. Nixon wants to abolish the draft by 1973.

Colombo Indicted

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joseph Colombo Sr. was indicted Thursday and charged with being kingpin of a gambling ring operating in Brooklyn, Manhattan and on Long Island.

Thirty other persons—including several women — were named as co-conspirators with Colombo, who is appealing a perjury sentence and has been named by the Justice Department and a Senate committee as a leader of organized crime.

The defendants were charged with conspiracy and operating of a policy and sports betting ring that allegedly netted $5 million to $10 million a year.

Colombo and 39 others were arrested earlier this month by FBI agents on the charges. He was freed on bail.

Suez Canal Talks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel has braced itself for a long, hard session of bargaining with the United States on its three-point proposal for reopening of the Suez Canal under a partial peace with Egypt.

The next 10 days, the newspaper Yedioth Ahronoth said today, will be crucial in determining whether talks on the waterway succeed or if "the threat of war will come to the fore."

Israeli military officials reported a battle with Arab guerrillas on the Lebanese border they described as one of the costliest clashes since the truce began.

The paper said the U.S. intermediaries in Washington were delaying presentation of the Israeli paper to Cairo, where the semiofficial Al Ahram newspaper already has ruled it unacceptable. It said Washington was trying to get both sides to soften their positions before U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers makes his Middle East swing in the first week of May.

Spy Sentenced

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (UPI)—The Swiss Supreme Court today sentenced Alfred Frauenknecht to 4 1-2 years in prison at hard labor for selling blueprints of the French Mirage jet-fighter engine to Isreal for $200,000. The court has called him the highest paid spy in Swiss history.

His cousin, Josef Frauenknecht, was acquitted of charges he helped the 45-year-old engineer deliver 200,000 blueprints to Israel after France shut off arms shipments to Israel on charges Israel committed "aggression" in the 1967 Six Day War.

The sentence was milder than the seven years imprisonment the prosecution had demanded, and far below the maximum 20-year sentence the court could have imposed.

Benefit For Cancer Society

A variety show with all the proceeds going to the Marin Unit of the American Cancer Society will be presented by the Novato Community Players and Corte Madera Lions Club.

The show will be at 8:15 p.m., May 28 and 29 and June 4 and 5 at the Corte Madera Community Center.

The show, "Burlesque Ain't Dead, Bump! Bump! Bump!" was written and directed by Evans Burke. It has a cast of more than 40 people. The same show was presented last fall by the Novato Community Players in Novato.

Call To Banks

states and national banks were ordered today to submit to federal regulatory agencies reports of their condition as of the close of business Tuesday, April 20.

Napalm Drops Precede Drive

SAIGON (UPI)—Big American Chinook helicopters dropped sling-loads of homemade napalm on North Vietnamese buildup areas just outside the A Shau Valley today in preparation for an Allied drive into the Latoain border area,

American and South Vietnamese spokesmen said the Communists were concentrating men and equipment in the A Shau and "we think soon we will have some contact."

As the helicopters hit the Communist concentrations, the U.S. Command also announced that 1,375 U.S. Marines began a standown in preparation for return to California to begin the 100,000-man phase 7 of President Nixon's troop withdrawal eight days ahead of schedule.

Military spokesmen also reported that American fighter-bombers hit Communist antiaircraft missile installations nearly 200 miles inside North Vietnam Thursday night. It was one of the deepest penetrations north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) since the halt of U.S. bombing in 1968.

UPI Correspondent Alan Dawson reported from the La Vang headquarters of Operation Lam Son 720, the A Shau Valley campaign, that more than one battalion of South Vietnamese troops is operating in the valley.

No contact has been reported yet in the drive.

Man Arrested On Yolo Warrant

A 32-year-old Mill Valley man was arrested at 1:07 a.m. yesterday on a Winters, Yolo County, warrant charging burglary, San Rafael police reported.

Walter Vincent Burke of 120 Morning Sun Avenue, was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bail, for Yolo County authorities.

Burke and two companions were in a parked car in a closed service station at Woodland Avenue and Irwin Streets when officers arrested him. His companions were not held, police reported.

Three Budget Choices To Ross Valley Flood Panel

The Ross Valley Flood Control Zone Advisory board yesterday was handed three budget choices which range from imposing no tax rate next year to one imposing 27 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Charles Murphy, county flood control engineer, said action on which of the three to select rests primarily with an Army Corps of Engineers's decision whether to pick up the $350,000 tab for drainage improvements in Ross.

Controversy over drainage improvements at the Ross Common and on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard has been simmering for weeks.

Two members of the advisory board representing Larkspur and Corte Madera have said they oppose authorizing local funds for the projects which tie into the flood control work on Corte Madera Creek.

At last week's meeting, the board decided to meet with the Army to see if it will assume part or all of the cost.

According to Murphy, that meeting has not been set but probably will be held in the next two weeks.

Until the board receives word from the Army, he said, its budget remains in the air.

The proposal calling for no tax rate would use reserves to finance next year's operational costs totaling $24,100. That would leave a reserve of about $54,000, Murphy said.

A second choice calls for a tax rate of 25 cents for fiscal 1971-72 and would raise $270,000 which $215,000 would be designated for Ross drainage work. The remaining $135,000 would be budgeted the following year.

The third choice would levy a 27-cent tax rate and raise the total amount needed for drainage improvements and would include use of reserves. The latter choices, Murphy said, were formulated in the event the Army refuses to pay for the Ross projects.

Bomb Rips Office Attic At Stanford

STANFORD (UPI) —A bomb exploded early this morning in an attic in the president's office building at Stanford University. There was no injury and the campus fire chief estimated damage at $5,000.

President Richard W. Lyman's office is on the first floor and the building was empty except for a guard on the second floor who suffered only ringing ears.

George Curry, the guard, was no more than 30 feet from the bomb site and remarked, "I haven't heard anything like this since Korea." He suffered ringing ears for hours later.

The blast put a hole two-feet in diameter in the roof and scattered red tiles to the ground.

Fire Chief Frank Jurian made the damage estimate as FBI agents arrived for an investigation.

The office building was set afire by an arsonist in 1968 and that time damage was estimated at more than $100,000.

Since the building is under constant guard when not in use, officials wondered how the bomb was placed.

The bombing shortly before 4 a.m. was one of a series of incidents that started Thursday when Palo Alto police received an anonymous telephone call that the nearby campus would be blasted within 30 minutes. There was no explosion that time.

Shortly before the explosion the Stanford Daily and campus radio station KZSU reported seeing two persons plastering revolutionary posters on the president's office building and elsewhere.

The posters complained of the war in Vietnam, racial discrimination, injustice and the firing for economy reasons of some campus employees.

Students have been protesting the firing of a Negro janitor at the university's medical center.

Also a bomb exploded on the roof of the state parole offices in Fresno early today. It was the second blast in Rresno in three days and the seventh in the past year.

Police said the blast at the parole building blew a one-foot hole in the roof and caused some damage to the interior ceiling.

Officers said the device was apparently tossed onto the roof. There were no suspects and officers were trying to determine what type of explosive was used.

And in Los Gatos firebombs were touched off during the night in two Post Office vehicles, police reported.

The firebombs were heard exploding at 1:21 a. m. and fires in the two vehicles were quickly extinguished.

Boy Hurt In Playful Incident

A 12-year-old San Rafael boy was treated for bruised ribs and possible kidney damage yesterday after four of his schoolmates forced him into a Goodwill receptacle, then overturned the box.

San Rafael police said today Bennett M. Dawson of 32 Windsor Avenue was carried to the Goodwill box at the corner of California Avenue and Humboldt Street about 8 a.m. and shoved inside by the four boys.

When Dawson tried to get out of the box, the youths pushed the box over, police reported.

Dawson was examined by his family doctor. Police said no complaint was filed against the other boy.

Car Keys And Auto Linked Up

The thief who stole 50 car keys last week from Corte Madera Chrysler-Plymouth appears to have begun matching them with the autos, police said today.

Officers said the auto agency reported yesterday that a blue Volkswagen sedan was missing from its used car lot at 195 Casa Buena Drive. The dealership said it last checked the auto on Tuesday.

The stolen 1969 auto has license ZJL-162, officers said.

Last Friday the agency reported a 1968 Chevrolet and a key ring containing about 50 car keys missing.

Warrant Issued In Fraud Case

A bench warrant has been issued in Marin Municipal Court for Barbara Dianne Dittman, 25, of Oakland, who is charged with two misdemeanor counts of credit card fraud.

Judge Peter Allen Smith set bail on the warrant at $2,500 when she failed to appear for arraignment on the charges.

She was arrested last Friday on suspicion of felony forgery when she attempted to purchase a tire at a Corte Madera service station with a credit card belonging to a San Rafael man.

Novato Players To Seat Officers

John A. Bernardi will be installed as president of the Novato Community Players at the Group's annual dinner at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Nero's restaurant, Ignacio.

Evens Burker will be installed as vice president, Doris Cormier, historian; Albert L. Richter, treasurer-business manager, and Paul R. Terry Jr., secretary.

There will be a social hour starting at 6:30 p.m.

Trio Burned To Death In Robbery Fire

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—Three persons, including a teen-age boy, were burned to death today by a robber who apparently beat them, stacked clothes over them before igniting the pile with cleaning fluid.

Capt. Paul Gulas, chief of city detectives, said the killer beat the victims, probably until they were unconscious, and then set the bodies on fire in a back room of Cantrell Cleaners on East Charleston Blvd.

The victims were burned beyond recognition, but the place was owned by Alfred and Ida Lizzio who had a 14-year-old son, Johnny. The family often worked at the shop, which was not open when the robbery-fire occurred, according to Gulas.

He said the floor safe in the store was opened and the keys were still in the lock. He estimated between $400 and $3,000 was missing.

Firemen said temperatures reached 1,000 degrees in the store during the height of the blaze.

Jake Wright, 46, a maintenance man, survived. He was reported in critical condition at Southern Nevada Memorial Hospital with second and third degree burns over 75 per cent of his body.

"The miracle of the whole thing is Mr. Wright," said Gulas. "He managed to get out with his clothes and shoes on fire. He literally ran out of his shoes as he ran or walked or crawled about 500 feet to a shopping center where there was a telephone booth. He managed to pull a dime out of his pocket and call police."

Wright told police a man armed with a revolver entered the store, beat the three victims and himself and knocked them to the floor. He said the man piled clothes on them, poured cleaning solvent on the stack and set it afire.

Costly Trial Bill Advances

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill intended to improve protection for small counties threatened with being wiped out financially by costly murder trials such as that of Charles Manson has been approved by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

Sent to the floor Wedesday was a bill by Assemblywoman Pauline Davis, D-Portola, which would make it easier for counties to be reimbursed by the state for murder trials that threaten to disrupt local fiscal stability.

Current law provides for state reimbursement of the cost of a murder trial when the costs exceed 10 cents on each $100 of assessed property valuation countywide. The Davis bill would reduce the figure to five cents.

Arraignment On Pot Possession

George Ian King, 50, of 95 George Street, Cotati, was arraigned yesterday in Central Sonoma Municipal Court on a charge of possession of marijuana for sale.

Judge Frank J. Passalacqua set bail at $2,500 and said he would consider releasing King on his own recognizance in proceedings Monday at 1:30 p.m. King, a cook, was arrested Wednesday at his home by Cotati police acting on a court warrant.

Hearing Set For Man In Marijuana Case

General Anthony Tucker, 25, of no known address, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on charges of possessing and selling marijuana. He is to be arraigned in Superior Court May 10.

Tucker was arrested at a Fairfax residence June 30 after a police officer saw suspected pot plants growing on the roof.

State Cans Automatic Toll Devices

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The state announced today it is junking the new automatic toll collecting machines on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge because motorists fouled them up.

Starting April 30, conventional uniformed toll takers will be back on duty in all lanes, state Public Works Director James A. Moe reported.

The automatic toll collecting machines were installed three months ago at three toll booths on the bridge in a move aimed at improving speed and efficiency.

But the machines failed to deal with what Moe described as "inexperienced drivers."

He said they would get into the automatic collection lane, find they didn't have the correct change and abruptly swerve out and endanger other drivers.

Automation also required "wrong way" drivers to go nine miles out of their way to turn around at Yerba Buena Island because there were no human toll collectors to momentarily hold traffic so the driver could cut across an access lane to eastbound traffic.

And, some motorists would pour 50 pennies or coins wrapped in cellophane into the automated process just to watch the machine digest them.

All in all, Moe said, officials concluded that "automatic collection is, at present, not safe and efficient" but the state plans to consider automatics again when the machines have been improved.

The machines had been estimated to save the state $2,400 a year.

Graham Crusade Sessions Set

Informational briefing sessions will be held at two Marin churches tomorrow for women interested in hosting prayer groups in their homes this summer in connection with the Northern California Billy Graham Crusade.

One will be at the First Baptist Church in Novato at 1 p.m. and the other at Peace Lutheran Church in Mill Valley at 3:30 p.m.

The Billy Graham crusade is scheduled for July 23 through Aug. 1 at the Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum.

Stolen Property Arrest In Fairfax

Rudolf W. Huizen, 36, of 300 Olema Road, Fairfax, was arrested Wednesday on suspicion of possessing stolen property, by Fairfax police.

Officers said Huizen was booked into county jail after several days of investigation, and then released on $2,500 bail. He was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Police said they found in Huizen's possession a movie projector listed among items stolen April 4 from the home of Peter Abrams, 458 Bolinas Road, Fairfax.

Correct Age

A typographical error in Saturday's issue of the Independent-Journal's Marin Magazine added 10 years to the age of Sausalito School board candidate Lillie Mae Hill. Mrs. Hill is 33, not 43.

EARTH

ed figure of a "man of the future."

His eyes were covered with glassy film to protect them from pesticides, his skin discolored and his hair patchy because of pesticides and he had an enlarged nose "to act as a better filter to keep out pesticides and oxides and harmful particles."

As time elapses man will become physically changed to cope with his environment, the accompanying sign explained.

There were signs reading:: "Did you know it takes 10 trees to replace oxygen for each car? If you don't stop pollution, who will?"

There was a noise pollution scale showing the range of sounds from a soft whisper, 30 decibels, to a large orchestra, 130, a jet engine, 170 and topped by a Saturn rocket, 180.

There were posters reading: "The population bomb is everyone's baby" and "Love is beautiful and overpopulation isn't."

Standing alone was a scarecrow figure of a man, roped off in one square yard of territory, with a warning that at the present rate of population growth this is all the space there will be for each person in the year 2,000.

Throughout the day there were talks by visiting speakers and films at various classrooms on overpopulation, air pollution, power, water pollution, land use and local problems.

Principal Henry Moroski said that practically all the classrooms were in use.

San Marin High, nestled beneath green hills in a comparatively new sector of Novato, stands close to unspoiled environment.

Students apparently are not hopeful that it will be retained, for when Albert I. Solnit, chief of advance planning for Marin County, asked if a group felt "things are getting worse," most raised a hand.

Fairfax Nod To Annexation Plan

Fairfax City Council last night voted unanimously to proceed with plans to annex Oak Manor to the city and accepted a report on the cost and effects of the annexation, according to City Clerk Eileen L. Foster.

The Council will meet May 6 with the Oak Manor Homeowners' Association to present the study, prepared by former mayor Frank J. Egger, and to discuss the proposal with the group.

The Council voted 3-2 to delay the second reading on the proposed sign ordinance until June 14 to allow City Administrator Robert E. Crowe additional time to poll merchants, Mrs. Foster reported. She said Councilmen Lee Nelder and Robert R. Souza opposed the introduction of the ordinance because of the hardship it would represent to some merchants.

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Three use permits for the rural Petaluma area were approved yesterday by the Sonoma County Board of Zoning Adjustments.

OBITUARIES

William J. Irving Dies At 66

William Joseph (Bill) Irving, a member of one of West Marin's oldest families, died yesterday at his home following a short illness. He was 66.

Irving, heir to the 100-acre Halleck Creek Ranch in Nicasio, was found dead in bed, apparently from natural causes, the Marin County Coroner's Office said today.

The Halleck Creek Ranch was purchased by his grandfather, Peter Irving, a Scottish immigrant, in the mid-1850s and has remained in the family since.

His father, Thomas, who operated the ranch for years, was a founder of the Nicasio School in 1871.

Irving was born at Point Reyes Station and operated the Nicasio cattle ranch for about 50 years. He served as chief of the Nicasio Volunteer Fire Department for about 10 years.

He is survived by his wife, Estelle G.; three sons, Kenneth L., Duane T., and William Scott Irving, and a daughter, Sylvia J. Irving. All are Nicasio residents except William who lives in Petaluma. He also is survived by two sisters, Bernice Turner of Petaluma dn Grace Rassmusson of San Francisco and 10 grandchildren.

Funeral will be tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be at Olema Cemetery, Olema.

Antiwar Groups Plan Motorcade

Three Marin anti-war groups yesterday announced a motorcade of peace demonstrators through Sausalito tomorrow en route to the peace march in San Francisco.

Barbara Boxer of Greenbrae, a member of the Marin Telephone War Tax Protest Committee, said members of her group, the Marin Alternative and the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, will begin the procession at about 9 a.m. from Sabella's Restaurant in Mill Valley.

She said it will travel through Sausalito "to pick up those people down there" and continue on to Rossi Playground in San Francisco.

Those interested in participating in the motorcade should gather outside Sabella's at about 8:30 a.m., she said.

Charges Filed Against Pair On Pot Count

Misdemeanor charges have been filed in Harin Municipal Court against two Mill Valley youths arrested Wednesday on suspicion of possessing marijuana.

Timothy John Lojko and Kevin Scott Anci, both 19, were charged with possession of narcotics paraphernalia, being in a place where narcotics are used and transporting alcohol in a car.

Anci was also charged with having an open beer in a car.

The pair was arrested at 2:55 a.m. by Mill Valley police after a routine traffic stop. Police said they found a water pipe and suspected marijuana and hashish in the car.

They are to be arraigned next Wednesday.

Bomb Threat Halts Business At Market

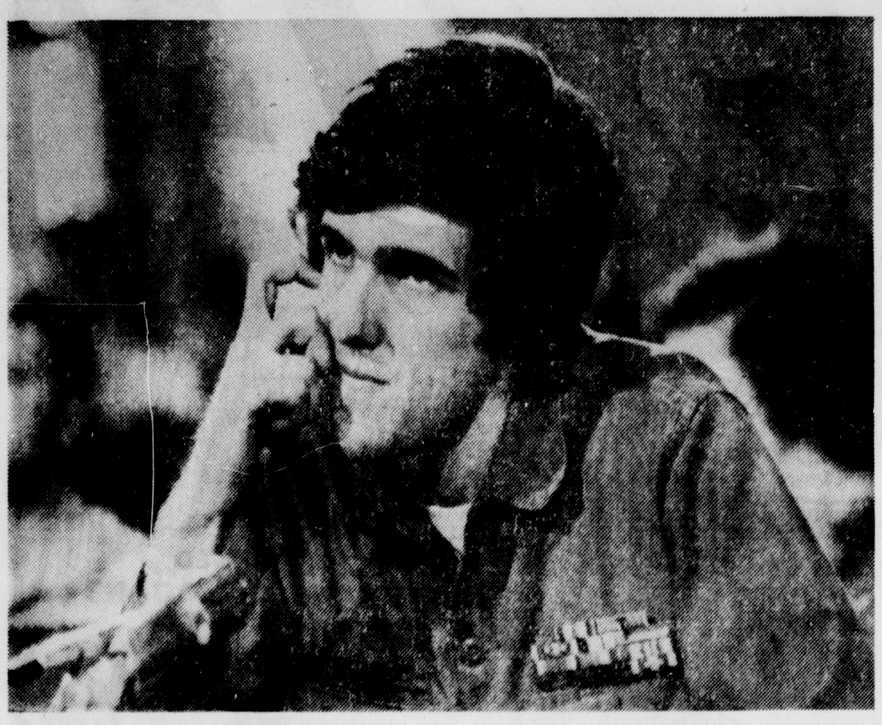
Antiwar Vets Win Bid For Mall



SOLDIER ASKS WAR'S END — John Kerry, 27, former combat officer in Vietnam who led a rag-tag army of 1,000 veterans to Washington this week to protest the war, told a Senate hearing yesterday his group was on "a last mission — to search out and destroy the last vestiges of this barbaric war." (UPI Telephoto)

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Nine hundred Vietnam veterans, marching silently past the White House in a demonstration for withdrawal of U.S. forces from Indochina, may be reaching President Nixon as no other antiwar groups have been able to do.

The battle-dressed veterans, wearing the medals and ribbons they won in Vietnam, walked or rolled in wheelchairs in a candlelight parade Thursday night so silent it couldn't be heard half a block away. They carried the flag upside down — depicting what one spokesman said was the military's acknowledged signal of distress.

Demonstration leaders called the march another victory for the veterans who earlier had camped out on the Capitol Mall despite a Supreme Court order forbidding it.

White House insiders said President Nixon passed the word "without fanfare" for the veterans to stay on the grassy parkland that runs west from the Capitol past the Washington Monument to the Lincoln Memorial.

The veterans began breaking up their campsite on Washington's Mall today to end five days of demonstrations, climaxed by symbolically throwing their combat medals into a "body bag" at the Capitol.

Leaders of the organization Vietnam Veterans Against The War appointed a cleanup crew with orders to clear the campsite area at the foot of Capitol Hill by midday. They maintained the campsite in chilly, sometimes rainy weather despite a Supreme Court order banning a campout.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said in a statement, "These veterans, whose opinion carries the badge of battle, have made an impression on the Congress. Their opinions have been heard."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., ate hamburgers and talked with the veterans on the mall before dawn Thursday. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said, "your reaction to the war has changed our policy." Muskie visited the camp before the march.

The foreign relations task force of the White House Conference on Youth, meeting at Estes Park, Colo., sent a telegram that said, "Our thoughts and prayers will be in Washington as GIs in uniform remember those Americans, Vietnamese, Cambodians and Laotians who have died in this tragic war."

The candlelight march capped Thursday's activities that included more lobbying on Captiol Hill, the arrest of 110 demonstrators at the Supreme Court and a favorable ruling by the U.S. District Court.

The court reversed an order forbidding the veterans from camping on the mall. The injunction against camping had been upheld by the Supreme Court only 24 hours earlier.

The Justice Department, which sought the injunction, also asked for the reversal. Assistant Attorney General L. Patrick Gray said the new ruling was sought because "these men are men who have served their country honorably."

Lawyers for the veterans had used similar words in arguing against the injunction.

Before the injunction was dissolved, 108 men and two women were arrested on the marble steps of the Supreme Court after a 90-minute rally against the Indochina War. Two Vietnam veterans —both double amputees in wheelchairs — demanded to be arrested, but were ignored by police.

During the rally, the demonstrators sat on the steps leading to the columned main portico facing the Capitol, clapping and singing the National Anthem, "America the Beautiful" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Veterans were testifying at Senate ad hoc hearings today on alleged war crimes and atrocities against civilians in Vietnam.

The activity is scheduled to continue through the weekend with a religious service at the National Cathedral and a mass march at the Capitol, which organizers predicted would draw "hundreds of thousands."

The Justice Department gave permission Thursday to another antiwar group, headed by Chicago Seven defendant Rennie Davis, to locate a camp south of the Lincoln Memorial for the next two weeks.

'How Do You Ask A Man To Be The Last To Die?'

By JOHN HALL

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The clean-shaven former combat officer faced the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He said he and the ragged men in the room behind him were angry —about the war, about the indifference of America, and about the prospect of a last American who will yet die before the troops leave Vietnam.

"Could you move your microphone?" asked Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo.

"Which way?"

"Like this?"

"Yes, I wanted to see what was on your chest. That's a Silver Star."

"Yes, sir."

"And that is a purple heart?"

"Yes."

"With three clusters on it. You have been wounded three times."

"Yes."

"I have no further questions."

The room erupted in applause.

For nearly two hours, former Lt. J.G. John Kerry, 27, Waltham, Mass., told the committee, the Congress and the American people why he has led a rag-tag army of nearly 1,000 veterans to Washington to protest the war in Indochina.

"We're angry because we feel we've been used in the worst fashion by this country," he said. "Our brothers go down the street without a limb, an arm, a face, and small boys ask why."

"Where are our leaders?"

Kerry is a Yale graduate who served in a Navy river patrol unit in Vietnam and now he said he and the other members of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War were on "a last mission —to search out and destroy the last vestiges of this barbaric war."

He contended the United States had "created a monster" in Vietnam —refusing to leave a war which nearly everyone now considers a tragic mistake. And if it is a mistake, he said, why are more men being told to die or be maimed there while the withdrawal continues?

"How do you ask a man to be the last to die in Vietnam?" he asked the senators. "How do you ask a man to be the last to die for a mistake?"

He told of a friend who died recently in a veterans hospital in New York while his wardmates desperately tried to obtain help. "They rang the bell. There was no one there."

And those who return physically in one piece often come back, he said, with psychological troubles and expensive drug habits. "A $12 habit in Vietnam costs $90 to support in the United States. It's very widespread."

Members of the committee sat in rapt silence and afterwards said it was among the most eloquent pleas for disengagement from Vietnam they had heard.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., gently urged Kerry not to lose faith in the political system and to recognize that Vietnam was not designed by "evil men" but was a serious "mistake in judgment" that now must be corrected.

Study Set On Subdivisions

Should unincorporated areas pay a bigger share of the cost of the county building inspection department, county counsel and engineering for subdivisions?

That question will be considered by Marin's City-County Services Committee at 8 p.m. Monday in Room 332 of the Civic Center.

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen contends that fees for building inspection and subdivision engineering should be raised, and special districts should be charged for services of the county counsel. Cities have their own city attorneys and do not call on the county counsel for legal advice, hence object to underwriting such service for other communities or districts.

Smog Fighting Goals Win Quick Adoption

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Bay Area smog officials yesterday adopted a set of long-range goals that could get them into the business of regulating land use to control growth of the region.

The goals, certain to be controversial if ever carried out, would lead to a regional land use plan to decide "the location and size of subdivisions, industrial and commercial expansion, transportation systems, high-rise developments, new power plants as well as other relevant planning decisions."

The goals were adopted unanimously with almost no discussion. The board had discussed them at previous meetings with little controversy.

The goals also promised tougher emission controls on all sources of air contamination and consideration "as to the necessity for limitation of the number and use of automobiles in the Bay Area." They also included "curtailment of the expansion of freeways and other automobile-oriented transportation arteries."

New federal air pollution laws strengthened the district's power to control land uses, its staff has reported.

Napa Mayor Ralph Trower said that the resolution adopted by the board only outlined a procedure to carry out goals.

RICHMOND (UPI)—Captain Lourn G. Phelps, 43, a 20-year Police Department veteran, was named chief Thursday. He replaces Robert Murphy who has been named chief in San Jose.

Pollution Panel Will Appeal Exclusion Ruling

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors yesterday vowed to appeal a decision by the state Air Resources Board to exclude portions of Sonoma and Solano counties from the district.

Santa Clara County Supervisor Victor Calvo, chairman of the Bay Area district, said he was "very much upset" by the decision Wednesday by the state board.

Criticizing the exclusion as fragmenting the district, he told the Independent-Journal it was "a blow against our war on air pollution."

He said that staff and members of the state board had led the district to expect rejection of the two counties' plea for exclusion.

The 1970 Legislature annexed the two plus Napa County to the district, effective this coming July 1.

Calvo said the regional board still hoped for a reversal or at least a reconsideration by the state board, which is to take final action next month on the exclusion.

A spokesman for the Bay Area district said it was not clear whether the law provides for such an appeal to reverse the state board's decision.

13 Arrested For Blocking Draft Door

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Police arrested 13 Stanford University students, most of them law scholars, Thursday when they blocked the door to a draft board office.

The 11 men and 2 women were charged with unlawful interference with Selective Service activities and released on their own recognizance.

Plans Told For Tiburon Cleanup

Up to three cubic yards of refuse, placed in disposable containers or bundles at curbside, will be collected from each Tiburon resident during Tiburon Cleanup Week May 3-7.

Assistant City Mgr. Robert L. Kleinert said the collection, free to all regular customers of Mill Valley Refuse Service in Tiburon, will be on the regular garbage collection day.

Refuse should be placed at curbside no later than 5 a.m. to be picked up by a special truck and crew. Prunings too large for containers must be tied with strong cord and may not be more than five feet long, he said.

Kleinert said no rocks, cement, appliances or dirt will be collected.

Graphics by Marin County Artist Phyllis Thelen of 199 Mountain View Avenue, San Rafael, will be on display May 4 through June 19 at Phyllis Cogswell's gallery in San Francisco. Hours are 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Reagan Wins On S. Bay Crossing

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan emerged the easy victor today from the first 1971 showdown with Democrats over his veto of a conservationist-supported bill.

The legislation would have prohibited construction of a southern crossing over San Francisco Bay without legislative approval. The governor said Bay Area voters should decide whether it should be built.

Democrats mounted a veto override attempt in the Assembly Thursday, but even with a sprinkling of Republican help, fell far short of the minimum 54 votes needed to reverse the governor.

The vote was 44-28.

No Democrats voted to uphold the veto while four Republicans—three of them from the Bay Area—joined Democrats in the override attempt. Democrats outnumber Republicans 43-37. The bill passed the Assembly 54-7 originally.

Not since 1946 when Earl Warren was governor have both houses of the legislature voted to override a veto. The Senate did so last session but the Assembly refused to concur.

Reagan said the proposed $300 to $600 million span was so controversial that Bay Area voters should decide at a special election if it should be constructed.

He ordered further development of plans for the bridge frozen for six months, saying this would give the legislature time to approve a special election.

Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, author of the vetoed measure, said he now will reactivate a pending backup bill to hold a plebiscite of Bay Area voters in conjunction with the June 1972 primary election.

Even though they originally voted for the bill, legislators traditionally are reluctant to go against the governor of their party in an override showdown. They fear it would embarrass him and bring recriminations on themselves.

HIRING ISSUE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Reagan administration and the assemblyman who represents Watts disagreed today over whether the state is moving fast enough to hire more Negroes and other minority employes.

Democratic Assemblyman Bill Greene, a Negro, charged the state "is not even making a token effort" to hire minority persons. He made the accusation Thursday after paying a surprise visit to several state office buildings to check out the extent of minority employment.

But a spokesman for Gov. Ronald Reagan questioned "the purpose" of Greene's tour.

"If it was intended for publicity purposes, it's not the best way to solve this problem," said Assistant Press Secretary Ed Gray. "We (the Reagan administration) think we're making progress to solve the problem."

Greene counted four blacks, three Mexican-Americans and three orientals among 166 employes in the Personnel Board building. In his check of the Finance Department's budget unit, he found two blacks and two orientals among 47 employes.

OIL BILL LOSES

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Thursday defeated a bill eliminating a $26 million-a-year tax break for the oil industry.

The measure by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, to drastically limit the oil depletion allowance, was rejected 41-31, with 54 votes needed for passage.

Burton kept the legislation technically alive, however, by serving notice he will seek to have the action reconsidered later.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, told the Assembly that any legislator who voted against the bill was "clearly voting for the oil industry and against the people."

All the opposition votes were cast by Republicans. The Democrats had taken a united position in favor of the bill.

ELECTION BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Senate has overwhelmingly defeated a bill allowing candidates for public office to submit a 150-word statement of qualifications along with sample ballots.

Sponsored by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, the measure was rejected Thursday, 5-29. Critics said it could enable one candidate to attack another without provision for rebuttal.

The choral group of the Novato chapter, American Association of University Women, will sing and Rev. Robert Fickenscher of Grace Lutheran Church will give the invocation. The Friends of the Novato Library will be hostesses.

Librarian Martha Van Etten reported that the story hour for pre-school children will be resumed at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday with a puppet show by Kathy Sternberg.

Woman Killed By Predawn Tornado

FLORENCE, Ala. (UPI)— One person was killed and at least three injured today when a tornado touched down in the predawn hours near this northwest Alabama city.

Authorities said Mrs. Nancy Loveless, in her 20s, died when the tornado blew a tree across her mobile home five miles north of Florence at the Central Heights community. Her husband was injured.

Official Ailing

John B. Averett, 50, San Rafael finance officer, suddenly became ill last night at his home, 86 Galleon Way, and was taken to Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital where he was reported in good condition today. Details of his illness were not available.

Budget Of $19,600 Is Approved

Sleepy Hollow Homes Association members last night discussed Tuesday's election results and approved a $19,600 budget for fiscal 1971-72.

Association president Charles C. Swensen said there was only informal discussion of the voter's rejection of a community services district that would have taken over fire protection and possibly added police services to the neighborhood.

The members at the quarterly meeting agreed that the homeowner group should continue the role it has had for the last 15 years in arranging for services, Swensen reported.

One of the main foreseeable needs, he said, was additional policing to control juvenile problems "just like there are in the rest of the county."

$14 Million Aid For Aerospacers

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—California will receive $14 million in federal funds to assist unemployed aerospace engineers, a state official said Thursday.

Louis J. Johnson, deputy director of the Human Resources Department, said the money will provide allowances for the workers to seek work in distant communities, for on-the-job training and to relocate in new areas where a job has been obtained.

The money is part of $42 million provided nationally to help out-of-work aerospace engineers.

Las Gallinas Powwow On Issues

Community problems and concerns ranging from hospitals through proposed roads and the possible annexation of Terra Linda to San Rafael were discussed last night at a council representing 15 organizations in Las Gallinas Valley.

Richard L. Less, president of the Las Gallinas Valley Council, said that the council heard representatives of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce describe a road the chamber has proposed as a connection to Sleepy Hollow.

Less said that the chamber wants the county to study the possibility of connecting Terra Linda, San Rafael, San Anselmo and Sleepy Hollow and possibly Lucas Valley Road with a through route.

The plan has been opposed in the past by Terra Linda area residents, Less said, but no action was taken last night.

The council also heard a report from Dr. Filmore Rodich concerning a proposed $14 million addition to Marin General Hospital, a plan questioned by Terra Linda area physicians and others in the northern part of the county.

Less said that Dr. Rodich's committee has questioned the advisability of spending that much money for a 100-bed addition to the hospital in Greenbrae as well as remodeling the existing building.

Less said that Dr. Rodich's committee had doubts about "putting all the eggs in one basket" by concentrating all hospital facilities and that the committee also objected to tearing down the hill behind Marin General, which apparently would be necessary.

Less said that for $14 million, a new modern separate hospital could be built, possibly in the northern part of the county, where he said more growth is taking place.

The council decided not to commission a report of its own on where hospital facilities should be located, but rather to take the questions and doubts of Las Gallinas Valley residents to the hospital board.

In another discussion concerning equalizing tax rates between cities and unincorporated areas of the county, Less said that Donald Duer, chairman of the Marinwood Community Services District, was appointed to form a committee to make proposals.

He said that the council wanted to be able to propose a tax distribution to the Marin County Council of Mayors and Councilmen which would be fair to both city and other residents.

As to the proposed annexation of Terra Linda and possibly Marinwood to San Rafael, Less said that the discussion last night was mainly aimed at reassuring other Las Gallinas Valley groups that nothing precipitous would be done.

He said that Santa Venetia and other residents have expressed fears that their "political future would be uncertain" if Marinwood and Terra Linda went into the city.

The council last night, however, did not discuss the merits of the annexation proposal.

A discussion of enforcing zoning ordinances was postponed to a meeting scheduled for May 20 at 8 p.m. at a place to be decided upon later.

Judge Switched In Hilliard Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The trial of Black Panther chief of staff David Hilliard on a charge of threatening the life of President Nixon was transferred Thusday to a different federal judge.

U.S. Dist. Judge Samuel Conti turned the case over to Judge William P. Gray of Los Angeles who will be sitting in San Francisco during the month of May.

"This case is going to trial May 3," he said. "If it appears there will be some foul-up which would cause continuances, then I will take the case back because it is my responsibility."

Cyclist Hurt

Gretchen Apostoli, 28, of 19 Glen Court, San Rafael, was treated at 6:50 p.m. yesterday at Marin General Hospital for multiple scrapes suffered in a motorcycle accident, according to hospital authorities. No additional information was available.

Corte Madera Police Seek Help

The Corte Madera Police Department last night appealed for help from a group of about 40 homeowners — some of whom have criticized the department for poor police protection.

"We can't prevent crime without your help," Sgt. Charles H. Rester told the meeting of Mariner Cove Improvement Association members. "You can hire 500 more cops but it won't do you any good unless the department has neighborhood support."

In February, 111 East Corte Madera businessmen and homeowners — including some Mariner Cove homeowners — presented a petition to the town council charging the 14-man department with providing "insufficient police protection."

At last night's meeting, attended also by Police Chief David L. McIntosh, no charge was leveled against the department even though the businesswoman who circulated the petition was present.

Following a 45-minute slide show introduction to the duties of police officers — the first of a four-part series developed by Rester, — residents questioned the officers on what homeowners could do to help.

Report anything unusual, they were told. "You know what looks right in your neighborhood. . .If you see something unusual call us, that's what you are buying these fancy patrol cars for," Rester said. "Eighty-five per cent of the calls don't mean a thing, but we work for the small percentage."

In its business meeting, the improvement association elected six new members to its 11-member board of directors.

Open Space Plea Beats Duplex Plan

The Cotati Planning Commission last night rejected a planned duplex after residents urged the preservation of open space.

Kenneth D. and Maureen Garner had requested a use permit for the duplex in a rural residential zone on West School Street at Maple Avenue.

Neighbors told the commission that the remaining open space should be maintained and forecast parking and traffic problems if the duplex were approved. Garner argued unsuccessfully that the lot is more than adequate in size for the duplex and that he would provide two covered parking spaces and four uncovered spaces.

In other action, the commission approved the request of Laura Washburn to install bathroom facilities in her studio workshop at 733 West School Street. Also passed was the request of S. H. Cervantes Sr. to change single family zoning to two-family on five lots at Sierra and Valparaiso Avenues for the future Casa Bonita subdivision.

Early Exposure To Careers And Better Education Urged

By JEFF GREER

Students need earlier exposure to types of careers available and what education is needed to get the jobs, participants in the Marin County Industry-Education Council conference agreed yesterday.

Volunteers among the 165 participants formed a nucleus group to plan for the goals. Chairman John L. Levinsohn of San Rafael called a follow-up meeting for 8:30 a.m. May 8 in the guidance center at Redwood High School.

Levinsohn told the conference at the College of Marin that "if industry works with suppliers of raw materials on specifications for what you buy, why not work with educators on the type and education of the employee you're buying?"

The conference split into seven groups for discussion of matching education and industry needs in the fields of health services, construction trades, government, retailing, public services, finance and ecology.

After 90-minute discussions by industry representatives, teachers and students, the group leaders summarized their groups' opinions.

Van Logan, development firm executive, reported the finance group urged that professionals in the field spend considerable time in the classroom to acquaint students with opportunities, and to learn youths' attitudes.

Logan and other group leaders agreed that many Marin County firms are too small to allow management enough time to offer extensive work experience programs for students.

Health section leader Ray K. Bolinger, administrator of Marin General Hospital, stressed the need to inform ninth and tenth grade students or even younger, of the career possibilities, rather than wait until the senior year. Pacific Gas and Electric Co. official Elmo Petterle said his public services group wanted industry to tell students earlier about "testing requirements that industry will want of the students." He called for countywide coordination of the schools' work-experience programs, and efforts to let each student explore "three, four or five vocations."

Ecology group leader John Green, a Chevron Research Co. physicist, reported "no one really knows what an ecologist is,"but said the panel agreed that industrial engineers, scientists and writers must henceforth have ecological training to guide their firms' actions.

Merchant Steve Leonisio said the retail group urged that students get to "feel and touch and see" actual careers, then return to the classroom to say "I've got to learn to add and how to make change."

The construction group found and criticized a five-year age gap between high school graduation and average entry into trade apprenticeship. The government group suggested the industry-education council use political influence to get public agencies to create work-experience programs for youth.

Common Use Of Facilities Agreed Upon

The continued common use of school and city facilities was agreed upon last night at a joint meeting of the Petaluma Board of Education and Rohnert Park City Council.

Schools Supt. Lesly H. Meyer said a plan will be worked out so that James Pekkain, Rohnert Park recreation director, can take charge of school grounds for summer recreation programs. Meyer said the men also agreed to continue the mutual use of the city swimming pools, recreation center, school meeting rooms and gymnasiums.

Meyer said the board and council heard that the improvements of Snyder Lane in front of Rancho Cotate High School may be delayed further since some property owners are having financial difficulties and cannot join an assessment district to finance the project.

39 Flee Fire In Haight-Ashbury

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A blazing three-alarm fire in the attic of a Haight-Ashbury artists' quarters sent 39 residents in two buildings to the street early yesterday and caused an estimated $30,000 damage before it was brought under control.

The fire broke out in the attic apartment of artist Jack Leftwich, 37, who reported the fire at 4:30 a.m. Fire Chief Keith Calden said the blaze was probably caused by an electric heater set in a fireplace.

Leftwich awoke the 30 occupants of his building, but the flames burst through the roof and spread to neighboring turn-of-the-century frame building next door, and its eight occupants also fled.

Pot Suspect Is Arrested

A 28-year-old Sausalito man was booked into Marin County Jail Wednesday on suspicion of possessing marijuana and drug paraphernalia after police went to his home to investigate a burglary in progress.

James Washburn Davis, of 96 Santa Rosa Avenue was arrested on a search warrant which officers had obtained after they entered the residence through an open front door to search for a burglar. Police found no thief, but said they found remains of suspected marijuana cigarettes and a brass waterpipe in the home. They obtained the warrant and arrested Davis when he returned to the residence.

He was freed on $625 bail, to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

San Pedro Loop Bicycle Path Plans Told To Panel

Plans for posting signs along the San Pedro Road Loop marking it a bicycle route were described last night at the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission meeting.

Andrew J. Snyder Jr., director of parks and recreation for the city, told the commission that the city's traffic safety committee had approved signing of the part of San Pedro Road that is within city limits.

He said that the county is making plans for marking the portion outside the city.

He added that the Marin Cyclists Club has volunteered to dig post holes and put up signs and that he hopes the signs will be up by this summer.

In other business last night, the commission worked out a proposal to be made to the Dixie School District for joint financing and construction of recreation facilities, including two tennis courts, on Dixie property.

Snyder said that the proposed facilties will be on the grounds of Don Timoteo and Vallecito schools adjacent to the new Freitas Park. He said that he will meet with the Dixie School Board next Wednesday to discuss the project.

The commission also learned that a snack bar at Albert Field has been completed and will open tomorrow for the Little League opening.

Snyder said that the San Rafael Police Officers Association and Little League organization contributed to the snack bar.

The commission last night also worked with 10 members of the Goldenaires to revise the bylaws of the senior citizens group.

The commission postponed discussion of 1971-72 budgets until a meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday in city hall.

Labor Union Resistance Urged

Members of the Sonoma-Marin Dairymen's Association were urged yesterday to resist the incursion of labor unions into their industry.

The advice came from Ross F. Thoresen, manager of Industrial Relations Council, a Salt Lake City labor relations counseling firm. Thoresen was speaker at the dairymen's annual meeting at Point Reyes Station.

Wage increases without increased productivity are self defeating, he said. He predicted that consumers will soon realize wage increases lead to disproportionately high consumer price increases. Collective bargaining is a failure, he declared.

Thoreson spoke before approximately 150 association members and guests at the dairymen's annual barbecue steak luncheon at the West Marin Community Center.

Classes Canceled At Sonoma For Faulty Parley

Classes have been canceled for Monday at Sonoma State College so that faculty members may participate in a two-day conference on the college's future.

Faculty and administrators will meet Sunday and Monday at the Archbishop McGucken Youth Center at Occidental to reexamine the college's purposes and to find more effective ways of meeting its goals.

Warren B. Martin of the center for the Study of Higher Education at the University of California at Berkeley will give the opening address. Sonoma State president Thomas H. McGrath will also speak.

After meetings of 17 discussion groups, a general assembly will be held. Conference chairman is Dr. Glenn Price, history department.

Surprise Awaits One Commuter

A commuter found a surprise waiting for him when he returned from work in San Francisco yesterday: his truck was sitting on four cement blocks instead of tires.

San Rafael police said today Arthur G. Adler of 420 Montecillo Road, Terra Linda, had parked his 1963 International Scout truck in front of the Golden Venus Spa on Redwood Highway about 7 a.m.

When he returned at 6 p.m., the five heavy truck tires and rims — including the spare — were gone, police reported. Tires were valued at $360.

The oldest reason in the world for buying a new one.

Meet Jim Freim, age 25.
And his automobile, age 23.
Now there's nothing unusual about a nice human being being 25.
But you have to admit it's a bit unusual when a car, even a Volkswagen, is still running around at the ripe old age of 23.

But, you see, in this age of "New, Now, Wow" automobiles, we spend very little time making our little car look better. (Obviously.)
But we do spend a great deal of time making it work better.
Each and every one of the 5,115 parts in the VW has been improved and improved again since Jim Freim's car hit the highway back in '49.
We, of course, mentioned this to him and suggested that maybe after 23 years, it was time he traded his old one in for a new one.
"Don't call me, I'll call you," he said.

Too Many Chefs Spoil The Zupa? Not So At The Deer Park Villa

For good hearty, flavorsome food it's hard to beat the old maestros from the sunny Mediterranean and their sons and grandsons who carry on the treasured art of their cooking down through the generations.

And the art is slow to die out, because in the way of Italian families they get together with other Italian families and multiply.

So it has been with the Ghiringhellis of Deer Park Villa in Fairfax. Papa Joe Ghiringhelli, a master of his family's profession, married Antoinette Pagani, also from a family of good chefs and cooks. And in due course they had Dolores and Bob and Harry and Jon, who dutifully learned the various aspects of the family restaurant profession and who have carried it on since then. At least Dolores, Bob and Harry have. Jon Strayed into the real estate business, but put a chef's hat on him and I understand everything comes back.

The whole family of them, including some of the grandchildren, are in it up to their polenta. So you can figure chances of getting some excellent scallopini are pretty good when you go to Deer Park.

Personally I like veal scallopini and when it's done right I can't seem to get enough of it. But don't let me influence you. Look at the rest of the Deer Park menu — maybe you prefer something else besides veal. If you can't make up your mind, close your eyes and point your finger at something. Whatever it indicates is sure to turn out okay.

This summer you can look for some fine outdoor service under the trees on the new deck at Deer Park.

And I might as well mention that I am having doubts again about this business of who is the dean of chefs of Marin County — Joe Ghiringhelli or Sal Galli. Each one swears he was here first. Will someone in his 70s, who knew them both when, kindly step in and break the deadlock!

Joe's first place was the old Union Hotel in downtown San Rafael. Sal's was the Two Mile Inn, north of San Rafael. All I know now for sure is that half a century has gone by since they started. Exact dates are still in dispute.

THIRSTY YACHTSMEN turning out Sunday on the water for the opening of the yachting season should focus their glasses to locate the power boat of Bernard's Executive Lounge, which will be cruising somewhere between Tiburon and the San Rafael Marina.

You should be able to identify it easily at a distance from its sign, "The Harvey Wallbanger Hospitality Center." If you do, pull alongside. Don Bernard says libations will be served accordingly.

After 4 p.m., if you missed the boat, you can congregate at Bernard's in San Rafael for a free handout of beans and hamhocks. But you'll have to pay for your own Harvey Wallbanger.

ONCE THE YACHTING SEASON OPENS, you can bank on the Tiburon Champagne Dinner Cruise starting not long after. This year, first cruise will be next Thursday. There will be music, dancing and a champagne party aboard.

Two tours leave every Thursday night from Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco — one at 6:30 p.m. and the second at 7:45 p.m. They return from Tiburon to San Francisco at 9:45 and 11 p.m. respectively — after you have had a chance to dine at one of five Tiburon restaurants — Tiburon Lodge, Sam's Anchor Cafe, El Borro, Windjammer, the Dock or Tiburon Tommie's. If you can't make up your mind which one to choose, visit them all before making your selection.

Price for cruise and dinner (sans tax and tip) is $8.75 per person. Make reservations with Tiburon Dinner Cruise, 1714 Stockton Street, San Francisco.

Saturday and Sunday lunch cruises will begin June 2.

THE THREE TOP beer drinking nations are the United States, Germany and Great Britain. California has 10 operating breweries, making it the fifth largest producer in this country.

THE LIONS SHARE on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile is featuring the Van Morrison Show (two shows each night) tonight, tomorrow and Sunday. Tickets, on sale at the door, are $3.

ANOTHER FRED CHERRY California night is back in the news. This one, for members of Les Bon Vinants members as usual, will be held April 28 at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley. Time is 7:30 p.m.

Wines of Paul Masson will be featured and George Loizos, owner of Cafe Ambrosia in San Anselmo, will be the chef. He will offer a classic dinner of Mediterranean dishes, including something new which probably will soon appear on his own menu — Spinakopeta, a traditional cheese delicacy of Greece, "made of spinach and feta cheese, wrapped in port-brushed, paper-thin leaves of pastry and baked until brown."

You can make arrangements by calling Cafe Ambrosia.

LIKE OLD WINES? Heublein's Premiere National Auction of Rare Wines will be held for the first time in California May 26 at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco. It is reported to be featuring one of the rarest collections of European and California wines ever assembled.

One is the personal cellar of the late John Daniel Jr., nephew of Gustave Niebaum, founder of Inglenook Vineyards in the Napa Valley. It will include wines laid down in the late 1800s and other old Inglenook vintages ranging from the early 1900s through early 1940s.

A preview is scheduled at the Colonial Room in the St. Francis on May 25, when bid forms will be available.

A WINE TASTING RECEPTION, sponsored by the Northgate One Merchants Association and Terra Linda Athletic Association, will be held tomorrow at Lin Fa Gardens in Northgate One from 2 to 5 p.m. Wines will be furnished by Tiburon Vintners from their Windsor Vineyards. The late Russ Hodges was to have been here.

Donations are $1 per ticket. Proceeds will benefit the Terra Linda Athletic Association's Little League. Tickets are available from league members and at Northgate One stores.

VICTOR J. (TRADER VIC) BERGERON opens his 18th Trader Vic's Restaurant this month in Munich, Germany. Located in the prestigious Hotel Bayerischer Hof, it will seat 300 persons and have a staff of 150. Besides its usual selection of exotic foods and rum drinks it will feature something new called the Munich Sour, made from fine German brandy.

Bergeron opened his first place 37 years ago in Oakland. He called it Hinky Dinks and sold good whiskey for 15 cents a shot.

Guilty Plea To Check Charge

Deborah Louise Talbot, 18, of Corte Madera, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a felony bad check charge. A second count of the same charge was dismissed.

Miss Talbot, who earlier had pleaded innocent to both counts is to be sentenced in superior court May 3.

She was arrested by Novato police April 13.

Tiburon Lodge Plan On Agenda

The Tiburon City Council, meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday at city hall, will consider a precise plan for a 34-room addition to the Tiburon Lodge, 1651 Tiburon Boulevard.

Also on the agenda is election of a mayor and mayor pro tem to replace Denis T. Rice and Albert H. Sennett respectively.

Hickel Weighs Some Conditions On Entering N.H. Primary

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)— Former Secretary of Interior Walter J. Hickel said Thursday under certain conditions he would challenge the national Republican administration by entering the New Hampshire primary.

Hickel said an escalation of the war in Southeast Asia or a total turnabout on the current GOP ecological program could lead him into the nation's first presidential primary next year.

The former governor of Alaska added that he has not "raised a finger to challenge President Nixon" and indicated if Nixon wants the Republican nomination as things stand now he'll get it.

But he said the Republican Party needs to do more to attract the 25 million new 18 to 21-year-old voters that will participate in the 1972 presidential elections.

"The young people will evaluate each candidate more than adult voters have in the past," he added. "They vote in the direction they feel will be best for the nation rather than in a block party vote."

Turning to the environmental issue, Hickel encouraged collective action on the interstate and national level to solve America's ecological problems.

The former secretary is slated to speak on the ecological crisis April 23 at 10 a.m. in Salt Lake City, in connection with the University of Utah Earth Week activities.

"It is simply a matter of having enough courage to face the environmental problems. It is not too late now. We have the technology and the manpower to do it."

No Chance For Zyski With San Rafael Voters

When Bella H. Aaron announced her candidacy for the San Rafael Board of Education in 1961, a seasoned election observer at the city hall predicted: "She's a winner. With a double-A on the front of her name, she can't lose."

This cynical observer was basing his prediction on the record in preceding elections, and on the way names are placed on the ballot. The incumbents' names are listed first, alphabetically, followed by the challengers' names, also alphabetically. No incumbent was running the year Mrs. Aaron entered the race; therefore, her name headed the list.

The prediction proved true. Mrs. Aaron was elected with 2,127 votes, along with John M. Bagshaw, who got 2,337. Bagshaw's name was third on the list. Joseph Albanese, a former board member whose name was second, ran third with 1,971 — but, of course, the name Bagshaw was politically potent, with Albert M. Bagshaw having served as both district attorney and city attorney, and T. Fred Bagshaw being a former county supervisor.

SAN RAFAEL VOTERS tend to re-elect incumbents to the board of education. And where there is a vacancy, the name at the top of the list generally wins. That was the basis for the observer's prediction regarding Mrs. Aaron.

In 1955, incumbent Angelo Turrini (listed third) lost out to C. Paul Bettini, listed fourth — the first name after the incumbents. In 1957, there was no contest. In 1959, the three incumbents, whose names topped the list, ran one-two-three to win re-election.

In 1963, incumbent Bettini was high vote getter with 4,640, followed by the two challengers listed immediately below him: Carl J. Brown with 3,081 and J. Walter Doll with 3,410. The others finished in the exact order of their appearance on the ballot: Frank M. Parker, 2,760; Edythe B. Tait, 2,548; D. Gwynn Thomson, 2,523; Paul J. Wata, 1,372; L. E. Weisenburg Jr., 1,238.

In 1965, with no incumbent running, the first two listed, Walter R. Castro Jr. and Lawrence I. Kramer Jr., won election. Kenneth M. Procter and L. B. Thomas were losers. In 1967, John C. Pfeiffer, the lone challenger, beat out incumbent Anita Strom, whose name was immediately above his. Two years ago, Paul L. Jones and Kramer had no opposition.

ON TUESDAY of this week, incumbent Childress (whose name was at the top) led the field with 5,021 votes. Also elected were the two whose names appeared next: Marilyn Bolinger, with 3,906, and Francis X. Kelly, with 3,401. Charles B. Peek, whose name appeared sixth, finished fourth with 3,361; Richard E. West Jr., whose name was last of nine, was fifth with 3,037.

These figures tend to bear out what that city hall observer held 10 years ago: That enough San Rafael voters just take the three top names for board of education to give those candidates a distinct advantage.

WE ARE NOT suggesting that Childress got 5,021 votes just because his name headed the list. Such a total constitutes impressive endorsement of his performance on the board. Nor are we suggesting that Mrs. Bolinger and Kelly owe their election to the fortunes of the alphabet.

But it is hard to keep from wondering whether, if Charles B. Peek were Charles B. Beek, he would have received the 41 additional votes necessary for election; and whether if Richard E. West were Richard E. Best, he might have come mighty close to the winners' circle.

Electing "by alphabet" has worked out pretty well. It did again this time. Both Mrs. Bolinger and Kelly have evidenced perceptive concern about school problems.

But perhaps we should consider rotating names on the ballot, or basing the listing order on chance by drawing the names from a hat, or listing in order of time of filing to give whatever advantage accompanies the top of the list to those who enter the contest earliest. Young and Zylski should not be under any automatic alphabetical handicap when running against Adams and Baker.

Recall Of Wright Seen As Ominous

The loss of Gordon Wright on the Reed School Board should be considered with sober reflection. It is hard to envision "fine, constructive growth" from the destructive act which removed him from office.

Before the right school policies can be established, those qualities which will be reflected had better be clear. Is financial irresponsibility better than responsible spending? Is mediocrity better than excellence? Is cruelty better than compassion?

Was it an example of compassion or cruelty to turn Mr. Wright out of office in the middle of his term? To place him at the mercy of ribaldry, rancor, lies, and discourtesy, while the unruly clothe themselves with immunity from their coercive actions?

Was this an example of intelligence and goodwill, or an ominous sign of the future?

Different View Of Military Mind

In regard to Mr. (Roscoe) Drummond's "Military Mind" article of April 19, he made the statement that the Geneva Conference divided Vietnam into two halves. This indicates that Mr. Drummond is a poor historian. The Geneva Agreements of July 1954 stated that the 17th Parallel "cease-fire line" was "provisional and should not in any way be interpreted as constituting a political or territorial boundary." During the Eisenhower administration, in 1954, we agreed to "seek to achieve unity through free elections supervised by the United Nations." When Mr. Eisenhower left office in 1961 nothing had yet been done.

Perhaps Mr. Drummond will write a future article on how dropping 7½-ton bombs on innocent villages is not really the use of American military forces in Asia but rather a form of "arms aid." I seriously question his concept of a "military mind."

Tax Collector's Delay Protested

On March 23 I wrote the tax collector of Marin County to advise if taxes had been paid on lots 46 and 47 Machins Subdivision to Black Point, but to this date I have received no reply.

Are they understaffed or just inefficient? Would it be too much trouble for you to contact the department and see if they are having any trouble there. It just can't be that I am the only one having a problem with them. After being a taxpayer for 20 years I should receive better service.

Present Newspaperboy Best Of Good Lot

In the past we've had good newspaper deliverers, but the present one, Terry Lombardo, is the best. Hope he continues.

Something in your paper puzzled us in regard to the hunting clubs. Now that the public will be able to walk over water district land, will the San Francisco Water Department allow the public to walk on theirs?

In Case You Wondered

In case readers wondered why Phil Newsom's column on this page yesterday speculated on the death of President Francois Duvalier of Haiti while a story on page one of the same issue reported he had died:

The editorial page was made up and sent to press before the news of "Papa Doc's" death was received.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

April 23, 1961

A right-wing military putsch sought to take over Algeria in defiance of Franch President Charles de Gaulle's self-determination plan for the colony. The French government closed all France's airports in fear of invasion by the mutinous forces in Algeria.

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, in a radio-television speech announcing defeat of invasion forces, compared President John F. Kennedy to Adolf Hitler for the U.S. role in the affair.

20 YEARS AGO

April 23, 1951

Directors of San Rafael Military Academy, which had been threatened with closing because of low attendance and lack of funds, announced it definitely would be in operation for another year.

Two Who Should Know Advocate One Six-Year Presidential Term

WASHINGTON — There is movement in Washington to fix a single six-year term for the President so he does not have to devote so much time and energy to trying to get re-elected.

The sponsors hold that the responsibilities of the President have become so exacting and his decisions so difficult that nothing — least of all election politics — should be allowed to draw away from his performance.

Two of the leading advocates of the single six-year term are men who have viewed the presidency close-up from different vantage points.

One is Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., who has introduced a constitutional amendment to provide for a six-year term and plans to bring it up for action this year. He views the problems of the presidency from a long political perspective.

The other is Jack Valenti, who was one of L.B.J.'s most intimate and trusted aides for three years in the White House and who is now president of the Motion Picture Association. He views the problems of the presidency from an intimate, personal perspective.

THERE IS LITTLE which these two, together, do not know about the operation of the presidency and its crushing burden on the man who occupies it.

Each believes that a change in the term of office is needed.

"As one who has worked in the very inner eye of the oval office and the mansion," says Mr. Valenti, "I am convinced that if the presidency is not merely to survive, but to cope and heal, to lead and to challenge — and to succeed — it must undergo serious restructure."

Why a single six-year term? Here is Mr. Valenti's reasoning:

"The case is that within the last few years the face of the presidency has changed and with that change the kind of presidency that we once knew has forever been altered.

"The President's most precious assets become his time and his concentration. The long-range interests of the nation resent the intrusion of politics and the process of re-election. The difference between success and failure, or between disaster and survival, is so fragilly bent, so thinly constructed, even an error of one millimeter becomes crucial.

"Thus, it becomes rational and reasonable to strip the presidency of all fat, to take from it that which is not essential to make more purposeful that which is. The re-election process becomes blubber, the national bloat weighing down on the efficiency of the presidency."

WOULD A SIX-YEAR term decrease the length of presidential service? No. It might well increase the tenure. From George Washington to Lyndon Johnson, the average length of time a President held office was five years.

From the end of World War I only two Presidents were re-elected — Roosevelt and Eisenhower; six of the eight post-World War I Presidents were elected to only one term and some served less.

Some argue that the prospect of re-election alone keeps the President from being a lame-duck in his first term. Valenti's answer is:

"Lameness is not necessarily inherent in a last term. It is applicable to the strength of the president, and if our President is weak, 10 more terms won't sustain him, and if he is strong, one six-year term, leaned, boned and sturdy, is all he needs to leave his impress on the future."

It is well that Senator Mansfield is bringing forward his amendment. The six-year term deserves to be thoroughly debated.

Night's Mood In Capital As War Is Winding Down

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — When some historian of the future — say 1984 — sets out to capture the mood of this capital in the spring the war was winding down, he can focus on no more fitting slice of time than the night the veterans camped on the Mall.

You remember: It happened at the foot of Capitol Hill, while in Saigon Vice President Ky was denouncing President Thieu for corruption; in Williamsburg, Va. Vice President Agnew was denouncing President Nixon's exploratory moves toward China, and at the other end of the Mall, Mr. Nixon himself was addressing the 80th constitutional convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

THE PRESIDENT began the day by helicoptering off the south lawn of the White House above the Vietnam Veterans Against the War, who were falling back in good order from the gates of Arlington National Cemetery.

While he flew to Williamsburg to speak to the Republican governors, they made a flanking march back across the river, past the White House to the Capitol. By nightfall, he had returned and put in an afternoon of office routine while they were conducting small-scale propaganda patrols through the House and Senate office buildings.

It was time to bivouac, and in approximately battalion strength the veterans gathered on the Mall east of Third Street, dispensing with normal security measures since they had the permission of the U.S. Court of Appeals — as long as they didn't dig holes, pitch tents or build fires.

Most of them wore the green jackets of their old jungle fatigues. Many had pinned on their battle ribbons, and a scattered few wore complete medals — Purple Hearts, Bronze Stars. There was a quiet professionalism about the way they handled their packs and bedrolls. They broke up into state groups, the larger clusters of platoon size, some from the far plains states making up their own little fire teams.

Except that there were so few blacks among them, they had the look in the darkness of a unit just back in a base camp after a long, mean operation. The hair was much longer than regulations allowed, of course, and there were beards and mustaches. But that is not unusual when you're just back from the boonies.

In their clusters they passed smokes around, and one group started thumping bongo drums. Beneath the elms, the platoons held critiques of the day past and the week ahead. Their leaders over and over repeated one thing: "Now look, too many people have worked too long to get us here for us to blow it now. Just keep cooling it."

FOURTEEN BLOCKS west, the President entered Constitutional Hall with his Secret Service escort. The ladies rose to applaud him in their pastel gowns, corsages, DAR sashes, and many of them with medals, too. The flags and seals of the 50 states brightened the great hall. There were even fewer blacks there — Washington's Mayor Walter Washington and Mr. Nixon's military aide.

The ladies applauded the President again and again, especially when he said the war in Vietnam was "part of our national tradition of standing shoulder-to-shoulder with free nations menaced by outside aggression. And I say tonight that we can be proud of the more than two million brave and honorable American men who have fought in Vietnam — and who by their humane conduct and personal integrity have done credit to this nation's highest principles."

Maybe he didn't know that when that hairy, unrepresentative contingent of those two million passed Constitutional Hall earlier in the day, it had embarrassed the ladies by chanting, "One, two, three, four, we don't want your (blank blank) war." At least he didn't mention it.

HE TALKED ABOUT his own "New American Revolution," and the ladies broke in 18 times in 20 minutes to show their approval. They especially liked his anecdote about the lady from Virginia who brought him a knitted 3-by-5 foot American flag which she had made herself. She acknowledged that it had been a lot of work, that as a matter of fact, it took 78,000 separate stitches.

"I am deeply thankful that such a spirit of love for this country is still alive in America today," the President said. "It was in that lady's heart, it is in all of yours, and it is in millions of hearts across this land."

It was about that time that the troops down the Mall were hearing a rock band instead of taps as they sprawled beneath their own upside-down American flags. And in the A Shau Valley, southwest of Hue, U.S. fighter-bombers softened up enemy positions ahead of a sweep by 12,000 allied ground troops.

Powerful PUC Finds Itself In Midst Of Hot Controversy

By ARTHUR YOUNGBERG
California News Alliance

The five most powerful men in California may be the public utilities commissioners. Their orders involve billions of dollars. The only appeal to their decisions is the state Supreme Court.

The PUC sets rates for electricity, gas, water and telephone users. Railroad, bus, airline and steamship fares, truck freight rates are under their control. Right now the PUC is considering rate increase requests from privately owned utilities totaling more than $400 million a year if granted in full.

The PUC also has the responsibility of assuring Californians good, safe service from utilities. To maintain this service utility shareholders are to receive a reasonable return on their investment. Publicly owned gas, electric, water, sewer and other municipal utilities are not controlled by the PUC.

All five of California's public utilities commissioners are appointees of Gov. Ronald Reagan. They serve six-year terms. The last Democrat, A. V. Gatov of Kentfield, left the commission in February and was succeeded by Madera stockbroker D. W. Holmes.

In July, Oakland attorney J. P. Vukasin, appointed by the governor in 1969, was elected chairman of the commission by the four other members.

These are the elements, then, in the current controversy —a new chairman, a Republican commission composed of two attorneys, two businessmen and a retired rancher.

Add to this mix two sudden and unexpected changes in how the PUC functions, proposed by chairman Vukasin without prior public explanation. It all triggered a heavy barrage of criticism centering around charges that the commission had turned against the consumer.

The controversial proposals were:

—Rotating the entire 750-person PUC staff to different jobs within six months.

—Limiting the right of the public to cross-examine witnesses and allowing only attorneys to represent parties before the commission.

The rotation plan was needed, according to chairman Vukasin, to develop a needed broader base of technical knowledge within the PUC staff. In fact, rotation had been practiced on smaller scale for many years in the PUC. But rotating all 750 employees in six months drew strong protest from the staff and the public.

Restricting representation to attorneys and limiting public cross-examination would eliminate tedious duplication in testimony and speed up hearings, Vukasin argued.

PUC foes called it an attempt to muffle consumer groups, stifle public testimony and give the utilities an edge in hearing procedures.

Embarrassingly for Vukasin it turned out this plan had originated with attorneys who represent large utilities.

Following state Senate and Assembly committee hearings on Vukasin's proposals, the rotation plan was largely abandoned. The other proposal is still hanging fire.

Ironically the controversy erupted when the commission has before it some of the biggest rate increases ever. Pacific Telephone is asking $195 million; Southern California Edison, $128 million.

Charges Against James Toliver Questionable and Unnecessary

It is sad that the Sausalito School District board and administration are determined to get rid of special assistant James Toliver in a manner which could damage his future in education.

In recommending that Toliver be fired, Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg accused the black educator of incompetence and disruptive behavior. The charges were presented to Toliver after he had already been told he would not be rehired next year because of budget cuts, an indication the administration wants to be very sure he is dismissed.

Toliver administers the discipline program at Martin Luther King School and, consequently, anyone would think incompetence on his part would manifest itself in severe discipline problems.

Yet, at a recent school board meeting, trustee Robert R. Lyon said he had been informed (by many parents) of glaring problems at Central School, then commented: "Strangely enough, I haven't heard any similar complaints about King School."

THE CHARGE of disruptive behavior also seems nebulous, although one communique from the superintendent accused Toliver of such activities during Principal Sidney Walton's chaotic administration. If every person who engaged in disruptive behavior during Walton's tenure were fired from his job, most district employees, several trustees, many parents and some administrators in the county schools office could well join the ranks of the unemployed. Why single out Jim Toliver for punishment — and at this late date?

During the most explosive meeting the school board held last year, the May 4 meeting which threatened to erupt into violence when Walton was fired, it was Toliver who calmed the irate crowd and cautioned angry parents and district residents to "be cool."

This year Toliver has remained very silent at board meetings and has appeared to stay aloof from any kind of political activity, disruptive or not.

Instead, he has spent his time arranging a three-week trip to Africa for two Marin City teenagers, and quietly taught French and otherwise assisted in a week-end school which Marin City parents have started to help their children make up academic deficiencies. He is planning to take 20 Bay Area students to Ghana this summer for a one-month African studies program.

LIKE EVERYONE else, Toliver has his problems. In the past he has made mistakes and errors of judgment (perhaps serious mistakes). But who in the Sausalito district has not done the same thing?

On the plus side, the special assistant is an extremely bright, articulate man, able to relate to all kinds of people, deeply committed to education and to children, black and white. In several talks before Mill Valley parent groups, he has shown an impressive grasp of the problems and dilemmas facing integrated education — and education in general.

He has personal knowledge about the special problems black children and parents face in a white school system.

IN A FEW weeks, Toliver will have a hearing on the charges before an independent hearing officer, who will listen and make an impartial recommentation to the board on whether he feels Toliver would should be dismissed.

I would like to think the board will listen to the officer's report with open minds and use the facts it contains to make its decision.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Promise Made To World War II Servicemen Should Be Kept

I imagine that just about everyone who opened his I-J Saturday read Jack Craemer's "Editor's Notebook." It was attention grabbing, both because of content and the typographical makeup. I think editorials in general would be more often read through with that sort of make-up. There is often an eye rebellion when one is confronted with a wide measure solid block of type. I don't think that occurred Saturday. If one started reading it at any spot he most likely read the piece in its entirety.

I would like to comment on the matter of changing the name of the "auditorium." You see, my old side-kick on the board, Jim Kehoe, and I were the ones who introduced the idea of building up a veterans' memorial fund and worked to make it a reality.

Jim had lost a son over in Europe and the deep sorrow stayed with him until the end.

I WISH TO SPEAK to the proposition of appreciation, and of the importance of a public body keeping its word — its promise.

To the majority of those who are now interested in the use to which the building will be put, World War II is just about as remote as the Civil War between the North and the South was to the generation of those born in the 1880s — my generation. Therefore it is difficult for them to realize the terror which engulfed this nation in the '40s.

We were under attack. Those boys in the service then were defending their homeland — yours and mine. They had responded to the attacks on our shipping by carrying the war to the European area, 'way across the Atlantic. In the Pacific our defending fleet was almost completely destroyed at Pearl Harbor.

It was important that we here in Marin show our boys who had become men, that we did know what they had accomplished and that we did care. But how? It seemed that to create a fund and build it up year by year for a veterans' memorial, which they could have a part in determining what form it would take was the best.

NOW AS TO the promise: Each year that we set an amount in the budget for a veterans' memorial, we assured the citizen taxpayers that was exactly what it was going to be used for. They trusted the board of supervisors. I don't recall anyone objecting.

Both commitments should be kept.

Mr. manager Leon Kalimos, when you talk about changing the name, consider just how the matching money to the state's fairground funds would be provided. With the tremendous cost of the Civic Center layout, I don't think any board would have had the nerve to fund it with a current tax. There would be no performing arts building to be called a theater and no job of manager without the veterans' memorial fund.

VOICE OF YOUTH

Terra Linda Students Need Place To Eat

By ANNE DUGGAN
Junior, Terra Linda High School

In an isolated community like Terra Linda, those who are unable to leave are often prey to merchants in the area. This exploitation of consumers, only slightly alleviated by the Marin Transit Service, is perhaps best personified by the restaurants in this area. For instance, Lyon's sells hamburgers for 95 cents and $1.25 (with salad).

For students, this price severely restricts the number of times they can eat there. (And many times their hamburger is about the same quality as a place like McDonald's.) Therefore, snacks are purchased at grocery stores, and eating becomes a game where one can (1) eat while moving, (2) stay around the shopping center and have a picnic on the grass. (This "picnic" turns into a quick chomp and cat and mouse game, with the security guard as cat.) (3) walk to one of the corner parks on Freitas Parkway and get exhaust blown in your face, (4) sit right down on a curb and watch feet going by.

A cheap place like Jack-in-the-Box or McDonald's could make a fortune in Terra Linda. Regardless of their quality or dubious health conditions, these "restaurants" have enjoyed booming business from a patronage of mostly high school students. (Younger digestive systems can handle it.)

Granted, Jack-in-the-Box or McDonald's are not the best-looking or most perfect solution but at least it will match the rest of the community.

Larkspur To Ponder Population

What should be the ultimate population of Larkspur and where should it be distributed?

That question, along with others dealing with transportation, park development, open space preservation and zoning and density in the county's fifth largest city, will be pondered May 1 at the Larkspur Town Meeting.

Slated for 9 a.m. at the Henry C. Hall School, the meeting will devote its morning session to four workshops which will delve into problems faced by the city.

The afternoon session will vote on specific proposals drafted in the workshops, according to Joan L. Sestak, meeting chairman.

Panel members for the workshops include:

Population Growth and Density — Margaret Azevedo, County Planning Commissioner; Robert H. Lee, city planning commissioner, and Paul Zucker, former county planning director.

Open Space — Emme Gilman of Larkspur; Harold Gregg, executive director of the Marin Conservation League, and Nonette Hanko of the palo Alto Civic League.

Transportation — Michael Wornum, county supervisor, Theodore Barron, president of the Marin Transit System and Roy Hoffman, city engineer.

Park Development — W. J. Newton, landscape architect; Terry Campbell, city park and recreation commissioner; Lawrence C. White, director of nature and science for the department of community services, Palo Alto, and Phillip Lemmi, chief of environmental planning from the Army Corps of Engineers.

Brothers To Be Held In Tot's Death

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A juvenile court judge has ordered a 7-year-old boy and his 10-year-old brother held for further hearings in the crucifixion slaying of a toddler stolen from a city park.

The boys were excluded from Thursday's session "for their own safety" after their attorney said authorities had received numerous calls referring to them as "monsters."

Judge Francis Mayer ruled the brothers, among the youngest homicide suspects in California history, should remain at Youth Guidance Center pending a May 12 court hearing into the death of Noah Alba, 20 months.

The body of the infant was found bludgeoned, battered and lashed to a wodden cross in a dingy basement Monday after the younger of the suspects led police to the scene. Noah disappeared from Alta Vista Plaza Park the previous Wednesday.

Mayer could have sent the boys to a foster home or returned them to their father's care while officials try to decide how to proceed. The boys have been at Juvenile Hall since Tuesday.

Assistant public defender Estella Dooley asked the judge to keep the boys in seclusion rather than allowing them to attend the hearing.

"These children are not safe any place in San Francisco," she said. "They cannot be exposed to the public in any way, not even here."

Both of the boys' divorced parents attended the hearing. Their mother visited them afterward.

The facts of the case will be explored at the May 12 hearing.

Work On Carriage House Heads List

Improvements to the Robson-Harrington carriage house should be San Anselmo's first priority for park expenditures, the city's park and recreation commission has recommended.

According to Charles R. Leitzell, city parks director, the carriage house recommendation was one of several drafted by the commission Wednesday during a two-hour hearing on Robson-Harrington Park development.

It, along with other priorities, will be considered by the city council Tuesday when it considers requesting federal matching funds for several park projects.

Other priorities, Leitzeel said, include refurbishing of the Robson-Harrington mansion, picnic facilities at Sorich Ranch Park, and badminton courts and landscaping at memorial park.

Wednesday's meeting, called to hear suggestions from the public on how the park should be developed, drew about 25 persons, Leitzell said.

Also attending were two students from San Francisco State College who have agreed to create a master plan for the park.

Leitzeli said discussion ranged from how the park should be used to who should use it.

The meeting concluded with a general consensus among residents, he said, that the park should provide a quiet atmosphere — a place for bird watching, plant study, bicycling and picnicking.

Cutback In Lunches Is Averted

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Wilson C. Riles, state superintendent of public instruction, today announced that a threatened cutback in the school lunch program that would have affected 250,000 needy children has been averted.

He credited the development to "a shower of telegrams, letters and phone calls" from the state Department of Education to federal officials including President Nixon and close cooperation with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The cut was scheduled for May 1, Riles said, but the lunch program will now continue at full funding for the rest of the school year.

He explained the department had already prepared bulletins warning school districts of the impending cuts but at the last minute $5 million in unused federal school lunch funds was found in other states.

The money will be used until the expected new appropriations for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Riles said the funding gap arose "when California took seriously White House and congressional mandates to expand the federal school lunch program to every needy child."

The program grew from 180,000 students a day to 500,000 in a year's time, "but the mandates were greater in enthusiasm than money, the need outstripped funds, and the moment of truth for California was to be May 1."

Under the program, federal funds pay for 30 cents of a 45-cent lunch served free to needy pupils, with the remaining 15 cents coming from state and local sources. With the new funds, federal monies in California's program this fiscal year will exceed $20 million.

Dope Agent Suit Wins Settlement

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A $15 million damage suit filed by 49 undercover state narcotics agents against the weekly Los Angeles Free Press was settled Thursday for $43,000.

The agents initiated the suit after the underground newspaper published their names, addresses and telephone numbers in a story headlined "know your neighbor narc."

The agreement was made by publisher Arthur Kunkin, who promised to pay $5,000 immediately and the rest at $2,000 a month.

Kunkin also promised to apologize to the families of the agents, many of whom had to move because of threats after their addresses were published.

Jerry Resnick, 24, a clerk in the state attorney general's office, earlier had pleaded guilty to theft of the list. He later testified against Kunkin and reporter Jerry Applebaum, who were convicted of receiving stolen property. Those convictions are under appeal.

Amendment On Restoring College Fund

An amendment restoring state funds for two College of Marin projects has been attached to the governor's budget proposal by the state Department of Finance, the Marin Junior College District board has learned.

The amendment, to provide an additional $14 million to the state's community college budget, includes matching funds for the college's $3 million library project and $175,759 remodeling of Olney Hall and the chemistry and business buildings, the board was told Wednesday night.

The state matching support of the two projects would be about 40 per cent of the total cost. Both projects have been approved by the state chancellor of community colleges.

The funds were blue penciled by Gov. Ronald Reagan earlier this year in a move to balance the state budget.

The college this year received matching funds totaling about $79,000 for architect's drawing of the library.

$3,000 Spent To Correct A $1 Error

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. William Scherle, R-Iowa, said today the Department of Housing and Urban Development spent more than $3,000 to save $1.

Scherle said the Williamsport, Pa., redevelopment agency was seeking federal funds for a project that would cost $1,127,222. HUD auditors discovered the cost exceeded the limits by $1.

The project manager, Scherle said, offered to put up the buck himself. But the auditors insisted on drawing up a whole new contract.

This, they did, Scherle said, taking more than three months at a cost of $3,000 to $4,000 to write the contract over the $1 error.

HUD officials reportedly said this would never happen again, Scherle said.

FAMILY

"My Fair Lady" — Based on Shaw's comedy about a witty speech authority who transforms a flower girl with a cockney accent into an aristocratic lady. Extraordinary entertainment for all.

"New Leaf" — A delightful comedy about a penniless middleaged playboy who is forced to acquire a rich wife quickly.

"On a Clear Day You Can See Forever"— A lavish musical about a college student who has amazing mystical powers to reveal her past lives under hypnosis.

"Tora, Tora, Tora"— Impressive dramatization of the attack on Pearl Harbor, seen from both the American and Japanese point of view. Excellent cast, amazing photography, well worth seeing.

"Wild Child" — Excellent film that both fascinates and entertains. A semi-documentary film based on case history written in early 1800's by a doctor relating the problems of teaching an 11-year-old boy to live with people after living as an animal in the forest in France.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Butch Cassidy and the SunDance Kid"— A deft sophisticated comedy about two bandits whose exploits made headlines in the 1900's. Imaginative camera work and wonderful score, witty performances. Very violent ending.

"Lawrence of Arabia" — Reissue of magnificent production telling the story of T.E. Lawrence, an English soldier who led the revolt of Bedouins against the Turks during World War I.

"Little Big Man" — Excellent tragicomic history of Indian-white relations as recalled by a 121-year-old ex-gunfighter. It spoofs several frontier myths. Amazing performance by Dustin Hoffman.

"Love Story" — Film is pure romantic escapism and an old fashioned simple love story. Acting is exceptional and some tasteless language mars an otherwise beautiful portrayal.

"Paint Your Wagon" — A lusty irreverent script is a framework for an elaborately mounted broad comedy about the vices and vulgarities of frontier living in early western towns.

"Patton" — Excellent characterization by George C. Scott who portrays an indomitable spirit that could achieve its destiny only in wartime. Strong film, but violent.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"WUSA" — A contrived melodrama about an unprincipled alcoholic who works for a rightwing radio station. Blatantly exploits serious problems in America, much violence, cursing and sex.

ADULTS ONLY

"Diary of a Mad Housewife" — Acidly funny look at the disintegration of a modern marriage in New York. Good comedy with sex and dialogue that is very frank.

"I Love My Wife"— Stylish comedy about a doctor who satisfies his desires indiscriminately. Frank sex scenes and cursing.

"M.A.S.H." — Nothing escapes the mockery of this ribald, blood soaked comedy of wartime Korea. Several scenes are as gruesome as they are funny. Sex, nudity and cursing make this a very adult satire.

"Midnight Cowboy" — Well acted story about a vain Texan who comes to New York to be a male prostitute and his relationship with a crippled bum. Many sordid depressing scenes but thought provoking.

"Women In Love" — D.H. Lawrence's novel about total physical and spiritual love between the same and the opposite sex are explored extensively by very explicit, sensual sex scenes. Direction, acting and photography very good.

Construction Ban Due Longer Study

I-J Special Report

CONCORD — The threat of a ban on all new construction, hanging over much of Southern Marin for the past two months, was continued yesterday until late June.

The San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board voted to appoint three of its eight members as a hearing panel to consider the ban, but the panel will not report its recommendations until the board's regular meeting on June 24.

Hearing panels usually report their recommendations one month after their appointment, but the board's staff recommended a one-month delay because of other meetings scheduled in May.

The staff suggested the ban on Feb. 25, thus throwing a heavy pall on new developments by pulling the rug out from under their financing. Lending institutions are leery of financing construction which may not be occupied for lack of a sewer connection permit.

The board's ban would be aimed at the permits to prevent any increase in pollution.

The two dischargers under the gun are the Richardson Bay Sanitary District and the City of Mill Valley, which also serves Tamalpais Valley.

Mill Valley City Engineer Stanley M. Bala told the Independent-Journal that he welcomed the month's delay because it will give the city time needed for interim improvements in its sewage treatment. Such improvements would be designed to avoid the ban.

The hearing panel's membership and meeting date will be announced. Board chairman Homer H. Hyde of Campbell said cease and desist orders against the two dischargers would be heard separately, one during an afternoon and the other that same evening.

The board's staff urged that the hearing be held "as close as possible" to the board's June 24 meeting to prevent the dischargers from claiming "recent" improvements at the board meeting.

City of Mill Valley residents will vote June 29 on a $450,000 bond issue to replace defective sewer lines and upgrade sewage treatment.

Fred H. Dierker, the regional board's executive officer, said last month that the bond issue could mean no ban would be imposed on Mill Valley. He made no similar comment on any plans by the Richardson Bay Sanitary District.

Iraq Recalls Envoy From Jordan Capital

BEIRUT (UPI)—Iraq has recalled its ambassador from Amman to protest the harassement of its diplomats by Jordanian authorities, the official Iraq news agency said tonight.

The ambassador, Ahmed Amin, will leave for Baghdad Saturday, the agency said.

Extra Year Transit Study Asked

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to force the Golden Gate Bridge District to detail its long-range transportation plans has been introduced by senate President pro tempore James R. Mills, D-San Diego.

The senator has been critical of the plan submitted this month to the Legislature by the district, objecting it failed to look far enough into the future and to consider rail rapid transit fairly.

The district's plan, covering only the next 10 years, called for a $331 million transportation system using conventional buses and ferries at first, followed by a start on a bus rapid transit via tunnels in downtown San Francisco and a second deck on the bridge.

The plan was ordered by the 1969 Legislature, which also restricted district use of its net revenues pending completion of a long-range transportation plan. District consultants studied transit needs through the year 2015, but the plan sent to the Legislature avoided decisions beyond the next decade.

Mills, in amendments to a bill he previously introduced, proposed that the district work another year on the plan — and then come up with details on the ultimate system planned, its routes, and how it will be financed. His legislation thus would extend for one year the restrictions of the 1969 law, which said that the district would be free to do whatit wanted 120 days after the plan was filed this year — unless the Legislature acted.

The 1969 law prohibited a second deck and limited net revenues as follows: 50 per cent for buses, 30 per cent for ferries, and 20 per cent for long-range transit.

Mills' office said that his amendments would not interfere with the district's interim bus and ferry system. Buses are to begin operation by Dec. 1, and ferries in 1973.

The senator's bill would require resubmission of a detailed plan by the 90th calendar day of the 1972 legislative session.

Bridge officials, rushing to meet this month's deadline to file the plan ordered in 1969, complained that they had had too little time to work out details of a long-range system. Working out details with San Francisco officials would take a lot more time, they said.

The 1969 law was authored by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, now chairman of a special subcommittee reviewing the plan. He told the Independent-Journal yesterday that he also expected to seek some sort of controls on the district until its longe-range plans have been detailed.

But Foran said the Legislature did not appear to oppose the district's immediate start on the interim bus and ferry system.

Evidence Of Chlorine Threat To Marine Life Documented

I-J Special Report

CONCORD — The traditional way of disinfecting sewage can pose serious threats to marine life, a research biologist warned yesterday.

Chlorine, a highly toxic chemical, has been used for some 35 years to kill sewage bacteria. But rapid growth in sewage loads has encouraged massive use of the chemical — causing most marine life to die off near sewage outfall pipes.

Marine biologist long have suspected the lethel effects of chlorinated sewage, but research to back their suspicions had been lacking.

Evidence, however, was presented yesterday to the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board by Dr. Isabella A. Abbott, biology professor and research biologist at Stanford University's Hopkins Marine Station in Pacific Grove, Monterey County.

Displaying data gathered over the past three years, she concluded that chlorine causes marine life "to turn up its toes."

She declined to accept suggestions that her findings meant that chlorination should be replaced with some other system. Chlorination may work, she said, if regulated in small enough doses.

She illustrated her data with photographs of the rocks adjacent to the sewage outfall in Pacific Grove. They were barren of all life. But 100 feet away, the rocks were covered with heavy algae growths and teeming with marine organisms.

Further research will be needed, Dr. Abbott said, to determine if the effects of the chlorine go beyond the immediate outfall area. The chemical may be affecting the food chain of other marine animals, she said.

She reported that the sewage treatment plant at Pacific Grove had refused to disclose how much chlorine it used. Beaches in the county were closed last year by public health officials, she noted, so the plant used massive doses of chlorine in a successful effort to reopen the beaches by killing the bacteria.

"They just poured it in by the ton," Dr. Abbott said.

Emanuel Pearl, Santa Clara County public health officer, told newsmen that chlorine "is the only kind of disinfectant we have. The alternative is to sacrifice all of your water contact use on the coastline," he said.

Donald Lollock, a marine biologist for the state Fish and Game Department, objected that "it's way too early to talk about sacrificing the coastline." He conceded that "some limited trade-off" may be the best solution available, with some harm to marine life permitted in order to protect public health.

Dr. Abbott described similar problems in Carmel, and said that county officials had turned their backs on dangerous pollution at Monastery Beach, a popular beach for skindivers and SCUBA divers just south of Carmel.

Ex-Novatan Sentenced; Won't Talk

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—U.S. District Judge James A. Walsh sentenced a 23-year-old Venice, Calif., woman to up to 18 months in jail here Wednesday after she refused to testify before a Federal Grand Jury.

Terri Ann Volpin, formerly of Novato, was ordered to jail for 18 months or until she decides to testify before the Grand Jury which is investigating alleged explosive buying here by members of the radical Weatherman organization chapter in Southern California.

Miss Volpin had refused on Tuesday to testify despite the fact that she was granted immunity from prosecution on anything she testified to.

Miss Volpin is the second woman from Venice to be jailed this month for refusing to testify in the Weatherman investigation.

Mrs. Lee Weinberg, 38, was sentenced to a similar 18-month jail term April 7 by Judge Walsh.

The two women along with three other persons from Venice spent four months in jail late last year and earlier this year on the same charges. However, they were released last month when the Grand Jury which began the Weatherman investigation last November was disbanded.

All five were re-subpoenaed but so far only Miss Volpin and Mrs. Weinberg have been called to testify before the new Grand Jury.

BART To Fight Any Panel Link

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The directors of the Bay Area Rapid Transit System (BART) have voted 7-3 to fight against being controlled by the state's metropolitan transportation commission.

The commission was created by the Legislature to oversee longrange regional transportation planning.

BART directors from Alameda and Contra Costa counties voted Thursday to support a proposed bill which would keep the district out from under the commission's dictates. Directors from San Francisco County dissented on grounds that the San Francisco International Airport transit line wouldn't be guaranteed in the legislation, SB 162, introduced in the Senate by Sen. John A. Nejedley, R-Walnut Creek.

'Mills For President' Wins More Backers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Reps. Robert N. C. Nix, D-Pa., and Walter S. Baring, D-Nev., have thrown their support behind Ways and Means Committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination.

Two other House members previously endorsed the Arkansan, who has said he is not a candidate but has done little to discourage others from promoting him.

Volunteers Needed At Center

More volunteers and funds are needed before the Marin Suicide Prevention Center can launch its round the clock telephone service, the board of directors announced Wednesday at the monthly meeting at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in San Rafael.

Keith C. Craig, president of the board of directors, said he will write to about eight different foundations throughout the country to seek funds. "We have already applied for $25,000 from the state public health funds," said Craig.

He said at least 120 and up to 200 trained volunteers are needed to man the telephone service 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Twenty-five have already completed the training course and 50 are currently undergoing training at the College of Marin.

Lack of funds is holding up the opening of the telephone service in the county health building at 920 Grand avenue, San Rafael.

The next meeting of the suicide prevention center board of directors will be held at 4 p.m., May 19, at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 1123 Court Street, San Rafael.

Soviet Trade Mission Center Hit By Bomb

NEW YORK (UPI)—A makeshift bomb exploded in the downtown Manhattan offices of the Soviet import-export corporation Amtorg after working hours Thursday, blasting a steel door off its hinges and further straining Soviet-American relations.

There were no injuries. Police and firemen had been tipped by anonymous telephone calls and evacuated persons from the area around the 19th floor.

A second bomb was found one floor above in a hasty search and defused two seconds before it was set to explode.

Amtorg is the official Soviet trade mission in the United States and the sole importer and exporter of goods between the two nations.

ROWING FOR physical fitness offers a change of pace to yachtswomen experienced in bay racing and ocean cruising. Adrienne Going in the dory's stern, left, and Dotty Noyes in bow pull oars off Waterspout point, Tiburon where Dr and Mrs Chester Noyes' home juts out over Raccoon Straits.

SKIPPER JEAN Jacobs of Tiburon stands in the hatch of the 22-foot Santana at San Francisco Yacht Club which she raced last season in Yacht Racing Association regattas, checking time of maximum flood in her tide book to calculate tidal advantages on the race course Winding her stop watch Jean says, "The worst thing that could happen would be for the stop watch to stop during the countdown for the start."

Tiller In Hand, They Take To Bay

By PAT BALMES

Four outstanding Marin yachtswomen each specialize in a different aspect of sailing on San Francisco Bay. These sailors are the Yacht Racing Association skipper of a male crew, the first mate for her 1970 season-champion husband, the teacher of sailing for women who has sailed on waters around the world and the veteran yachtswoman who rows for physical fitness.

Skipper Jean Jacobs of Tiburon races in hotly-competitive Yacht Racing Association regattas. Her husband, Bruce, and another man crew for her.

"Bruce encouraged me to race and generously offered to be my crew. He prefers cruising, because he competes all week in business. It's I who need that competition for recreation," says Jean.

A competent skipper must know the rules, have confidence in her ability and be in complete control of the boat and crew, according to Jean.

"Your crew must know that you feel responsibility for them. If you send a man to the foredeck when it's really blowing to reef a mainsail, he has to have confidence that you won't knock him off by tacking or suddenly altering course," she says.

A skipper should insist that her crew wear flotation coats, life vests or jackets when it "pipes up." In extremely heavy weather they should be hooked to a safety line, Jean says.

Having just sold "her baby," a 22-foot Santana which she raced last season, Jean doesn't plan to race their new 38-foot Javelin this season because of revisions they are making.

JEAN HAS tremendous respect for the bay. If you go out without that, she warns, "you're crazy!" She learned to swim when she began to sail with the "Sea Gals" nine years ago, a group of women who crewed on many different yachts to learn technique from their owners. Jean flunked their survival test by not being able to stay afloat, fully clothed, for 10 minutes.

She relates that before she took swimming lessons, in her early sailing days, she and a friend were sailing a 14-foot sailboat when they were caught in a sudden gust which caused their boat to "turn turtle." The women clung to their craft for 10 minutes in the icy water "with my feet pulled up, thinking of sharks," says Jean, before the Coast Guard helicopter hovered overhead and a power boat which arrived at the same moment hauled them aboard.

"When my friend was taken aboard she was so exhausted she couldn't speak," says Jean.

Jean loves the excitement of racing: sailboats tacking behind the starting line and appraising the competition. Rounding the marks, there is often a pile-up. The skipper's job is to know the rules, recognizing advantages and infringements.

She would ask her husband to yell at an erring skipper for right-of-way: "starboard" or "room at the mark!" The worst thing a woman can do on a race course, she remarks, is to yell or swear.

Viewing racing as "therapy for mother," Jean also has studied marine biology and currently is taking courses at College of Marin in oceanography, field ecology and geology.

ANOTHER COMPETITOR in YRA is Miriam Doody of Strawberry, who has crewed for her husband, James for several seasons and helped him win the 1970 season championship in the Cal 24 division. Miriam says a chronic problem in YRA racing is that it's a terrible strain on a skipper's nerves.

"I know a lot of women who would not go aboard their husband's boat during a race. You can hear the skippers screaming at their crews on the bay.

"Jim is gruff and obnoxious, too, during a race. If you are going to take it to heart, you're dead," the expert crew says.

Instead, Miriam uses diplomacy to keep her crewmates happy. The Cal 24 needs five or six for weight to race, she explains.

"I try to get a new guy aside first and tell him not to let what the skipper says worry him. When the race is over, Jim is very nice to us and takes us all out to dinner. And I am competitive, too. If Jim looks away, I say, "Watch what you're doing!" says his wife.

When their favorite sport, skiing became "too crowded" eight years ago, the Doodys bought a 14-foot sailboat and some books on sailing. With their older girl, Micca, they took turns being skipper.

"If the skipper gave the wrong order, we would all three tip over!" When they first bought their Cal 24, the three Doodys raced it.

"We changed sails and flew the spinnaker from the foredeck on a boat that really needs five or six to race," she recalls.

Miriam feels sailing is a fine way to keep a family together and a teen-ager mentally and physically occupied. Micca crewed on a Flying Junior and would come home so tired and so salty she could hardly get a shower, says her mother.

Miriam relates that while she was pregnant with Robin she went sailing in her Flying Junior and was caught in "a big wind" and upended. Fishermen came to right the boat, but Miriam wanted to stay in the water so they couldn't know she was expecting.

"Even the day Robin was born, I was out sailing," she says, adding that she finds quiet to read or sleep in little bays where they drop anchor.

Her love for the waterfront has lead Miriam into a seven-month effort to organize the citizens of Strawberry against the building of apartments on the marshlands of Strawberry Cove because she was "worried about destroying what we have, just to make room for new people."

"Developers may say," says Miriam who works with a six-man committee, "that we need more people to help pay taxes, but this is unreal because more money will be required for services for newcomers."

THE THIRD OUTSTANDING yachtswoman is a sympathetic teacher for women who want to sail but lack the confidence, Peg Foster. She has sailed in Europe, the South Pacific and the East Coast. Her husband Walt, a graduate of King's Point Maritime Academy in New York, teaches friends navigation at their Corte Madera home.

"I chose Tuesday mornings at Paradise Harbor Yacht Club in Tiburon for the women's sailing program because there won't be any men or kids around who can sail better than we can." says Peg. Most of her pupils are beginners, but some are very good sailors, like Mrs. Roderic Phibbs of Mill Valley, whose husband and four sons are ardent sailors. They come because they want somebody to sail with or because they feel ineffectual on their own big boats.

"When the weather gets heavy on the big boats, their husbands throw them the tiller and they become frightened," explains Peg.

One of Peg's previously-timid pupils astonished her husband, after taking last year's women's program when in the midst of a heavy blow, she suggested and helped execute the difficult controlled jibe.

"Her husband was ecstatic!" rejoiced Peg.

Peg puts her pupils in "little bathtubs" (El Toros) and lets them feel what the wind is doing to them. Actually, these dingys are tougher to sail than big boats which are "very forgiving," according to Peg. Without keels, the El Toros just flop over and float if the pupil makes a bad mistake.

"YOU CAN get a person over her fear by making her feel independent," says the teacher Seated behind a beginner, Peg takes the tiller while gently instructing her crew on "handling the main" as they tack a zig-zag course along a row of moored boats in the protected harbor Next they switch places; Peg shows her pupil how to handle the tiller. Even hitting the pier doesn't upset the teacher who calmly allows,

"That's what the rubber padding is put on the bow for."

Back and forth they ply along the row of moored boats until her pupil gains enough confidence to ask to go out on the bay.

Feeling that wives should not be left ashore or just used as ballast on a boat, Peg says that Paradise Harbor Yacht Club emphasises low-key family sailing, where wives and children can crew in the club's staggered-start races.

"We don't have long races and if the weather is bad, we call the race off. During the race we even call out to each other what the rules are," says the teacher.

English-born Peg crewed for her three brothers on Lake Geneva when her family lived in Switzerland. But she really learned sailing at Martha's Vineyard in Massachusetts.

While doing plantation nursing in the Phillipines, she also sailed. Later she lived in Hawaii for 10 years, working as executive secretary of Pan Pacific Surgical Association, and learning to race.

But she observes that more women sail on San Francisco Bay than anyplace else she has sailed in the world; here, where sailing is so sloppy: with heavy weather and fog.

Peg is also a volunteer nurse at Hunter's Point school, San Francisco.

ANOTHER LIFE-LONG yachtswoman trades her sail for an oar in the interest of physical fitness.

"I enjoy rowing and you get somewhere," says Dotty Noyes of Tiburon. "There are a lot of dories beached along the waterfront on Mar East, but few women who row."

With her surgeon-husband, Chet, the mother of four grown children often rows a four-oar dory from their Waterspout Point home in Tiburon across Raccoon Strait to Angel Island, around and home again, a five-and-a-half mile round trip which takes about two-and-a-half-hours, depending on tides. Other favorite rowing destinations are Strawberry Cove, Paradise Cove and Belvedere Island.

They sometimes row at 6 a.m., according to Dotty, before her husband goes to the hospital to operate. Sometimes Dr. Noyes returns home in the afternoon in time for a row to Ayala Cove.

"We've always had boats, but Chet doesn't like motors, so we row," says Dotty, adding that her husband was on the University of California crew.

The couple have built a home over Raccoon Straits with a nautical atmosphere created by their close-up view of Angel Island, the swish of the waves beneath the piers of the house, porthole windows, a ship's ladder staircase and a large buoy-marker as a free-standing fireplace. On their deck is a ship's bell to greet friends who sail past.

Dotty Ford Noyes comes from a sailing family, and crewed on big boats while in high school and college. She says,

"When racing a big boat, as a woman you'd just stay out of the way. It wasn't until after I was married and owned smaller boats that I really learned to sail."

In 1954, when Chet was planning to crew for the Honolulu Trans-Pac Race on a friend's boat, he encouraged Dotty to skipper their 28-foot boat without him for the first time, saying,

"There is no point in leaving our boat in the harbor."

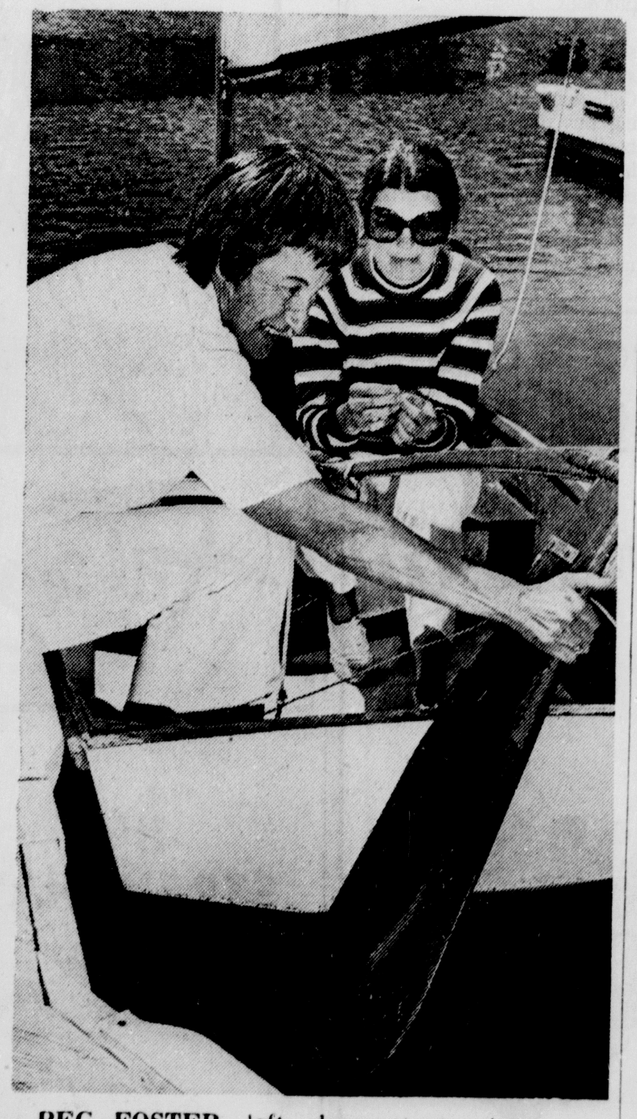
MIRIAM DOODY drops the jib as her husband Jim steers their Cal 24 into its berth at Clipper Yacht Harbor in Sausalito. After several seasons in fiercely-competitive Yacht Racing Association regatas, the couple won the season's championship for their class in 1970 "Sailing keeps the family together" says Miriam, whose children Micca and six-year-old Robin are also enthusiastic sailors



PEG FOSTER, left, demonstrates how to slip the tiller in place on her El Toro for Jane Phibbs Teaching women to sail at Paradise Harbor Yacht Club, Peg chose Tuesday mornings for her relaxed instructions in small boats because "there will be no men or kids around who can sail better than we can"

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Don't Be Silent As Friend's Wild Child Wrecks Your House

DEAR HELEN:

Tim and Dorothy and my husband and I went to school together, so we remained friends after marriage. It was an okay relationship until their little boy turned into a house wrecker.

Evidently Dorothy can't stand him alone, so she's started coming to my house to spend the day — constantly. This three-year-old is ten times the trouble my two kids are.

After one of their visits, I'm done for. He carries my pots and pans all over the house, even spitting in them. He gets into my spices, sprinkling them all over everything — there's nothing he can't climb to. He pulls things out of drawers, draws on the wall, bangs on the piano and messes up the color and tuning on television.

My children can't nap for the noise and, besides, he beats up on them. Now she's started bringing their spoiled dog along, and he "has to stay inside or he'll run away." The two seem possessed by the same devil, the only difference being the boy doesn't tear up pillows with his teeth or lap water out of the john. Neither is totally housebroken.

I can't pretend I'm not home, because my car is parked out in front and, though we've stopped visiting Tim and Dorothy, they don't get the hint. I am not the type to say anything, so what can I do when I see my house and nerves falling apart? . . . While Dorothy sits calmly ignoring her brats though she must shout to be heard? — LIVING IN DREAD

DEAR DREAD:

Change your type and say something. What have you got to lose except a friendship you may have outgrown? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I work in an office full of men. They discuss the craziest things.

The other day they were naming what appealed to them first about females. One said, "I'm a waist man." Of course, there were several who said the usual things. Another added, "I'm a leg man myself," and one brought a laugh by proclaiming he was "an ankel man."

But Helen, not one of those guys said anything about being attracted to a woman because he liked her face.

Here we spend hundreds of dollars on creams and makeup, and hours applying them — and men check out everything else first.

Doesn't a pretty face have any drawing power? — NO BODY SPECIAL

DEAR NO:

Let's put it this way: A pretty face has much more drawing power if it heads up a great body. Which is one of the reasons diet and exercise books are best sellers. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am divorced, have three children and am living with my mother, who thinks I'm still her little girl.

She can't stand the man I'm going to marry, so she won't allow him to see me except one evening and one afternoon a week. She won't let me see my girl friends, or look for a house to rent. She checks the speedometer on her car when I'm allowed to borrow it, which isn't often. Usually she has the garage door padlocked (not trusting me) and she won't even give me a house key because she wants to know when I come in on the few nights I go out. If I try to talk it out, she yells. Help — D.G.C.

DEAR D.:

Even if your fiance can't marry you right away, he can at least help you find a job, an apartment, and a way out of "jail." And soon —or you may be Mama's little girl all your life. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

The Dimensions of Philip Thomas From Jail To Church To Theater

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"Forty lashes or 40 years of hard labor couldn't have had a more profound effect on me than the expression on my mother's face when she came to the jail to get me. I knew I could never do that to her again. Even if nobody else cared, I knew she did," said Philip Thomas, a handsome young man who became increasingly so the longer you talked to him and allowed his ideas to displace the initial impression that some of us oldsters would readily associate with his long wavy hair, his swashbuckling sideburns and the golden earring he wore in the lobe of his left ear.

I didn't ask the significance of the earring — having learned that to the young such a question is about as tasteless as asking another person's salary. And, indeed, it neither subtracted from nor added to the dimensions of Philip Thomas.

YOUNG PHILIP is currently playing the role of Gabe in the San Francisco production of the play "No Place to Be Somebody."

How does a young terrorist, a thug — who admittedly ran with a youth mob (the Black Mafia), who sold "protection" to white kids and used theft as a daily exercise — find himself where Philip is today?

The change in direction was initiated while Philip was in jail. For the first time, he realized what it meant to be physically free. His mother's reaction to the situation "blew his mind" and he felt the need for mental solace. He turned to religion.

day's tight world of the theatre, professional theatrical training would be a must, but Philip "received his most functional theatrical training in the church."

WHILE A youth minister, he preached regularly and sang and played the piano at church functions.

Upon graduation from high school, he won a scholarship to study the ministry at Oakwood College in Huntsville, Ala. During this time there was some conflict in his desire to develop his talents as a performer and continue serving the Christian church.

Seeing the Los Angeles production of "Hair" was another "mind blower." Out of 1,800 applicants who auditioned for the San Francisco opening of the play, he was one of the 28 hopefuls who received a part.

And how, indeed, could he reconcile the seemingly obvious conflict between religion and "Hair"?

Says Philip, "For me, 'Hair' was a religious experience. Religion is a way of life — it is the total organism of man. 'Hair' attempted to exemplify the oneness of man."

The sunken living room overlooks the pool which is protected by a glass windbreak which also allows for a panoramic view.

The Edgewood Way Volin home is influenced by Mrs. Volin's art work. She designed her studio to provide privacy and take advantage of the sweeping view. The path from the house includes several patios tucked into the terraced hillside. A blend of antique and contemporary furnishings give a warm personal feeling to the Burdick home. The loft master bedroom and exposed staircase contribute to an open, airy feeling and the wrap around deck continued onto the water's edge of a pool cantilevered from the hillside.

Mrs. J. G. Miles of San Rafael is reservations chairman for the tour, which will benefit the educational programs at the museum.

THE 40TH anniversary of the founding of Beta Sigma Phi will be celebrated by the six Marin chapters Tuesday at a dinner to be held at the Marin Country Club in Novato at 7:30 p.m. following a 6:30 p.m. ceremony.

Special Hopes For Her Swimmers

By JOAN LISETOR

Coach Marie McSweeney has been working her swimmers since February, preparing them for tomorrow's Marin County Special Olympics being held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at San Rafael High School.

The Olympics are special becuase they are only for mentally retarded or mentally handicapped persons over the age of 8.

They are very special to the coach, a 20-year-old-sophomore at Dominican College, because she believes she has some strong contenders for the state, national and international competitions, most notably her 13-year-old sister, Beth-Anne.

THE DAUGHTERS of Mrs. Patricia J. McSweeney of San Rafael are from a family of six children who are now or have been actively involved in swimming for about 15 years.

Marie started winning awards for the San Rafael Swim Club when she was 10 years old and then swam on the girls' swimming team when she was a student at Marin Catholic High School.

For Beth-Anne, a cerebral palsy victim, swimming is a pleasure and also therapy. Mrs. McSweeney was told by a neurologist when Beth-Anne was a baby that it was possible she would never walk. She walks — and with no noticeable motor impairment — and her family attributes it to swimming.

"Before she began swimming she had pneumonia every January, and even though it means taking her to San Francisco everyday because Marin has no public indoor pool, we do it during the winter, says Mrs. McSweeney.

"SHE IS UP to grade level in most of her school subjects, and she has not had pneumonia since she began swimming regularly."

The Special Olympics swimming events are 25 and 50 yard free style, and Beth-Anne took firsts in local and state competition last year and two second places in the international meet in Chicago.

Marie says she has other contenders in the swimming events, despite the fact that she has had to take her 15 or so swimmers to whatever pool has been available. They have used the Airman's pool at Hamilton Air Force Base, the pools at St. Peter Chanel Seminary, Sir Francisco Drake High School and the home of the D. H. Gabrielsons' in Ross.

Working with the retarded is not new to Marie who served several summers as a volunteer for the Kindergarten Mentally Retarded. After college she plans to continue helping others, by joining the Peace Corps.

A psychology major, Marie says she gets personal satisfaction from doing things for others, and her busy schedule doesn't phase her.

"YOU CAN always find the time if you find something you want to do," she says.

Tomorrow's event is sponsored by Marin Aid to Retarded Children, Cedars Development Foundation and the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults. The Special Olympics was created by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation with an ultimate goal to provide an incentive for sports training and athletic competition for all retarded persons.

Other events will include a 50 yard dash, 300 yard run, broad jump and a softball throw.

BETH-ANNE MC SWEENEY, left, talks to her coach, who also happens to be her sister Marie on the steps of a pool at Hamilton Air Force Base. A second place winner in the international Special Olympics competition last year, Beth-Anne will swim both the 25 and 50 yard events tomorrow at San Rafael High School.

Since then she skippered their 44-foot cutter across the Sea of Cortez from Guyemas to La Paz, after her husband returned to work at the hospital.

They have cruised their "Anacapa" to the Hawaiian Islands with their three sons and a daughter. Presently they are on a three-month cruise of the Gulf of California.

SOMETIMES ROWING with Dotty is Adrienne Going of Sausalito, wife of John Going, the chief mate on the S.S. President Wilson of American President Lines.

Also an ocean sailor, Mrs. Going says,

"You are asked along on ocean cruises to cook, but I also want to sail. I insist on standing my own watch."

Adrienne was the only woman on the crew which delivered the "Orient" from Hawaii to San Francisco. She helped deliver the "Little Revenge" from New York to Panama. Without her husband along, she also crewed on the "Celeste," which was delivered from Hawaii to San Diego.

The Goings also cruise their own 34-foot yawl.

"I am on our boat every day at Sausalito Yacht Harbor; sanding, varnishing and doing maintenance that a wooden boat demands," says Mrs. Going.

Marin women such as these four are taking increasingly important roles in Bay Area sailing and boating activities, officially opening Sunday for 1971.

RAP SESSION

with

Youth & the Over-Thirties

Expressing the ideas, the opinions, the conflicts and agreements between younger & older people...

aimed at a better understanding of one another

Are you open to new ideas? To opinions which may be too far out or too "straight" for you? Can you stand to have your generation constructively criticized — and can you also take applause? This I-J two-part program is an attempt to bring out in the open what's wrong and what's right about the relationship today between youth and older people. In a series of 24 interviews the I-J will present people of diverse backgrounds and opinions expressing their views, their feelings, on the so-called generation gap . . . and what youth and the over-thirties might do to see one another in a more understanding light.

To further focus on this the Independent-Journal presents a contest with substantial prizes for the best letters on how "you" think a better rapport between youth and older people can best be reached. If you have ideas on this, here is your chance to candidly express them. . . with the possibility that your letter may be published whether or not it wins an award. Read the interviews, enter the contest. Ideas are now in session!

Interviews with younger and with older people will be presented on alternate days. In the course of a month readers will see a broad spectrum of opinions and ideas. This special I-J feature starts April 26 and will run daily through May 22. 24 interviews in all. Look for them.

PRISONKEEPER'S SIDE — James W. L. Park, associate warden of San Quentin Prison tells San Rafael High School students that the prison's staff does feel "alienated from the community" while on the job, because "the community wants the criminals (and the prison) out of" the community.

PARK ON PENOLOGY

Students Get The Prison Side

By JEFF GREER

San Rafael High School students who earlier had heard San Quentin Prison bitterly criticized, yesterday heard the prisonkeeper's side of the picture from Associate Warden James W. L. Park.

Park spoke for two hours to students from Ada Fitzsimmons's classes in government.

His young audience, which had heard a parolee lash out at brutality in the prison, and a woman attorney decry the whole penal system, asked hardly a question about the alleged brutality. Instead, many of the questions bored in on Park's conscience — how he could carry out a death sentence, or imprison men.

"Personally, I'm against the death sentence," Park said. Officially, he said he would carry out the law "because it's the will of the community. Ten million people pull that lever . . .

"If you're dealing with human beings in a professional way, you can't let your personal feelings interfere," he added. "There's some point, sure, that I could no longer work in the (prison) program — for instance if we started running a Nazi-type torture chamber."

"Don't you care enough about the people and the system to go out and start a crusade?" a student asked.

"That's why I'm here," Park replied. "But professionally I have to be neutral . . . I came in (to the penal system) as a psychologist because I'd rather work with people than sell cameras. I feel it's helpful to the community."

Park stressed that in man's million-year history, crime has always been action that "threatened the community" and that until about 200 years ago, the punishment for crime was death or expulsion from society. Only recently has the idea of "rehabilitation . . . now it's called reintegration into the community" sprung up, Park said.

Laws and how violators are punished are "the will of the community," Park declared. Noting students' concern about the death sentence, heavier prison terms for narcotics offenses than for murder, and other facets of penology, Park said, "You're an elite minority. There's a vast, blue collar majority of Middle America that thinks everything's just fine" with the justice and penal system the way it is.

"The community decides what is a crime. More recently, we decided income tax evasion was a threat to our community. Offenses interfere with others' rights in some way."

Park told the students, "prisonkeepers don't have any say who is sent to them. Crime starts in the community and the solution is there, not in the prison."

Less than 10 per cent of felons sentenced in California last year actually went to prison, the official said. The balance were placed on probation, sent to mental hospitals or put in other rehabilitation programs, he said. " But if you had the perfect cure" to keep an offender from repeating a crime "it wouldn't affect the overall crime rate" until the community eliminates the cause of crime, Park argued.

With more felons on probation, the "quality of the prisoner is going down," Park noted, because only the most troublesom is imprisoned.

He questioned laws that send male exhibitionists and narcotics offenders to prison. Exhibitionists are physically no danger to anyone and narcotics users harm themselves rather than infringe the rights of others, he said. "But the community is very uptight with these people . . . says 'get them out of here'," Park explained.

As for retorm of treatment for the criminal, "you've got to talk about the whole thing from the first foster home for a 5-year-old, through probation, psychiatric services, the courts and so on . . . Convicts have a set of attitudes resistant to change. I can't say to you, 'your life style's got to change'," Park explained.

Prisons "inherit, do not create the young, white redneck southerner and the young, angry black militant," Park said. The racial mixture in prisons is not really out of proportion to urban ghetto population percentages, he suggested, and "90 per cent" of San Quentin's inmates "have been down the road" to trouble before getting to the big prison.

He described guard screening, then said he felt the prison benefitted from having "all kinds of guards — do-gooders, ex-military . . . we need them. You never know what's going to change a convict's mind. We get a little break if a guy relates to just one guard. There's a lot more rapping in the prison than you might believe."

Park's talk concluded a series of appearances that included attorney Salle S. Soladay, self-styled anarchist Warren K. Billings and parolee Tommy Lee Walker.

Harris: If Many Choose Prison, System Will Fall

By BONNIE BARD

David Harris brought his message of peaceful resistance to the Vietnam War to a crowd of more than 2,000 persons yesterday at Sonoma State College.

Speaking on the commons as the crowd lounged on the damp grass, Harris told of his struggle to avoid the draft and recounted his experiences as a federal prisoner for 20 months.

The crowd listened intently as Harris said he chose to go to prison rather than to permit the government to control his life. "It's obvious we must show that we intend to reject government control over our lives," he said.

He said peace action groups must expand and join together for a massive movement, but said he rejected the buying of arms as a means of fighting the government. "The struggle is worth it, the stakes are big and as long as we have a chance, let's shoot big," Harris said.

"It's all the way down the line as far as I'm concerned," he said. "I bought a through ticket. I'll go alone, but it's better with friends."

Harris, husband of folk singer-pacifist Joan Baez, was released from prison March 15. Pale and thin, he chain-smoked throughout his 90-minute appearance.

A lone heckler in the crowd accused Harris of being "a phony martyr on a publicity kick." The heckler said, "You're a phony through and through going to jail rather than throwing a bomb through the draft board building."

Harris said he totally rejected bombing, saying it has no political value. A draft board doesn't succeed on account of buildings, he said, but because people surrender to it. Harris said the government reports it must call two men to get one Army inductee, but said he believed the figures may be more than four or five men to get one man to serve.

Some students asked about government repression and what he would do when violent tactics are used against demonstrators. "Duck," he answered simply. "It just doesn't make sense to shoot back."

He said that other than going to jail, young men can resist the draft by seeking conscientious objector status or by going to Canada. "I did what was real to me and never had second thoughts," he said.

"The government is not in a good position," Harris said. "They've got too many (draft) violators — the courts are clogged — and there's no place to put everybody anyway," he said, referring to crowded prison facilities.

"The feds are not in a good position to bust a lot of people," he said. "We've got to keep them in a bind." Harris said be believed that antiwar feeling is growing in all segments of American society. "People are tired of seeing their sons come home in plastic bags."

Of his prison experiences, Harris said, "I saw guards do a lot of bad things to a lot of bad people." He spoke disrespectfully of most prison personnel, but said he had managed to talk four guards into quitting.

Harris said that during hunger strikes, a sympathetic guard smuggled food to them at night.

"I don't want to see a prison left standing," he said, classing 98 per cent of the inmates as political prisoners. "Most of the dudes in prisons aren't in for anything the government doesn't do 150 times a day," he said, listing murder and theft as government crimes.

He said the other two per cent could be considered psychotic and too dangerous to be set free and should be housed for safe keeping in Bel Aire mansions.

"Dudes in the joints are victims just like we are of organized social vengeance," he said.

Daughter Is A 'Captive' Says Father

OAKLAND (UPI)—An irate father Thursday sued Mills College, the exclusive women's school, accusing the college of keeping his 19-year-old daughter, Alice a captive.

Leopold J. Gunston, a retired realtor, said he wants his daughter to move out of her dormitory and return to his Alameda home from which she could commute to classes.

But he said the daughter has refused because she is a captive in the sense she is "under the influence of the college."

Gunston objected to the daughter's living on campus because he said the college does not keep close enough track of her whereabouts.

As a result, he said she is in danger of living "an idle, dissolute and immoral life." All of this, he said, interferes with his father-daughter relationship.

In a superior court suit filed by attorney Fred Duda, Gunston asked for return of $900 he has paid for board and room, $25,000 because of mental distress and $25,000 in punitive damages.

The court set April 28 for a hearing. The college made no comment.

Governor Of Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI) — Ryokichi Minobe, 67, a Marxist economics professor, today was inaugurated into his second four-year term as governor of Tokyo, the world's most populous city.

Bruce Lauded For 'Competence, Courage' By Marin Civic Panel

Marin Council for Civic Affairs paid tribute last night to County Administrator Alan Bruce, who quit under fire this week with a blast at the county supervisors.

Bruce, a county administrator for 10 years, will leave on July 1.

Bruce was a guest at the Council's annual election and dinner at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael, where Margaret B. Azevedo praised the veteran county administrator for serving "with rare competence and magnificent courage."

Supervisor Michael Wornum, one of three supervisors who attended the dinner last night, expressed regret that "political necessity" had forced the supervisors to press for Bruce's resignation. "I wish you the best that we can," said Wornum. "The job you did for the county can never be fully repaid. I feel like an executioner apologizing to the victim." Supervisors Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Arnold M. Baptiste also attended.

Bruce stood up briefly to thank both Mrs. Azevedo and Wornum. "This was thoroughly unexpected," said Bruce. "I wouldn't have come if I had expected this. I thank you all for celebrating my liberation."

Walter E. Zurcher, master of ceremonies, introduced the main speaker for the evening, State Sen. Peter H. Behr. The Senator described himself as a "90-day wonder" in Sacramento and gave a brief summary of some of the more than 4,000 bills that have been introduced already this year.

During the business meeting, a slate of new officers, headed by Chairman Muriel S. Appenzeller, was elected by unanimous acclaim. Mrs. Appenzeller succeeds past Chairman George Ellman.

Other new officers elected last night were Michael Peevey of San Rafael, vice chairman; Milen C. Dempster, treasurer; and Ezilda Bunny Lucheta, secretary.

The new executive committee will be comprised of the above officers and George Ellman, Margaret B. Azevedo, Paul C. Zucker, and Betty Forry.

Ensemble To End Season On Sunday

The Marin Chamber Ensemble directed by Dr. S. Drummond Wolff will present its final concert of this season Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley.

The ensemble, with Dr. Wolff playing the organ or harpsichord, has been performing six years at various churches in the county.

Singers will be Carolyn Bond, Janna Schumacher, Arlene Adams, Claudia Siefer, Craig Bond, Patrick Bacchus, Clay Roni and Gary Walker. The other musicians are Jack Tyler and Jim Chesnut, trumpets; David Murray and William Duggin, trombones; George Omi, French horn; and Terry Bozzio, percussion.

Included in the program will be works by Handel, J.S. Bach, Mendelssohn, Purcell, Gabrielli, Vittoria and Stanford.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Is South Deliberately Trying To Destroy Reality?

"Your bridge column is not true to life," a reader complains. "Why should South get all the good hands? In real life, all four players have their chance to hold good cards. Is this propaganda for the South, or are you deliberately trying to distort reality?"

SOFT ANSWER

I get this type of complaint about once or twice per year, and today's hand may be the soft answer that turns away wrath. South does have the best hand at the table, but he is not exactly the hero of the hand.

When this hand was played, West opened the queen of spades, and the defenders quickly rattled off the first three tricks in spades. They got out safely with a diamond, and South needed the rest of the tricks.

Declarer won the diamond switch with dummy's ace and led the three of hearts from dummy for the finesse that he needed to make his contract. The stage was thus set, and the hero made his entrance.

DRAMATIC PLAY

East made the dramatic play of the king of hearts rather than the normal play of the ten of hearts. Mind you, this play isn't recommended as a regular thing. "Second hand low" is still a good rule for a defender to follow on most occasions.

On this occasion, however, East's unusual play bore fruit. South won with the ace of hearts and worried about losing a trump trick if West had started with 10-7-4-2 of hearts. The only way to avoid losing to the ten if West really had started with four trumps was to lead a heart from the South hand at once to take a finesse with dummy's nine.

FINESSE TRY

After much suspicious staring at an impassive pair of defenders, South did try a finesse with the nine of hearts. East thereupon produced the ten of hearts to take the setting trick.

This hand is not propaganda for the East. Most bridge players are used to seeing the declarer in the South position, and all bridge columnists make South the declarer even though this gives him more than his fair share of the high cards.

DAILY QUESTION

Dealer, at your left, bids one club and your partner doubles.

The next player passes, and it is up to you.

You hold:
♠ - A 8 5 2
♥ - K 10
♦ - J 9 8 6 2
♣ - 10 8.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid one spade.

Prefer to respond to partner's takeout double in a major suit rather than in a weak minor, even though the minor suit is longer.

Fits The Picture

NEW YORK (UPI)—If genetics is anywhere near the exact science it is reputed to be, Peter Sellers couldn't help being a great entertainer. The co-star—with Goldie Hawn—of the film comedy, "There's A Girl in My Soup" is the son of a musician (father) and variety entertainer (mother) and at one time had seven uncles working in various capacities in the theater.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, April 23, the 113th day of 1971. The moon is between its last quarter and new phase.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn. Those born on this day are under the sign of Taurus.

William Shakespeare was born April 23, 1564.

On this day in history:

In 1898 the U.S. government asked for 125,000 volunteers to fight against Spain in Cuba.

In 1917 almost every performer stepped forward in a mass meeting when asked to volunteer to entertain the troops overseas in World War I.

In 1941 thousands attending an American First rally in New York City heard Charles Lindbergh say "It is obvious that England is losing the war." The noted aviator opposed American entry into World War II.

In 1965 more than 200 U.S. planes struck North Vietnam in one of the biggest raids of the war.

A thought for today: Greek poet Horace said, "The brief span of life forbids us to cherish a long hope."

St. Anselm's Class Sets Reunion

After 30 years, the 1941 graduating class of St. Anselm's parochial school is planning its first reunion, according to Paul Slattery, who was the class president.

Slattery said he is trying to locate the 13 survivors of the 14-student class, to hold a gathering at the Marin Town and Country Club June 12 and 13. Slattery may be reached at his home, 144 Bradford Drive, Sunnyvale 94086.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Pesticides Way Down The List Of Occupational Health Hazards

Nature creates more hazards than does man. In 1967, the California State Department of Public Health received 31,084 reports of occupational injuries and illnesses. Poi-oak dermatitis headed the list (3,724 reports). Most of the victims were employed in agriculture, construction, surveying, engineering, and in street, highway, and park maintenance. Less than one-quarter of the cases resulted in lost time from work. Acids were responsible for only half of all chemical burns and for a fifth of the eye conditions. The majority of chemical burns came from manufacturing industries. Solvents were the third most common cause of occupational injuries. As with acids, they produce considerable dermatitis, eye conditions and burns.

CAUSTICS ALSO induced illnesses, but to a lesser degree. Skin disorders were reported from workers in industries using plastics, such as epoxy resins, polystyrenes, and other plastics or resin systems. Almost 40 per cent of the casesinvolved women.

Fiber glass caused health problems in almost 50 industries. The majority of the 530 reports came from the rubber and miscellaneous plastic products industries. Interestingly, the first hazard on the list was poison oak, one of nature's chemicals. But the next four occupational problems centered about man-made products.

THIS BRINGS us to the sixth most common hazard — primary infections, also a natural cause. Most infections were reported in teachers or laboratory workers. Brucellosis was an occupational hazard among packinghouse employes; certain soil fungal infections were seen in construction workers and government personnel.

Heat as a hazard usually involved outdoor workers and chlorine-caused illnesses were reported in 442 swimming pool servicemen, truck drivers, and warehousemen.

WE HEAR so much about the dangers of herbicides, fertilizers and organic phosphate pesticides, yet these poisons were 15th, 18th, and 22nd on the list, respectively. Actually, physical exertion (157 reports), and shrubs, plants, and trees (144) were less of an occupational health hazard than fertilizers (162), and a little more than pesticides (138).

GROWLING STOMACH

J. M. writes: What would cause a person's stomach to growl a lot?

REPLY

Growling sounds occur when the stomach is churning or food is being propelled within the intestine. There is no harm in this, altho some people are better growlers than others. The stomach may rumble more when empty than full.

EYE TWITCHES

Miss E..T. writes: If I get nervous or tired, I develop a twitch alongside my right eye. Can anything be done for this?

REPLY

Since you know the cause, you know what to do: Get more rest and use fewer stimulants, such as coffee, tea, or tobacco. A twitch is a small price to pay for getting upset or tired on occasion.

'MISSED' PERIOD

N.C. writes: Is a missed period always a sign of pregnancy?

REPLY

No, but it is the most common cause in married women between the ages of 18 and 45. Thereafter, amenorrhea may be a sign of the menopause or of a pelvic disorder.

Train Waste Bill Is Killed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —A bill prohibiting trains from dumping human waste along the railroad tracks was killed Wednesday by a legislative committee.

The Ways and Means Committee spiked the measure on a split voice vote after a lobbyist for the railroads said dumping human waste along the tracks creates no health problem.

Sponsoring Assemblyman Alan Sieroty said the dumping constitutes a "serious health hazard" and charged the railroads with polluting the state for the past 100 years.

"All I'm trying to do is get the railroads to put in sealed toilets or other devices to prevent wastes going directly on the ground," he said.

Rowan Keeps His Humor In Sea Saga

HONOLULU (UPI) — Comedian Dan Rowan and two companions arrived at the island of Maui Wednesday night after a three-week voyage from Los Angeles in a battered 27-foot sloop.

Rowan, weary from battling heavy seas, said, "It got pretty hairy out there. The waves were 30-feet high some of the time and we encountered too many squalls to count and a major gale."

Rowan, along with crewmen Phil Strangeland and George Millar, sighted land shortly after 5 p.m. Wednesday. The straight man of the comedy team of Rowan and Martin did most of the navigating.

"It wasn't easy the last three days," he explained. "The sky was overcast and we couldn't use the stars for navigation or shoot the sun with a sextant."

The performer said the voyage was endangered by a broken mainmast during a storm and further hampered when batteries which operated running lights malfunctioned.

"We were sailing in pitch black at night," he said. "We saved what batteries we could to light the compass at night.

"We'd have been dead otherwise."

The small vessel left Los Angeles Marina del Rey April 1 without a radio transmitter, power generator or auxiliary engines.

Dick Martin, Rowan's partner in "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" television show, bought an expensive life insurance policy on his adventurous friend.

"I'm tired," Rowan said. "I wouldn't want to make the same trip again in a boat that size. But I'm happy Dick didn't have to collect on that insurance policy."

Brewery Joins In The Spirit Of 'Earth Week'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—As part of its observance of Earth Day, a West Coast brewery announced conversion of its fleet of gasoline powered cars and trucks to low-smog propane.

Lucky Breweries, Inc., Wednesday demonstrated the new propane systems on 30 vehicles and president Peter Widdrington said all its other gasoline vehicles would be converted as soon as possible.

Widdrington said that the conversion cost of about $425 per vehicle can be recovered in three years through reduced operating costs.

FEDERAL WATCHDOG

Have An Airliner Gripe? Then Write

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A woman in Utah wrote to ask that the airlines put seat belts in restrooms on their planes.

A man complained that Trans World Airlines had hot dogs on the menu but had never served any on his flights. "Could you make sure there are hot dogs on my next flight?" he asked.

Another passenger said he paid for four soft drinks aboard an airliner but never got them and wanted his $1.50 back.

The man fielding these complaints—and 2,500 others since January—is Jack Yohe, head of the Civil Aeronautics Board's (CAB) new Office of Consumer Affairs.

A direct result of growing pressure on the CAB from consumers, Yohe's job was set up to meet complaints from passengers who feel they are getting short changed by the airlines.

Yohe's office is the second consumer-oriented step taken by CAB Chairman Secor D. Browne. Last year a Consumer Advisory Committee to the board was set up, Browne named Reuben B. Robertson, an associate of Ralph Nader, to head the group.

But while the consumer advocates are more visible in the agency—whose job it is to regulate the airline industry—they do not necessarily have much more clout. The members of the Consumer Advisory Committee are not paid, and Yohe runs his office of 10 persons on a budget of $123,000, which includes salaries.

Yohe says his main weapon is the telephone.

For the airline passenger with a legitimate complaint, Yohe says he "tries to telephone the top man at the airline." He estimates he has helped settle $200,000 worth of claims by airline passengers since January.

The biggest complaint from airline passengers? As ever, lost baggage.

Robertson estimates that more than 200,000 airline passengers had their baggage lost, stolen or damaged last year. Yet, he says, the CAB still does not require a systematic reporting by the airlines of baggage complaints.

The airlines concede that lost baggage is the major complaint of passengers, unless it is overbooking of flights.

Yohe says his direct-action method is the best way to handle consumer complaints.

"A phone call from me got Eastern to send a $1.50 check to the man with the complaint about the soft drinks, and another phone call settled a $20,000 claim by a shipper against an airline," he says.

He did not say what the airlines were doing if anything, about the lady's suggestion for seat belts in the toilets.

The Norms Of 1971 Student

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Tests given 100 students at San Jose State College indicate 1971 freshmen do not meet the norms of a similar group of 1958.

The authors of the paper presented at the Western Psychological Association convention said their results involved too few students to be conclusive.

But authors Robert L. Wall and Walter T. Plant added that other experiments are being conducted in the country and are producing similar results.

About 75 per cent of the women tested in 1971 were below average on test standards for self control, intellectual efficiency and a sense of responsibility. In 1958, 50 per cent were below the norms.

However, for 1971 men, the researchers found that about 75 per cent bettered the 1958 average for "achievement via independence."

Students, chosen at random, were tested by the Standard California Psychological Inventory.

Pot Luck Planned By Alto-Sutton Manor District

The Alto-Sutton Manor District Association board has set plans for a neighborhood pot luck picnic in Mill Valley's Boyle Park at 2 p.m. June 5.

Publicity Chairman Sara S. Ruffner said no formal program is planned, although neighborhood musicians will be invited.

The board also named Director Virginia Gearhart on Wednesday to a committee studying preservation of open space in Mill Valley, Larkspur and CORTE Madera. Mrs. Ruffner said the association will ask that the Alto Bowl's 147 acres be included in a proposed greenbelt.

The association set its next meeting for May 19 at 8 p.m. at 25 Lomita Drive.

Boating's Big Day On The S.F. Bay

"Bless 'em all, bless 'em all, bless the long and the short and the tall . . . "

That's what they'll be doing in Raccoon Strait Sunday for the spectacular opening of the 1971 yachting season on San Francisco Bay.

The Corinthian Yacht Club of Tiburon again will sponsor the traditional "Blessing of the Pleasure Craft" ceremony, an event unique in boating circles.

The Navy vessel U.S.S. Badger will serve as ship for members of the Catholic, Jewish and Protestant faiths to bestow blessings on the pleasure craft that will pass through Raccoon Strait en route to the opening day parade that will start at the Golden Gate Bridge. The blessing ceremonies will start at 9:30 a.m. and, for one of the most spectacular sights of the year, I recommend you take your family for a ride to the many vantage points around the bay.

Skippers whose boats are blessed are reminded to send their names, addresses and boat names to the Corinthian Y.C. to receive a commemorative scroll.

MARIN COUNTY Special Olympics for mentally retarded persons aged 8 and over will be held tomorrow, starting at 9 a.m., at San Rafael High School's athletic field. Events in track and field and swimming will continue throughout the day and you should drop in to remind yourselves that "There for the grace of God go I."

The event is co-sponsored by the Marin Aid to Retarded Children, Cedar's Development Foundation of Ross and the Easter Seal Society Recreation for the Handicapped. Colorful opening ceremonies at 9 a.m. will include the lighting of the Special Olympic Torch, performances by the Hamilton Air Force Base Color Guard, Prince Charles Junior Pipe Band, Redwood High School band, San Rafael Military Academy drill team and remarks by Larkspur Mayor Benton A. Sifford and former Olympic gold medalist Achie Williams of Drake High School.

It's an Olympic meet with a heart.

FOUR MARIN runners joined 21 other Northern California harriers on a trek to Boston to compete in this week's Boston Marathon that was won by Elvaro Mejia of the West Valley Track Club.

The Marin contingent included Byron Lowry and Don Pickett of Tiburon, Ray Menzie of Mill Valley and Frank Vucoi of Corte Madera. Lowry was the fastest localite, finishing the 26-mile, 385-yard run in 2 hours, 23 minutes, 20 seconds for a fifth place.

MOTORSPORTS BUFFS will be happy to know that the Drake Scholarship Foundation's sixth annual Northern California Car Show will draw more than 100 antiques, sports cars, hot rods and motorcycles on Sunday, May 9, at Drake High School.

Show director Mike Convis says vehicles from 50 different cities will be displayed and they will include "The best display of motorcycles we've ever had."

THAT's WHAT I like — Confidence with a capital C.

George Burton, president of the San Rafael Little League, says "1971 will find a Little League team from San Rafael in the World Series at Williamsport, Pa."

Burton made his bold prediction while discussing tomorrow's opening ceremonies of the league that will include a pancake breakfast (8-10 a.m.) at the First Presbyterian Church, followed by a parade through town of some 400 young glovers, followed by "Play Ball," 12 noon at Albert Park.

At the breakfast I hope they use Aunt Jemima because, as I keep reminding you, she's the best batter.

Also, Jim Allen reports that the Tiburon Peninsula Little League will get under way tomorrow with a triple-header starting at 10:30 a.m. Opening day ceremonies will begin at 9:15 a.m.

Mayors of Tiburon and Belvedere will pitch in opening ceremonies. Boy Scouts will provide the colorful color guard.

Ali-Wilt Fight Is Off

HOUSTON (UPI) — Wilt Chamberlain's chances of becoming a pro fighter depend on his ability to negotiate a half-million dollar contract with officials of the Astrodome.

The officials were ready Thursday to announce a 12-round fight between the 7-2, 275-pound basketball star and the 6-2, 215-pound Muhammad Ali, the former heavyweight champion, in the Astrodome July 26. The fighters agreed to terms in February.

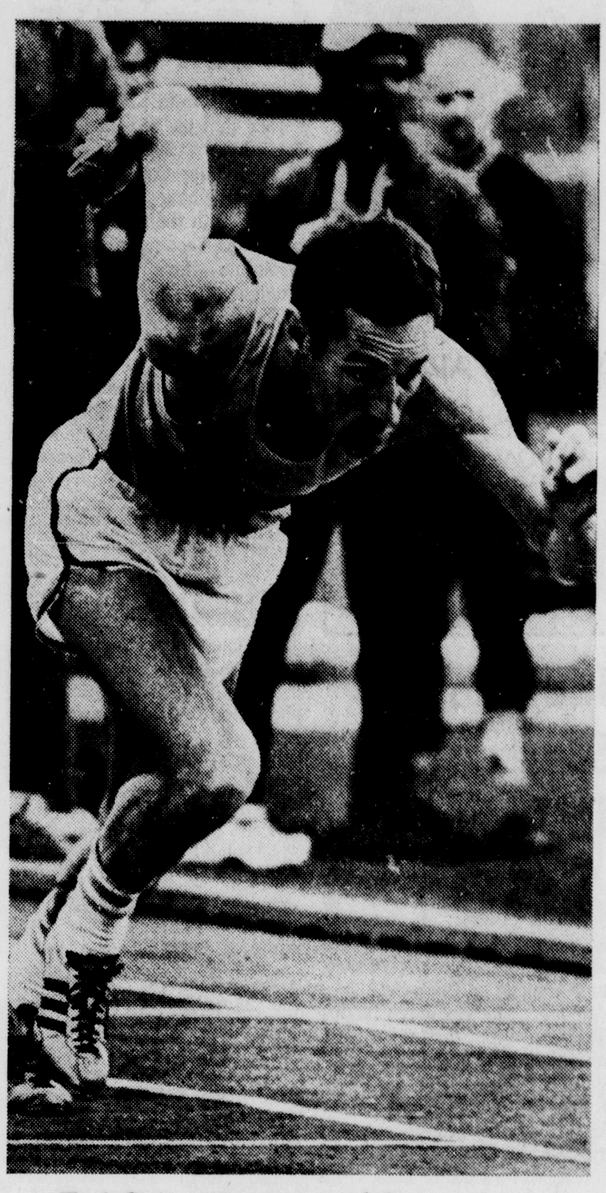
Ali, 29, also known as Cassius Clay, was to receive $1 million or 45 per cent of the revenue, whichever was larger, and Chamberlain, almost 35, was to receive $500,000 or 25 per cent of the receipts.

A few minutes before the 3 p.m. news conference and signing ceremony was to start in the plush Astrodome Club, Chamberlain's accountant arrived by helicopter on the Astrodome parking lot and advised Chamberlain not to sign unless the $500,000 was tax free.

The surprised promoters, the same ones who lost the Ali-Joe Frazier fight to a last minute $5 million bid backed by Jack Kent Cooke of Los Angeles, wouldn't agree to new demands. Ali was guaranteed only $400,000 tax free because the government will take 60 per cent of his purse in income tax.

After keeping reporters, some from as far away as New York, waiting 75 minutes, Jack O'Connell of the Astrodome announced the postponement of the signing. O'Connell, president of Astrodome Championship Enterprises, Inc., the fight promoters for the Astrodome, said there was a 50-50 chance the fight would still be held.

Marin Trackmen Whip Santa Rosa



Ted Cain gets a powerful start . . .

First Time Ever

College of Marin's track and field team closed out its 1971 dual meet season on a shining note yesterday, defeating Santa Rosa J.C. for the first time ever.

With eight men giving their lifetime best performances, the Tars prevailed over the Bear Cubs, 75-61, in Kentfield.

Ace middle distance man Ted Cain figured in four first place finishes, including a school record in the 440 intermediate hurdles, as Marin evened its season record at 4-4. Cain's record time was 54.7. He also won the 440 in 50.8, and anchored winning efforts in the 440 and mile relays.

The key races in the meet were the mile and two-mile runs, and the Tars swept both. At the shorter distance, Seamus O'Reilly broke the tape at 4:27.0, and Steve Silvey came home breathing down his neck at 4:27.5.

The two-mile was even closer, as Phil Russell won, just a 10th of a second ahead of O'Reilly. The winning time was 9:44.4.

Other first place winners for Marin included Todd Norris in the 880 at 1:59.2; Dick Tierney, 220, 22.1; Gary Wall, high jump, 5-10, and Tom McGrath, pole vault, 13 feet. Tierney, Gary Agee and John Lobdell joined Cain to win the 440 relay, and Tom Estudillo teamed with Agree, Norris and Cain in the mile relay.

A's At Home, Giants In Pittsburgh

Athletics Sweep Angels Series; Now Host Tigers

ANAHEIM (UPI)—Before the season California Angels manager Lefty Phillips said Oakland was the team to beat in the American League's Western division and he sees no reason to change his opinion now that his club dropped three straight to the Athletics.

The A's got a powerful pitching performance from Vida Blue in scoring their 7-3 victory over the Angels Thursday night before heading home with a record of 10 wins in 11 road games.

Meanwhile, the Angels must face the Eastern division leaders, the Baltimore Orioles, starting tonight and California was given added incentive for that series before the final Oakland game.

With the Orioles arriving prior to Thursday's game, Baltimore coach Billy Hunter invaded the Angels dressing room, began cuffing the Angel hurlers and in turn was backhanded across the mouth by California pitcher Andy Messersmith, according to eyewitnesses.

Angels general manager Dick Walsh called Hunter "a disgrace" and said he could lodge a complaint with the league office or the Baltimore management but would not do so.

Whether the clubhouse incident unsettled Messersmith or not, he lasted only 4 2-3 innings and proved no match for Blue, who recorded his fourth win against one loss, the first American League hurler with four wins.

The A's took advantage of Messersmith's letdown in the fifth when they scored five runs and from then on all Blue had to do was coast home. For the first five innings Blue allowed but two hits and he gave up three more after that while striking out nine.

The Athletics open a three-game series at home tonight against Detroit. For the Angels, Clyde Wright, 2-2, opposes Dave McNally, 2-0.

Top Prep Athletes Honored

Sixteen of Marin County's outstanding high school senior athletes were honored last night at the annual Radio KTIM Sportsmen's Club awards banquet at Sabella's Restaurant, Mill Valley.

Selected by the athletic departments of the eight Marin County Athletic League schools, the honorees were treated to amusing talks by two executives of the San Francisco Giants — Walter Mails of the Speakers' bureau and Jeff Carter, the public address announcer at Candlestick Park. KTIM sports director Bob Dinsmore served as master of ceremonies.

Approximately 90 persons, including many school superintendents, principals, athletic directors and coaches, turned out to honor the following athletes:

Redwood High School — Scott Trobbe and Brian Hennessey; Marin Catholic — Mark Lewis and William Donnellan; San Rafael — Larry Hanson and Douglas Puskar; Terra Linda — Larry Kerr and Bill LaHaye; Drake — Damian Casalnuovo and Steven Hale; Tamalpais — Bill Rudolph and Billy Washington; Novato — John Kidder and David Judnick; San Marin — James Thompson and Jack Burnam.

Harvin Wins Bicycle Race

Joe Harvin edged out five other riders in a sprint finish yesterday to win the third event of the All-Marin high schools bicycle race series, a 10 and one-half mile race from Nicasio Reservoir to San Marin High School in Novato.

Harvin, a student of Tamalpais High, took the Amateur Bicycle League of America Class in 25 minutes, 42 seconds, the same time recorded for second place Mark Pizzaro of Marin Catholic. Harvin's win helped cement the Mill Valley school's grip on the team lead for the series. Tam has 63 points, followed by San Rafael with 35 points, and Redwood with 34.

Marin Falls To Canada Nine, 8-2

In a game that should be neither noted nor long remembered, the College of Marin Tars got bombed by Canada J.C. of Redwood City yesterday, 8-2 at Kentfield.

The loss was the second straight for the Tars, the Camino Norte Conference's third place team. The game was close for three innings, but then Canada erupted to run rampant through three Marin pitchers. All told, the visitors collected 17 hits, scoring three runs each in the fourth and seventh innings.

Ken Roberson supplied the day's longest hit, a home run that accounted for all the runs in the seventh. He also banged a triple.

Nicklaus, Barber Share Champs Lead

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (UPI)—The weather was just about perfect for golf—bright sunshine with a temperature in the mid-60s and hardly a breath of wind.

So in the first round of the MONY Tournament of Champions Thursday only eight of the elite field of 35 pros broke par 36-36—72 at La Costa Country Club.

Two of the strongest players on the pro tour, Jack Nicklaus and Miller Barber, shared the first round lead at three-under 69 and they too had their troubles with the high grass in the rough.

Nicklaus said the rough was 8 to 12 inches high at some points. He was wild from the tee and in the rough on almost every hole but managed to recover well and was five under par after 14 holes. Then he took bogeys on the 15th and 16th holes, birdied No. 17 and took another bogey on No. 18.

Twenty-two players in the first round bogeyed No. 18, a par four, 428-yard monster with a narrow fairway. U.S. Open champion Tony Jacklin had a double bogey on the hole. He shot 39-38—77.

On 16, a par-four-442 yarder, there were 14 bogeys and one double bogey. Gene Littler, who shot 35-37—72, had the double.

Gary Player, the 1969 T of C champion, was the only pro to birdie No. 16. He was on in two and sank a 14-foot putt for his three.

Player had 34-36—70, with defending champion Frank Beard, 36-34, and George Knudson, 35-35.

Arnold Palmer, another strong man able to whip a ball out of the rough, shot 34-37—71 with Dave Stockton, 35-36, and Bobby Nichols, 37-34.

Harvey Retires For The Season

OAKLAND (UPI) —Harvey the Mechanical Rabbit who pops out of the ground and feeds new baseballs to umpires at home games of the Oakland A's has retired for the season.

He broke down just prior to opening day and A's officials said Thursday he won't be replaced this year.

Francoise Durr Is Upset Victim

SAN DIEGO (UPI) —Tory Fretz of Los Angeles upset third-seeded Francoise Durr of France 6-2, 1-6, 7-5 in the opening round of the San Diego Women's Open pro tennis tournament Thursday night.

Top-seeded Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., was a 6-1, 7-5 winner over Janet Newberry of La Jolla, Calif., and second-seeded Rosemary Casals of San Francisco beat Judy Tegart Dalton of Australia 6-2, 6-4.

S.F. Rookie Stone Faces Powerful Stargell Tonight

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Rookie righthander Steve Stone of the San Francisco Giants may need more than a fastball and a prayer tonight against Willie Stargell.

Manager Charlie Fox of the Giants tabbed Stone to open the nine-game road trip against the Pirates who are battling St.Louis for the lead in the National League East..

Stargell, right now baseball's hottest hitter, is gunning for the major league home run record for the first month of the season. He belted his 10th against Atlanta Thursday to tie him with Cincinnati's Tony Perez and Baltimore's Frank Robinson for most homers in April.

A lefthanded batter, Stargell will be facing the righthanded slants of Stone who has started three games for the Giants but has yet to notch his first big-league decision.

Lefty Luke Walker (1-1) will throw tonight against the Giants who lead the NL West with a 12-4 record. It is the first meeting of the season between the two NL powerhouses.

San Francisco won't be at full strength due to injuries to pitcher Frank Reberger and outfielder Bobby Bonds. First baseman Willie McCovey will open at first base despite a sore knee that still bothers him.

After Pittsburgh, the Giants tackle Atlanta and Cincinnati before returning home May 3.

Wiechers Leads Tallahassee Golf

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) —The skies were clear over the Killearn Country Club Thursday morning and the scores were low—but in the afternoon the rains came and the first round of the $60,000 Tallahassee Open Golf Tournament was called to a halt.

Jim Wiechers tied the course record with an eight under par 64 in the morning hours. Other early finishers tied in a four-way battle for second place with 66s were Bert Yancey, Bob Dickson, Gay Brewer, and Randy Wolff, the last two finishing up in the early afternoon before the rains came.

But the rains later delayed play twice on the rolling 7,-124-yard course, and at 6:15 p.m. play was called with 24 golfers still on the links. They will resume their play today.

Longshot Winner

ALBANY (UPI) —Longshot Aegean's Promise ($42.40) whipped past favored Dorreno in the early going Thursday to win the featured Providence Hospital Purse at Golden Gate Fields by a length.

Marin Reservoirs Get Some Trout

By AL GIDDINGS

Trout plants during this week were scheduled for Bon Tempe, Lagunitas, and Phoenix reservoirs, and also Rodeo Lagoon. These reservoirs are now open and have a five-fish trout limit per day on them.

On May 1, the streams of Marin County, except for Devil's Gulch Creek in Taylor park, plus the streams generally throughout the state will be opened. Most of the lakes and reservoirs throughout the state are now open as far as the law is concerned, but because of snow, high altitudes, muddy and unusable roads, the actual availability of reaching and fishing these lakes is just beginning to arrive.

The road into Davis Lake near Portola, for instance, is just opening for travel, but new snows could bring this to a sliding halt! Other lakes now being fished with good results are Eagle Lake, Frenchmen's Reservoir, Shasta Lake, Siskiyou Lake,Trinity Lake, and Almanor. I usually make it to Webber Lake about May 1. Before that, the roads are too sloshy for most vehicle traffic, and much of the lake is still solidly covered with ice.

I have been trying to put together a trip to Lake Tahoe; it is just about the time for the big mackinaws to start hitting. They say you have to fish 200 feet deep with monel line and troll minnows native to the lake. If it is done properly, limits are supposed to be a cinch. Most of the fishing in the above listed lakes is by the bait method.

The last time I fished Davis Lake, everyone used either spinning or casting gear from shore with salmon eggs, and took easy limits. Boats are legal and in most of these lakes. Trolling lures of all types or using flies can also pay off.

Fishing with bait in clear water requires the use of very light leaders, usually two-pound test or less. In French Lake a few years ago, the only fish taken were by those anglers using one-half pound test tippets! (A tippet is a 44-inch length of leader material usually specially ordered.) Small hooks (I like No. 10s, gold, with the turned in eye) well-covered by the bait can also be most important.

Even in the Marin lakes, it is surprising how much more efficiently light leaders and small hooks catch fish. I received a letter from Rudy Gabbani of Fairfax who wants to push for legislation to make it possible to buy salmon eggs with food stamps! He goes on to say that a jar of salmon eggs now costs almost more than a fifth of good bourbon, and when they do, he "might just give up fishing!"

Striped bass fishing should be picking up with the smaller bass starting to come down from the Delta. These fish should be in the flats and in the areas of the Brothers Islands and the Richmond Bridge, where trolling jigs and spoons can really pay off.

Salmon fishing will probably continue to be good except for the spring northwest winds so prevailing at this time of the year.

Abalone and clam tides starting April 25 (Sunday) at 6:24 a.m. tide-book time continue through the week with lows of -1.5 tides on Monday and Tuesday. Mussels are still edible too. There is now a 25-pound limit on mussels in the shell. And fishing or pokepoling for eels and rockfish is reaching the peak season.

Rockfishing from the rockfish party boats out of Sausalito can be a very rewarding experience. You will see fish caught and lots of them. It's worth going!

A report on the licensed fur trappers of California has been recently released. In the 1969-70 season, 664 trapping licenses were sold. Revenue received by trappers from the sale of furs in the 1969-70 season amounted to $75,835. Muskrats were first on the list both in number of pelts taken and revenue received. Some 51,525 muskrats represent 90 per cent of the total fur catch of the season's 57,252 animals. Average price for a muskrat pelt was 97 cents. Other furbearers taken include 38 badgers, 1,301 beavers, 588 bobcats, 799 coyotes, 363 foxes, 708 mink, 178 opossum, 1,174 raccoons, 467 striped skunks, and 111 spotted skunks. Bobcat pelts were worth $10.58 as the highest priced pelt with beaver pelts bringing $8.71 per pelt. There were no licensed trappers in Marin or Sonoma counties. San Diego county with 177, Modoc county with 72, and Lassen county with 52, reported the most bobcats taken. Riverside County with 154, and Shasta County with 114, reported the most coyotes. Please note: there were no wolves taken. There are no wolves in California!

Carlton Gives Up On Sliders

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Steve Carlton has figured out his pitching problem. It was simply a case of too many pitches in his repertoire.

The 26-year-old lefthander of the St. Louis Cardinals, who lost 19 games last season after winning 17 the year before, gave up six hits Thursday night for his fourth consecutive victory as he pitched the Cardinals to a 5-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

It was Carlton's third complete game performance, and he claims the reason for his good start is that he's stopped using the slider entirely and he's throwing mostly fastballs.

"I'm throwing a lot more fastballs this year. Last year I'd hang a curve or a slider and one inning would beat me. I threw too many breaking balls. When you keep losing, you lose confidence. I've discarded the slider. It's a different year. I forgot about last year."

In the only other National League games Thursday, Pittsburgh beat Atlanta,7-4, and Houston defeated Chicago, 6-1. The White Sox topped Milwaukee, 4-2, and Oakland whipped California, 7-3, in American League games.

Carlton, who did not win his fourth game until June 21 last year, walked two and struck out five in besting Jim Bunning. All the Phillies' hits were singles and three of those came in the ninth inning. Joe Torre singled home what proved to be the winning run for St. Louis in the fifth.

Willie Stargell continued his assault on Atlanta pitching by cracking his 10th homer as the Pirates defeated the Braves. Stargell's homer was his eighth in six games against the Braves, and it tied him with Cincinnati's Tony Perez and Baltimore's Frank Robinson for most home runs during the month of April. Earl Williams hit his fourth homer for the Braves.

Indiana Stays Alive In Playoffs

By United Press International

Indiana, teetering on the brink of elimination, found a little balance to keep its hopes alive in the American Basketball Association Playoffs.

Indiana defeated Utah 127-109 Thursday night to stave off elimination at least until the western title series moves to Salt Lake City on Saturday night. Utah leads the best-of-seven series 3-2.

The Pacers came back from two straight losses with a balanced attack that had four players scoring more than 20 points. Bob Netolicky led Indiana with 29 points, Mel Daniels had 27 and 26 rebounds, Roger Brown had 23 points and Billy Keller 22.

The game was close until the Pacers broke it open in the second period by outscoring Utah 39-19 for a 67-49 halftime lead. At the end of the third period, Indiana led 93-75, and Utah never got closer than 14 points.

In ABA action tonight the Kentucky Colonels meet the Squires at Virginia. The eastern title series between the two teams is tied 2-2.

Brewers Get Briggs From Philadelphia

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The Milwaukee Brewers acquired outfielder Johnny Briggs from the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday in exchange for rookie Pete Koegel and minor league pitcher Ray Peters.

Briggs batted .270 with nine homers and 47 runs batted in last season, but was hitting .182 this season. He has a .252 lifetime average.

Stanley Cup: North Stars Break Spell

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Now that the big, bad Boston Bruins are a surprise casualty of the Stanley Cup playoffs, the four remaining survivors are leading with their best shots in what has become a wide-open scramble for the ancient trophy.

The Minnesota North Stars, the longest shots of all among the semifinalists, accomplished what no other expansion team ever did before against the establishment, ripping the Montreal Canadiens, 6-3, Thursday night, and the New York Rangers, seeking their first championship in 31 years, turned back the Chicago Black Hawks, 4-1.

Minnesota's victory, evening that best-of-seven series at one game each, was the first ever by an expansion club in post-season play against one of the six older teams, snapping a string of 17 consecutive losses. St. Louis lost eight games in a row to Montreal in the 1968 and 1969 finals and four more to Boston in last year's final, Philadelphia was beaten in four straight by Chicago in this year's quarter-finals and the North Stars lost their first game to Montreal.

The Rangers, meanwhile, used Vic Hadfield's first-ever playoff hat trick to take a 2-1 edge over Chicago with the fourth game also scheduled for New York Sunday afternoon. That game will be televised nationally by CBS.

The North Stars-Canadiens series shifts to Minnesota for the next two games on Saturday and Sunday nights, giving the Stars a chance to take a commanding lead in that set and go on to what would be probably the most stunning upset in Stanley Cup history.

League's Four Top Teams Breeze In Track And Field

All four Marin County Athletic League track and field meets went as expected yesterday as the league's top teams breezed by lesser opponents. Undefeated Tamalpais walloped Marin Catholic, 90-45, San Rafael took San Marin, 96-40, Redwood downed Novato, 93-43 and Terra Linda smashed Drake, 81-39.

Once again, Tam was led by Gerald Robertson, who won his usual three events. Still plagued by a sore ankle, the MCAL record-holding high jumper captured that event at just 6 feet, while winning both hurdles events also.

San Rafael didn't need any double in the 96-40 rout of San Marin, but Mustang Chakra Chappell took wins in his middle distance specialties to pace the losers.

Sprinter Bob Breneman won the 100 and 220-yard dashes in the Redwood rout of Novato, while Tom Malvino took the high jump and long jump for another double for Redwood.

Terra Linda had two triple winners in the 81-39 romp over Drake. Ken Smith and Todd Young accounted for six of the Trojans' ten individual wins; Doug Davis took the 440 and 880 to nail down two more.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

Concentration means good scoring. If another bowler starts to pick up his ball from the rack beside you while you're getting set and it distracts you, stop your delivery until he gets out of your line of vision. If you go ahead and throw while distracted, you're likely to miss your target.

JACK HANLEY

A Big Surprise For Chris Speier

When Chris Speier reported to training camp this spring he not only was surprised but momentarily embarrassed to discover that his roommate was Hal Lanier, the man whose job Speier was determined to get.

Lanier warmly welcomed the rookie as a roomie and assured him he would offer him every possible help. After all, Lanier had been through this ritual several times previously with rookies intent on taking the shortstop job he held for six seasons with the Giants.

THERE WAS one difference this time. Never previously had Lanier been assigned the same room with the rookie seeking his job. Charlie Fox knew what he was doing. The manager of the Giants knew that Lanier, a pro but above all a gentleman, would help the rookie in any way he could. Lanier never has forgotten the aid he received as a rookie from such gentlemanly pros as Jimmy Davenport and Harvey Kuenn.

Fox, conducting his first major league spring training since being appointed manager of the Giants last May 24, had another reason for making Lanier and Speier roomies. They might wind up as double play partners provided the rookie was successful in running Lanier off short and Lanier ran Tito Fuentes off second base. DP partners should have a close rapport.

"I DIDN'T KNOW quite what to expect when I reported for spring training," said Speier, now established as the team's shortstop. "Maybe I thought I would be shunned, treated like an outsider. Right from the start Lanier made me feel like I belonged. Everyone was helpful but I guess I was apprehensive about what Lanier's attitude would be.

"The very first day we took ground balls together, Lanier would compliment me when I did things right or point out things I did wrong. I never expected it would be that way. I'm not sure I could help a guy who was out for my job."

SPEIER SEWED up the shortstop job two weeks before spring training ended. He was elevated from non-roster status to full fledged team membership on March 21. It means a whopping salary increase for him.

As a minor leaguer at Amarillo he was paid on a monthly basis — $800 a month but only for those months the Texas League was in operation. Now, as a major leaguer he received a contract at the rookie minimum of $12,700 on a yearly basis which figures out to better than $2,000 a month for the six months of the major league season.

SPEIER DID not have to describe how he felt about his fast rise in the financial and baseball world after just one season in the minors.

The smile on his face told it all. He had arrived in the big time.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current regular price less the following dollar allowances:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance Prorated on Miles Driven

36 month	6.00
33 month	5.00

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Compromise Plan To Earn Income

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q My mother depends on Social Security and dividends from 1,080 shares of Combustion Engineering. Should this be sold for higher income?—B. B.

A Your mother's investment has a current market value of around $68,000 from which her annual return is $1,400. An equal amount invested in high grade utility bonds would yield over $5,000 per year and a savings account would more than double her income.

However, I would suggest a compromise plan, whereby your mother would retain at least half her shares, investing the other half in high yield bonds. While this plan would provide income of about $3,200 annually, it would also allow participation in any future growth for these shares.

Q I am 10 years old and have $20 to invest. How do I go about it?—L. K.

A You have the right idea but until you have a larger amount saved, the stock market would not be practical. A very sensible alternative investment would be an E-bond which will return 5½ per cent at maturity in five years and ten months.

Q We would appreciate your views on whether to keep or sell Hazeltine shares. We retire in a couple of years and want a good income or growth stock.—R. K.

A There are a number of unfavorable factors in this situation which do not augur well for near-term prospects. As a contractor in the design, development and manufacture of electronic equipment for the Government, Hazeltine has suffered from stretchouts and delays on contracts plus the problems of a sluggish economy. In 1970 gross income fell sharply to $59.4 million — a 22 per cent decline — while earnings per share dropped roughly 65 per cent to 52 cents.

Also having an adverse impact on Hazeltine's market appeal and share action is its litigation with Zenith. The latter firm has already received $35 million for damages allegedly suffered as a result of Hazeltine's patent arrangements, with more possibly on the way.

This issue clearly does not meet your investment goals — having no yield and questionable growth prospects at present. Sale is justified.

Failure Cited In Explaining Business

PURCHASE, N.Y. (UPI)— The U.S. educational system fails in giving youth any realistic picture of what really goes on in the world of business, says Victor A. Bonomo, president of Pepsi-Cola.

Bonomo cited a survey showing that only one in 10 teen-agers asked how much profit industry makes on sales had a correct answer —about 5 per cent per sales dollar.

Near Record For Building Industry

If reduced interest rates for home financing have helped the Marin County real estate market, they have also done amazing things for the local construction industry which has lagged behind for several years.

According to figures supplied by the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau, building permits during March valued out at $10,491,958 — a near record.

Chamber Manager Carroll Snyker said it was the highest monthly figure since Feb., 1966, when the new Marin County Hall of Justice was permitted at $9,223,000. Previous high, not influenced by a large single permit of this character was in June, 1964 when valuations totaled over $11 million.

While the construction increase was reflected in several areas, the big March record was set by Mill Valley, where incorporated and unincorporated permits totaled $5,454,503. Over $4.7 million of this was for townhouses on Shelter Ridge being developed by Security Capitols.

San Rafael incorporated and unincorporated areas accounted for $1,500,796, and this was aplit fairly equally three ways in residential, commercial and miscellaneous permits. Novato permits totaled $1,072,695, about 79 per cent of this residential. Close behind was the Belvedere-Tiburon peninsula with $1,004,270 - 92 per cent residential.

In other communities, Larkspur reported $450,900, mostly residential; San Anselmo $300,697, mostly for miscellaneous permits; Kentfield $187,795, mostly residential; Sausalito $126,381, about equally residential, commercial and miscellaneous; Corte Madera $104,784, two-thirds residential; Ross $57,300 - all for miscellaneous permits; and Fairfax $8,800 — all miscellaneous.

West Marin and other unincorporated areas accounted for permits totaling $223,037, all residential and miscellaneous.

Totals for the first quarter of 1971 were over $19 million, a gain of 123.5 per cent from the $8.7 million for the first three months of 1970.

Market Closes Strong After A Sloppy Start

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market closed strong Friday after a sloppy start. Turnover was heavy.

The early setback was attributed to profit taking and disappointment stemming from an increase in the prime bank interest rate. But analysts noted that optimism over the economy, which has carried the market higher since late last year, continued to be an overpowering influence.

First National City Bank of New York late Thursday reported that business profits recovered in the first quarter of 1971, and racked up their first year-to-year gain since the middle of 1969.

Citibank said after-tax profits from 685 leading corporations rose by 4 per cent in the initial 1971 period, compared with the similar period a year ago.

Of the 1,665 issues crossing the tape, 795 advanced, while 566 declined. A turnover of around 20,000,000 shares compared with 19,270,000 shares traded Thursday.

Electronics were among the day's brightest performers.

Closing prices included AT&T 49 1-8 off 1-2, Bethlehem Steel 23 1-2 unchanged, DuPont 145 up 1 3-4, General Electric 123 1-4 up 2 7-8.

BANKING MILESTONE — Leroy Rudolph, vice president and manager of Bank of America's San Rafael main office, will observe his 45th anniversary with the bank next Monday. He began his banking career in his native Petaluma, became assistant manager of the Santa Rosa main office in 1952 and manager of the Montgomery Village branch in 1958. He has headed the San Rafael office since 1960 and has been a vice president since 1962.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

Sales Down At Boise Cascade

Although homebuilding activity has recently increased, Boise Cascade Corp., now heavily engaged in home construction, has announced a decline of 9 per cent in net sales during the first quarter.

The improvement in home building activity was said to have begun too late in the quarter to help the $372 million sales for the first three months. Net earnings for the first quarter were also down to four cents per share from the near record of 59 cents per share a year ago. There was some improvement, however, from the fourth quarter deficit of 16 cents per share in 1970, by trimming losses in the company's recreation communities business.

Boise, through its realty subsidiary has converted $200 million of short-term debt into a long-term loan with 10 major banks.

RIETZ MANUFACTURING CO., Santa Rosa has been acquired by the Berwind Corp. of Philadelphia. It will continue to operate at its present location as part of the Berwind process equipment group, which includes several other companies. Rietz produces size reduction, mixing, heat exchange, dewatering and drying equipment for the process industries. It also maintains sales and laboratory facilities in West Chester, Pa. and a manufacturing and sales branch in Anaheim.

AMERICAN BUILDING MAINTENANCE INDUSTRIES is making a new public offering of 400,000 shares of common stock through an investment banking group managed by Lehman Bros., Inc. and Sutro and Co., Inc. Present stockholders own 350,000 of the shares and the company will receive none of the proceeds. Proceeds from the remaining 50,000 shares owned by the company will be used to repay short term indebtedness and some will be added to the general fund.

FAIRCHILD CAMERA AND INSTRUMENT CO. has elected Walter Burke chairman of the board. He has been a director and financial advisor to Sherman M. Fairchild, who died last month, and whom he replaces.

DIORGIO CORP. common stock to the extent of 1.2 million shares is being offered through underwriters headed by Dean Witter and Co., Inc. Proceeds will be used to reduce short-term borrowings of over $38 million incurred in expansion. Upon completion of the new offering the company will have 5,465,216 common shares outstanding.

CONSOLIDATED FOODS CORP. net sales and earnings reached new highs for the first 39 weeks of the fiscal year. Sales amounted to $1,185 million up from $1,137 million a year earlier. After-tax income was up 2.5 per cent to $41.7 million. Shasta Beverages, a Bay Area company, was an especially strong performer.

SCHLAGE LOCK CO., San Francisco reported first quarter sales of $13.3 million compared to $11.3 million a year ago. Net income was $779,000 or $1.08 per share, up from last year's $340,000 or 47 cents per share when strikes in two of the company's plants held earnings down.

COMMERCE CLEARING HOUSE, INC. reported net earnings of $1.5 million of 28 cents per share for the first quarter - up from $1.3 million or 25 cents per share last year. Sales increased to $14.9 million from $13.6 million in the comparable 1970 quarter.

U.S. FINANCIAL - THE GENERAL SHELTER CORP. of San Diego may acquire Morlan Pacific Co. in an exchange of stock for U.S. Financial convertible debentures. Value of the transaction would be in excess of $34 million. U.S. Financial produces, markets and finances all types of housing.

COLDWELL, BANKER AND CO. reported net income of $338,777 or 17 cents per share from operations for its third quarter ended March 31. This compares with $165,944 or eight cents per share for last year's third quarter.
